DENTON, MARYLAND:

THURSDAY MORNING:.....August 25, 1870.

Congressional.

The delegates from the several districts met in County Convention, in Denton, on Tuesday last for the purpose of electing delegates to the Congressional Nominating Convention which meets in Cambridge on the 1st of September. The following delegates were elected:

Hiram W. McCauley,
J. Marion Emerson,
Charles H. Todd.

This delegation will go to Cambridge free from any instructions, and pledged to the support of no man.

The War in Europe.

A series of engagements between the Prussian and French armies, near Metz, have taken place during the past week, culminating in the complete defeat of the French army, under Marshal Bazaine, at Rezonville, on Thursday, the 18th inst., and its close investment within the city of Metz. On Saturday morning, Bazaine made a desperate effort to cut his way out through the Prussian army, but was beaten back with severe loss. The seige of Metz thus commences with a victory for the Prussians.

The despatches are conflicting and give but few particulars of the several battles, but enough is known to clearly show that the French have been disastrously defeated, and are retreating. The correspondent of the leading French journal in the United States concedes that the army of the Crown Prince of Prussia, moving on the right of the French line, is South of Chalons, and believes that one more decisive battle will give Paris to the Prussians. Later despatches state that he is marching on Paris with 200,000 men. Extraordinary exertions are being made for the defence of Paris.

The French people are greatly excited and discouraged over their late defeat, and attribute the blame chiefly to Napoleon.—Evidently the last lingering hope of the Emperor is gone. Even now the home authorities seem to act without regard to the Emperor, or the Queen regent; and it is confidently stated that preparations are made for their flight to England, or Spain.

Some effort is still being made for peace. It is alleged, however, that Prussia will demand the dethronement of Napoleon, and the cession of the provinces of Alsace and Lorraine.

Official Rascality.

A piece of official rascality has come to our knowledge which we deem it our duty to expose. The official having heretofore enjoyed a good reputation, we are not disposed to draw down upon his head the full measure of shame which the offense merits, and therefore withhold his name. We are prepared, however, when the proof is demanded, to fully back up all that we shall have to say in connection with the affair.

A teacher in one of our county schools, having faithfully performed the duty for which he was engaged, applied to the Board of School Commissioners for his salary.—For some reason the Commissioners were unable to give him a check for the money, but gave him an order upon the Collector of State and county taxes for the amount demanded. Learning, as the common report goes, that the people were much behindhand in the payment of their taxes, he called upon a number of tax-payers for the purpose of obtaining the money on the order, but could find none, or very few, that had not settled up all taxes they owed. He then took the order to the collector himself, but was informed he had no money to pay it.—After considerable parleying, the teacher offered the collector, if he would pay the money down, a small bonus, but the offer being less than others, he replied that he "had been offered six per cent. by others." The teacher positively refused to pay so heavy a per cent., and the collector at first hesitated to pay it on any other terms, but finally did pay it at a discount of three per cent.

Here we have a piece of downright swindling and rascality. The money was not the property of the collector, so that he might speculate upon it if he desired, but belonged to the county and was in his hands as a county fiduciary—the county being without a Treasurer. It was his duty—one which he had sworn to honestly and faithfully perform—to collect the taxes and pay them over to the persons designated; but instead of so doing, he holds the money in his possession, refusing to pay it out to those who held claims against the county, unless he could be twice remunerated for the performance of his duty. For the performance of this duty the county pays him largely, but he demands an extra pay from private individuals, which is downright robbery.

"Others had offered him six per cent.," says this public officer, and as he took three per cent. from the gentleman in question, it is fair to presume he had swindled others of the hard earnings of their labor. This ought to be stopped, and stopped at once. It is bad enough in men, acting in an individual capacity, with their own private means, to take advantage of the wants and necessities of others; but when our public officers do thus, with the public money, it is downright rascality and needs correction.

We promise this collector that we shall follow him in all his transactions, and that, if a like offense, or any other beyond the line of his duty, occurs, we will expose his name, and do all we can to rest upon his head the contempt of the public.

PRESIDENT GRANT has issued a proclamation declaring the neutrality of the United States in the European war.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT makes the encouraging announcement that the civil service estimates for 1871 are sixteen millions of dollars less than those of 1870. It is a promise of economy which may be confidently accepted in view of the past extraordinary reductions by the administration of government expenses and the national debt.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION of the Local Preachers of the M. E. Church will be held in Philadelphia, October 15th to 18th, 1870. The local or conference associations, which have not already done so, are requested to elect delegates without delay. Any local preacher, where there is no organized association, is entitled to attend as a self-constituted delegate.

Two men—father and son—have held the office of clerk of Grayson county, Ky., ever since it was organized, in 1816.—Exchange.

And the leech-like politicians of Cecil county, Md., now hold nearly all the government offices which belong to this district and are demanding more. If it were possible, we think it would be far more preferable to put the offices in them than to put them in the offices.

DEMOCRATIC NEWSPAPERS continue to speak of the "unprofitable fruits," as they call it of President Grant's administration, when every month tells a reduction in the National debt and every day witnesses a nearer return to the era of peace as it existed prior to the war. The editors of these newspapers, and the miserable coterie of politicians whom they serve, are alone responsible for the continuance of the strife thus long, and the manner in which they now seek to keep alive the dying embers of discontent, in the face of the most positive contradiction of all they say, should suffice to sicken and disgust all fair-minded men and constrain them to unite their fortunes with the only party which has proven itself capable of a full and perfect administration of our Republican system of free government.

