We Want the Public to Know

That the UNION has now a circulation larger than that of any other newspaper published in this county, and its list of subscribers is steadily increasing. If this statement is questioned we are prepared to prove it.

THE Orphans' Court of Caroline county will meet on Thursday, 29th of April.

The Editor's Hash.

—The roads are dry and heavy.

—Wheat is making rapid growth.

—Court sits in Somerset next week.

—April showers bring forth May flowers.

—Court commences at Georgetown on Monday next.

—Shad are selling in Federalsburg market at 25 cents per pair.

—Commissioners meet are mustering their forces and appear in squads.

—The Maryland Citizen is advertised for sale on the 4th of May.

—The Circuit Court for Kent county commences on Monday next.

—"Dr. Sellers' Cough Syrup" will ensure you a good night's rest. It is the best cough medicine in market. Price 25c.

—See advertisement of Thompson & Kersey, Easton, Md. They are offering great inducements and now is your time to call and see them.

—Whilst all other kinds of business have their seasons of depression and inflation, of brisk times and slow, the loafers remain about the same.

—The first quaterly meeting of the M. E. Church will be held at Potters Landing, on Saturday and Sunday, 24th and 25th of April. The quarterly conference will meet on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

—Mr. Jacob Williams has bought Judge H. H. Goldsborough's late residence, on Washington street, Easton, for $4,500, including the lot and stabling on Harrison street.

—Mrs. Sallie F. Keating, wife of Hon. Thos. J. Keating, of Queen Anne's, died of congestive chill on Monday afternoon last. She leaves many warm friends to mourn her untimely death.

—The lecture in the Court House last Wednesday evening by Rev. J. S. Willis was well attended and listened to with pleasure. Rev. Mr. Willis is well known in our town and it is sufficient to say has added new laurels to his crown.

—The warm weather lately has had a booming effect on vegetation of all kinds. The different wheat fields in this vicinity are making a wonderful growth, the peach trees have blossomed, and the beauties of a Maryland spring have fully developed.

—All in need of clothing will do well to call Rogers, Peet & Co., 178 W. Baltimore Street, you can get anything in the way of ready-made clothing as cheap as elsewhere in the city. Mr. D. L. Cline is with this house and will be pleased to see his old friends and customers. Call and see them.

—Have used Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and pronounce it the best medicine in use. A case of consumption here was cured by its use. We cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers.—Jeffress, Roberts & Co., South Boston, Va., November 17, 1875.

—In consideration that our fishermen here cannot get sale for the fish at this place, will you please insert in your local colum for me, all trades and consumers in want of fish, such as shad, &c., will please call at T. F. Jones' store at Cowards Point, and get supplied.

—It is said that the fishermen below are catching from 50 to 60 shad to a boat per day. This looks like busines, and if the weather continues dry and warm we may expect shad very plentiful in our waters in a few days. They are now selling in our market at 80 cts per pair.

—Ira Warren, of Lewes, who was a sailor on board the schooner "Four Sisters," Capt David Still, fell overboard last Tuesday morning, while the vessel was off Bulkhead Shoal, on her way to Philadelphia. The small boat was promptly launched and sent to his rescue, but the men failed to save him.

—Richard Mansfield was convicted in the U. S. Court on Thursday for selling liquor in Easton without paying the Government Tax, and was sentenced to $100 fine and imprisonment for thirty days. H. D. Fell, T. H. Hubbard and Henry Nichols pleaded guilty on second count, but were not sentenced at that time.

—A great reduction has been made in the salaries of the employes on the Dorchester and and Delaware railroad. Mr. James Hubbard, the baggage master resigned on Wednesday and we are informed that several of the men have a fever up to "blood heat" about it and that the excitement still rages.

—Mr. A. L. Richardson formerly of the Eastern Shoreman has now charge of the business department of the Wilmington Every Evening. Mr. Richardson's experience and talents will make themselves felt and valued in his new field and we expect, as we hope to hear of increased prosperity for "Every Evening."

