Country Newspapers.

However lightly some persons may esteem the efforts of the local editor, or pass his paper by with some offensive remark, yet, after all, the country newspaper, if its editor possess but a modicum of ability, and applies himself to the task before him as he should do, cannot fail to leave its impress upon the minds of the young, either for weal or for woe. In this day of general reading the mind seeks its food as naturally and as certainly as does the animal man for the food to sustain animal existence. A mind uncultivated, or unfed, will become dwarfed and circumscribed and will languish and become a blank. None of the higher aspiration, of the soul will move it to noble impulses. There will be no energy to impart to it vitality, by which it can grow and develop its beauty and perfection.—As well might the fond mother expect to see her infant grow up to youth and manhood, and develop its full natural strength without nourishment, as to expect the mind to be stored with practical and useful information, unless it be watered and nourished by all the streams which flow from the fountain of knowledge.

There is no medium offered to the public which presents such inducements for the acquirement of general information, as is presented by the country newspaper. Its columns present a variety to be found no where else. In its weekly visits, during the year, almost every subject that can claim the attention of the wise or simple, is critically noticed and turned over and over again—completely analyzed, and if false in theory or in practice, carefully corrected and the truth presented. And nowhere else can we invest a few dollars that will return both principal and interest. Worldly possessions pass from our grasp almost before we catch the prize. But a mind well stored with useful knowledge, is retained as long as reason holds its empire over the mind. And in this day of progress and enlightenment, no one can successfully compete with the world in the great battle of life, unless they are thoroughly posted in the doings of the busy world around them.

Without disparagement to the daily press of the cities, we must contend that the country newspaper is the great civilizer of the masses. The country press does as effectually fill up the great intellectual wants of the country, as does that of the daily the great commercial wants of city life. The country newspaper visits all, or nearly all, the heathstones of the rural dwellings, in the region in which it is published. It cannot fail to interest and instruct both old and young, because its columns contain the current events transpiring in the immediate neighborhood of the residence of the reader. Accounts of men, names and things, with which they are familiar and with which they are connected by interest, association and often stronger ties than these, are to be found in the columns of the local paper, and they are found nowhere else. The young await with interest its weekly visits and scan its pages with the severest scrutiny. By this means they acquire a taste for reading that might under other circumstances be entirely lost. It arouses the dormant powers of the youthful intellect and gives free scope to the mind. It early develops the youthful thought, matures the reason and gives to the mind new creations. The country newspaper then should receive the fostering care and the liberal support of every community. We advise all to give to their local paper a liberal support. The better you patronise your home newspaper, the greater will be the amount of care and labor bestowed upon it, and both reader and publisher will derive mutual benefits.

M. Hall Stanton.

...e name of the gentleman which heads ...article is at present a prominent citi... (the city of Philadelphia and occu... an enviable position among the ... of this city of brotherly love. ... President of the Board ... and has done much in ...t of education in that ...ead and comprehen... and in his reports ...nas done a great deal to awaken the public mind to the importance of common school education.

But Mr. Stanton is a native of this county. He was born at Keene's Landing, immediately on the Choptank River, on the 28th of February 1832, and is now forty years of age. Keene's Landing was at that time owned by his father, Jas. Stanton, who died here while its owner and occupant, leaving his son, M. Hall Stanton, but a youth, to battle as best he could, with the cares and arduous duties of life. In 1847 he left his native State and removed to Philadelphia and here obtained a situation as salesman in a wholesale hat and fur house. But possessing rare abilities and indomitable energy he rose to a higher sphere of usefulness and having obtained the confidence and esteem of his employers and all others with whom he came in daily contact he was not long in mounting to the envible position he now occupies in the minds of the intellectual and refined of this great city of which one day he bids fair to be her ruling head. Mr. Stanton is at present engaged in the banking business on Walnut St., and such has been his success that to-day he is in the possession of wealth and the good esteem of the most of the substantial business men of that city.

Mr. Stanton is but one of quite a number, natives of this county, who have made their mark in the world. We can call to mind several, who left this their native county, in the prime of manhood, and in different sections of this broad land, have carved out for themselves fortunes, and upon whom the honors of the world fall thick and fast. One of the greatest secrets of their success has been that of sobriety.

