OUR TICKET.

The result of the labors of the County Convention of Tuesday week is before the people in the shape of a Republican ticket. That convention determined it expedient to put in nomination an entire ticket—a proceeding the propriety of which we suppose no Republican will question. It was deemed necessary in order to keep up our organization, and to present to our unscrupulous foes an earnest of our determination to contest with them the momentous issues now pending in this State. Success may not, evidently will not, attend our efforts; yet we should not relax our energies in attempting the redemption of Maryland from the miserable, tyranical, oppressive, careless and abandoned party which now wields over her a rod of iron.

In order to accomplish this end it was necessary to bring out such a ticket as would excel that put in nomination by the "Conservatives" (the Democrats being completely at the mercy of their allies) as regards honesty, integrity and the necessary qualifications for the different positions. And just such a ticket is now presented to the people for their suffrages. The gentlemen comprising the Republican Convention fully realized the character of the Democratic ticket—in some instances the lack of experience on the part of those constituting it, in others their total incapacity—and have presented such a ticket as not only commands the respect of its opponents, but at the same time challenges their closest scrutiny. It is composed entirely of men of some practical knowledge of the requirements of our county and State—men whose ideas are not circumscribed to the limits of their party, and beyond which their minds are a perfect blank—men of probity, honesty and who have at heart the welfare of their fellow-citizens, and whose every energy will be bent to a reduction of the intolerable burdens which now weigh down all the energies and industries of our State. They are men who will labor for the promotion of the public weal, and who, at the same time, will lend a listening ear to the demands of their oppressed brethren at home. No such slavish road-law as now disgraces our statute books will ever enlist their attention, much less secure their votes. Neither will they assist the continuation of the present useless and extravagant militia and oyster laws, which are continually drawing from the treasury such fabulous sums to render them operative. Upon the subject of railroads they entertain no narrow or contracted views, but are in favor of conceding to those having the means and the desire the greatest latitude in which to construct these arteries of trade. In short, they are governed by no prejudices, actuated by no selfish motives, constrained by no line of policy to advocate measures because party demands it, but entertain the most liberal views upon all subjects now requiring the attention of our people. They sought not the positions to which they have been nominated, but the positions sought them. They are not the nominees of a clique or faction, but the choice of an entire party.

Unnecessary is it for us to take up each gentleman in turn and make up a record of his past life. There is not a member comprising the ticket who is not as familiar to the people of this county as were the Penates to the Romans of old. In a majority of cases they were raised amongst us, and the mere mention of their names recalls some hallowed association with the dead past.—Many of them have, also, been in public life before, and we offer their past acts as a guarantee of their future conduct.

But why say more? The competency, the moral fitness, the liberal views and the deep interest of our candidates in the public weal are facts well known to the citizens of this county, and into their hands we commit them, asking that they will weigh well the claims of each set of candidates for their suffrages. This done, we entertain no fears for the result.

THE second appearance of the "Independent Citizens Ticket" in our paper was caused by our absence from home at the time the paper went to press. We know not for what purpose the ticket was gotten up, and as we suppose the ends of its originators have been accomplished, we withdraw it from our columns.

EVERY vote cast for Jump and the Republican ticket is a vote for retrenchment and low taxes. Do you wish these things?

The October Elections.

As we predicted, the result of the elections in the great States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska, was a grand and triumphant achievment for the Republican cause. The enemy was routed "horse, foot and dragoon," in an uneven contest, and one in which they had everything to gain—we everything to lose. Our majorities are considerably reduced in the two former States (from the three latter we have nothing definite, yet everything indicates that they will be fully up their old standard) 'tis true, but we have won, and that is all that we desired. Majorities are but of secondary importance; and generally are poor reliances upon which to reckon chances of success in subsequent elections. Our Democratic friends have, doubtless, learned this by sad experience, since their political soothsayers have so often predicated future successes upon "great gains," thus awakening the public expectation only to be overwhelmed with crushing defeat. Gentlemen, the revolution has too far progressed to admit of reaction. The auguries may be favorable, yet the accelerated progress of events since the inauguration of the slaveholders' rebellion has acquired sufficient momentum to carry the revolution to a successful close.

