DOMESTIC NEWS.

The Orphans' Court for Caroline Co. will meet on Tuesday, May 9th.

The Editor's Hash.

—Wheat is heading.

—Oysters are out of season now.

—Farewell to the patented outsides.

—Denton bridge is to undergo repairs.

—Corn is coming through the ground.

—R. W. T.—Your verses shall have a place next week.

—The ladies have laid away hoops and the boys have taken them up.

—Grass is growing finely and the prospect for hay crop is very encouraging.

—A camp-meeting will be held in Chilton's woods this summer, beginning, on the 5th of August.

—The County Commissioners sit every Tuesday to make transfers and abatements and to receive bills against the county.

—A horse belonging to Mr. J. H. Emerson fell while being chased by dogs one day last week and hurt himself pretty severely.

—The repairs on the M. P. Church at Burrsville are now nearly completed. We understand that it will be re-dedicated on Sunday week.

—The absence of the editor during a part of the week, and a press of local matter upon his return, has curtailed our Peninsular and Western Maryland summaries.

—Public temperance meetings are held every Friday evening at the Denton M. E. Church. A cordial invitation is extended the public to be present at each meeting.

—For idle gossip Denton will bear off the palm. Everybody seems to know every other one's business, and oftentimes are better acquainted with it than those prosecuting it.

—The names of the Delagates from this county to the Immigration Convention shortly to assemble in Baltimore are published in the report of the proceedings of the Farmer's Club.

—The Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons convenes in Baltimore on Monday next. The delegates from Temple Lodge, of this town, are Drs. Chas. E. Tarr and Fred. Straughn and Chas. A. Dunning, Esq.

—Those favorable and those opposed to a camp-meeting at Concord are quite active in canvassing the probabilities of a camp there this summer. The whole matter will be settled at the first quarterly meeting on the circuit—at Wesley's.

—During the closing days of last week we took a hasty trip to Philadelphia and over into New Jersey. The wheat and other crops now growing are looking very well, but are no comparison to those growing upon the farms in this county.

—We have this week changed the post-office address of all subscribers to The Union who live in the vicinity of Andersontown to that office. If there are any others who wish their papers sent to Andersontown, they will leave word at our office.

—An old spanish coin, made in the last century, was plowed up in a field belonging to Mr. Matthew Garey, one day last week. Here is a first-class sensation for some enterprising daily over buried treasure. It only wants the coloring to become a tradition for future generations. Will not some of them do it. We can't.

—The Highland Light came no further up the river on Sunday than Potter's Landing because of the condition of the wharf at the bridge. We understand that an arrangement has been made by which the boat will use the wharf nearest the bridge until the regular steamboat wharf is repaired and that the usual trips to Denton will be resumed.

The Schools.—The amount levied by the County Commissioners for the support of the public schools being insufficient to keep them in operation longer than the close of the present month, an additional levy of $1,500 has been asked for by the School Commissioners. This sum will continue the schools until the last of June, when the Summer term ends. The County Commissioners have reserved their decision in the matter until next Tuesday, but we cannot think they will do aught than make the desired levy. The education of the youth of our county is one of our gravest interests and plainest duties, and we shall be grossly remiss if we fail to duly appreciate and perform that duty.

Exhibition.—At the last meeting of the Farmer's Club (on Saturday) a committee was appointed to arrange for a fruit, vegetable and floral exhibition to be held in the Court House, at Denton, during the present month. We are not apprized of the names of the members of the committee, but sincerely trust they will exert themselves to render the exhibition a success. Here is a field for enterprise in which every citizen should engage, and we desire to see no loiterers. As the ladies have been invited to participate we feel assured of a successful exhibition. We would suggest that each district have its own table, and that the citizens of each district exert themselves to the utmost to provide the rarest samples of fruits, vegetables and flowers. Rivalry will beget an interest in the exhibition such as will awake an increased interest among our farmers and redound to the benefit of the Club. Begin at once!

