Public affairs in Chicago are at present in an excited condition. It is alleged that Holden, President of the City Council and candidate for Mayor in opposition to Mr. Medill, has stolen $15,000 of the money which was so generously sent to Chicago for the relief of the sufferers. Holden was treasurer of the first relief society which was formed, and in that capacity obtained possession of the money which he now refuses to give up. The accusation is that he is using the amount to aid in his election as Mayor. If he is guilty the deserved punishment is promised.

IT IS SAID that if a puff of air were to be blown into a vein of an animal, death would instantaneously follow, because circulation is stopped. The blood makes the entire circuit of the human body every seven minutes, and whenever this circulation is impeded or if any of its channels are clogged by impurities which ought to be carried off, disease follows—fever or a disorder of liver or kidneys, or scrofula, or dyspepsia. To get at and remove the source of the difficulty use the old and infallible blood purifier, DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS. 4w

Murder at Wilmington.

Charles E. Woolsey, a school teacher at Christiana village, was shot dead on Monday morning early by Stephen H. Castner, Justice of the Peace. They had been eating and drinking together all night, and after a quarrel Woolsey attacked Castner with a butcher knife. Castner left the room and returned with a shot gun and fired, killing Woolsey instantly. Castner gave himself up.

Death of Dr. Stanton, of Penn.

Dr. David Stanton, of Beaver County, who was elected Auditor General of Pennsylvania, at the recent election, died suddenly at his residence at New Brighton, on Sunday afternoon. He was suffering from Erysipelas, and had injected morphine into his arm. Sleep followed and he never awoke.

The Elections.

Elections were held in the following States on Tuesday last:—Maryland, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Mississippi and Virginia. At the hour of going to press we have no returns from those States indicating their political complexion, but hope to be able to give them correctly and clearly in our next issue.

THE VINELAND RAILWAY has been finished to the Delaware Bay. This brings New York into direct communication with the rich wheat and fruit land of South Jersey and Delaware. It requires, it is stated, only ten miles of road to be finished in Delaware to give New York a direct connection with Norfolk by way of the Delaware and Maryland railway.

What an Impartial Correspondent Saw in South Carolina.

The Cincinnati Commercial, an independent journal which opposed the much-abused enforcement act until it had investigated the Ku-Klux Klan in South Carolina through its correspondents, has dispatched its commissioner to that State. His views on the situation are shown in the following extracts:

INTERVIEW WITH ATTORNEY GENERAL CHAMBERLAIN.

Attorney General Chamberlain, I found. Mr. Chamberlain is a moderate Republican, and counted one of the few thoroughly honest carpet-baggers at present administering State affairs.

I asked him what he thought about Grant's course in declaring martial law.

"I am sorry it had to be done," he replied, "but there seemed to be no other way to check the growing crime of Ku-Kluxism. The evil has assumed enormous proportions, in Spartanburg and York counties especially. The civil authorities seemed powerless to check the crime. I regret that our State Government is a confessed failure in this particular, but it is so. Organized crime, having the partial sympathy at least of the mass of the white people, could not be coped with by the State authorities. Militia were tried, but that only made matters worse. The militia were killed and their arms taken away. The authorities were under the feet of the midnight raiders. No man more than I regrets to see martial law in force, but it seemed to be the only remedy. The causes which led to so much crime it is not necessary to discuss. I acknowledge they were great. I acknowledge there is much in our present State Government to condemn and make war upon. But that does not justify wholesale whippings and murder.—The outrages upon the blacks had become so numerous that the cause of humanity alone demanded that some vigorous steps be speedily taken to suppress this carnival of crime. Martial law was a last resort and while I deplore the fact that it had to be resorted to, yet I am satisfied that it will do good, and rid the country of the Ku-Klux. There will be many instances of individual hardship, which are to be deplored, but in the main the result will be beneficial."

A VISIT TO THE JAIL.

Their cells open into a narrow hall, and this hall is "fenced in" at each end by a heavy iron grate. As we approached this grate they all swarmed out of their cells and came to it. There are nineteen of them, and all but three have made a full confession. The remaining three are mum, doubtless thinking that, whatever may be their fate, nothing can be gained by a confession of crime; so they are sullen and silent. The rest, however, are quite talkative, and "give in their experience" in rough, ungramatical language.

As they swarmed out to the gate, I thought I never saw a more unprepossessing looking set of men. They are all young, below medium size, and of the lowest grade of "poor whites." They have neither character, property, nor intelligence. Their very looks are calculated to prejudice one against them, and, had they not confessed to being Ku-Klux, their appearance and actions would have disclosed it. They are the lower type of the lowest class of Southern poor whites. You may pick up a gang of negroes at random, and you will have a better looking set of men than these Spartanburg Ku-Klux. Their ignorance will be better understood when I state that sixteen of the nineteen can neither read nor write.

WHAT THEY SAY.

They say that they came in and give up because they were tired of the business, and because they could not fight the whole United States army, which they understood had been sent into South Carolina. They seem to regard the State as having been invaded by a second General Sherman's army, and that death was their portion if they did not surrender. They try to shift the responsibility of their operations for the past two years upon prominent Democrats of Spartanburg county, whom they accuse of putting them up to the dirty work and driving them along.—They acknowledge to an "alliance" between the Democratic party and themselves, but complain that all the heavy work fell upon them. They say that when a campaign was going on they were kept so busy that they had no time to attend to crops. None of them own land, and what farming they do is on the tenant system. They affirm the object of the Ku-Klux organization to be to either drive the negroes out of the county or kill them. They did not propose to go into wholsale slaughter, but only killed one now and then so as to aid materially in scaring others off. They most positively declare that the prominent Democrats of Spartanburg county were at the bottom of the diabolical business, and they propose to "blow" on the whole thing, giving names and all, when the proper time comes. This accounts for the stampede of "influential citizens" from that county.

