Laugh and Grow Fat

POPPING THE QUESTION.—Mr. Smithson, (an improvement on the celebrated name of Smith,) wishes to take Miss Brownly (another improvement) to the opera. He had been on terms of intimacy with the family for about five years, but "never spoke of love;" on the contrary he had frequently declared his intention of leading a bachelor's life.

One evening he put his hand to the bell handle and was admitted. "Oh! James," exclaimed Miss Jane, "where have you kept yourself so long?" This took Smithson a little aback, for he had spent the preceeding evening with the family Before he could answer, however, Jane's brothers and sisters (eight or ten in number) had gathered about him — Summoning all his courage, he said:

"I have come to ask you——"

"Not here, James; now—now—oh!"

"That is," stammered Smithson, "if you're not engaged——

"Oh! oh! water—quick!"

"What's that?" inquired her father, "who says engaged?"

"I don't mean——" again commenced Smithson.

"Of course not," continued Mr Brownly, "you've always been our favorite!" Then advancing and taking poor Smithson's hand, he said: "Take her—she's a good girl, and loves you to distraction.—May you ever be as happy as the day is long!" Thereupon father and mother and children crowded about Smithson and wished him joy, and company coming in at the moment, the affair was told to them as a profound secret

So Smithson got a wife without popping the question, and almost before he knew it himself. But we cannot help thinking he was hurried into matrimony.

A DUTCHMAN'S DESCRIPTION OF A RAINY NIGHT.—'Vell, last night vas de vorst as never vash. I tought to go down de hill to mine house; but no sooner did I valk den de vaster I stand still, for de darkness was so tick dat I coot not stir it mit mine boots, and de rain—dunder and blixen! in more den tree minute mine skin vas vet troo to mine clo's. But afther von leetle vile stopped quittin' to rain something: so kep feelink of mineself all de vay 'long; and ven I comes to mine own house to valk in, vat you tink? It belong to somebody else!'

—A little Union girl whose father had just returned from the war with an honorable discharge, went to visit a relative in a distant county, accompanied by a lady. Arriving late in the evening at Uncle B's, our little patroness, being much fatigued, proposed to retire and solicited her companion to go with her

'Oh, no,' replied she, 'I must sit up until Uncle B. has prayers.'

'Pray!' said our little friend, 'does Uncle B. pray? 'Why I thought he was a Democrat!'

What a partizan.

—J. B. was a stingy old creature, always eager for money; but he was a very zealous member of a church, and ostentatious in his religious exercises.

'John,' said Catharine to her brother, 'what could have made that stingy old wretch a christian?'

'I can tell you,' said John, 'he has read that the streets of the New Jerusalem are paved with gold, and he is determined to get there'

—A jolly Jack tar having strayed into a menagerie to have a look at the wild beasts was much struck with the sight of a lion and a tiger in the same den.

'Why, Jack,' said he to a messmate, who was chewing a quid in silent amazement, 'I shouldn't wonder if next year they were to carry about a sailor and a marine living peaceably together!'

'Ay,' said his married companion, 'or a man and wife.'

—In a certain depot is a placard announcing, 'No Smoking,' pasted over an oil lamp. Two Irishmen appear, one smoking.

'Pat,' says the other, 'ye're transgressin' the rules of the establishment, ye are.'

'How's that?' says the smoker.

'Don't you see there—no smoking?'

'Yis; but can't ye see, ye spalpeen, the remark is addressed to the lamp?'

—A little boy some six years old, was using his slate and pencil on a Sunday, when his father, who was a minister, entered and said—

'My son, I prefer that you should not use your slate on the Lord's day.'

'I'm drawin' meetin' houses, father,' was the prompt reply.

—An old miser, who was notorious for self-denial, was one day asked why he was so thin.

'I do not know,' said the miser;—'I have tried various means for getting fatter, but without success."

'Have you tried victuals?' inquired the friend.

YANKEE WIT.—A Yankee pedler with his cart, overtaking another of his clan on the road, was thus addressed: 'Halloo, what do you carry?'

'Drugs and medicines,' was the reply.

'Good,' returned the other, 'you may go ahead; I carry grave-stones.'

SIGN OF DEATH.—A friend of ours lives next door to a not over-thriving undertaker. One day our friend's young son rushed into the parlor in a state of wild excitement, exclaiming, 'Oh, father, some one is dead for certain, because the undertaker's children are eating candy!'

—A young lady in Stratford, Conn, having called at the postoffice in that place 267 nights in succession—Sundays excepted—and failing to receive a letter, thinks 'it's no strange.' We think so too!

ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS

MADE BY THE GREAT ASTOLOGIST,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophies, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the conflagration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favoral le an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1 Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likenesses enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, post-paid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. This is to certify, that I am acquainted with the formula of Mear's celebrated Fever and Ague Pills, and I have used the same very extensively in my practice, and have never known them to fail when used according to directions; on the contrary, I have succeeded with them, in many instances, after trying Quinine in vain.