Gift Distribution.—We acknowledge the receipt of a beautiful and well executed engraving of Stonewall Jackson, sent us by Mr. Patroni, manager of the Caroline County Land Association. Mr. Patroni has five different engravings—all of them really handsome—which he sells for the remarkably low sum of $2. With each engraving he also distributes a chance in the Gift Distribution which he has on foot in this town. Of the merits or demerits of this enterprise we are not prepared to say, not being thoroughly posted in regard to it; but we do say this, that, so far as we know, it combines all the elements of fairness, and we see no chance for loss to the shareholders (which every man beomes upon buying an engraving) except in a collapse of the enterprise. Even should this ensue, the purchaser still has his engraving, worth the amount he paid for it, and he cannot be a loser. Still, we do not advise our readers to take stock in this distribution; neither do we advise them to eschew it as a great evil. Its operation is detailed in the advertisement of it, and people must be their own judges. We neither approve nor condemn it.

The Farmers' Club.

The President and Vice-President being absent, Mr. Steele was elected chairman of the meeting. The minutes of the previous meeting were read, and adopted. The next exercise in order was the answering of the three questions proposed at the previous meeting, and given to three members of the club. On motion, Mr. E. W. Williamson was appointed to answer the first question, given to Mr. James W. Saulsbury, who was absent. This resolution was changed into an invitation to all members present to participate in the discussion.—The question was altered so as to read as follows: "Which is the better System of Husbandry, Allowing Clover to Die on the Soil or Feeding it to Stock?" The discussion of this question was begun by Mr. Towns. This gentleman expressed the belief that it would be very much better, to let the clover die on the soil than to remove it. He said that anything at all which would cover land, and shade it, would be an advantage to it, even brush, and that the more left on the ground the better.

Mr. Williamson regarded the subject as admitting of much scientific argument.—He expressed the opinion that it would be better to feed the grass on the farm, not cutting too close so as to interfere with the roots; stock could then be fed and the manure applied to the farm. Mr. Fountain gave his experience in regard to a lot of his, near town, which he divided into two parts by a division fence, and applied to each portion successively, the following treatment: The first year he broke ground and raised corn. In the fall he sowed wheat, with two hundred pounds of guano to the acre. In the spring he sowed clover seed and let the clover die on the land. This piece of land became very productive under this treatment.

Mr. White then made some observations on the second question. He favored the plan of boiling food for stock, and preferred this method to that of feeding raw. He thought that stock were liable to be heated by an overdose of raw corn. He read an article from a newspaper giving an account of a farm where a steam engine is employed to grind and chop the food; the exhaust steam being used to cook it. Mr. White further remarked, that he knew of one instance where stock did not thrive, though fed on cooked food. He said he had found mush made by stirring the meal little by little, in boiling water, a very good food; but it took the entire services of a boy to prepare food in this way for his stock. Mr. Steele said he had found by experience that corn, soaked till it burst open, was better than feed in any other way; better even than cooked food. Mr. White made the objection, that corn prepared in this way would be liable to ferment. To which Mr. Steele replied, that he had found so far as hogs are concerned, they did not object to the ferment action, for the stronger the food smelt, the better they liked it.

The third question was then taken up, relative to the finding of a remedy for the ravages of moles and mice. Mr. Kerr, to whom this question had been assigned, said that he had proposed that question himself at the last meeting, not with a view of giving information of his own on the subject, but in order to gain information from others on a point where his own observation had been fruitless. He had tried castor beans, gaslime, wind mills, trapping, and everything in fact which suggested itself to him as affording a prospect of utility. All plans were attended with much trouble and inconvenience, and all had thus far been of no effect. Mr. Jump said he had a terrier dog that killed a number of them, but not sufficient to pay his board.

