—The drouth continues, very little relief having been afforded by the rains or snows which have fallen.

—A revival meeting at Harrington includes among its conversions some of the prominent citizens of the place.

—The extra meetings in the M. E. Church in Denton have been unattended by any conversions or penitents.

—Mr. Henry Corkran, who removed from this county to Florida in 1869, is visiting his friends at his former home.

—Mr. Jesse Small has exchanged his property, in this town, with Rev. J. W. Hammersley for a farm in Sussex county, Del.

—The Wilmington Commercial fears that "if the people of Denton are too inert to organize a building association, there is little hopes of the town improving." The Commercial's fears would seem well-grounded.

CRANBERRY CULTURE.—We understand that Mr. Tilghman Hubbard has purchased Maple Marsh, at Federalsburg, near the depot, with a view to planting it down in cranberries. If success attends Mr. Hubbard's enterprise, which we have no doubt it will, we shall soon expect to see all the available marsh land along our rivers converted into vast cranberry bogs. And assuredly they could not be turned to better or more profitable use.

DONATION.—The friends of Rev. Mrs. J. W. Hammersley, through Mrs. J. W. Bryant, presented that lady with a splendid shawl, on Monday evening last, as a token of their esteem for her. Mrs. F. A. Sisk also presented Mrs. Hammersley with a neat hat.

For these evidences of kind regard, Mrs. Hammersley feels very thankful, and promises to regard them with pleasure when, in the course of Providence, she shall be separated from them.

MR. EDITOR:—

As we are going to have two very interesting cases tried before Esquire Watkins—one known as the "White Horse" case, and the other growing out of a snow-balling up at Hickory Hall school-house, near Smithville—I thought I would give you, if your valuable time will admit, a pressing invitation to be present. The school is in charge of Miss Noble, who, by the way, is a very estimable young lady and well qualified for the position. Her school numbers about thirty-five scholars. It seems that some of the boys, a few days since, got to snow-balling each other, when one of the boys, about 16 years of age, a son of Mr. ——, was hit in the eye and slightly blackened. Mr. —— immediately demanded the dismissal of the teacher, or the schoolhouse had to come down. After having a hearing before the Trustees, and they finding that the action of the boys did not justify the dismissal of the teacher, as was demanded, Mr. —— sought out Esquire Watkins, who issued State's writs for three or four little boys and subpœnaed ten or a dozen more as witnesses in the case (oh! the fees!). Esquire Hignutt declined to have anything to do with the case, considering it entirely beneath his dignity.

FEDERALSBURG.

THE "FARMERS'" OVERCOAT.—A well built garment—thick, warm and durable—comfortable enough to drive to market and genteel enough to wear to church, is the new overcoat sold by Wanamaker & Brown, as many of our neighbors, at but fourteen dollars a piece.

The Farmers' Club.

MEETING ON TUESDAY—AN INTERESTING DEBATE.

The Club met in accordance with previous notice, Jas. W. Saulsbury, Senior Vice-President, in the chair. Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

On motion of Mr. White a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. White, Kerr and Kemp, were appointed to arrange a programme for next meeting.

The following resolution, offered by Mr. White, was adopted:

Resolved—That, in order to start an Agricultural Library, for the use of this Club, the Treasurer is directed to obtain, if possible, from one of our representatives in Congress full yearly reports of the department of Agriculture, as for as issued, together with any other documents which are likely to be interesting and useful. Also, that he shall pay over to the Librarian, the sums necessary to subscribe for the Country Gentleman, American Agriculturist, and Prairie Farmer; and the Librarian is directed to subscribe for one copy of each of these papers, and keep them in such a place as shall be appointed by this club.

The committee appointed to arrange a programe for next meeting then made its report, as follows:

After the usual action upon the proceedings and new business, a lecture by W. S. Ridgeley, Esq. Subject—"The Most Judicious and Economical Mode of Improving and Bringing up Worn out Lands."

On motion the day of Meeting was changed from the last Tuesday to the last Saturday in each month.

The next thing in order being the discussion of the subject: "Should the use of Commercial Manures be Encouraged?"—Mr. Jump opened the debate by an address on the affirmative side of the question. He maintained that while the indiscriminate use of commercial manures worked great injury to the farmer, a proper employment of them would be found to be highly beneficial; that it was by the agency of these manures that our worn-out soils had been renovated and our land so luxuriantly set in grass. He approved the use of guano.

Mr. Kemp followed in an address upon the negative side of the question. Discarding the numerous phases in which this subject might be viewed, the speaker proposed to weigh its merits by the good and bad results it had been productive of in the community. He rejected the idea of "proper" use, and deemed the use of commercial manures in accordance with individual opinions only within the scope of the question. The most poisonous drugs were sometimes the best medicines, he said, but their use was restricted to those who knew how to intelligently handle them. He declared that these manures were manufactured by bob-tailed merchants and city clerks who knew nothing of soils or atmospheric influence upon the growth of plants; that fertilizers were an American mania and were used beyond all reason. In Germany, he said, they had proven a humbug and fraud and were long since discarded. The speaker referred to an analysis of Dr. Johnson's from which that eminent chemist deduced the astounding fact, after carefully analyzing eleven different kinds of fertilizers, that the valuable parts amounted to only about $5 per ton. They were composed of brickdust, rocks, &c., without bones as a body. Lime, in his opinion, it was that built up our soils. Clover will not take here without lime. It contains an acidity which lime corrects, and has a certain part in it. Guano will not produce clover. He also deprecated the use of these manures because of the indolence which they beget, and concluded by relating his own experience with four different kinds. He said that, one year, he expended $1,000 in these manures and received only $99 in return, from which sum his hands wages was to be deducted.

Mr. Hignutt also spoke on the negative side of the question. Amonia, he said, was contained in the snow and rain drops and that it was thus furnished in sufficient quantities, if proper manurial substances were employed to retain it, without the use of these manures. The mere fact that manufacturers become immensely rich he deemed conclusive evidence of unfairness in the manufacture. When once the use of these manures has been begun they must be kept up continuously.

Mr. Steele regarded these manures as attended by a great deal of humbuggery, but, at the same time, he thought the intelligent use of them highly beneficial. The speaker pursued a scientific investigation of the subject, in which the European mode of treating manures was reviewed, and concluded by recommending the formation of joint stock companies for the purpose of manufacturing these manures at a less cost to the consumer.

Mr. Garey favored the use of fertilizers, particularly Baugh's Raw Bone and some others, and said that his faith in them was grounded upon the works they had wrought for him. He had but little faith in guano.

Mr. White coincided with Mr. Garey, and believed the use of bone highly beneficial.

Without coming to any definite conclusion, the Club adjourned to meet on the last Saturday in February.

MEDICINAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

NEW YORK, August 15th, '68.

Allow me to call your attention to m

Preparation of Compound Extract Buchu.

The component parts are BUCHU, LOC LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuc Juniper Berries by distillation, to form a fin gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement wit spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; ver little sugar is used, and a small proportion o spirit. It is more palatable than any now i use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflamation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that, upon inspection, it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist, of 16 Years Experience.

[From the Largest Manufacturing Chemists in the World.]

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

Helmbold's Fluid Fxtract Buchu

Is the great specific for Universal Lassitude, Prostration, &c.

The constitution, once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.
