For Sale Cheap.

We offer for sale very low the Press upon which THE UNION has been printed for the last three years. It is a Smith Hand Press, 22 by 32, in good order. The universally neat appearance of THE UNION will attest this fact.—Our only reason for selling is because we have no use for the Press, having been compelled to purchase a new one in order that we might enlarge our paper. THE EDITOR being suddenly summoned to the bedside of his sick wife, who is lying very ill in another State, is the only apology offered for lack of editorial reading and other matters of interest in to-day's issue.

Drift of Political Discussion.

STEPHENS AND VALLANDIGHAM.

From the Boston Journal.

Mr. Stephens is a man of great intellectual acumen, with that continuity of thought and lucidity of expression, which, under favorable circumstances, might have made him a metaphysician, perhaps a philosopher, but he is neither a statesman nor a politician. He wants the first requisite of understanding the people of the United States and the political temper of the times in which he lives. He is always talking about something that is foreign to the popular disposition. Just now he is in a crusade against the XIVth and XVth Amendments. Practically, he might as well assault the Government itself. Those two Amendments were adopted with the profoundest deliberation, as fitting exactly into the requirements of the times, and treasuring up in the storehouse of the Constitution the inestimable fruits of the war. To cancel them would be to surrender the progres of the nation. No man in his senses would think of such a thing, unless it were one who was born without the true political instinct which lies at the basis of American statesmanship; and that is the difficulty with Alexander H. Stephens.

We trust it will not be ungracious to add that a review of all that has been published in relation to the late C. L. Vallandigham gives the same impression of an inherent want of adaptedness to the requirements of American political life, in spite of his popular oratory, personal magnetism, and other superficial associations of that life. Mr. Vallandigham was an honest and bold man, and we have no question that he thought he was patriotic in his purposes. But he totally misconceived his country, his times, and his duty—and how can an honest, resolute man do that without proclaiming his constitutional unfitness for the career he has chosen.

THE "ACCEPT NOTHING" DEMOCRACY.

From The Albany (Ga.) News.

The departure of the Northern Democracy from the true faith of the party should inspire the South with a lofty sense of self respect and a profound regard for her own peace and material interests. The tone of the Northern press toward Mr. Davis, and through him toward the people of the South, is ample testimony that the Democrats of the North have no more love for us than have the Republicans, and should remind us of their villainous deception, duplicity, and treachery in 1860-61. About the only difference between a modern Northern Democrat, with the new departure shell on his back, and a Northern Republican, is the difference between ins and outs, or tweedledum and tweedledee.

Therefore we hold that it is the duty of the South to stand firm by the faith of their fathers, adhere immovably to the principle of republican governmen and constitutional liberty, and say nothing till the two-factions who are struggling for power and plunder only, and not for the preservation of the Government or the liberties of the people, and with neither of whom we can agree, it may be wise in us to cast our lot with the most powerful and seek safety even in the tents of the wicked. We do not mean to turn Republican, but we mean to say that we have no friends at the North except for the strength we carry into the contest for the loaves and fishes; that we believe the Democrats of the North are as corrupt as the Republicans of the North, and that when both factions at the North stand upon the same platform, as now indicated, it is a matter of no consequence to us which faction goes into power. We can only hope for peace by voting with the winners.

MUM'S THE WORLD.

From The Savannah Republican.

We think we see the signs of an early and acrimonious agitation on Federal politics by the Southern Press. We regret this, and on several accounts. The first is, that we consider it unnecessary. Every man in the South holds substantially the same sentiments regarding the political situation and therefore it is unnecessary. In the second place, agitation implies that there are material differences of opinion when there are not, and is obliged to result in harm. In the third place, the people need quiet, and should be kept free from all excitement on pubiic affairs.—There is not the slightest danger of their voting away their liberties, unless they are looked after and kept in a ferment, as some politicians seem to suppose. The people are all right, and will remain so if left to themselves. Fourthly, the South can now influence nobody by political discussion, except against herself. The very fact that we mark out a line for the Government will be sufficient to put the Northern people against it. Masterly inactivity is our true policy. The memories of the war have not yet passed away with the Northern people any more than they have with us, and as we are in a very small minority we cannot expect to dictate, nor to have everything just as we would like it to be. The great end and aim of every true patriot is to overthrow the present revolutionary faction which has control of the Government, and is hurrying it, with all the national interests of the country, to perdition.

