Maryland Dashes.

——Washington county has a good peach crop.

——Boat races are quite popular at the towns near the mouth of the river.

——Harford county, in one part, is suffering from drought, while the other part is refreshed by rains.

——The Free Delivery system will be continued at Middletown, Md., by order of the Postmaster-General.

——It is stated that Mr. Enoch Pratt has made a proposition, having in view the erection of a handsome hotel in Cambridge.

——The greater number of firms who were burnt out by the recent fire in Cambridge will resume business. The burned section will be re-built with substantial brick buildings.

——Prof. Roland Watts has resigned as one of the professors at Washington College, Chestertwn, to take a position in Johns Hopkins University as teacher and scholar.

——Postmaster Johnson, of Baltimore, and a party of friends have been fishing in Chester river. A number of large rock fish were caught two of which weighed about 15 lbs.

——Insurance agents representing the various companies involved in the late fire in Cambridge have been busy adjusting losses. The vault of the national bank, containing coin, was opened and found intact.

——In the course of a week Geo. W. Cruikshank, formerly editor of the Cecil Democrat, will start a new paper in Elkton, to be called the Cecil Sentinel. The Sentinel will be independent in local politics, but Democratic in national politics.

——Lightning on Saturday killed sixteen sheep for John H. Webb, a farmer, residing near Whiton, Worcester county. The sheep sought shelter from the severe storm under the barn. The lightning struck the roof of the building, ran down the cornerpost and instantly killed the entire flock.

——The Maryland commissioners of the World's Fair, are desirious of placing in the Maryland building at Chicago, a painting representing an ideal peach orchard. We believe that Kent county can furnish the artist, as she certainly can show the finest peach orchard or orchards in the State or elsewhere.—Transcript.

Guard Against Sickness.

There are few sanitary regulations more important to the whole community than the rule requiring physicians to report to the health officer of the county all cases of infectious and contagious diseases which they are called upon to attend in their private practice. Compliance with this regulation is binding and obligatory. The reasons for enforcement are obvious. Most of these diseases may be traced to local causes that may be removed if the cases are reported to the health officer If the sickness is scarlet fever, diphtheria or typhoid fever, intelligent inquiry may trace the trouble to something wrong on the premises, inadequate or improper sewerage, &c. As soon as the physician files his report, it is the duty of the health officer to examine the premises and search for the local cause, and if any is apparent, other agencies of the sanitary system under which we live are set to work to remove the source of danger. Timely interposition has the effect of removing from many homes all danger from local conditions, while similar precautions in the public schools prevent the spread of dangerous maladies among the children. The mainspring of all these efforts is supplied by the acquiesaence of attending physicians and the active co-operation of the household affected. All physicians who promptly comply with the ordinances and rules thereunder commend themselves, and as a matter of self-protection the people should, as a whole, uphold them as a necessary safeguard for every home in the county.—Ex.

Why Women do not Vote.

Do you know, my positive woman, why women do not vote? writes Edward W. Bok in "At Home with the Editor," in the August Ladies Home Journal. It is because the vast and overwhelming majority of women in this country do not want the ballot, have absolutely no desire for it, and do not waste a moment of their time thinking about it. Do you know why these women do not care to "broaden" their minds by reading Ibsen? It is because they think they sweeten their lives by reading Hawthorne and Thackeray and Longfellow and Walter Scott and Charles Dickens and the great mass of living writers whom you believe simply burden the earth with their presence. Do you know why these women will not don the ridiculous "reform" garments which you unblushingly flaunt before audiences of American girlhood? It is because they prefer to be womanly and dress tastefully and prettily as God intended woman should dress. Do you know why these women will not go to club meetings? It is because they have a little club in their own homes, and the members of it are of their own flesh and blood, with which God has sanctioned and beautified their lives. Do you know why they turn with disgust from your paintings about "the rights of our sex?" Because their husbands give them every right of love and kindness they want.

WANTED, a bright boy or girl in every town to send us a postal card asking for particulars of how, by a little pleasant work, they can earn a bicycle, a watch or choice library, without its costing them another cent.

—The authorities of Dover have sunk an artesian well to the depth of 125 feet to increase the supply of water to that town.