Lex Talionis.

The Cecil Democrat still continues to open its batteries on the Hon. Jacob Tome, for usurious interest in his business transactions, at twelve per cent. The editor of the Democrat deals a heavy blow to some of the candidates on the Democratic ticket in these parts, some of them demanding and actually receiving two hundred per cent.—A friend has suggested to us the propriety of printing the articles from the Democrat on Tome, with foot notes, making the application to certain democratic candidates in these parts. The only difference we see between Mr Tome and certain democrats is, Mr. Tome does business at twelve per cent., according to the Democrat, while the democratic candidates in this region receive and demand twenty-five, fifty and as high as two hundred per cent. Mr. Tome does business through his bank, and for the use of his money charges the usual per cent. and then adds the per cent. charged upon all corporate institutions by the government, and which is charged by all the banks. Mr. Tome pays his taxes upon his business promptly, and does business in a legitimate manner, while in these parts the democratic paper shavers and money lenders, which the Democrat shows up so luminously, pay no taxes to either State or Federal Governments for this privilege. Were we to tear the mask from some of the Democrat's friends and expose their tricks, judging from the "holy horor" he has manifested for Mr. Tome, such would be his deep disgust, that every hair upon that self-righteous head would "stand on end like the quills of the fretful Porcupine,' and anathamas loud and deep would be hurled upon the guilty souls of those he would with delight hug to his political bosom.

But, we dislike even to make allusions to such things. We are truly sorry that there are such men in any community, but by way of retaliation for what the Democrat is desirous of making an unpardonable political sin in Mr. Tome because he is a Republican, we present to him parties holding the same political faith as the Democrat, whose sins in this particular are a thousand times more aggravated, and who, while they shave, take not the hair alone, but the hide also.

CHICAGO IN RUINS.

HALF THE CITY IN ASHES.

The most destructive fire that has ever visited an American city, has been raging in Chicago since Saturday last, and the latest intelligence from the scene of the conflagration says it is still raging and threatens to devour the entire city. Already the flames have spread over the most compact and valuable portion of the city, sweeping nearly everything that could be destroyed along the whole lake shore from Division street to Harrison street, a distance of nearly four miles. This is nearly two-thirds of the city front on the lake, and the line of destruction is said to extend from a mile to a mile and a-half westward embracing the fine mansions on Wabash, Michigan and Indiana avenues, and all of the heart of the city, both east and west of the river, with whatever was most splendid and substantial and costly in this most magnificent of Western cities. Here were the drawbridges, the Water Works, the Gas Works, the public buildings, the elevators, and all the colossal mounuments of architectural splendor which trade and commerce had piled up, the houses of iron and marble and granite, which were the boast of the city and of the West; all the great wholesale and retail establishments of the city, many of its largest factories, and its six large hotels, which were not surpassed in magnificent proportions and finish by any similar establishments in the country.

Despatches from Chicago State that the awful work of destruction still goes on with relentless fury from Harrison street in the south to the lake, an area of four miles long by one mile wide. The flames have swept everything before them. It is estimated that at least 100,000 people are homeless and in a suffering condition. The streets in the districts still unburned are lined for miles with such household goods as have been saved from destruction.

The loss in grain alone is estimated at twelve million of dollars.

The latest dispatches received from the doomed city state that the city is doomed to go. The wind had changed and is blowing the fire in all directions.

Accepts the Inevitable.

The New York Democracy assembled in State Convention last week and swallowed the New Departure, hat boots and all. We wonder where the Maryland Democrats will stand in a short time? They must move upon the work of Sambo or be slaughtered. They must either depart—get off the track—or be run over by the car of progress. Will they do it? We shall see.

Interesting Correspondence.

THE NORTH CAROLINA KU-KLUX.

Their Existence Admitted.

The fright among the Ku-Klux and their friends in North Carolina, is becoming terrible, and as an organization is rapidly collapsing. When the trials began a large number of the leading men of the State, came to Rauleigh, among them several lawyers to defend the prisoners, affecting to believe that the existence of an organization would be disproved. But the result of the trials astonished them, and a few days ago ten of the principal men addressed Judge Bond the following important letter.