CONFESS TO BEING KU-KLUX

The prisoners who confess to being Ku-Klux say they are now sorry that they ever went into the thing. They blame what they call leaders, but are, as yet, not entirely specific who their leaders are. They complain that when they once went into the Klan they could not get out, and they then had to push forward in the dirty work marked out for them, or be dealt with themselves. At Lime Spring the Klan had a whipping-post erected, where those who did not come to time were whipped. This statement is no doubt correct, for one or two of the "boys" bear the marks of the lash upon their backs. They say they expect to be punished by a few years in the penitentiary, but they emphatically insist that the head men shall be punished also.

The latest report from Spartanburg is that ninety citizens are in jail, and among the umber are, no doubt, many of the head men to whom the poor devils here refer. Ninety citizens taken from their beds and thrown into jail without warrant or process of law may have an ugly look, but it is absolutely necessary to effectually restore peace and quiet to Spartanburg. In many instances the innocent are suffering with the guilty, but this cannot be avoided. The war should be made short, sharp and decisive, the innocent turned loose and the guilty turned into the penitentiary. The civil law had been found impotent to check the evil, and the militia law had to be resorted to. That is effective. The days of the Ku-Klux are numbered in South Carolina.

WHAT REMAINS TO BE DONE.

After they are disposed of there is one more thing to be done to bring peace to the State. The thieves must be rooted out of the State Government. There are men in office here who are sucking the blood of the State, who are swindling the people out of tens of thousands of dollars every year. They are as bad as the Tammay Ring, the only thing that keeps them ing as much is the fact that much to steal. They t however. There are me occupying positions in t ment who have grown su stealing. They publish t world by sporting gay equipag streets and living like princes.

gravating and organized robbery of an impoverished people is one of the main causes of the existence of the Ku-Klux Klan.—But the operations of the last are such that humanity demands they should be put out of the way by severe means, and after that let the thieves be sent to the penitentiary to keep them company.

Tweed Defiant.

The Prince of Public Plunderers made a speech to the Tammany Associatiou of his own district on Saturday evening, in which he urged his constituents to "vindicate" themselves, as well as himself, by returning him to the Senate, and to prick them on to this pleasant duty, he read the following description of the district from the World:

The Fourth district in the most loathsome political scab in the United States.—It is only necessary to look at its boundaries to see of what material its population is composed. ° ° ° Except a few respectable permanent boarders at the Astor House, and one or two small hotels on Cortlandt street, this district has no reputable inhabitants. ° ° ° It is not the residence of people who have any regard for the decencies of life or the esteem and good opinion of respectable society. The very dregs and scum of our population, the offscouring of this country and all others inhabit it.

IT may at last be definitely announced, says the Tribune, that Governor Fish has resigned the portfolio of Secretary of State, that his successor has been determined upon, and that the change is now expected by the President to take place soon after the election on Tuesday. His successor is to be a gentleman hitherto without large experience in national politics who has lately taken public occasion, contrary to some previous expression of opinion, to announce himself in favor of the renomination of General Grant. Notwithstanding statement is made so positively, to be accepted as beyond doubt respondents have had Secret resigning a half-dozen times last two years, and such re looked upon very doubting

OUR special dispatches from lina indicate the end of the ganization in that State. friends in the North are calling wrath of Heaven upon this " the ruffians—ignorant rank leaders alike—are coming t day, shorn of their mysterio mummery. The details of th cies are sufficiently explicit to most sceptical. One declaration ciples makes the first duty of the gang to be Humanity, Justice, and Honor, and having thus trifled with sacred things, it is declared that the last obligation of the Brotherhood is to "put down Radicalism." Of course, the destruction of the Radicals, by fair means or foul, was the first thing to be accomplished.

THE rumors of Brigham Young's flight from Utah increase as he presses toward the extreme southern boundary of the Territory in his semi-regal progress. He has often made these Journeys to extreme portions of his domains; but he has so recently visited the southern part of Utah that there is some ground for the belief that he is about to leave the Territory, unlikely as such a proceeding on his part might otherwise appear. The report that the Mormons intend to go to Mexico, where they have been offered shelter from persecuting monogamists, gives color to the later rumor that Brigham goes now as the new Moses leading his people into a promised land beyond the confines of this Republic.

SOME interesting details of the Ku-Klux conspiracies in South Carolina are given in recent information from the scene of the troubles, indicating that the organization in the State will be broken up by the action of the Government. The testimony taken is said to have developed murders that previously were not attributed to the Ku-Klux, and shows a more terrible condition of affairs than was supposed. One hundred and sixty of the guilty members of the Klans have surrendered at Yorkville and confessed. The admissions are proof of the necessity of the President's proclamation and the active prosecution that has followed it.

A HORRIBLE SIGHT.—In Jeffersonville, Indiana, on Thursday last John Gallagher, a switchman employed at the depot of Madison and Indianapolis Railroad, was horribly mutilated by a tender and locomotive passing over his body. The body seemed to be caught between the track and the bottom of the engine, and was dragged and crushed until every bone was broken. When the deceased was picked up his face was mashed into a perfect jelly, until not one lineament of the features were recognizable, but the whole was a jumble of bones, blood, and mangled ... A large portion of the head, about one-quarter of it, was completely severed from the rest; all the brains were lying on the ground, trembling like a piece of jelly, and the entrals lay by fresh and steaming from the body. The shoulder was also crushed until the bones were protruding from the flesh. In fact, not a square inch of the body seemed to have escaped disfigurement.
