DENTON, MARYLAND:

Thursday Morning, July 20th, 1871.

Eighty Dollars Will Buy

One of the neatest printing Hand Presses in the State. Size of platen 22x32. Is in perfect working order and everything complete, except chase. This is the same press upon which The Union has been printed for the last four years, and is only offered for want of use, having been set aside for a larger press in order that the paper might be enlarged. Any one desiring a Hand Press for job work will find this press an excellent one for this purpose. Address all inquiries to The Union, Denton, Md.

So well has the money order system worked in this country, and so beneficial has it proved to the public at large, that the United States postal authorities have concluded preliminary arrangements to extend it across the ocean. On the 1st of October the system will go into operation between this country and Great Britain, and in a few years we shall exchange money orders with all the leading cities of the Old World.

The Maryland Editorial Association has been tendered the hospitalities of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad by its President, Hon. Jno. W. Garrett, and the Association will start on an excursion to Sandusky City, on Lake Erie, on the 7th of August next—a distance of 600 miles. We exceedingly regret our inability to accompany the Association, but wish those who do go a safe and prosperous journey, and a season of pleasurable relaxation from the arduous duties of editorial toil.

Hon. A. R. Wright, of Georgia, an ex-member of Congress, testifies that there is such an organization as the Ku-Klux.—Col. Taliafeor, an ex-Confederate officer, also testifies to the existence of the Klan, and acknowledges that he has acted with it in the whipping of colored men. This information has been brought out by the Congressional Investigating Committee.—It will be up-hill business for the Democratic party to prove that there is no such thing as Ku-Klux in the face of such testimony as this.

We do not believe that there is another agricultural section in free America which is so signally blessed with means of commercial intercourse as this Peninsula. The Delaware Railroad, with its lateral branches, and the Chesapeake and Delaware bays, with their tributaries, afford means of communication with the outside world which, to be appreciated, require only to be known. Through these mediums the markets of the great cities of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore have been directly accessible, and by other channels the marts of other cities more remote.

To a Bostonian the idea of being supplied with the refuse of other markets has ever been chafing, and means have been devised by which that city will be supplied with the productions of our soil without being first spread in the lap of the Metropolis.—Yes, a train of cars will be run direct between this Peninsula and Boston during the peach season, and another market will be opened to our growers!

Nor is this all. Arrangements are perfecting to supply the cities of the Pennsylvania coal regions, and even those beyond, through the medium of the new Wilmington & Reading R. R., with the luscious fruits of our orchards in similar manner.

This early delivery of our peaches into these markets, without allowing them to wither and toughen in other cities, will create a new demand for them, and growers need not be surprised if the prices are proportionably higher.

On the 12th of July, 1691, old style, the battle of Aughrim was fought and a victory achieved by the Williamite army over St. Ruth, the Jacobite general. It was to celebrate this event that the Orangemen of New York made great preparations for their procession, and their opponents, the Hibernians, made equally extensive preparations for preventing it. On Tuesday morning, the 11th inst, Mayor Hall and the Board of Police, having more respect for the mob than they have for the law, issued their famous order, No. 57, prohibiting the procession, and for once the people of New York were humiliated at the enforced surrender of the honor and fair name of their city to a brutal mob, with no check upon its arrogance and its greed. There was but one reason for this shameful action—that the rioters are more numerous and valuable as voting stock than those they proposed to attack. Long after the eleventh hour, Governor Hoffman interposed by a proclamation in effect inviting the Orangemen to parade and insuring them the fullest protection—just in time to aggravate the disorder he could no longer control.

It may be urged that the Orangemen's parade was an unnecessary reminder of an occasion so remote as to be useless except to perpetuate bad feeling. We cannot think so. The victories of the Boyne and of Aughrim were the triumphs of religious liberty over religious intolerance, persecution and fanaticism, and their anniversaries represent as much a living principle as do the 22nd of February and the 4th of July. They had the right by that Constitution which Mayor Hall and his Democratic allies spent nearly four years in trying to make a dead letter to peaceably assemble together, and this attempt to suppress their procession is nothing more nor less than a public acknowledgment of the alliance between the moving power of the mob and the Democratic leaders of the Empire city. These men control both the city and State of New York, and they now seek to fasten their grip upon the Nation.

Fortunately, the warning is in time, and the impression which it has made upon the people will be witnessed by the fate which shall, ere long, overtake them.

Then and Now.

We have always regarded The Journal as the organ of its party in this county.—It has always partaken of its joys and sorrows—rejoiced at its successes and mourned its misfortunes—advocated its principles with an untiring zeal, and remained steadfast in the faith even when the party was rocked amid the throes of disruption in the early days of the rebellion.

