Clotworthy Birnie Esq.

Sir,

The trustees' bond, executed by yourself Mr. Fleming & Mr. Darby, has been returned; approved by the court, and is now filed in the clerk's office.

Your son was good enough to carry with the blank bond, Gist's order on the trustees for $100 in my favour, and inform me that they thought best to defer its acceptance until they should have funds in their hands to meet it. The order is still in the possession of my friend C. Birnie Esq. It's acceptance at this time would be a particular favor to me — not that I should expect or desire payment one moment earlier on that account. It will certainly never be payable until the trustees have the money for Gist's use, and are ready to pay. My only reason for wishing to have it accepted is to secure the money, and to enable the trustees to retain it for me. Gist, I am told, is insolvent; and there is therefore a possibility of my
