REMEDY FOR THE FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE.—J. F. Gignoux, M. D., in the Turf, Field and Farm, recommends, in the treatment of this disease, the use of the permanganate of potash, and claims that it has the following advantages over remedies :—Though applied in the form of a saturated solution, it causes little or no pain ; produces as complete a slough as muriatic acid over the ulcerated part, but does not attack the healthy portion of the hoof, an advantage which I consider should recommend it to every one who may have occasion to use any powerful caustic application. It is a complete deodorizer, and its action in that respect is instantaneous. For these reasons I would recommend its use, not only in the foot-and-mouth disease, but as well in diseases of a similar character in horses and sheep." He adds : "I have tried the permanganate of potash in 'foul hoof,' in cases, and seen it tried in thrush in horses beneficially. The way I have used it is, first wash the hoof clean, apply enough of the saturated solution to cover the ulcer thoroughly, put in a piece of cloth or rope, covered with tar, the object being to keep off the dirt, &c. ; in about forty-eight hours remove the rope or cloth and apply according as it may be necessary, the saturated solution or a milder one, and so on until the hoof is well."

Buried Cities.

"Buried Cities" is the name of a new amusement or puzzle, which offers a pleasant mental exercise and refreshes the knowledge of geography. It consists in embalming in a sentence or verse the name of one or more well-known cities. The orthography must be preserved, although the name may be divided so as to form the end of one word and the beginning of another.' For instance, "Bring some water, Loo is fainted." The city buried in this sentence, is quite obviously, Waterloo. Islands may also be submerged in the same manner. In the following rhymes no less than twenty-four cities are buried, and some of them quite effectually as fire, water, or the "tooth of time" has ever concealed from the eye of a Gladstone or a Hallam :

In the palmy, radiant month of May,
No other than its opening day ;
A boy walked over Montserat,
To botanize for his Uncle Pat ;
Mosses and lichens he gathered enough,
Entangled with thorns and briars rough ;
Ocra, cowslips and lilies blanc
Asters, pinks and the rose verplanc ;
But when from the mountain he came down,
Patric his uncle was out of town ;
So he took a staff or diving rod,
To search for "Cities beneath the sod."
O many a one in the olden time
Was swallowed up for its sin and crime ;
And he plunged his rod in here and there,
For deep the buried cities were,
And he sounded a cymbal, because sound
Might shake those cities under ground,
Which are chiefly on sulphur and bitumen found.
The boy is trying to dig up
Saline relics, a crystal cup,
A tripod found in a den of pitch,
The bronze vase that adorned a niche,
A spear once used in a giant's cause,
Wayfaring men it oft made pause ;
An amber necklace Lot's wife wore,
An opal Myra's finger bore,
A baby long since petrified,
The best of mothers mummified,
A marble head—but stop exploring,
We all are bored with so much boring.

Advice to Marriageable Girls.

If a man wipes his feet on the doormat he will make a good domestic husband. If a man in snuffing a candle puts it out, you may be sure he will make a stupid husband. If a man puts his handkerchief on his knee while taking tea, you may be sure he will make a prudent husband. In the same way, always mistrust a man who will not take the last piece of toast, but prefers waiting for the next warm batch, it is likely that he will make a greedy and very selfish husband, with whom you will enjoy no "brown" at dinner, no crust at tea, and no peace whatever at home. The man, my dears, who wears rubbers, and is careful about wrapping himself up before venturing in the night air, not unfrequently makes a good invalid husband, that mostly stops at home, and is easily comforted with slops. The man who watches the kettle, and prevents its boiling over, will not fail, my dears, in his married state, in exercising the same care in always keeping the pot boiling. The man who does not take tea, ill-treats cats, takes snuff, stands with his back to the fire, is a brute whom I would not advise you, my dears, to marry upon any consideration, either for love or money—but most decidedly, not for love. But the man who, when tea is over, is discovered to have had none, is sure to make a good husband. Patience like his deserves to be rewarded with the best of wives and the best of mothers-in-law. My dears, when you meet with such a man, do your utmost to marry him. In the severest Winter he wouldn't mind going to bed first.