When, therefore, The Journal says that the late amendments "form no part or parcel of the present campaign" we understand it to speak advisedly and with the full knowledge of what is to be the course which the Democracy will pursue this Fall. This declaration of The Journal is unimportant any further than that it shows how great was the extremity of its party in the last election, and how groundless were the charges preferred against the Republicans. Surely there was no greater need of an issue upon the Amendments then than now, for they were as much of an accomplished fact on the first day of last October as they are to-day. The proclamation of the President declaring them to be a part and parcel of the fundamental law had been issued, and they were as valid in law then as now. Nor was there any greater necessity, even admitting that the people of Maryland had not passed judgment upon these Amendments before, for the introduction of such an issue, for the last election was a congressional one, and the subject had been removed beyond the jurisdiction of Congress. The only apology that can be offered is that it was necessary to humbug, to befool, to drive the people into the support of the Democratic nominees, by reminding them of a subject to which their feelings were repugnant.

But the entire success which attended the efforts of the Democrats last fall, coupled with the full knowledge that deception has been practiced upon them, has set the people to thinking for themselves, and a re-action of public sentiment is threatened. The sovereign people are beginning to see the full extent to which they have been duped, and are beginning to exercise the "inalienable rights" with which their creator endowed them, and which are guaranteed by the Magna Charta of our liberties.

Keep the ball rolling! The people of this county require no one thing more than the independence to think and act for themselves. They have long enough been the tools of politicians, and they need a mental and moral emancipation fully as much as did the slaves of toil from their bodily thraldom. Think! Ponder!! Reflect!!! This will insure the defeat of adventurous politicians, and prove a panacea for all the woes of a political nature which we now endure.

Our Democratic friends came very near having a "muss" in their county convention on the 11th inst. Their troubles were two-fold: first, their file-leader, Daniel by name, rather euchred some of the "head men" by calling their meeting to order in advance of the hour; and second, one of the enthusiastic and youthful of the "head men" aforesaid, tired of the old, "dead issues" and crooked paths that have rendered the Democracy as famous as the Bourbons for never learning and never forgetting anything, undertook to assist them to new recruits through a resolution which pledged them to a "New Departure."

As to the organization of the meeting, we are sure that the "rural gentlemen" of that persuasion are now convinced that it is utterly useless for them to attempt to cope with one educated in the ways of Tammany Hall in anything relating to party "management;" and the best thing they can do is to quietly submit to the guidance of the gentleman who evidently holds the reins.

On the subject of the "New Departure," rumor has it that some of those who were present when that resolution was eliminated from the "Maine Platform," and who then and there gave it their adhesion, were taken with a weakness when it was presented to the convention, and, to the surprise of the mover, quailed before the storm that greeted its introduction.

Again, Madam Rumor has it that another gentleman, who always acts with deliberation, being requested to speak in behalf of the "New Departure," with characteristic conservatism and foresight, said that his action depended wholly on Jones' course—if Jones advocated it he should oppose it; but if Jones opposed it he should go for it strong. The result was, Jones said nothing and so did Smith; and the resolution, on motion of Mr. Fields, was laid on the table, and the meeting adjourned.

Now, if Caroline county, or the State of Maryland, was all there is of the "Democratic party," we might reasonably expect that there would be no departure from such "time-honored" principles as the Kentucky and Virginia resolutions of '98, the New York platform of 1868, &c. But, unfortunately for our friends, they have to contend, next year, with the great States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, California, Iowa, Tennessee and Arkansas—all of which, through their State Conventions, and by large majorities, have determined to "depart." Until then, Maryland Democrats have dispersed through the wilderness and begun building, each for himself, a sort of a log block-house of his own.—After the next National Convention these gentlemen will be seen running in all directions in search of some of Boss Tweed's officers to whom they may surrender at discretion.

The latest political on dit in this section is, says the Newtown (Worcester county) Record, that Hon. John R. Franklin, one of the Associate Judges of this Judicial District, is to be sent to the United States Senate, and that John H. Handy, Esq., is to take his place on the Bench. We cannot vouch for the truth of such an arrangement, but we can vouch that such a rumor is in circulation.

The Democratic State Convention to nominate a candidate for Governor met yesterday, but we have no news from the convention up to the hour of going to press.

Duo-Officio.

