but I am happy to find by an intimate friend Mr. Napier that your circumstances are in a flourishing situation, which induces me the more to solicit your kind aid at this period of my most unpleasant situation. and I think you will take it early into your much serious consideration and assist me at the present which will be ever remembered by me with gratitude. I shall not dwell more on the subject, suffice it to say its only necessity urges me to call on you, as I am very sensible of the warm affections you always have been to distressed Irishmen hoping this will go safe to hand & I have the comfort of soon hearing from you — wishing you and family every happiness and comfort. your distressed friend