THERE was an incident in Miss Kate Field's lecture on Dickens, in Chicago recently, that showed how well she appreciates the character she pretends to be so in love with. During the lecture, just after she had been dilating upon Dicken's love of children, as one of the most admirable traits of his character, a child-in-arms awaking from a troubled sleep and finding itself in a strange place, made two or three audible demonstrations. The fair lecturer paused, and looking sternly into the gallery, inquired in her most impressive tone, "Can't that person be removed ?" The audience very generally felt that although the ideal love of children was very pretty "to point a moral and adorn a tale," the real child, interrupting the lecturer, was an entirely different affair.

ROYAL DRESSES.—The dresses worn by the Queen and the Princess of Wales at the opening of the English Parliament, are thus described : Her Majesty wore a black terry-velvet dress, with a train trimmed with miniver and crape, and a long white tulle veil, surmounted by a small diamond crown. Her Majesty also wore a diamond necklace, cross and brooch, the riband and the star of the Order of the Garter, the Orders of Victoria and Albert, and Louise of Prussia, and the Saxe-Coburg and Gotha Family Order. The Princess of Wales wore a dress of violet velvet, trimmed with a lighter shade of satin, and flounce of fine white Brussels lace ; ornaments, corsage, neck-lace and bracelets of pearls and diamonds, head-dress, a tiara of diamonds, feathers, and veil ; orders, Victoria and Albert, and the Danish Order.

A Pacific Ocean Island.

There is an island in the Pacific Ocean which was discovered in the year 1767 and named Pitcairn's Island. In 1789, the British government sent out the Bounty to convey plants of the breadfruit tree from Tahiti to the West Indies, but the crew mutinied, and sent Captain Bligh and others who would not join them afloat in an open boat, and set sail for Tahiti, where they took on board some native men and women, again spread their sails and were not heard of till the year 1808, when Captain Folger, of Nantucket, found their descendants on Pitcairn's Island, which had previously been supposed to be uninhabited. On the island there had been a bloody fight, and only Jack Adams of the original mutineers remained. In 1856 the whole community was removed to Norfolk Island, but some of them afterwards returned to Pitcairn's. Since then they have scarcely been heard from till within a few days. About the middle of the year 1870 Captain John Pardy, of the ship Wittington, sailed from California for Liverpool, and stopped at the island, where he found between 60 and 70 persons living well, but yet in need of clothing, medicine, &c., and longing for news from the outer world. They gave him the following letter, which, on the 25th of January, he sent from Edinburg to the Alta California:

PITCAIRN'S ISLAND, October 6, 1870.

MR. EDITOR : As many ships pass this island on the route to and from San Francisco, but at too great a distance to board them in our canoes, it is our opinion that they do not know the island to be inhabited. There are no dangers of rocks or shoals, and if they come within a mile they would most always get a supply of fruit, &c. We number sixty or seventy persons, and we always like to show hospitality to strangers and to hear the news. This is the third day we have seen ships pass, and this day one is standing in, by which we send this. The landing is on the north side of the island.

If, dear sir, you would have the kindness to give this a place in your valuable paper, you would greatly oblige your humble servants,

THE COMMUNITY OF PITCAIRN'S ISLAND.

A SINGULAR CASE of insanity recently developed itself in Chicago. Wm. A. Block fifteen years ago killed a burglar who was attempting to get into a store where he slept, and who had assaulted and would have killed him but for the free use of his knife. Although perfectly justified, the fact of the murder has ever since preyed on his mind, and lately pecuniary circumstances added depression, and at length he became thoroughly insane. He has been sent to the Kalamazoo Asylum.

FAT AND THIN GIRLS.—Are you too fat ? Eat less food, with a larger proportion of meat ; rise early in the morning and exercise much. This will reduce your weight. Even diminishing the quantity of food alone, without any other change, will be sure to do it. It is impossible that excessive fat, either in horse or man, can long hold out against a persistent reduction in the quantity of food. And if the reduction be gradual and judicious, the strength is not lessened, but is steadily increased, until the excess in fat is all gone.