We clip the following from the Baltimore County Union, and we commend it to the earnest consideration of our readers.—If any proof were needed that the Union is right when it predicts that, if the proceedings now going on are allowed to continue, the Republican party of Maryland will be composed "solely of those who hold office under the administration," it is to be found in the fact that, in 1870, with several thousand colored votes registered, our vote in Baltimore city was less than in 1867, when there were no colored voters. The fate of our Congressional Candidates in the "rural districts" was scarcely less ominous; and we trust that these lessons will not be lost on those who have assumed the control of our affairs. If they will not heed it, they must do the next best thing —take the consequences:

Though Republican in sentiment, we claim manly independence enough to criticise the measures of the Republican party, the policy of the administration, the doings of officials and the distribution of patronage, when either or all of them do not accord with our ideas of justice and policy. We have always supported President Grant's administration. We do not believe that everything that he has done has been most conducive to Republicanism and public justice. We are just as well settled in our opinion that no Democratic administration would come as near doing the right thing as he has. We have always considered that some of his appointments in the State of Maryland were injudicious and operated very materially against the progress of the Republican cause in "My Maryland." At the same time we think that some appointments are number one, could not be beaten. This is true of all administrations. While we think of these things, we are well satisfied that the mistakes that have been made by the President in the appointments are the result more of bad advice given to him by those in whom he confided for recomendations for position in the State than of any other cause. There is where the first cause lies.

Those of our readers who have noticed our course, know that we have not hesitated to deal sharp rebukes upon those who have been instrumental in placing a barrier across the path of Republican advancement. We have as yet seen no cause to regret our course. There are some things going on now that do not do the party any good. If they are allowed to continue we shall not advance a word of surprise if the Republican party is composed solely of those who hold office under the administration. We regret that this is the case. We have so expressed ourselves before. We think that our alarms in this quarter are amply warranted by the history of the last two elections; those of 1869 and the congressional election of 1870.

Baltimore city is the "hub" upon which the wheel—it should be the woe—of the State turns. She has twenty-one members of the State Central Committee. Out of these, seventeen hold offices under the administration. There is nothing wrong in itself in this matter. But what has been the history of the party in this particular? Some folks hold positions who do not feel secure in their seats by any means. They have had no little anxiety about this matter several times during their term. The question arises why is this? and then we are tempted to inquire why are they not granted a furlough perpetual in this term?

Why should one of these distinguished gentlemen be allowed to hold two positions of profit, trust, and importance under the administration, while many other Republicans, whose services have been equally valuable, have been turned down and compelled to go unserved? Is he twice as good as any other member of the party? Is his Republicanism doubly as good as that of other Republicans, that he should be doubly rewarded? We do not believe that his country requires him to fill two places and make two salaries. Is he not willing that some one else should help him serve the Republic? Is it fair that one man should receive double pay and another none?

Ten thousand a year from one place and from three to five thousand from another makes too great a strain on a man's patriotism. Could not the administration afford to relieve him of one place? We don't believe the party would loose by it.

The New Apportionment.

In accordance with the requirements of the State Constitution, Governor Bowie has issued a proclamation announcing the apportionment of members of the House of Delegates of Maryland. From that proclamation we clip the following, exhibiting the present representation and the number of delegates to which each county will hereafter be entitled:

Counties.	Present Represent'n	New Apportion't
Allegany	5	4
Annne Arundel	3	3
Baltimore county	6	6
Baltimore city	18	18
Calvert	2	2
Caroline	2	2
Carroll	4	4

Wicomico	2	2
Worcester	2	2
	86	82

—It will be seen from the above that the next House of Delegates will comprise four members less than heretofore. The counties losing are, Allegany, Cecil, Frederick, Harford and Washington, while Somerset gains one member. The new apportionment will take effect at once.

—Dr. H. H. Bean, who, "while laboring under a severe attack of mania a potu," some weeks since, shot and murdered an old and inoffensive colored man named Proctor, and who was immediately released by a Justice of Peace, was rearrested on Wednesday last, committed to jail, taken out on a writ of habeas corpus, and been again released, this time in $5,000 bail.

—The Grand Jury of the Criminal Court of Baltimore city has found true bills of indictment against Mrs. E. G. Wharton, alleged to have poisoned Gen. Ketchum in June last, and for attempting to poison Eugene Van Ness quite recently. Her husband disappeared quite suddenly some years ago.

The Press.

Godey's Lady's Book.—The August number of this old and popular magazine with the ladies is before us. This number is unusually attractive and cannot fail to please. Its fashion plates furnish the latest styles in every department of the ladies toilette, and its literary reading is unsurpassed. Every lady should have it. Price, $3.00 per annum. Address, L. A. Godey, 6th & Chestnut Sts., Philadelphia.