—Mr. James H. Carmine showed us last week a gosling having four distinct legs. The two surplus ones are in the rear of the usual ones, and are of no use to the gosling but drag along after it when walking. The gosling is lively and apparently in good health, giving every indication of long life and activity.—Centreville Observer

—The dwelling house on the farm owned by Denwood Long, but in the occupancy of his son, Wm. Long, was totally destroyed by fire on Monday last. The fire broke out about two o'clock in the afternoon. The men all being away from home at that time and no one being present but ladies, the entire building consumed, together with all their clothing.—The fire originated from a spark from the chimney. No insurance.

—As an efficient cathartic, a certain cure for Headache, Dyspepsia, Bilious attacks, and perfect regulator of the liver, we commend J. M. Laroque's anti bilious Bitters, manufactured in Baltimore Md., for over half a century. Hosts of the most prominent citizens unhesitatingly indorse them as the most potent remedy of the age. 25c. a paper, or $1.00 a bottle. W. E. Thornton, Proprietor, Baltimore, Md.

—Last Tuesday morning as Mr. Wm. O. Flowers at Centreville, was working at the anvil preparatory to shoeing a horse which he had in the shop, whin the apprentice having to pass the horse's head in search of some of his tools, struck the horse, causing him to fly back and in so doing stuck the sharp point of the anvil in his leg. This caused the animal to kick, striking Mr. Flowers in the face and on the shoulder. His face was scratched a little and his shoulder considerably bruised. He was confined to the house for a day or so, but is now at work again.

—Mr. Michael Finn, agent for the Maryland Steamboat Co., at Denton Bridge, desires to inform the public that all freights delivered at this wharf will be taken care of at the freight house by him, and all bills unpaid will be found in his hands for collection. He can always be found at C. F. Willis' store, where he is ever ready to accommodate the public.—Persons having freight to ship will greatly oblige him by delivering it on the wharf one half hour before the arrival of the boat if possible. [april5 3w.

—A short extra session of the State Normal School will open on April 27th, and close June 15th. None but teachers will be admitted.—Tuition will be free; boarding will cost about $4 a week. A limited number of ladies can obtain board at $3 a week if application is made at once. The course will include 20 lectures on methods of organizing and governing schools; and 20 lessons each, on Geometry, Physiology and Book-keeping. Classes will also be formed in Reading, Arithmetic and other subjects, if desired. All students will be required to attend the Lectures; the other lessons will be optional. A course of private study will be arranged, extending through several years, preparatory to an examination for Diplomas at the close. For entrance, or futher information, apply at one to M. A. NEWELL, State Normal School, Lafayette Square, Balto.

—An exchange says: "Nothing presents a sadder commentary upon the present condition of society that the large number of families, both in town and in the country, but more especially in the latter, that subscribe to no paper of any kind. Hundreds and thousands of families are growing utterly ignorant of what is transpiring in the world around them—ignorant of the mighty events of the day. But who can tell the vast amount of injury that is being inflicted upon the rising generation—those who are to take our place at no distant day—growing up without any knowledge of the present or past; this ignorance, too, being imbued into them by the sanction of those who should, and doubtless do no better, did they only think of the injurious effect of their insane course. Let the head of every family think of this, and place in the hands of those for whom he is responsible the means of acquiring some knowledge of the moving panorama in which we are to act our different parts."

—Jerry Cornish, an old colored man living in Meekin's Neck, Dorchester county, visited LeCompte's liquor store, in the upper end of Lake's district, Monday evening after Easter; and in the course of his stay became very drunk. About 9 P. M., the store was closed, and Jerry and two or three other drunken men were turned out of doors. Monday night was very cold and windy, and they all started to find shelter—Jerry started homeward about midnight. About fifty yards from the store runs a deep creek, and into this he walked.—His companions searched for him during the night; but only when morning came, and his tracks down to the creek could be seen, was his fate certainly known. By using a pair of oyster tongs the body was found close to the bank. A jury of inquest was held and they returned a verdict of accidental drowning.—This is the second horrible accident growing out of the sale of liquor at this particular store. About two months ago a colored by was shot and badly wounded by a colored man; and the good people of this neighborhood fear the worst has not come yet.

