American Union.

J. H. EMERSON, Editor.

DENTON, MARYLAND:

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 8, 1880.

The "UNION" is the leading newspaper of the county. It is taken by all the leading Merchants, Professional and business men of the county. It circulates extensively among our farmers and it is the object of the publisher to make it an indispensable necessity in every household.

THE House committee appointed to investigate the serious charges preferred against Judge Pearre, of Cumberland, submitted their report to the legislature on Friday, exonerating him. The report was adopted, which ends the threatened impeachment.

As the inquisitive census enumerators will soon be prying into people's names, ages and general uselessness, it is proper that the public should know there is a fine "not exceeding $100" for refusing to answer truthfully and promptly the questions to be propounded.—This embarrassing fact should be specially noted by that large class of ladies who have mysterious reluctance to tell their age.

BULL DOZING doesn't seem to be confined to Louisiana. The situation of affairs in Honeybrook township, Chester county, Pa., according to the telegraphic reports of yesterday, is almost as bad as any which the South has favored us with this very important difference: that the Pennsylvania bull-dozers are not inspired by political motives and, if captured, will be pretty sure to go to the penitentiary.

THE New York Herald prints oral expressions of opinion made to a reprerentative of that paper by nearly all the members of Congress from the three important States of Virginia, Louisana and Mississippi as to the sentiments of their constituencies respecting the nomination of Mr. Tilden. The pretty uniform tenor of the statement is that, in the jungment of the democrats of these three Southern States, it would not be merely impolitic, but fatal to put Mr. Tilden at the head of the democratic ticket.

The venerable Peter Cooper, in a letter to the Greenbackers of Kings county, New York, gives notice of his final retirement from active participation in the politics of the day. Mr. Cooper was the Greenback candidate for the presidency in 1876; but, unlike Mr. Greeley, did not take his defeat seriously to heart, and at the age of eighty-eight is still hale and vigorous, although disinclined, as he says, to burden himself with cares and responsibilities other than those which pertain to his vast business interests.

A CURIOUS AFFLICTION.—John Young, aged about 75 years, lives three miles north of Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa. About 8 years ago he was visited by a stroke of appoplexy, and since then he has had two other attacks, which have more or less affected his mind. On the second Monday of January he complained of feeling a curious sensation in the toes of his right foot. This continued for some time, until the entire right foot and the leg up to the knee became as black as a coal, and so dead to feeling that when you drum with your fingers on the foot or leg it sounds like dried wood. One spot, about as large as the palm of a man's hand, has a natural color and feeling, but the rest of the foot and ankle is black and dead. Since this singular discoloration and transformation has taken place, Mr. Young's mind is somewhat improved, but the doctors are quite puzzled about the case in all its aspects.

FOREIGNERS FOR THE PENINSULA.—J. Thomas Budd, of Middletown, Del., is the promoter of a scheme to colonize 1,500 foreign families on the peninsula, and has arranged to co-operate with the New York Emigration Society. It is proposed to divide large tracts into farms ranging from ten to one hundred acres, and give the immigrants a series of years, not exceeding ten, for their terms of payment. As soon as a sufficient number of persons have been secured a number of Mennonites from the Volga will be brought here direct, and landed at New Castle, from whence they will be distributed to the new homes. The advantages of the peninsula by the fruition of this scheme are so manifestly beneficial that the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore and the Eastern Shore Railroad Companies have volunteered to aid Mr. Budd; in fact, have made arrangements by which satisfactory transportation can be effected.—Elkton (Md.) Democrat.

ARTESIAN WELLS.—There are 900,000,000 acres of land in the arid region of this country, all of which belong to the government, and it is proposed to make a part of this vast area fertile by means of artesian wells. Not more than three per cent. of it can be utilized practically. In Colorado alone are 40,000,000 acres capable of producing from twenty-five to thirty bushels of wheat per acre if irrigated.—The people of the West desire Congress to appropriate $50,0009 for boring artesian wells, the land being the property of the government. Private enterprise will not undertake the experiment, but let the practicability or irrigation by artesian wells once be established and private purchasers will be found who will carry on the work of boring at their own expense. Some of the ablest geologists in the country have expressed the opinion that flowing wells can be obtained in many localities on the plains east and west of the Rocky Mountains, and the Commissioner of Agriculture, under whose auspices special attention has been given to the subject, has recommended that artesian wells be sunk.