BRIGHAM YOUNGS YACHT.—A steam yacht, Lady of the Lake, has been built in New York for Brigham Young, and intended to ply on Salt Lake and the river Jordan. The yacht is thirty feet long, with ten feet beam, seven feet cabin depth weighs seven tons, and draws eighteen inches of water. She has been sent West by railroad.

Some Gossip About Mr. Vallandigham--His Aspirations and Disappointments.

From a readable sketch of Mr. Vallandigham, written by "Mack," and published in the Chicago Republican, we quote the following paragraphs:

"Mr. Vallandigham would have been a great statesman if he had not been so great a politician. He was fond of popular applause, fond of place, fond of power. He was devoted to the Democratic party because he believed himself to be the Democratic party, and because he always had faith in a great reaction which would come during his lifetime and give him fame and position. Four years ago he felt well assured of a seat in the United States Senate, which he had often told me was the goal of his ambition; though I believe he would have regarded it rather as the stepping-stone to the Presidency. The election of Judge Thurman was the great disappointment of his life. It produced a wonderful change in his character, making him more selfish, more distrustful, and more venemous than ever. Conversing with him on the subject a year ago, he said: "The thing can't be repeated. The next Democratic Legislature of Ohio will elect me to the Senate, or by the eternal God it will not elect any other Democrat. I am tired of working for the benefit of others." This was in reply to a suggestion from me that Pendleton would be chosen in the event of a Democratic success this fall.

There is a fact connected with the political history of the country during the administration of Andrew Johnson which I am astonished has never got into public print, considering the activity and energy of modern journalism. In the spring of 1866, immediately after the veto of the Civil Rights bill, Mr. Vallandigham went to Washington inspired with the idea of revolutionizing the party politics at the time, and restoring the Democracy to complete power. He had gone so far as to draft articles of agreement, in which it was stipulated that the President should give the patronage of the Federal Government in the different States to certain men therein named, who, in turn, should actively exert themselves in behalf of the measures of the then existing Administration. It is unnecessary to say that Mr. Vallandigham's name figured conspicuously in the document as the leader of the Ohio Democracy. I never saw the original of this; but I saw what Mr. Vallandigham said was a 'rough draft' of it. I was in Washington at the time of Mr. Vallandigham's arrival; he sent a note to me requesting me to call and see him, which I did. He told me what he had done—that he had called on the President, explained his mission, and left the document with him; and asked me to call on the President that evening and get his views of the matter. I complied; but I found the President quite unwilling to agree to the terms of the contract. He objected to the men who were named in it, and especially to Mr. Vallandigham himself as obnoxious to the people, and likely to do more harm than good by their support of any Administration. I called on Mr. Vallandigham next day, and told him plainly what the President had said. It seemed to excite him very much to be told that he was unpopular. He insisted that he represented 2,000,000 of votes in the North, and that the support of these votes could never be obtained by any Administration that disregarded him, or consigned him to a 'back seat.' From that day forward he never liked Andrew Johnson.

If his life may be called a failure—and, measured by his aspirations, I think it was—it was attributable in no small degree to his personal selfishness. Said I to him, one day, "If you were as 'hail fellow well met' as Sam Cox, you'd be President of the United States, if the Democratic party ever came into power." His reply was a long dissartation on the causes of what I had called his unsociability or selfishness; and it was to the effect that he had been badly treated—that he had not been advanced by the party in proportion to his deserts—that he had furnished the brains to make other men leaders; and that he was sick and tired of that sort of thing, and must henceforth look out for himself only."

