DENTON, MARYLAND:

THURSDAY MORNING:.....March 24, 1870.

A Blunder.

Under the above caption, the Observer, a newspaper printed at Centreville, Queen Anne's county, gives the citizens of this county a little gratuitous advice concerning the division of the First election district into two districts. It says that since the division has been made it has been discovered that, "under the XVth Amendment, the new district is strongly Republican, the negroes and white Republicans being in at least two thirds majority." Alarming discovery! The proposed remedy for the blunder is "to repeal the law at once, and leave the district as it was."

Was the Observer posted in regard to political matters in this county, it would know that neither a separation nor consolidation could save the sinking fortunes of its friends here. We are "too many" for them. Exclusive of the doubtful vote, the sentiment of the two parties is more evenly divided in this county than in any in the State. The doubtful vote is about four hundred, while the colored vote is not less than eight hundred, and even if the Democrats succeed in getting all the doubtful vote, which is by no means probable, the Republicans will still have majority of four hundred. Democracy, Mr. Observer, is a "dead duck" in Caroline.

Our object in noticing the Observer's article is to call attention to the numerous schemes and make-shifts of the Democratic party in order to retain power. It is very seldom that positive evidence of Democratic chicanery can be found, the mouth-pieces of that party possessing the strange peculiarity of meaning one thing when they say another. But here is a specimen of undisguised trickery which it is impossible to cover up or conceal. We take the Observer to be the organ of the Democratic party in Queen Anne's, which fact entitles it to at least a little respectability among its party in the State, but yet it advocates the subversion of individual rights and privileges to party requirements, thus inculcating an example which might, at some time, be dangerous and fraught with evil. The Observer is one of that class of public journals which devotes its all to party, and scruples not at any trick which will advance the party of which it is as an honorable member.

We feel warranted, however, in saying that the citizens of the 1st district will not forego their own conveniences simply to advance party interests.

COMMUNICATED.

COLORED EDUCATIONAL SOCIETY.—The colored people held a meeting in the "Bureau" in this town, on Thursday, for the purpose of organizing an educational society. We have not been able to learn the particulars of the meeting, though we made some effort. Not belonging to the "trooly loil," those we approached on the subject were not very communicative. We learned sufficient, however, to justify the opinion that the subject of politics received fully as much attention as that of education. We understand the meeting was edified by addresses from some of the whitewashed fraternity.—Denton Journal.

Having been present at the above named meeting, I can testify that no "white-washed" person was present. The meeting was composed of persons of color principally, only three whites being present. The object sought for and accomplished, was to form an association of persons who are willing to pay a trifle per month to keep the school in operation—free for all to attend.

That "politics" were discussed by some, is true. These are a part of education. One speaker refered to the success of Abraham Lincoln over Stephen A. Douglass. The education of the former led him to the conviction that the country could not be a Republic and united while the difference existed between freedom and "slavery were voted up or down."

Some of the addresses were very interesting, and I do not believe a meeting composed principally of uneducated men of any nation or color would have been conducted with a better grace; certainly not with any better results, for the object sought was gained, and the colored school at this place will be free from the 1st of April next. T.

The Press.

THE PRINTER'S CIRCULAR.—In entering upon the fifth year of its existence this invaluable aid to the printer has increased its proportions and assume new beauties. In typography it is faultless, and its selections are such as indicate a master hands. You have our best wishes, friend Menamin, for the prosperity of your journal, and our ardent hope to see its usefulness still further increased. R. S. Menamin, publisher, 515 Minor Street, Phila. $1 per annum.

THE LADY'S FRIEND.—The April number of this popular magazine comes to us with the freshness and life of spring. In the steel plate "ON GUARD," the alert watchfulness of the dog contrasts finely with the repose of the sleeping boy. The Colored Fashion Plate is gay and graceful as usual; and the profusion and variety of illustrations of articles of feminine use and adornment give the ladies every opportunity to know how to dress well. Those who like to make for themselves will find assistance in the worktable department. The stories are very good. Published by Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street, Philadelphia. Price $2.50 a year (which also includes a large steel engraving). Four copies, $6.

WILD CHERRY BALSAM.—The memory of Dr. Wistar is embalmed in the hearts of thousands whom his Balsam of Wild Cherry has cured of coughs, colds, consumption, or some other form of pulmonory disease. It is now over forty years since this preparation was brought before the public, and yet the demand for it is constantly increasing.

Yerger, the murderer of Colonel Crane, voluntarily returned to the jail at Jackson, Miss., from which he escaped two weeks ago. In a note to the Governor he states that he left prison only to gratify a fancy for a few day's freedom, and never intended to shirk his trial.

A Defaulter.

CONFESSION OF HIS DEPUTY—FALSE ASSESSMENTS—TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS NAMED AS THE AMOUNT.

The New York papers of Monday supply the details of the flight of Internal Revenue Collector Bailey of that city, and the extent of the frauds committed by him. His Deputy, E. S. Childs, who was arrested, has confessed the way in which the frauds were committed:

He said they commenced about four years ago, while Bailey was Collector of the Fourth Revenue District, and were subsequently carried on in a more systematic and extensive manner on the latter's removal to the Thirty-second District. He admitted, it is alleged, the charge of complicity made against him. He said he was in the habit of making up false assessment rolls, in obedience to Mr. Bailey's directions. The moneys which he received as tax from merchants who had been assessed were not credited on the rolls, but was appropriated by Mr. Bailey for his own private use. The frauds were kept from discovery at the Internal Revenue Commissioner's Office at Washington by reporting the money so embezzled as uncollected. Various amounts were abstracted and the guilty transactions covered up in this way at frequent intervals during the past year.

Childs, it is said, is of the opinion that the peculations so committed will not reach above one hundred thousand dollars. He represents Bailey as being deficient in his accounts with the Government about forty thousand dollars at the time of his leaving the Fourth District in the spring of 1869.—This deficit was made up by the money stolen in the Thirty-second District. Childs is also of the belief that Bailey intended to pay back every cent of the money which he had wrongfully withheld from the Government, but was prevented from so doing through misfortune and bad business management.

Bailey has made during his possession of the Collector's office about $150,000 as his share in the moieties of whiskey seizures.—What use he has made of the money is not known, as he was not a fast man and lived in a plain style. The most plausible supposition on the part of those who knew him is that he used a considerable portion of his gains in carrying on his whiskey suits and raids on liquor dealers, besides giving a liberal share to corrupt persons who were in his employ.

I regard Koskoo a specific for all scrofulous affections. Your koskoo also cured my wife of dyspepsia, from which she suffered greatly.—She is now in better health than she has been in five years.

I am gratefully yours, &c.,