The returns from Ohio, even now, are too meagre to estimate our majority; still sufficient is known to ensure the election of the Republican candidate for Governor—Hayes—and to reduce to an absolute certainty the preponderance of the same party in the Legislature. The contest was sharp, close and spirited, but we have vanquished the enemy and they are ours. In Pennsylvania the contest was equally sharp, with a more decisive victory for the Republicans. Geary was re-elected Governor, and in the Legislature we have a majority of twenty-nine on joint ballot. Evidently the prohibition of the naturalization frauds through the registry law has had the good effect of purifying the elections and granting to Pennsylvania a free and untrammeled expression of her real views on the state of the country. Without this law, the State would undoubtedly have been surrendered to the Democrats, and a millionaire Governor, who has cheated his State out of taxes justly due by him, and who, out of his abundance, exultantly boasts that he never contributed a dollar towards the suppression of the rebellion, would soon succeed to the gubernatorial chair rendered illustrious by true patriots. No wonder, then, that Democrats were so vehemently opposed to the Registry law.

And so Democracy has once more been overwhelmed in its "reputed" strongholds. Its base intrigues, its conflicting and deceptious principles, its political heresies, have all been levelled with the dust, and its fetid corpse only awaits burial by its friends. The last nail is driven in the coffin, and future history will know the existence of the Democratic party (so-called) in these five States only as a relict of the past.

Maryland would do well to follow the example of her sister States in discarding the Democratic leeches who are sucking the very substance of her existence out of her—who are impeding her progress, oppressing her people and turning aside that flow of immigration and capital which is necessary to the development of our agricultural and mineral resources. With a change, we are confident her prosperity will be doubly enhanced.

Our Nominee for Comptroller.

The Republican State Convention, which assembled in Baltimore on Wednesday last, nominated Col. William A. McKellip, of Carroll county, as our candidate for Comptroller of the Treasury in the pending canvass.—Col. McKellip is a leading member of the Westminster bar, and a gentleman of high character and standing. He was one of the first men in the State to offer his services to the government after the breaking out of the rebellion. He raised a company in Carroll, and with it joined the 6th Maryland Regiment, to the Colonelcy of which Regiment he was afterwards promoted. After the war closed he was elected Clerk of the Circuit Court for his county, a position which he was legislated out of by the adoption of the new constitution of 1867. His nomination cannot fail to give universal satisfaction, and will materially strengthen our cause in Western Maryland, where he is very popular.—He is known as an earnest advocate of free railroads, free schools and a reduction of taxation. His antagonist, Levin Woolford, Esq., the democratic nominee, is the representative of the railroad monopolists of the State, and the champion of those who have so crippled our public school system.

Choose Ye Between Them.

Daniel Fields, the Democratic candidate for the State Senate was a member of the last Legislature, and by his vote sanctioned the piling up of expenditures until they reached the unheard-of sum of eight millions of dollars. This wilful extravagance on the part of that Legislature has increased taxes in this county—all told—from ninety-seven cents to one hundred and seven cents in the hundred dollars.

Robert J. Jump was Comptroller of the State Treasury at the time of the wane of Republican power in this State, and was a most faithful custodian of the people's interests during his administration. His record is without a spot or blemish. So satisfactory, indeed, was it that a prominent Democrat, all the way from Kent, urged him to accept a nomination at the hands of his party.

Citizens of Caroline, which do you prefer for the Senatorship? The choice is with you.

REMEMBER the County meetings and attend them.

Peace and Harmony Prevail.

It is a matter of great congratulation among Republicans that the differences which heretofore existed among the members of that party in Maryland is amicably settled.—Judge Bond and Mr. Fulton and Mr. Cresswell have become reconciled, and are zealously working together for the success of our party. They have mutually buried their animosities in one common grave, and brotherly love exists between them.

The Republicans of Maryland will hail this intelligence with delight, the more so from the fact that self-destruction was inevitable without a reconciliation of these discordant elements. Although fomented and kept alive in Baltimore city, its influence was gradually extending into the counties, and the coming of that great and important event in the history of Maryland—the final ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment—would have found us quarreling among ourselves and illy prepared to combat our old adversaries, even though we had gained large accessions to our ranks. The late elections have placed the ratification of this Amendment beyond a peradventure, and the day is not far distant when it will become a law to all intents and purposes.

With this Amendment, and with peace and harmony in our own ranks, we shall march gallantly forward to the ballot box in the next election and there redeem our noble old State from the political thraldom that now overhangs her. Already one wing of the Democratic party is gravitating towards us. Upon one point we already agree—a free railroad system—and it will be no difficul matter to coalesce upon other issues.—The "nigger" question will soon be removed, and what then remains to separate us?