The editor of the Charleston (S. C.) Courier, who was personally acquainted with Mr. Vallandigham contributes the following:

"We were delegates together to the Democratic National Convention of 1860, whose disruption in the contest between Douglas and Breckenridge, as to the character and rights of slavery in the territories, was the precursor of the late civil war. On one occasion, in this city, Representative Logan, of Illinois, Larrabee, of Wisconsin, and others, being present, the conversation naturally turned upon the threatening attitude of the questions then before the Convention. Mr. Vallandigham rose at the dinner table, with an air of great gravity, and said: "Gentlemen, if the Democratic party is dissevered in this Charleston Convention, the result will be the disruption of the Union, and one of the bloodiest civil wars on record, and the magnitude of which no one can estimate. In the unity of the Democratic party, and in the Union, lies the hope of the South and of Republican Government." We think it was Mr. Logan who replied: "Sit down, Vallandigham, and drink your wine. You are always prophesying." His reply was: "Gentlemen, I speak earnestly, because I feel deeply impressed with the truth of what I have uttered." This was in the spring of 1860. The secession of South Carolina took place in December of the same year."

Judge Strong's Decision on the Income Tax.

The Philadelphia Ledger of Saturday gives the points of the decision of Judge Strong concerning the income tax, delivered in the United States Court in Philadelphia on Friday. There were three cases in which a question was raised as to the constitutionality of the income tax. The Judge said:

The pleadings in all these cases raise the question whether the act of Congress of June 30, 1864, and its supplements, so far as they imposed tax upon the annual gains, profit or income of every person residing in the United States, or of any citizen of the United States residing abroad, are within the power conferred by the Constitution upon Congress. If it be true, as has been argued, that the income tax is a "capitation or other direct tax," within the meaning of the Constitution, it is undoubtedly prohibited by the first and ninth sections of the first article, for it is not apportioned among the States. But I am of the opinion that it is not a "capitation or other direct tax" in the sense in which the farmers of the Constitution and the people of the States who adopted it understood such taxes. The reasons for my opinion it would answer no good purpose for me to state at length, inasmuch as these cases will undoubted go to the Supreme Court for ultimate decision. It is sufficient for me to state that in my judgment Congress has the constitutional right to impose all the taxes of which these plaintiffs complain, and that none of them are such as must necessarily be apportioned. With the policy of such an imposition I have, as a Judge, nothing to do. Let the judgments be entered for the defendants (the Collectors on the several demurrers.

Suicide.

Christopher Pratt, residing near Wye Mills, committed suicide on Tuesday morning last, by taking strychnine. He had been drinking very hard for some time past, and was last week lodged in jail in default of bail to keep the peace. He was subsequently released, and on Monday went to Hillsborough, where he procured ten grains of strychnine. On Tuesday he told his family that he intended to take it, but they did not believe him. He finally mixed it with some water, but then stated that it was not a poison, but only an anti-bilious powder. He drank the water, laid down on the bed, and in about twenty minutes was dead. Esquire Forman summoned a jury of inquest, who found a verdict that the deceased came to his death by poison from strychnine, administered by his own hand.

ANOTHER.—We learned, yesterday morning, that Mr. John P. Paca, residing on Wye Island, committed suicide on Thursday afternoon by shooting himself with a pistol. Mr. P. had been suffering with aberration of mind for several months past, and was confined in Mount Hope Hospital for a few weeks, but apparently recovering his mind, he was permitted to return home. On Thursday evening, some time after the act had been committed, it is thought, his overseer discovered him in the graveyard, lying on his father's grave. He was not dead when discovered, and lingered until yesterday morning. He leaves a wife and several children. He was possessed of a fine estate.—Centreville Citizen.

Over Four Million Baskets of Peaches.

The Wilmington (Del.) Commercial of Saturday says:

The Peach Growers' Association, which recently met at Dover, estimated this year's crop at 3,315,000 baskets. In connection with this fact it is very interesting to note that their estimate made June 20th, last year, was only 1,322,000 baskets, the expected crop this season being more than double.

But also we remark that after the estimate, last year, great injury was done the crop by unfavorable weather, and the prospect every week looked worse and worse, yet, when the season closed, the actual quantity forwarded by rail amounted to 1,410,079 baskets, more than eighty-eight thousand baskets over the estimate, notwithstanding the injury done after it was made.

