—The Denton Journal, owing to the general disarrangement of the office caused by the fire, will appear this week in a greatly reduced size; but the proprietor hopes to be able to present the paper to its readers as usual next week. Many of the cases are pied, the type lost, and it has been impossibie to straighten up the office this week.

THE FIRST HERRING.—The first herring of the season was caught by Mr. Casper Miller, at Potter's Landing, on Monday.—He caught two during the day, one of which was presented to this office.

Some colored men hauling the seine on "Kemp's shore," near Denton, also caught a herring on Tuesday. We learn that a herring was also caught by Mr. John George, on Tuckahoe creek, on Monday.—The fish season is near at hand.

SERVICES DISPENSED WITH.—The services of Reuben Tharp, Esq., Assessor for the Caroline and Talbot division of the 1st Internal Revenue district, have been dispensed with, as have all the assistants in the other divisions of the district. The Government is everywhere lessening the number of officers, created by the war, and this dismissal of Mr. Tharp is only the fulfilling of an announcement some time ago made to the public. Mr. Tharp has been a faithful and efficient officer, and retires from the office with the best wishes of all.

PROF. TURNER'S LECTURE.—The lecture of Prof. Turner, which was to have been delivered on Tuesday evening but was postponed, in consequence of the weather, until Wednesday evening, was well attended, and the audience highly pleased. The elementary principles of Chemistry, Electricity and Magnetism were plainly announced, and successfuily sustained by numerous experiments. We commend the lectures of Prof. T. to those who may have an opportunity of attending them, and promise both instruction and amusement.

THE FARMERS' CLUB.—The regular monthly meeting of this club will take place on Saturday next, and we urge every member of the club and farmer in the county to be present. We are justified in saying that Mr. Ridgely will perform the duty assigned him—that of lecturing upon "The most judicious as well as the most economical method of improving and bringing up worn-out soils." The lecture may bring out some other persons on the same subject; and, surely, there is none other in which our farmers need greater enlightenment. All persons, whether they be members or not, are invited. Come!

The Fire Fiend.

ANOTHER CARNIVAL IN DENTON—ONE DWELLING DESTROYED—FOUR OTHERS NARROWLY ESCAPE DESTRUCTION.

The memorable events of the night of the 4th of July, 1865, when the entire business portion of our town was burned to ashes, were re-enacted on Saturday morning last, only on a smaller scale. While many of our slumber-loving denizens were yet locked in the peaceful arms of Morpheus, the cry of fire sped like an electric shock thro' our streets, and the bells sadly told that the God of Destruction was abroad in the land.

Following the crowd of rushing people, we were led to the large, two-story frame dwelling on Main street, owned and occupied by Mr. Robt. A. Nichols, except a couple of rooms which had been let to Mrs. Newman, and there beheld the fire fiend, as though his appetite had not been satiated in the destruction wrought in '65, intent upon a holocaust not less greater than the one witnessed upon his last visit. All the exertions put forth to check his headway were unavailing, and soon the entire building was enveloped in a sheet of flame. In this portion of the town the buildings are built very close to each other, and this fact, together with the high wind which was prevailing, at one time threatened the destruction of the upper end of the town. And it was only by the most persevering energy and almost superhuman exertions on the part of our people that the fire was confined to as narrow limits as it was.—Even now our people look with wonder and astonishment upon the result of their labors on Saturday, and admiration fills their every heart in contemplation of the noble work performed. Within ten feet on the one side stood a frame dwelling owned and occupied by Dr. C. E. Tarr, and immediately adjoining on the other was a brick house occupied by Mr. W. H. Blackiston, while almost within the very reach of the flames on the opposite side of the street, as they were set Northward by the violent South wind, were the dwellings of Mr. Edward Pritchett and Mr. Wm. W. Lowe, the latter occupied by Mr. H. Myers, and to save these from the devouring element seemed a work far beyond the power of man to accomplish. But, wonderful as it may seem, not one of these four dwellings took fire, although the end of Dr. Tarr's residence, next the burning building, was scorched and blackened almost as badly as some of the charred timbers which passed through the fire. Nor were any appliances available other than buckets and axes, and to the deft and careful manner in which they were handled may the fortunate result of so great a disaster be attributable. We do not believe that even a regularly organized city fire company could have behaved better, or surpassed our citizens in the manner of subduing the flames.