A DEMOCRATIC succeeded a Republican administration at the close of the war, and under it the National debt continued to magnify. But on the 4th of March last a Republican administration once more came into power through the election of Gen. Grant, and the first six months of that administration showed a reduction of the National debt fifty millions of dollars. A Democratic also followed a Republican administration in Maryland, which plundered the public treasury, piled up taxes to an alarming extent, although twice the amount of revenue is derived by the new assessment, and even brought the State to the verge of financial ruin.—Change this administration, supplant the Democratic leeches who cling as tenaciously to the public treasury as a drowning man does to a straw, and reinstate the Republicans, and you will once more witness an economical administration of State affairs, just as in national. Your vote, on election day, is just so much to bring about this result

Philadelphia Naturalization Frauds.

Following close upon the popular denunciation of the naturalization frauds perpetrated by the Democrats of the city of Philadelphia last year comes the report of the Court of Common Pleas, sitting as a Court of Inquiry, asserting such frauds to have been committed, and calling the attention of the District Attorney thereto with a view to the prosecution of their authors. The report ousts all the Democratic city officers except the Mayor, and he only holds on by the smallest imaginable contingency. Could the truth be known, we opine he holds his office in contravention of the wishes of a majority of the people of the Quaker city, and without a majority of their legal votes.

The New Secretary of War.

The vacancy in the Cabinet, caused by the death of the lamented Rawlins, has been filled by the appointment by the President of Brevet Major-General Wm. W. Belknap, of Keokuk, Iowa. General Belknap is at present the Collector of the First Revenue district of that State, and a lawyer by profession. At the commencement of the war, he entered the volunteer service, and step by step won his way to distinction and honor. He was with Sherman in his "march to the sea," and was a favorite with both him and General Grant. The numerous positions he has held distinctively assert his superiority as an executive officer, and recommend him to the confidence of the American people.

THE EASTERN SHOREMAN, commenting upon the late Republican Convention, says:

"There was quite a struggle between the Creswell and Bond wings, which resulted in a triumph for the former."

Never was more mistaken in your life, sir. The utmost good-feeling prevailed between the adherents of these two men, and nothing occurred to rekindle the fires of jealousy between them. The only thing over which there was a "struggle" was the appointment of a State Central Committee. The counties, with amazing unanimity, had gone up with the determination to remove the cause of all future discord by selecting their own members of the State Central Committee, and this they accomplished. Beyond this there was no contention, but the utmost harmony prevailed.

HIGH TAXES, poor laws, an increased debt, partizan legislation and obloquy and disgrace are among the evils which the Democratic party has brought to Maryland. A vote for Jump and the entire Republican ticket is a vote to efface these things and replace our State upon a sure road to prosperity such as only the Republicans can give.

FREE RAILROADS opposition to the present Oyster and Militia laws, and a more perfect system of education are the cardinal principles of Republicanism in Maryland.—Every vote cast for the Republican ticket is a vote cast to bring about these things, Republican State Convention.

The Republican State Convention, called for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Comptroller of the Treasury, assembled in Baltimore on Wednesday last, and temporarily organized by calling Hon. Jacob Tome, of Cecil county, to the chair, and appointing Col. Black, of Frederick, as secretary.

A committee on credentials was appointed, who reported every county in the State fully represented.

The Convention then permanently organized by the election of the following officers:

President—Hon. Jacob Tome, of Cecil.

Vice Presidents—Henry H. Goldsborough, of Talbot; General A. W. Dennison, of Baltimore city: John T. Ensor, of Baltimore county; P. B. Small, of Washington county, and Thomas H. Gardner, of Howard.

Secretaries—Dr. W. R. Wimer, of Charles; Capt. W. H. Lowdermilk, of Allegany, and R. M. Smyth, of Kent.

Sergeant-At-Arms—Jas. Manley, of Baltimore.

A committee on resolutions was then appointed. While the committee was preparing the resolutions, the Convention was eloquently addressed by Henry R. Torbert, esq., of Cecil, and John T. Ensor, esq., of Baltimore county.

The committee then offered the following resolutions, all of which were, after debate, adopted:

Resolved by the Republicans of Maryland, in General Convention assembled, That we have undiminished confidence in the Administration of President Grant, devoted as it is to the maintenance of the national credit and the enforcement of economy and honesty in all branches of the public service.

Resolved, That repudiation of our national indebtedness is exclusively a Democratic doctrine, and should be, in whatever guise presented, utterly scouted and denounced by every man who cares to preserve either his country's honor or his own.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the enactment of a free railroad law, and the removal of all legislative restrictions upon the development of the agricultural and mineral resources of the State.