It may, therefore, be fairly concluded that the figures prepared at the recent meeting were under, rather than over, the mark, and that we may fully expect more than four million baskets of peaches to go to market from the Peninsula this year, exclusive of the great quantity canned by the large establishments which will be in operation.

THE SMYRNA AND DELAWARE BAY ROAD—CONSTRUCTION AND EQUIPMENT.—The Smyrna Times of the 11th inst. speaks as follows of the recent change in the prospects of the road:

"The Bombay Hook Railroad, as it is popularly called, or the Smyrna and Delaware Bay Railroad, as it is technically named, has been contracted for by Charles K. Landis, of Vineland fame, and President of the Vineland Railroad. He came to this town on Wednesday evening last, and on Thursday the contract was signed, which requires the construction of the road within six months of the date, and thorough equipment. In the equipments are to be two locomotives to cost not less than $12,000, two passenger cars to cost 5,000 each, one smoking car to cost $4,000, two turn tables, and five depots—rather a large number of the latter for nine miles of road. Such we learn from Mr. J. W. Spruance, President of the company. Mr. Landis, we believe, promises to have the road in running order in about ninety days. This announcement was altogether unlooked for, as it was supposed the enterprise was taking a Rip Van Winkle sleep."

THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT IN THE EPISCOAL CHURCH.—"Ethiopia" stretched out her hands on Sunday morning in the person of the Rev. Mr. Love, at Christ Church, New York, who plead the cause of Florida. Mr. Love is a colored man of the pure type, and appears to be a very wide awake and enterprising person. He is now endeavoring to raise funds for his mission at Jacksonville, where he is laboring under the direction of Bishop Young.

Times are changing, and the Church is changing, too. The Fifteenth Amendment is fast being applied to the Church. Mr. Love has already preached twice at "the little Church around the corner," and is announced for Old Trinity on Sunday next. He has also officiated at St. Ann's Brooklyn, and at other fashionable churches.—The world moves, as Galileo said. Let us hope in the right direction.—Episcopal Register.

NOVEL JUDICIAL DECISION.—In a case that came before the Montgomery County (Md.) Court, during the late June term, the point was raised whether the plaintiff holding several promissory notes of the defendant, each for less than one hundred dollars, but all aggregating more than that amount, could legally proceed before a Justice of the Peace and enforce their several payments. The Court decided (Judge Bouic dissenting) that, in an action for recovery, the several claims must be aggregated, and if the amount exceeds one hundred dollars, Justices of the Peace have no jurisdiction. This decision unsettles, says the Rockville Sentinel, the practice that has prevailed here from time immemorial in such cases, and, we think, is not only contrary to law, both in letter and spirit but will have an injurious effect upon the business transactions of the community.

THE TOWN OF CLAYTON CHANGES OWNERS.—The suit of Whartanby vs. Gilmore; in the United States Court for the district of Delaware, has just been tried, and a verdict rendered for plaintiff, which has the effect to make the present owners and builders of the town of Clayton, including the Delaware railroad, with its depot, trespassers, and confirming the title in a stranger, named James Whartanby, from California. Hons. James A. Bayard, of Delaware, for the plaintiff, and Reverdy Johnson, of Maryland, for defendants. An appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

QUEER, IF TRUE.—Yesterday, near Orleans, Lawrence county, Indiana, a party of assassins attacked the house of the Moody family, consisting of four old bachelor brothers, Mrs. Tolliver, their sister, and a hired man named Lee. Three jugs of benzine were thrown into the house, followed by several large torpedoes loaded with buckshot, nails, screws, and similar missiles. The torpedo exploding set fire to the benzine and aroused the family, when the assailants opened fire with revolvers into doors and windows. Thomas Moody was shot in the hip, Lee received severe wounds in the thigh and another in the back. Mrs. Tolliver was terribly burned. The assassins escaped. The community is greatly excited, and $10,000 have been raised to prosecute the guilty parties when caught. Moody's condition is hopeless and Lee's doubtful.

THE recent bad fortune of the Republicans of New Hampshire is attributed by the Boston Journal to the cliques into which the party was divided. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and A LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing, also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and of all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimnlate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.