The last issue of the Delaware Tribune is one of the best of that popular weekly. It contains a full report of the commencement exercises at Delaware College, including the whole of Geo. Alfred Townsend's poem; a full report of the ceremonies of breaking ground for the Wilmington & Western Railroad; a lengthy letter from Henry T. Williams, of the New York Horticulturist, and the New York Independent, containing suggestions, very interesting and important to fruit growers; a graphic description of the recent storms in this county and elsewhere; letters from a special correspondent at the great National Camp Meeting, at Round Lake; the usual Philadelphia Letter; and a mass of local news from all parts of the Peninsula, as well as the adjoining counties of Pennsylvania.—Jenkins & Atkinson, Proprietors, Wilmington, Del.; price $2.00 per year.

Strange Poisoning Case.

A WEALTHY AND REFINED BALTIMORE LADY CHARGED WITH MURDER.

The Baltimore American, of the 11th inst., says:

In The American of this morning we publish an account of a poisoning case, the most remarkable that has ever occurred in Baltimore or perhaps in any city. The lady accused, (Mrs. Wharton,) is the widow of a deceased officer of the United States army, and has always moved in the highest circles of society. Gen. Ketchum, the victim, was her guest, and had for many years been an intimate friend. Mr. Van Ness, who is now recovering, was her business agent and adviser. They both took ill at her house, No. 263 North Eutaw street, on the same day, and showed the same symptoms. Gen. Ketchum died June 28, four days after he had taken the first poison. His attending physician suspected poisoning and advised a post-mortem examination. Twenty grains of tartar-emetic was found in the stomach. The same poison was found in a glass of milk punch prepared for Mr. Van Ness during his illness. It is said that Mrs. Wharton was indebted to General Ketchum, in the sum of $2,600, and in this circumstance a motive of the murder is found. Others think that the accused was affected with the poisoning mania, and four sudden deaths which have occurred in her family are cited in proof of the theory. The accused has been put under arrest.

FOUR DEATHS IN THE FAMILY.

About four years since, Col. Edward Wharton U. S. A., a cousin of Major H. W. Wharton, (Mrs. Wharton's husband,) accompanied by his daughter, a young lady of eighteen years of age, paid a visit to Major Wharton's house in Baltimore, and while there was taken suddenly ill and died; in a few days his daughter followed him to the grave.

Not long after this Major Wharton himself was taken with the typhoid fever. He passed the crisis, and was supposed to be convalescent when a sudden vomiting set in, and he died in a few hours. He had eaten oysters, and his physicians thought it possible that the unfavorable symptoms were occasioned thereby.

About a year since, Major H. W. Wharton, Jr., Mrs. Wharton's son, who had resigned from the army, and came to his mother's house to make preparations for a trip to California, died very suddenly. His life was insured for $20,000, and it is said that his mother was the lawful heir to the money.

These four deaths occurring within four years in the family, have furnished material for a great variety of speculations, and there are those who pretended to recognize the deadly act of the poisoner in each of them.

Mrs. E. G. Wharton, the accused, is an exceedingly intelligent and well-bred lady, perhaps forty-five or fifty years of age, of rather slender build, and has the appearance of being in delicate health. She is said to belong to a Philadelphia family of high social position, and has in her person all the graces that mark the accomplished woman.

The Crops.

REPORT OF THE AGRICULTURAL BUREAU.

The July returns of the statistical division of the Department of Agriculture show a marked increase in the average of corn, amounting to fully 3,000,000 of acres, of which 2,000,000 are due to the determination of the cotton States to supply themselves with bread and meat. It is assumed that the area in corn equals 42,000,000 of acres, or more than half of the total acreage of all tilled crops. The only States failing to increase their area in corn are New York, the New England States and the Pacific States.

The condition of winter wheat on the 1st of July was somewhat above an average. The spring variety presented a worse appearance than has been reported for several years at the same date. The ripening of winter wheat has been fully a week earlier than usual and a large proportion had been cut at the date of the returns. Never was there a better promise in early spring, and the comparative prevalence of insects and local injuries from droughts have been the principle drawbacks. The States showing a comparatively low condition are New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Virginia and all the more Southern States, except Texas, while Kentucky presents an average of 35 per cent. deterioration, Indiana 7 per cent, and California 17 per cent. Among the States showing high averages are Ohio 4 per cent. above, Michigan 8, Illinois 7, Missouri 3, Kansas 7, Nebraska 10, Oregon 1. The winter wheat of Iowa and Wisconsin is in high condition but insignificant in area. The section having the largest area of winter wheat is the one in which its condition is highest, though a majority of the winter wheat States report comparatively poor condition. The only States from which favorable reports of spring wheat are received are Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, and Oregon. The per centages below an average are Missouri 36, Illinois 30, Indiana 2, Ohio 7, Michigan 4, Wisconsin 20, Minnesota 30, Iowa 18, Kansas 15, Nebraska 11. The chintz bug has been very destructive to spring wheat. After allowing for the increase in average and the large yield of winter wheat in good wheat districts, the loss in the spring variety must reduce the aggregate yield somewhat below an average. The hay crop will be a comparatively small one. Potatoes promise an average yield if they escape drought and rot in the future.