Mr. White related his experience in planting peanuts, all of which were attacked by the moles. Mr. Hignutt moved that the club adopt measures to obtain the views of the Brindle family on this all important subject. The chairman described a long box with a hole bored in it at each end, and steel rods opposite each hole on the inside, so arranged that the mole could go in but not come out. An entire family of moles uses the same track for an entire season. In order to capture this family, all that is necessary is to bury this box so that the holes will be found on the line of the track. Mr. Wm. S. Ridgely gave an account of a professional mole catcher and his operations. This gentleman would catch the moles and kill them. He charged a certain price for every mole killed. His operations were founded on the fact that the mole only works at certain hours.—While they were at work he tracked them, mashing the earth immediately in front of and behind the animal so as to close up his passage and imprison him. He would then dig the mole out and kill him. Mr. White expressed the opinion that the mole is not a vegetarian, and therefore might be killed by poisoning meat and throwing it in his way.

Mr. Kerr said he had poisoned pieces of bread with strychnine, but neither moles nor mice would touch them.

The chairman said that the mole's mouth was constructed similar to a bat's. He is decidedly a carniverous animal and cannot eat vegetables.

Mr. White proposed that an exhibition of strawberries and early fruits be held in the court house during the month of May under the auspices of the club. This resolution was so modified as to apply equally to flowers and vegetables, and the ladies are invited to co-operate in the enterprise.—The exhibition is also to be varied by a lecture by Mr. Kemp. The standing committee of arangements, to which Mr. Williamson's name has been added, is to have full authority accorded them to make all the necessary preparations. They are authorized to communicate with the principal fruit growers; requesting them to attend and bring their produce for exhibition. They will also be requested to give an account of the character of the soil, and method of manuring and culture.

On motion of Mr. Kemp, the chairman was requested to appoint ten delegates, two from each election district of this county, to attend the convention to be held shortly in Baltimore, in order to promote the cause of immigration to Maryland. The following is a list of the gentlemen appointed for this purpose.

Thos. H. Kemp,	J. M. Emerson,
A. P. Sorden,	A. J. Willis,
J. W. Saulsbury,	W. E. Sisk,
John F. Dawson,	Chas. A. Dunning,
Thos. F. Corkran,	Jas. E. Hignutt.

The time of holding the exhibition in the court house will be duly announced in the newspapers, as well as all other information in reference to this matter, when the standing committee shall have made necessary preparations.

The committee then announced their programme for the next meeting, to be held Saturday, May 27th, 1871. The following question will be discussed:

Is listing land for corn-planting as good a system of farming as flushing?

Disputants: Affirmative, C. A. Dunning; Negative, R. J. Jump.

On motion the club adjourned.

Jas. B Steele,
Ch'm pro tem.

Jas. W. Ridgely, Sec'y.

—Why is not an election held for Town Commissioners? Let us have a live Board—one that will clean up the town and have the broken pavements mended.

Burglary.—The station house at Greensborough depot was forcibly entered on Thursday night last and a suit of clothes valued at $40, sent by express C. O. D., and a few dollars of ticket money taken away. Mr. Bush's shoe store in the town was also broken into and several pair of shoes taken away. The fastenings on Satterfield & Moore's store were also tampered with, but no entrance was effected. No arrests have been made and no clue to the robbers is known.

Death of Dr. Rousette.—Dr. Rousette, one of the oldest citizens of this Co., died at his residence in Greensborough on Friday morning last. The Dr. was a French-German by birth, and removed to this country in 1820. He was in the battle of Waterloo under Wellington, and bore upon his person several honorable scars received in that battle. He located at Greensborough immediately after landing in this country, aplying himself assiduously to the practice of his profession, thereby gaining a reputation for successful skill, which he maintained till death. Of late years he has practiced but little on account of feeble health and failing eyesight, but in his younger days no member of his profession took higher rank then he.

The School Board.—The following is an abstract of the proceedings of the Board of School Commisioners taken from Tuesday's record:

The fund arising from taxation of property of the people of color for school purposes was distributed pro rata to the nine colored schools reported to be in operation.

