Dear Sir I discover after your boy had left this that the 9th of Shipp which was in 3 Baggs was left. one of the hands that filled it up had gone from home — I will empty the Baggs and send them to you if no opportunity offers for sending the Shipp

We are all well —

My dear Father

Mr Darby has no bran, at present but is now about to grind some of his own wheat & will be able to supply yours by next Tuesday or Wednesday. He says that you may send the waggon on Tuesday & then Jac. will get up on Wednesday morning, load and return as far as he can. Mr Darby says if you feel uneasy about sending Jacob he could send the bran in his own waggon but he thinks it will cost you $2.00 per diem besides the toll. If Jac. comes, I think he should be advised as to watering, feeding &c. &c.; he may go wrong at the forks of the road beyond rock creek — if not directed. None of the Ministers have come Mr Durand may perhaps be here on tomorrow