AT A MEETING of the Republican State Central Committee, held last month, the question of the registration of the colored people was considered, and means devised for the employment, in each election district of the several counties, of one influential colored man to look after the colored voters and see that they are all registered. The expenses of such colored people will be paid out of the Committee fund. It is, therefore, desired that the colored people in each election district of this county, will, at once, name some one of their number to perform this duty, and report the same, as soon as possible, to one of the members of the State Central Committee for the county. The committee are, Curtis Davis, J. Marion Emerson, and Geo. W. Kugler. The registration officers have given notice of their sittings, and it is important that this matter be attended to without delay.

A FEW PROFESSED REPUBLICANS, headed by the New York Evening Post, are seeking to disrupt the party on the question of Free Trade. Sooner than endorse the principle of Protection, they have publicly signified their intention of parting faith with the party, and of supporting a Democrat. It is gratifiying, however, to know that this faction is small, and that the Republican party, as a party, is pledged to the great and essential principle to our prosperity—Protection to Home Industry. In all the States where nominations have been made, only Protection candidates have been brought forward, and the fact is significant as denoting the sentiment of the party with reference to these two antagonistic principles.

En passant, it is always just such unfair and faulty journals as the Post that the opposition quotes as authority on all questions affecting the party. No true Republican recognizes such journals as the organs of the party, and it will be well to caution the honest masses of the party against them, or anything they may say.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Mr. Editor:

My charge, made some weeks since, of the existence of a ring in Baltimore city, with an appendage in Cecil county, judging from the recent expressions of a certain Custom House official, made to a Republican of this county, is now openly admitted. In a very recent conversation of this "official," upon our streets, he very candidly let the "cat out of the bag" by declaring that, inasmuch as Mr. Torbert's prospects for a nomination were "growing beautifully less," and he had no chance of success, "Mr. Creswell would do nothing for Caroline now"—"that Mr. Creswell had charge of matters in this State and would send the money elsewhere,"—"that it was Mr. Cresswell's intention to bring Caroline from under Democratic rule, but the county had forfeited its claim upon Mr. Creswell for anything now."

Here is a frank admission on the part of an "official," admitting the existence of a ring in this state to control the Congressional nominations, and Mr. Creswell as being at the head of that ring. Now, if Mr. Creswell has charge of matters in this State, he can use his money in Cecil county, where he has so liberally bestowed his government patronage, or, if he has not room there for his greenbacks, he can send them to Baltimore city, where, I am sure, he will find ample material to operate upon. We had rather be defeated here without his money than to succeed with it. We want neither his money nor influence, nor will we have it, though voluntarily tendered. We have had enough of both in the past and are satisfied. The editor of the Cecil Whig must have had his eye upon this greenback pile when he denounced the Republicans of Caroline as a set of "traders," believing, perhaps, we could be bought like sheep in the market. The Republican party here has no use for Mr. Creswell or his money.—He can use that, as he has the bestowal of his offices, nearer home.

THE ELECTION LAW.—Why cannot the Democratic journals, says the New York Times, conceal their chagrin at the election law recently enacted by Congress? The fact that it implies the exercise of Federal authority in a manner which the other State Rights men consider unconstitutional is a fair ground of criticism. But when column after column appears, conceived in the spirit of an angry partisanship, it is impossible not to suspect that the hostility to the law originates less in qualms of conscience about its constitutionality than in dread of its interference with ordinary Democratic plans.—There is nothing intrinsically unjust in the law; it interposes no obstacle to the excise of the franchise by any man entitled to vote; it makes no discrimination in favor of one party and against another; it imposes no penalty upon any who does not earn punishment. Whence, then, this violent opposition? Are we to conclude that the Democrats, notwithstanding all their professions, do not want a fair election, and would much rather have no check upon the rascality which has served them so often and so well? Their fury scarcely admits of any other explanation.

Clippings.

—General Sigel has almost recovered from his recent injuries.

—Hon. Fred'k T. Frelinghuysen has declined the mission to England.

—Hon. James L. Orr, ex-Governor of South Carolina, and heretofore a prominent Democrat, has published a letter, announcing that he has joined the Republican party.

—Prussia now has military control of 38,000,000 people, or only about 2,000,000 less than France. With the Germans in Austria added to her standard she would have 7,000,000 more than France.

PEOPLE of Somerset county, Md., engaged or interested in the oyster fisheries, are taking active measures to contest the right of Virginia to prevent their carrying on their business in waters between Virginia and Maryland. It is said that a "treaty" entered into between the commanders of the Maryland and Virginia oyster navies has given rise to all the hardships the oystermen of the Eastern Shore counties are now laboring under.

"THEIR NAME IS LEGION," may be applied to those who die annually of Consumption, although science has of late years sensibly diminished their number. It is gratifying to know that the general use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is largely instrumental in attaining this end.

TWO OR THREE FACTS.—Wanamaker & Brown have been in business only ten years, but stand now at the head of the clothing trade, having the largest house and largest business in America. They retain all their old customers, and add new ones by the hundreds. Their customers are not all Philadelphians, but come from all over the State, and indeed from all the cities in the Union.

Our readers will draw their own inference from this argument of facts.