RALEIGH, N. C. Sept. 30, 1871.

Hon. H. L. Bond, Judge U. S. Circuit Court.

Sir:—We have the honor in the interest of the peace of the people of North Carolina to address you this note. The fact that a secret unlawful organization called the Ku-Klux or Invisible Empire exists in certain parts of the State has been manifested in the recent trials before the Court over which you preside. We condemn without reservation all such organizations. We denounce them as dangerous to good government, and we regard it the eminent duty of all good citizens to suppress them. No right-minded man in North Carolina can palliate or deny the crimes committed by these organizations; but we think if the further prosecution of these persons charged with these offences was continued until the November term it would enable us to enlist all law-loving citizens of the State to make an energetic and effectual effort for the restoration of good order. We assure you that before the November term of the Circuit Court we believe that this unlawful organization will be effectually suppressed.

In presenting these considerations to your Honor, we declare that it is our duty and purpose to exert all the influence we possess, and use all the means in our power to absolutely suppress this organization, and to secure a lasting, permanent peace to the State. The laws of the country must and shall be vindicated. We are satisfied and give the assurance that the people of North Carolina will unite in arresting and forever obliterating an evil which brings nothing but calamity to the State. In the name of a just and honorable people, and by all the considerations which appeal to good men, we solemnly protest that these violations of law and public justice must and shall cease.

We have the honor to be, &c.,

Thomas Bragg, Wm. H. Shipp, George V. Strong, M. W. Ransom, Daniel G. Fowle Wm. H. Battle, James H. Batchelor, R. H. Battle, Jr., B. F. Moore, D. M. Barringer.

To this letter Judge Bond sent the following reply declining the request for a postponement.

RALEIGH, N. C., October 2, 1871.

Gentlemen.—I have had the honor to acknowledge at the hands of His Excellency Gov. Caldwell the receipt of your letter asking me to postpone the trials of the cases now pending in the Circuit Court under the Enforcement Act. I have given your letter long and careful consideration to which your eminent position in North Carolina and the importance of the subject to which it relates entitled it, but I am unable to comply with your request.—These cases are very numerous, and if not tried now will at the next term so encumber the docket as to obstruct all civil business. The city is full of witnesses summoned from long distances, who have remained here for several weeks at a large cost, and it would be a great hardship to make them return here again, and it would be unjust in me to send them home unless I knew they could return with the same feeling of personal security that I myself should have on my return home. This I do not know, and though you give assurances that before the next term of the Circuit Court the "Invisible Empire" shall be effectually suppressed, it is not suppressed now, and I feel that the enforcement of the law should continue. I have come to this conclusion with less reluctance, because I am sure gentlemen who are so sincere in their desire to relieve North Carolina of this disgraceful and infamous association will not remit their labors to suppress it, as they assure me they have the power to do, because the Court sits a week or two longer to assist them in their undertaking. I am glad to hear from you that the recent trials have manifested that this secret and unlawful organization exists in some parts of North Carolina. It cannot but aid you in your efforts to suppress it to point out by these trials to you who are the guilty persons who compose it. I hope, gentlemen, that you will agree with me that it is best to do so. With great respect I beg to remain.

Yours very respect., HUGH L. BOND,
Judge United States Circuit Court

To Thos. Bragg, Esq., Geo. V. Strong Esq., and others.

A Case of Conscience.

Reading has been treated to a case of conscience, the like of which would fill the New York jails to repletion. A number of young men were arrested there in the summer of 1870 for systematically robbing cars on the Philadelphia & Reading R. R., and the whole gang arrested were convicted. Last week a young man named Gottshall, came forward and gave himself up saying that he was also one of the gang. He ran away to avoid arrest, and has travelled over the West and finally returned to Pennsylvania. He went into a rolling mill at Danville, and has been working there for some time past, boarding with a man named Madeira. On Sunday evening week Mr. Madeira took down the Bible and, as he was wont to do, read a chapter from the holy book. Gottshall was present at this family service, and his conscience smote him. His evil deeds troubled him, and he resolved to make what restoration he could. Without stopping to draw his wages, he went at once to Reading and surrendered himself, expressing himself desirous of undergoing an imprisonment.