The District School Commissioners for the ensuing year were appointed, and these appointments will be made public after the next meeting of the Board (Tuesday, May 23rd).

The Board made application to the County Commissioners for a levy of $1500 to enable them to keep the schools in operations to the last of June. The decision of the County Commissioners will be given on Tuesday next.

Change of Names.—The names of the following stations on the Delaware Railroad have been changed by Superintendent Kenney in order to avoid confusion:

New Castle Junction changed to Delaware Junction.

Delaware Junction changed to Rodney.

St. Georges changed to Kirkwood.

Willow Grove changed to Woodside.

Since the practical consolidation of the New Castle and Wilmington and New Castle and Frenchtown and Delaware Railroads, into one line, the designation of a point a few miles below New Castle as Delaware Junction has become rather confusing since there is apparently nothing joined there. The taking away of the name there, and bestowing it on the station where the Delaware Railroad line connects with the P. W. & B. is a good change, and one likely to add to the convenience of the travelling public. Again the station heretofore called St. Georges, is more than a mile from the old and well known town of that name, and therefore the name was likely to produce some confusion. Quite a little town has sprung up there, which its inhabitants call Kirkwood, and it has a post office of that name, so that the change is also one that ought to be made. Why Willow Grove has been changed to Woodside has not transpired. The change went into effect last Monday.

Bloody Affray.—On Saturday morning 22nd ult., the quiet of Cambridge was broken by a desperate encounter between Mr. Joseph D. Richards, of that town, and William Grason, Esq., of Wallach's Landing in Dorchester county. The Chronicle furnishes the following particulars.

There has been a feud of some standing between the parties, and as Mr. Richards was passing up High street in company with some friends, he espied Mr. Grason walking behind him and upon turning and demanding why the latter was following him, he received an indignant denial, whereupon, after a few words between them, the former wheeled and fired a pistol at Grason, the ball striking the latter in the centre of the head just above the ear and glancing upwards, passing between the scalp and bone, and out at the top of the head. Immediately upon firing Richards retreated into Mr. Todd's store, followed by Grason with a drawn pistol in his hand, remarking that "he could kill him but did not wish to," and beat the former over the face and head with the but-end of his pistol in a fearful manner.

Mr Wm. F. Hicks, Constable, summoned citizens to his assistance and fortunately succeeded in parting the combatants before any mortal injury was inflicted, and physicians report the wounds of both as doing well. They are each well connected, and the affair has caused a good deal of feeling in the community. Mr. Richards has been held to bail in $1000 to answer to an indictment for assault with intent to kill at the hands of the Grand Jury.

NEW STEEL ENGRAVINGS!

A GIFT WORTH FROM

$1.00 TO $25,000

Given with Each Engraving!

We have obtained the entire control of the following engravings, which we offer at the low figures of $2.00 EACH!

Although they are really worth $5.00 each.—They are 19x24 inches, and each is a gem of art.

LURLEY:

A legend of the Rhine. A female of rare beauty sits on the shore of the river, where the rocks are the most dangerous, and with her song and music charms the unwary sailors to near her, when they meet a watery grave.—The subject is full of life, full of emotion, and is altogether a success.

THE DISINHERITED!

A young man, through the wiley influence of some one of the household, is deprived of a share in his father's house. Having but sorrow as his lot, he departs, and from a neighboring hill he takes his last look and farewell to the scenes of his younger and better days. The heart fills with deep sorrow in examining this subject so well drawn.

THE CHILD CHRIST!

A child with human body and dress, angelic face and divine eyes, is represented so well that words cannot tell half its worth.—We do not think that any engraving has yet reached the excellence of this, in touching the heart and lifting it away to a higher world. The eye never tires to look. The more it is seen, the greater the desire to look again and again.

Also a correct lithograph likeness of

Gen. STONEWALL JACKSON,

The best, largest and handsomest ever published, 19x24 inches, worth $5.00, which we will sell on the same terms, for $2.00. It is truly a gem of art.