—The Wilmington Every Evening states that the frosts of Thursday and Friday nights last completely ruined the peach crop in the Lower Peninsula. Another cold wave swept over us on Sunday last, and doubtless completed the work of destruction in other parts of the peach-growing region. This annual blight of the peach crop by frost is getting to be a very serious matter. There was a time—before the establishment of telegraph lines and the publication of enterprising newspapers—when peach culture was a very profitable industry. Special trains were run over the railroads to carry the luscious fruit to distant markets; vessels of all sizes, from the familiar bay pungy to the wheezy freight steamboat, plied between Baltimore city and the ports of the Eastern Shore heavily laden with the products of the orchard, and hundreds of canning factories were kept busy during the season in preserving peaches for winter consumption. All this is changed. For the last ten years or more the peach crop has been killed by frost as spring and enterprising reporters came round. And yet, somebow, we always have peaches in August.

THE WOODCOCK TRIAL.

HARD FIGHT BETWEEN STATE AND DEFENCE.

Jessie L. Woodcock, a young man and prior to the 28th day of last October engaged in the jewelry business in the town of Easton, Talbot county, is on trial for arson in the court of Caroline county. The case was removed to this county on the ground that a fair and impartial trial could not be had in Talbot county because of the ill feeling and prejudice existing against him. The trial began Wednesday morning April 7th and up to this writing is still in progress. The prosecution represented by Charles H Gibson (States Attorney for Talbot county) and J. W. Bryant States Attorney for Caroline, did not close with their witnesses until Tuesday afternoon of this week. Many witnesses were sworn upon the part of the State, and many circumstances were introduced supposed to point to the traverser as the guilty party. The State rely entirely upon circumstantial evidence upon which the jury are expected to find a verdict. As a passing remark, permit me to suggest that however old may be the custom regulating the Law of Evidence; however strong and convincing circumstances may prove in general; admitting that at many times it is the only way to prove a case, still it must be admitted that if circumstances alone unsupported by some visible or tangible fact is to convict a man, then many men must to day stand convicted of some crime to them unknown. It is a fact beyond successful contradiction that a man may do certain things and make some innocent remark at a time when difficulties are unimagined, continuing innocent of any criminal desire or intention, yet, (if as in this case) some distantly outrage should be perpetrated, these remarks and actions may be recalled and point to the innocent party as the culprit. Without referring to this case before us there is not a man who has attended our court, (however innocent he may be) but what has been at some time, so situated that he was ignorant of any criminal action, yet if tried for some crime and circumstantial evidence alone be relied upon for his conviction he might realize that these same innocent and ignorant actions may send him to jail. Hence, it would be well for jurics generally to give great forethought and much reflection before rendering a verdict up on circumstantial evidence. It should be a case of "Put yourself in his place." But, to return to the trial. The State seeks to prove that Woodcock was the originator of the fire, and that certain circumstances prove it. It was proven the fire existed; that it was Woodcock's store; that the door and windows were covered with blankets and quilts and the fire sought to be smothered until it had fairly started. It was sought to be proven that Woodcock himself was cognizant of the fire and that he had been informed of it but, instead of attending an I rendering assistance he was seen hanging about the outskirts of the fire and that he did at no time approach the scene of the fire. These are the principal circumstances upon which the State rely for a conviction. They (the State) argue that the prime motive was to secure the Insurance of $2,500 which he had upon his stock in trade.

