it is to expensive for I believe it is 50 cents a lesson and I would as soon learn the things that I have mentioned if you chuse

Rogers Bunce

most farmers would in this country at least think them too high priced - of that they must judge for themselves - The animal was selected from among the finest of that breed in England and cost the owners here $600. The price of his services to each cow will be $10 - to be sent with the animal, the cows will be well taken care of and no charge for pasture for those which come from a distance unless they should remain longer than two or three weeks in any case there will be no charge for keep of cows that give milk. — I hope I shall receive some of these days a bottle of your wine - I now forward you a little of mine - I assure you there has been neither sugar nor brandy nor any the least mixture of any foreign matter with it what ever - It is just as it is, is the pure juice of the grape - It is about 2 months old only - and as far as I can judge has been improving daily - Give me your candid opinion of it

Very respectfully your obt servt

Lloyd N. Rogers

Brid Hill
Feb 1st 1828

P.S. I have three young bulls for sale will be a year old next june - the price for the choice is $100 - they are very fine animals