And I will add that after two or three days there will be no sense of hunger until the excess has been removed.

Are you too thin ? Sleep more by going to bed earlier ; do not overwork ; eat freely of oat-meal porridge, Graham mush, craked wheat and hulled corn ; and all with milk and sugar. Cultivate a cheerful, happy temper.

GENIUS AND LABOR.—It is no man's business whether he has genius or not ; work he must, whatever he is, but quietly and steadily ; and the natural and unforced results of such work will be always the thing that God meant him to do, and will be his best. No agonies nor heart-rendings will enable him to do any better. If he be a great man, they will be great things ; if a small man, small things ; but always, if thus peacefully done, good and right ; always, if reckless and ambitiously done, false, hollow, and despicable.

POP-CORN is unsafe for children, as will be seen by the following story : A little boy in Illinois, five years of age, got a grain of pop-corn in his windpipe, and it was found impossible to remove it by ordinary means, so a doctor was called in, who, after performing a slight operation, pronounced the obstacle removed. The little fellow continued to suffer, however, and a few days after placed his hand suddenly to his side, ran to his mother, and exclaimed, "Mother, kiss me ; I'm going to die," and was a corpse three minntes afterwards.

TRYING TO BE SHARP.—The other day a bill came up in the Michigan legislature asking for the extension of a certain State road, and, as no lands were called for, no one paid any particular attention, and the bill was passed without a single "no," when one of that class which never sleeps arose and made an inquiry. As no one could answer, he moved to strike out all after the enacting clause, and then a curious business was unearthed. It was shown that the bill had been secured in order to break up a farmer whose lands lay across the road just where it made a square turn. Some of the neighbors had had a difficulty with the farmer, and had determined upon extending this road through his farm, requiring him to move his house, barn, and taking in a large strip of a valuable orchard. Of course when the facts leaked out, the bill was thrown overboard in a hurry.

THE "CROTON WATER WORKS" OF ROME.—In old Rome there were nine aqueducts to supply the city with water, and the amount furnished for each inhabitant could hardly be less than three hundred gallons for each person daily, or more than six times as much as is supplied to each person in London at the present time. One of their aqueducts was fifty-four miles long, and one forty-two miles long. No modern city ever had such perfect arrangements for baths and perfect cleanness as Rome. The Roman sewers for carrying off the filth of the city were also more perfect. The main one, the cloaca maxima, had a series of small channels flowing into it from all parts of the city, and rendering her drainage most complete.

VACANT STORES.—There has not been for many years so many vacant stores, lofts and offices, on Broadway between Canal and Fourth streets, in New York city, as there are to-day. And the number will be largely increased between this date and the first of May.

CHAPPED HANDS, face, rough skin, pimples, ringworm, salt-rheum, and other cutaneous affections, cured, and the skin made soft and smooth, by using the JUNIPER TAR SOAP, made by CASWELL, HAZARD & Co., New York. It is more convenient and easily applied than other remedies, avoiding the trouble of the greasy compounds now in use.

A HUNDRED DISEASES may proceed from one source, a diseased or debilitated stomach. No human being can be healthy when digestion is disordered. Tone the stomach and liver and regulate the bowls with Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters, and the work of assimilation and excretion will go bravely on. This vital elixir conquers the causes of all physical irregularities. By insuring perfect digestion and a proper flow of bile, it insures pure blood, a vigorous circulation, and the prompt discharge of all waste matter from the system.

NEGLECTED COUGHS OR COLDS.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "Common Cold," in its first stage ; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected soon preys upon the Lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Cough Lozengers, afford instant relief.

Owing to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches, many worthless and cheap imitations are offered, which are good for nothing. Be sure to obtain the true "Brown's Bronchial Troches." Sold everywhere.

An Insalubrious Season.

