W. M. KENNARD, 306 Market st., Wilmington, Del., is selling the best 4-4 bro. muslin at 12 ½ cts. [oc27-4w.

THE FARMERS' CLUB.—The third meeting of the Farmers' Club will be held at Denton on Saturday next. A cordial invitation is extended to all farmers and all others wishing to become members to be present. Don't neglect this meeting. It will be interesting to farmers, and not one should absent themselves from it.

A CIRCUS COMING.—We publssh elsewhere the advertisement of Madigan & Co.'s circus, which exhibits at Denton on Tuesday next. The proprietors claim that this is "the model show of the period," and the names of the Arenic Magnates published in connection with it would seem to justify them in this claim.

FIRE IN CENTREVILLE.—John Wilkinson's store, in Centreville, together with his entire stock of goods, was destroyed by fire early on Thursday morning last. The impression prevails that the store was first robbed and then carelessly or purposely fired. The alarm was given by the explosion of a keg of gunpowder. Mr. W.'s loss is about $4,000, upon which there is no insurance.

RUNAWAY.—A horse which Mr. Jonathan Evitts had left standing unhitched in front of Rev. R. W. Todd's store on Tuesday, becoming impatient, started homewards, accelerating its speed as it went. At the hill it started in a full run and so continued until the carriage collided with Mr. R. D. Williams', near the new school-house, when Mr. Evitts' carriage was upset and the cross-bar broken. We have not learned of any further damage to either carriage.

RUNAWAY AND ACCIDENT.—As Mr. Elijah Towers was proceeding homeward from this place on Saturday afternoon last his horse took fright and ran away when at Watt's Creek Hill, throwing Mr. Towers out from the carriage and seriously, but not dangerously, wounding him, and almost completely wrecking the carriage. In descending the hill the harness gave way and the carriage run up against the horse, frightening it and causing it to run. Mr. Towers is pretty badly bruised about the head, and his hips are also injured. At last accounts he was slowly improving.

ORPHANS' COURT PROCEEDINGS.—We extract the following from the record of Tuesday:

Bennett Downs, guardian to Saml. C., Eliza P. and Pere H. Turner, passed first and final guardian account.

Final distribution of the estate of Thos. Wright was passed.

Henry Wilson, administrator of Hy. H. Smith, presented additional account of sales, list of sperate debts, interest account and first and final account of administration.

Jas. W. Saulsbury executor of Saml S. Hitch, presented receipt and final release from Ezra M. Hitch, Matthew Chilton, guardian to Lannie Hooper, and Miriam Hitch.

THE DEDICATION AT HARRINGTON.—The new M. E. Church, at Harrington, Delaware—a very neat and commodious structure—was dedicated to the services of Almighty God on Sunday last. Revs. A. Manship and R. W. Todd preached on the occasion and performed the dedicatory services.

The day was pleasant, the congregations very large, and the services throughout highly satisfactory.

It was announced in the morning that $800 were needed to pay the indebtedness on the church, and we are pleased to record that the entire amount was realized in cash and reliable subscriptions.

—Advertisements omitted to-day will be made up in future issues.

CAUTION!—In our changeable climate, coughs, colds, and diseases of the throat, lungs and chest will always prevail. Cruel consumption will claim its victims. These diseases, if attended to in time, can be arrested and cured. The remedy is Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Deaths.

TAYLOR.—Near Centreville, on the 15th inst., George, eldest son of Geo. W. and Margaret Taylor, aged 8 years.

OBITUARY.

Rev. T. J. Quigley, D. D., died at his residence in Laurel, Del., on the 19th inst. We have not learned by what disease Dr. Quigley was stricken; but for two years past the infirmities of accumulating years had been gathering about him, and his friends were duly admonished that he whom they so much loved and venerated, might, at any time, be taken from them.

He was advised to desist from the pastoral work at the close of the last conference year; and, had he done so, might perhaps have lived for a number of years; but his health having somewhat improved, he could not be induced to give up the loved work of his life.

Dr. Quigley was a man of more than ordinary character and moral worth. However much one might feel disposed to differ with him in any of his expressed views, he could not avoid the acknowledgement that his convictions were honestly entertained, and ably defended, in a manly and catholic spirit. He was the friend of every man—a genuine philanthropist; hence, as a citizen no man was more active in works of benevolence and plans for the promotion of the public good. A large part of his life was spent in the midst of this community, he having been twice pastor of Denton Circuit, and twice Presiding Elder, during which time he lived here. He was greatly missed, upon leaving, and his christian, manly character is held in the most respectful veneration by all classes of our citizens.

Dr. Quigley was an able minister of the Gospel. His natural endowments of mind were above the ordinary, and were carefully cultivated by dilligence in the study of those sciences that might minister to his efficiency in his great profession. Though he did not receive in youth a classic education: yet, by "studying to show himself approved," his attainments in literature and science became so manifest as to merit and receive, at the hands of the Trustees and Faculty of Washington College, at Chestertown, the degree of Doctor of Divinity. The title was worthily bestowed, and humbly and gracefully worn.

Dr. Quigley will be missed—not only in the Wilmington Conference, of which he was a member—but in the whole church; he having been several times a member of the General Conference, and intimately identified with all the great questions that, for the last twenty years, have been agitated in the church. His voice has demanded a respectful hearing in her councils, and his pen has effectually spoken in her periodicals. The cause that could secure Dr. Quigley as a champion, need not to quail in the presence of strong antagonism.

For many years he has been the earnest and honest advocate of Lay Representation in the councils of the Methodist Episcopal Church.—His personal influence and convincing arguments ministered not a little to the ultimate and recent triumph of that principle in the affirmative vote of both laity and ministry.

The closing scenes of his life were the fitting and appropriate, and it may be added, necessary sequel of the life itself. He who lives well is necessarily destined to die well. His sufferings, in his last affliction, were great; but his triumphs were equal to his sufferings. He had lived a christian hero; he could but die a christian conqueror. "As might have been expected" writes Rev. Dr. Simpson, "his end was peaceful and triumphant."

"I am passing through the valley," said he to one who stood at his bedside, "but it is a pleasant journey." Standing on the shore of "the dark river," with its cold ripple laving his feet, he delivered to the sorrowing loved ones who stood weeping by, a parting discourse, full of holy inspiration, as if dictated by angels.

He "rests from his labors:" his works survive, and "do follow him." The wave of hallowed influence set in motion by the life of a good man will never cease its roll. It will bear its freight of blessed results on through the boundless, undying future, ministering ever to the bliss of humanity and the glory of God.

Dr. Quigley's long life was identified with Methodism though a part of its early struggles and romances, and was extended to witness and rejoice in its honors and triumphs. It is fitting that his dust reposes in the cemetery adjoining old Barratt's Chapel—the classic spot around which cluster so many beautiful reminiscences of the heroic past, and which is so prophetic of the glorious future.
