My Dear Mr Bernie —

I recollect some time ago your writing to Mr Napier to try if he could get from you the story of the man in the moon, and Daniel O'Rourke I have at length happened to find it in a Newspaper which I send you, hoping that you have not lost your taste for an Irish frolick or become so grave an American Farmer, but that you can learn a song, and if you are at a loss for the tune the girls can teach you as I know they have it for I sent it to them — This is a strange subject to commence my letter with, I fear you will think my head is cracked, but I thought it wd afford you a laugh at all events and you must excuse me — I heard lately from your friends at Dunminning they are all well and hoping William and Mary, and Miss Bernie, will come down paying a visit there before they went to England how I regret you are not acquainted with your friend Mr William, she is a fine young woman and I think will make a good