When it was perceived that all efforts to save Mr. Nichols' dwelling were fruitless, the attention of the gathered people was directed to the removing of the property and personal effects from the adjacent buildings and to the preventing of an extension of the fire. By a continued application of water upon the end of Dr. Tarr's dwelling, and the roofs of the others in imminent danger, the flames were held in subjection until the burning building was nearly consumed, when a shower of rain passed over, allaying the heat and affording relief to the well-taxed energies of our citizens.

We cannot speak too highly of the calm and intrepid manner in which our people conducted themselves upon this occasion. Each seemed to feel that a grave responsibility was resting upon him, and the fidelity with which he discharged it challenges the admiration of all. Our colored people behaved remarkably well, and are highly commended for their bravery and untiring energy. The harmony and concert of effort which prevailed is all that saved the upper end of the town from destruction, for had the flames communicated to the adjoining buildings it is difficult to determine what would have been the result.

The loss may be safely stated at $5,000. Mr. Nichols is the greatest loser, his loss being upwards of $3,000. Upon this is an insurance of $1800 in the Cecil company. All the money, and nearly all the furniture and personal effects of Mrs. Newman and daughter were consumed—amounting to several hundred dollars.—The other losses were occasioned by the removing of furniture, &c., to places of safety, many minor articles of which were stolen. Dr. Tarr is the next heaviest loser, his damages amounting to $500 or $600, but he is fully covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire can only be explained in one way, namely: That it communicated to the plate which supports the hearth in the second-story from the chimney the night previous, burning very slowly until the next morning, when it was greatly assisted by the high wind and fanned into a flame. No fire had been kindled in the part of the house where the fire originated that morning, and it was plainly not the work of an incendiary.

VALUABLE PAPERS DESTROYED.

The Bankrupt docket a number all the bankrupt papers pertaining to cases in bankruptcy in the First district, are missing, and cannot be found. Mr. Russum, the Register in Bankruptcy, was absent from town when the fire occurred, being in Baltimore holding court in Hon. Jno. W. Cristield's case. Copies of a portion of these papers may be obtained from the records of the U. S. District Court for the district of Maryland, but many cannot be thus replaced; and we would advise all persons finding legal papers to return them to Mr. Russum.

THE ORPHANS' COURT.—We make the following extract from the record of Tuesday:

Letters of administration on the estate of Jas. Saulsbury were granted to Edward Saulsbury.

Inventories returned: by Evan Morgan, of the personal estate of Owen Morgan; by Chas H. Todd, of the real estate of Jas. Friend; by Jno. W. Temple, of the real estate of Margaret Sheppard.

Account of sales passed: by A. J. Greenly, administrator of Jas. Harriss; by W. H. Watkins, administrator of Levin Hubbard.

Guardian accounts passed: Thos Melvin, guardian to Sarah and Margaret Satterfield, 1st and final account; Wm. Willoughby, guardian to Emily Blades, 4th and final account.

W. H. Comegys, administrator of Cornelius Comegys, passed lists of desperate and sperate debts and 2nd administration account.

Final receipts passed; by Henry Wilson, administrator of Henry Smith, and by A. B. Roe, executor of Moses Coker.

THE PEACH CROP.—A gentleman experienced in the raising of fruit informs us that, upon a fair examination of old bearing orchard trees, and also young trees, the former are not so numerously set with buds as the latter and have about one fifth of them injured, while the young trees have not sustained injury to any perceptible extent. The winter having been severe, the trees are more secure against sudden spring changes, and a fair crop of fruit may be safely anticipated, at least where orchards have been kept in even an ordinarily good state of culture.