A CECIL COUNTY MYSTERY.—The remains of an elderly colored man were found in a field near Elkton, Md., Saturday last. The man had evidently been dead for several weeks. The body had been much mutilated by dogs, the flesh being torn off in places, exposing the breast and back bones, the bones of the arm and side on one side. The body was that of a man six feet high and full set, with whiskers, and was dressed in new boots, light pants, dark coat, light hat, striped shirt, and he wore a brass ring on one finger. An inquest was held, and the testimony of two colored men seemed to indicate that the man was George B. McCummons, a servant in the employ of Dr. Loper, who mysteriously disappeared from Newark, Del., on Christmas Day, but the jury rendered a verdict that the name of the deceased and the cause of his death were unknown.

THE Baltimore Evening Bulletin tells the following story at the expense of somebody in Centreville: We have "the" smart boy in Centreville. To explain all, I must first tell you of his father. Like many gentlemen, he takes his cod liver oil and whiskey each morning. Of course, such an opportunity of impressing temperance principles upon the youthful mind could not be lost. So—each dose went down with a shiver, terrible frown, and exclamation, "Boo! I could stand this cod-liver oil, but this whiskey, another shiver, "is dreadful!" Our boy listened, and stored it all up in his youthful mind. The other day he was cleaning out the top shelf of a closet for his mother. "Ma, what's this?" Mother looks and cautiously smells. "Oh, rancid cod-liver oil." Soon another bottle is handed down, another and another, contents varying from a teaspoonful to half a cup, all "spoilt cod-liver oil." At last the youngster raised his eyebrows and gravely remarked: "Ma, it's funny pa lets all this good cod liver oil spoil, but never a drop of the whiskey."

One Way to Economize.

Many a poor man, if required to account for the manner in which he has expended his income would find bills of his family physician for "medical services" among the leading items. In seven cases out of ten, acute diseases are the result of some neglected chronic disease. Thus, fevers invariably result from diseased conditions of blood and liver, and a timely use of alterative, or blood-purifying, and cathartic remedies would have averted the prostrating illness, that often leaves the system irreparably injured. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are the best alterative and cathartic medicines yet compounded. Full directions are given for administering them, together with an accurate description of the symptoms demanding their use, They will not cure all human ills (as some medicines are advertised to do), but they will cure the diseases for which they are compounded and recommended.

Republican Victory in Indiana.

The election in Indiana for township officers and on the constitutional amendments held on Monday brought out about a two-thirds vote of the state. The indications are that the Republicans make large gains in township elections and carry the constitutional amendments by a very decided majority. So far as reports have been received, they indicate that from 10 to 20 per cent. of the Democratic vote was in favor of ratification. The Germans voted about solid for the amendments. The ratification of the amendments dispenses with the October election, placing the state election, placing the state election on the day of the presidential election.

A Judge Goes to Jail.

A NEW TRIAL REFUSED JUDGE WRIGHT, AND SENTENCE IMPOSED.

In the District Criminal Court at Washington, on Saturday, Judge John W. Wright, convicted of assault under an indictment for a deadly assault on the Hon. Columbus Delano, ex-Secretary of the Interior, on October 12th, 1877, the motion for a new trial was argued. The Court overruled the motion, as also a motion of arrest of judgement, and Judge James imposed the sentence, saying that if it were not for the defendant's physical condition, the imprisonment would be much greater, but, in view of that fact, he would make the imprisonment 30 days in jail with a fine of $1,000. Subsequently application was made to Chief Justice Cartter for a writ of habeas corpus, but Judge Cartter advised that he go to jail first, and make application to the General Term on Monday. Judge Wright, on receiving this announcement, in company with a deputy marshal, entered his own carriage, and was driven to jail. Much sympathy is felt for him in consequence of his advanced age and broken health, and from the fact that in the attack he made upon the ex-Secretary, who is a much younger man, he seems to have acted under the impulse of a strong sense of personal wrong from what he believed to be vindictive persecution by Mr. Delano.