Resolved, That as the Militia law of the State was enacted for purposes of doubtful loyalty, is unnecessary and produces a wasteful expenditure of the public money and an oppressive capitation tax on the people, it ought to be repealed.

Resolved, That the Oyster law recently enacted is, in the opinion of the Convention, a mere machine for furnishing place for political partisans, oppressive alike to all engaged in this laborious business, and in no wise calculated to protect the oyster interest or to benefit the Treasury of the State, and ought to be repealed or essentially modified.

Resolved, That we are in favor of a comprehensive system of public schools that will give to all classes of our citizens the advantages of education for their children.

Resolved, That we, as National Republicans, stand pledged to the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which gives equal rights to all men, without distinction of race or color.

Mr. Goldsborough from the committee, then reported the following resolutions, which were also adopted:

Resolved, That the delegations from the counties and the city of Baltimore select the State Central Committee for the ensuing year, based upon legislative representation.

Resolved, That in the future the State Central Committee be selected by the County and the City Conventions respectively.

The Convention then proceeded to select a candidate for Comptroller, when Hon. H. H. Goldsborough, of Talbot, and Col. Wm. A. McKellip, of Carroll, were placed in nomination. A ballot was then had, and resulted as follows:

Col. McKellip, the nominee, was then sent for and brought into the hall, when he accepted the nomination in a brief speech, after which the Convention adjourned.

CAPT. ALEX. STEWART, who we noticed last week as being put in nomination by eighty-six Democrats for the sheriffalty accepts the nomination and publishes the following

CARD.

To my Democratic Fellow Citizens:

GENTLEMEN:—In reply to your letter of the 9th inst., published in the Denton Journal, announcing me your candidate for the next Sheriff of Caroline county, I do sincerely thank you for the honor you have bestowed upon me; and for the reasons assigned in said letter, I now most cheerfully accept said nomination, and ask you, with the balance of my friends and fellow citizens, to give me an earnest support at the ballot-box in November next, which I will be ever grateful

Very Respectfully, yours &c.,
A. STEWART.

Denton, Oct. 16. 1369.

WHAT has become of that elaborately constructed "Democratic Pyramid," with Ohio at the apex and Pennsylvania at the base, which some years ago made its appearance in the democratic country jornals just after the October election? Like their party, it has fallen low.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL JONES has rendered an opinion to the effect that School Commissioners are to be elected by the districts respectively, and not by the county as a whole.

FOR ELEVEN YEARS the Democratic party has held the city of Lancaster Pa., in its grasp. That grasp was loosened on Tuesday week, and the Rpublicans elected their candidate for Mayor, and carried the city.

SUIT AGAINST THE P. W. AND B. RAILROAD COMPANY.—On the morning of the flood a gentleman purchased an excursion ticket to Philadelphia, but as the trains did not run the ticket was not used. A few days afterwards in going to Philadelphia he presented it to the conductor, who refused to take it and demanded pay. A dispute arose between the parties, and it is said the conductor either put him off the train or attempted to do so, and in the scuffle the clothes of the passenger were damaged. On his return home he employed counsel and instituted a suit against the company for damages. Subsequently he withdrew the suit and went to the ticket office and asked to have the price of the ticket returned to him. This request being refused, he again entered suit against the company. A few days since he was waited upon and informed if he would withdraw the suit all reasonable damages would be allowed him, and that the conductor would make a suitable apology. This he refused to do, and we presume the case will come before the next term of the New Castle county court.

A LETTER FROM GENERAL GRANT.—Mr. Robert Bonner, of New York, recently wrote to General Grant asking him to make denial over his own signature all foreknowledge of the gold combination, in order to relieve himself entirely from all responsibility from the acts of others." The President replied in the following letter:

Washington, D. C., October 13, 1869.—Robert Bonner, Esq.: Dear Sir—Your favor of the 11th instant is received. I have never thought of contradicting statements or insinuations made against me by irreponsible parties, as those as alluded to in your letter; but as you have written to me on the subject, in so kind a spirit, I will say that I had no more to do with the late gold excitement in New York city than yourself, or any other innocent party, except that I ordered the sale of gold to break the ring engaged, as I thought, in a most disreputable transaction. If the speculators had been successful you would never have heard of any one connected with the administration as being connect-with the transaction. Yours, truly,

U. S. GRANT.

P. S.—I have written this in great haste, and without exercising judgment as to the propriety of writing it, but I submit it to your judgment. U. S. G.

REPUBLICANS! vote, and vote early. Let us bring out our entire strength and show to our enemies that we are a party respectable in numbers, and "foeman worthy their steel.