I. O. OF G. T.—Henderson Lodge, No. 66, I. O. of G. T., lately installed the following officers for the present term: W. C. T., T. W. Straughn; W. V. T., Martha E. Newlee; W. S., W. T. Jarman; W. F. S., C. E. Newlee; W. T., Wm. T. Monticue; W. C., R. C. Jones; W. M., W. H. Clarke; W. D. M., R. J. Ross; W. I. G., C. T. Straughn; W. O. G., G. H. Newlee; W. A. S., Sallie Wilson; W. R. H. S., M. A. Straughn; W. L. H. S., Lena Gibson. The lodge numbers forty-eight members in good standing, and is in a very prosperous condition. May it continue to prosper.

AID FOR THE SUFFERERS.—In several stores in this town subscription papers have been opened for the relief of the sufferers by the fire of Saturday, and we are glad to know that the people are responding liberally. This fire has entailed greater suffering than is generally anticipated. Two families, at least, are left almost entirely without clothing, and are in needy circumstances. In one case, that of an aged widow lady and her daughter, all their money was burnt up, and nearly all their furniture, clothing, &c. We would urge upon the charitably disposed the opening of subscription papers in every town and village in the county. Even if the amounts subscribed are small, they will help swell the aggregate and alleviate the suffering which a dire calamity has inflicted upon this town.

TELEGRAPH.—We are informed that the placing of a telegraph along the line of the Md. & Del. R. R., early in the spring, is a matter of serious contemplation, and is likely to be accomplished. The increasing business of the road demands it, and it will soon be an imperative necessity.

Should this line of telegraph be put in operation, we conceive that the putting up of a branch line between this place and Ridgely would be a wise stroke of policy. Our business men would find it a great convenience, while it would be of vast utility to the entire community. We have obtained from a gentleman thoroughly acquainted with the construction of telegraphs the amount of expense such an enterprise would involve, and he puts it at the low sum of five hundred and fifty dollars. This includes battery and everything complete. Certainly this community is able to raise such a paltry sum for so vast and important an enterprise.

DAMAGE AGAINST A LIQUOR SELLER.—In Ohio, in the Guernsey County Court of Common Pleas, Mrs. Frances Watt recently recovered $2,500 damages from one Boyd for selling her late husband intoxicating drinks. The husband was at one time a prominent physician and surgeon, and had represented his county in the Ohio Legislature. Falling into intemperate habits, he lost his practice, squandered his estate, and finally died from the effects of intoxication. The widow brought suit, alleging that Boyd, the defendant, continued during all this time to sell and deliver to her late husband intoxicating liquor in quantities of from one pint to one quart, causing him to become an habitual drunkard and incapable of attending to any kind of business, and claimed $5,000 damages for which amount she asked judgment at the hands of the jury. After argument by able counsel on both sides, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff, assessing damages at $2,500.

PERJURY CASE IN TALBOT.—The Circuit Court for Talbot county was in session last week, at which session his honor, Judge Stump, delivered the opinion of the Court in the case of George Sutton, who had been indicted at the November term for false swearing before Register Jump, that he had not been convicted of an infamous crime, when in fact he had been convicted of larcency, and served a term in the penitentiary, before the adoption of the 15th Amendment to the Federal Constitution.—At the November term, Mr. Martin, counsel for Sutton, demurred to the indictment, on the ground that the presentment was made under an ex post facto law. The Court discussed the demurrer at length, but ruled that apart from the issue raised the indictment was defective, and, on motion of the acting State's Attorney, it was quashed, and the prisoner held for the action of the grand jury in May. The opinion of the Court differed somewhat from the decision rendered by Judge Magruder last Fall, in a similar case in Calvert county.

Deaths.

TATMAN.—In Wilmington, on the 11th of February, Mr. Collins Tatman, formerly of this county.