For the Union.

A Bit of Communism.

"By the sweat of thy face shalt thou earn thy bread!" was the first decree of displeasure from the Grand Master of the universe to disobedient man. Civilized and enlightened man has for ages endeavored to reverse this edict.—He has racked his subtile brains to invent schemes to avoid the heat and burden of labor. Untold misery has been forced upon mankind, and to-day there are evils as great and oppressive, as grinding as was in the darkest ages of world's history.

Names are nothing; neither are words and sentences, if they are not coupled by principles as immutable as the rock of truth. The word Agrarian is heard by the large landholder and capitalist with a shrug and a shudder. It tells of divided lands, and an equalization of the world's wealth. It disputes the title deeds of lands held by purchase or entailment. It questions the right of legislation in favor of the few to the disadvantage of the many; and to-day we hear the omnious sound of communism. It has startled the effete monarchs of an aristocracy of the old world. It causes a shudder to run through the very bones of those who have accumulated colossal fortunes at the expense and toil of others. It makes those who live and grow fat on the profit of their speculative ventures wince in fear. Nor is all this mere speculation. It has not been so very long ago that the people were startled out of their sense of security by wide spread and formidable riots; men too have grown strangely restive. Is it possible that the time is drawing near when "Liberty shall be proclaimed throughout the land, and to all the inhabitants thereof." But say you there are no slaves in the land; we are free as air; we have liberty; we do not desire license, nor should the industrious, economical and thrifty support the lazy and the vicious. Neither the one or the other, order is one of Heaven's first laws; good government stands next, and he who can frame laws by which all are benefitted and none oppressed, deserves the grandest of monuments. If the laws whether by statute or implied are wise, just and true, a few vicious ones cannot stultify or nullify them. If they benefit a class more than they do the mass, there will be murmurs from the many, and if not repealed or amended the murmurs will lead to shouts of execration, leading to riot and bloodshed. There must be a cause for this complaint of inequality of this world's wealth, nor is the complaining confined to a few, nor are they the idle and vicious. The question has been discussed for years in the workshop, in the field, and on the highway. There is no power on earth that can stay the agitation of the subject; the questions that are being asked must be answered, for it was no part of God's plan that man should live by the sweat and toil of others. He recognizes no broker-shops nor usurers. It is a question that men do not care to investigate too closely. The church, its teachers and preachers, from the days of Athanansius down to the present time have not dared to touch the question. They feared and fear now the knife of investigation. The fiery African of the primative church could hurl his anathemas at the heads of those who differed with him about the sound of a vowel or consonant; but with all his fame for invectives, and his righteous indignation against heretics, he did not dare to engraft the justice and equity of the Almighty Master upon the polity of the church. Nor dare man do so now; nay, they even fear a dispassionate discussion of the question; even those calling themselves true followers of the Son of God fear it; yet they sustain and advocate a system of laws which are in direct conflict with the principles laid down by the Almighty mind; and again we will rush from adversity to prosperity, heedless of the higher injunctions. Again will a crash come, and woe to those who are not prepared for it. Armageddon will raise his gory locks and as with a wand sweep away potentate and pontiff, hurl the political juggler from his false pedestal; lay bare the gaping falsehoods of the lying teacher, and purge God's earth with a besom of destruction. PARGETTER.

State Temperance Convention.

The Maryland State Temperance Alliance will hold its seventh annual meeting in Baltimore on the 15th and 16th of this month, in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association. All Temperance Associations, Churches, Sabbath Schools, Religious and Reform Associations, are entitled to send delegates.—Local Option having been obtained from the Legislature for about eight new counties, in addition to the six and a-half where prohibition now prevails, it is believed that this meeting will be the largest and most interesting one ever held in the State.