Spring is welcome, but not its diseases. We should be glad to have its bloom without its fogs, its vapors, its sudden changes of temperature, and the agues, fits of indigestion, bilious attacks, and other harassing disorders which they engender. As this cannot be, it behooves all sensible people to do the best they can to escape such serious brawbacks on the poetry of the season. Ask any physician what the weak and delicate ought to do when miasma infects the air. The answer will be, "tone and regulate the system." But how ? That is the important question. A dozen medical men would probably recommend as many different medicines. On the other hand, the thousands who have tested the virtues of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an invigorant and alterative, will recommend but one, the wholesome preventive and restorative in which their own experience has taught them to trust. A course of this rare vegetable stimulant, commenced now, would save many a pang to the feeble and debilitated. It would be wise economy too, for it would probably preclude the necessity for medical advice. Without disparagement to a profession which all intelligent men and women respect and honor, it is just as well, if possible, to keep out of the doctors' hands, and they would have comparatively few cases of fever and ague, dyspepsia, biliousness, nervousness, and general debility to attend to, if this agreeable and healthful specific were in universal use.

It is known that about 180,000 prisoners were taken in Paris, with 1,500 cannon and 400 field pieces and mitrailleuses.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressmen, the most exacting of watch-wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch. To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these time-keepers.

More than 500,000 of these watches are now speaking for themselves in the pockets of the people—a proof and a guarantee of their superiority over all others.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enables them to produce watches at a price which renders competition futile, and those who buy any other watch merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary.

These time-pieces combine every improvement that a long experience has proved of real practical use. Having had the refusal of nearly every invention in watch-making originating in this country or in Europe, only those were finally adopted which severe testing by the most skilfull artisans in our works, and long use on the part of the public, demonstrated to be essential to correct and enduring time keeping.

Among the many improvements we would particularize :

The invention and use of a centre-pinion of peculiar construction, to prevent damage to the train by the breakage of main-springs, is original with the American Watch Company, who, having had the refusal of all other contrivances, adopted Fogg's patent pinion as being the best and faultless.

Hardened and tempered hair-springs, now universally admitted by Watchmakers to be the best, are used in all grades of Waltham Watches.

All Waltham Watches have dust-proof caps, protecting the movement from dust, and lessening the necessity of the frequent cleaning necessary in other watches.

Our new patent stem-winder, or keyless watch is already a decided success, and a great improvement on any stem-winding watch in the American Market, and by far the cheapest watch of its quality now offered to the public. To those living in portions of the United States where watchmakers do not abound, watches with the above mentioned improvements which tend to ensure accuracy, cleanliness, durability and convenience, must prove invaluable.

Actual settlers are coming, and to them only are sales made. The best climate, with short, mild winters and long summers, relieved by geological elevation from great heat, and healthfulness superior to all consumptive tendencies, invite settlers to this region.

PAIN KILLER.
PERRY DAVIS & SON, Proprietors,
PROVIDENCE, R. I.
1840. 1871.

The Most Popular Medicine Extant.

OVER THIRTY YEARS
SINCE THE INTRODUCTION OF
Perry Davis' PAIN KILLER.

After thirty years' trial, the "Pain Killer" may be justly styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and none where it has not been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no climate to which it has not proved itself to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases ; it is admirably suited for every race. It has lost none of its good names by repeated trials, but it continues to occupy a prominent position in every family medicine chest ; and is still receiving the most unqualified testimonials to its virtues from persons of the highest character and responsibility.

Physicians of the first respectability recommend it as a most effectual preparation for the extinction of pain. It is not only the best remedy ever known for Bruises, Cuts, Burns, &c., but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of India, and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and other kindred disorders. For Coughs and Colds, Canker, Asthma, and Rheumatic difficulties, it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing testimony to be an invaluable medicine. No article ever attained to such unbounded popularity. The various ills for which the Pain Killer is an unfailing cure, are too well known to require recapitulation in this advertisement. As an external and internal medicine the Pain Killer stands unrivalled.

Thirty Years is certainly a long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy.

It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested all over the world, and it need only to be known to be prized.

☞ Sold by all Druggists.