The defence opened its side by a lengthy but clear and explicit statement in every particular by Hon. John W. Crisfield. He stated that he expected to prove to the satisfaction of the jury that all the circumstances which the State relied upon for the conviction of the traverser, were consistent in every particular with innocence. That none of the circumstances, in truth, point to his client as the incendiary since no witness has yet testified that Woodcock was seen in the act of firing the building; that his remaining at a safe distance from the fire was through a well grounded fear of bodily injury because of the denunciations and threats of the excited crowd there gathered. He stated he expected to prove that Woodcock could not have been actuated by the motive to secure the insurance. He expected to satisfy the jury that the policy of insurance was in the burning building, and had the building burned, Woodcock's evidence of insurance would have gone with it, and to say that a man will burn his house to secure the insurance, and then to leave his proof and evidence of insurance in the burning building, is to say that that man is a fool. He then stated that all the circumstances presented by the State would be found to be smoke to be dissipated by an array of facts fully explaining this young man's conduct and his innocence. He claimed that unless all the circumstances point to him as the guilty party he was entitled to an acquittal; that if any doubts rested upon the minds of the jurors as to his guilt, then and in that event Woodcock was entitled to an acquittal; that if the defence satisfies the jury of the truth of their statements then the jury must not only acquit Woodcock, but restore him to respectability and decency. It is expected the case will be decided to-day.

Pen Portraits.

The Annapolis Republican, as its usual custom at the close of every legislative session, furnishes a pen portrait of the members of the Senate and House of Delegates. We append below its sketch of the members from this county. We also give a brief notice of Hon. H. Vanderford, the present Senator from Carroll county, who in 1835-36 and 37 was a citizen of this county and during that time the editor of the "Caroline county Advocate."

HON. THOMAS F. GAREY.

Senator Garey was born in the county he represents, September 10, 1821, and obtained the best educations the common schools of his locality afforded. He was subsequently engaged in clerking, milling, and other pursuits, though farming seems to be the permanent and final vocation of his life. His success in this direction is rather remarkable, however enterprising and perserving the efforts to accumulate land may be. He is the owner of at least twenty five farms, a large part of the area being virgin soil recently reclaimed from the forest. Since 1850 he has taken a prominent part in the politics of his county, and has held the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court. In 1877 he was elected to the Senate upon an Independent ticket in opposition to the regular Democratic ticket. His characteristic industry is visible in the Senate, and on the Committees on Agriculture and Labor, Elections and Pensions.

HON. WILLIAM MASSEY, HON. THOMAS F. COX.

Caroline has a good delegation in the House. Hon. William Massey, the merchant, is one of the best men of his section, and well qualified to serve the people in a representative capacity. He has been laboriously attentive to business, and his public service this winter will no doubt be duly appreciated by those whom he serves. His duties have called him to do excellent work on the Committees on Internal Improvements, Corporations, and Currency. He is a democrat.

Hon. Thomas F. Cox is also a democrat and a prominent member of the House. By trade a millwright, he is equally skillful as a legislator. He is a man of sound, practical sense, and devotes himself conscientiously and industriously to the work in hand. His political predilections are strong, and he is therefore a good party man. He is a very forcible speaker, ready in debate and sound in his views. He is a member of the Committees on Claims, Manufactures, and Library.

HON. HENRY VANDERFORD

Carroll county is represented in the Senate with that broad ability which comes with veteran work and large success in the ordinary difficult profession of journalism. Hon. Henry Vanderford's experience in this direction is freigated with vicissitudes and diversified with frequent changes. Beginning with 1825 he has been associated with, owned and edited ten journals in various parts of this State and Delaware. In 1865, however, he bought a farm in St. Mary's county and engaged in agriculture, but after three years of successful work in this pursuit ill health of himself and family compelled him to abandon it and resume journalism. Mr. Vanderford's family history reaches back to early colonial times, and is distinguished by fine traits of character. He was born December 23, 1811, at Hillsborough, Caroline county, Maryland, and received an academic education in his native town and in Talbot county. He is a pleasant, affable, hospitable gentlemen and conscientious representative of his people. He is on the Committees on Printing, Federal Relations, Engrossed Bills and Resolutions and Retrenchments in Expenses of State Government.

Set Back 42 Years.

"I was trouble for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right and 72, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age It is worth a trial.—(Father.)

Prof. Green, a distinguished allopathic physician, wrote to the Medical Record to the effect that after all other means had failed, he sent for the Kidney Cure (Safe Kidney and Liver Cure,) and to his astonishment cured a serious case of Bright's Disease by administering it, and afterwards found it equally beneficial in other cases.