—Alexander H. Stephens denounces the "New Departure" in a five column editorial in the Atlanta Sun. He says that two and a-half million Democrats are determined it shall not become the Democratic shibboleth.

Scissorinktums.

—The State Democratic Committees of Arkansans have endorsed the "New Departure."

—The last revised tables at the Census office place the population of the United States at 38,549,987.

—Dickenson College has conferred the honorary degree of L. L. D. upon Postmaster-General Creswell.

—Upon the Maryland Legislature to be chosen this fall will devolve the duty of electing a successor to U. S. Senator Vickers.

—The first engine ever built in the United States for use on a narrow-gauge railway was shipped from Philadelphia last Thursday for Pike's Peak.

—Little "Tad" Lincoln, the youngest son of President Lincoln, died in Chicago on Saturday, and was buried on Sunday at Springfield beside his father.

—The English company employed upon the revison of the New Testament have held their eleventh session, and have arrived at the end of the 6th chapter of St. Mark's Gospel.

—On Thursday last about ninety feet of the bottom of the Wyoming Canal fell out and flooded two mines near Wilkesbare.—The amount of damage is large but no person was injured.

—Work has been resumed on the Western Maryland Railroad, and there is no probability of any further delay or interruption in track laying between Mechanicstown and Hagerstown.

—A few days ago a disreputable New Orleans attorney, named W. Minor Leslie, was sentenced to two years' hard labor in the penitentiary for misappropriating ten dollars of a client's funds.

—General Butler has written a letter stating that in view of the present situation of parties, and the withdrawal af Governor Claflin, he proposes to become a candidate for Governor of Massachusetts.

Of the towns in Massachusetts, 305 have continued the prohibition of the sale of liquor—242 of them by not voting, 61 by voting no, and 2 by a tie vote. 30 towns have voted to allow the sale of liquor.

—The Bureau of Statistics returns the number of immigrants at the port of Baltimore during the quarter ending June 30, 1871, as five thousand five hundred and ninety-nine, of which number five thousand five hundred and sixteen were Germans.

The Pennsylvania Central has just leased the Jeffersonville and Indianapolis Railroad, including the Madison branch, paying six per cent. interest on the capital stock. This road is about two hundred miles long, and also owns a large portion of the stock of the Louisville Bridge Company. By receiving it, therefore, the great Pennsylvania road gained control of two bridges over the Ohio river—the one at Cincinnati, together with the Cincinnati and Louisville Short Line Road, having passed under their control some time since. They have thus the sole feasible access to the great Louisville, Nashville and New Orleans Railroad, and if they can succeed in controlling the Southern lines through the Atlantic and Gulf States, as now seems probable, they will monopolize the business of the South even more effectually than they now do that of the West.

Ψυχη Psychomancy.—This word is derived from the Greek, signifying the power of the soul, spirit or mind, and is the basis of all human knowledge. Psychomancy is the title of a new work of 400 pages, by Herbert Hamilton, B. A., giving full instructions in the science of Soul Charming and Psycologic Fascination; how to exert this wonderful power over men or animals instantaneously, at will. It teaches Mesmerism, how to become Trance or Writing Mediums, Divination, Spiritualism, Alchemy, Philosophy of omens and Dreams, Brigham Young's Harem, Guide to Marriage, &c., &c. This is the only book in the English language professing to teach this occult power, and is of immense advantage to the Merchant in selling goods, the Lawyer in gaining the confidence of Jurors, the Physician in healing the sick; to Lovers, in securing the affections of the opposite sex, and all seeking riches or happiness. Price by mail, in cloth, $1.25; paper covers, $1. Agents wanted for this book, Private Medical Works, Perfumery, Jewelry, &c., who will receive samples free. Address T. W. Evans, Publisher & Perfumer, 41 South 8th St. Phila., Pa. [jy6-4w.