Hon. Neal Dow, of Maine, author of the Prohibitory System; Hon. Henry W. Blaine, United States Senator, and author of the proposed Prohibitory Constitutional Amendment; Hon. Evarts W. Farr, M. C., and other able and eloquent speakers, both male and female, from abroad and at home, will participate in the proceedings. The celebrated Buell family will render the music, and the lady friends of the cause will provide an excellent and enjoyable lunch each day for delegates outside the city.

Arrangements have been made for reduced rates of boarding, railroad and steamboat fares, of which due notice will be given. The names of delegates are requested to be sent, as soon as elected, to C. S. Mosher, 465 West Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our own Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April, 2, 1880.

A commendable disposition appears in Congress to do something for the extension of our foreign commerce into the valuable market of South America. A bill has been introduced in the House to establish a line of steamships between the Mississippi river and Brazil, to be partly sustained by a liberal improvement at the mouth of the Mississippi river have demonstrated the possibility of a much larger commercial connection of that river with the trade of the World, this project is one of great interest. It would be of immense benefit to all the States for which the Mississippi river may become an outlet, from Minnesota to Louisiana. In connection with these plans an effort will be made also to put some other foreign steamship lines on a sure foundation so that we may hold an equal footing in the South American ports with other commercial nations.

The Democrats have begun to haul in their revolutionary horns. Their hesitation of late has been accepted as a mere temporary cessation of their general work of conspiracy. But it proves to be not so. Instead of carrying out their threat to steal a seat in Minnesota, they have voted in Committee to report Washburns seat vacant, and will give that postiferous demogogue Donnelly another chance to go before the people. The Republicans are entirely satisfied with this result, being confident that they can bury the Democratic aspirant very deep when they get to the polls again.

The Senate has passed the so called compromise deficiency bill allowing pay to United States election officers but providing that they shall be appointed from both political parties. How the Democrats "compromise" the question of paying the expenses of "troops at the polls," according to their extra session programme it is very difficult to say. While some of them are for fighting, it is thought the majority have had enough of political contention and will try to smooth down all the rough places in the controversy.

Some of Grant's friends have become suspicious of Washburn as a supporter. While he pretends to be urging General Grants candidacy, his intimate friends have been caught electioneering for Washburn delegates in Districts where it is supposed Grant men would otherwise be chosen. The Grant men say they will not trust Washburn, and warn their friends in Illinois against him. LEO.

THE FENCE QUESTION SOLVED AT LAST!

THE undersigned beg leave to inform land owners and the public generally that they have bought the right to manufacture and sell the

"EMPIRE BARB WIRE FENCE,"

on this Peninsula, and they are now prepared to take orders for and put up the same in any part of the Peninsula. This fence is very extensively used in the West and Southwest by railroads, farmers and stock growers, and always gives universal satisfaction, because it is the

that can be made—the first cost being no more than white pine board, and it is good for 60 or 75 years. It is in no danger from fire—being composed entirely of Iron and Steel.

Storms nor floods cannot affect it, as it presents so little surface to their force. It affords no shelter for noxious weeds and briars, and will save its cost in in the extra amount of produce grown on the ground that would be taken up by a worm fence or osage hedge. It is a SAFE fence, there being no danger of as they frequently are by sharp-ended rails, broken boards, leaning stakes, &c., and the barbs being so short that should they come in contact with our wire it will prick the skin and turn them back without injury. It is reliable, preaching stock turned in a field enclosed with it will always be found there.

This fence is made of

with a spiral screw, (coated with a preparation to prevent rust,) by which they are screwed in the ground where they are anchored by 20 inch anchors; to the posts we attach steel barb wire, making an indestructible fence.

☞Orders for fence for fields, yards, gardens, cemeteries, private grave yards, or for other purposes, promptly attended to. We are prepared to put up or sell any wire barbed or plain fence in the market.
