E. W. EMERSON, Editor.

DENTON, MARYLAND:

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 29. 1885

THE lack of rumors about the failure of the peach crop indicates that the Eastern Shore farmer is not as enterprising as he formerly was, says the Baltimore Herald man.

SOME of our citizens are again attacked with the railroad fever. It is now proposed to run a railroad from here to Ridgely to connect with the Delaware & Chesapeake Railroad. Clear the track, the train is just around the curve.

A BETTER day is dawning for the country. A Texas gentleman with the happy name of Cox says "that he has taken entire charge of the short crops and tight times generally." And herein is growing consolation for the local optionists.

THE annual report of the department agriculture makes the record of corn production for the year 1884 in the United States, 1,795,000,000 bushels, wheat, 513,000,000 bushels, and oats, 583,000,000. These aggregate the largest quantities ever rendered.

THE past year or two of depression did not affect the life insurance business of the country. No company has failed and there has been increased prosperity all around. The total amount of new policies issued by the regular companies last year was about $310,000,000.

IT is given out that Mr. Blaine will make things uncomfortable for Mr. Arthur by influencing Republican members of Congress to oppose the administration. What with commercial treaties and the whisky bill, the administration appears to be badly in need of a guardian.

THE Secretary of the New York State Board of Health has been analyzing samples of what is sold in that State for buckwheat flour, and has found some that did not have a trace of buckwheat in it. Buckwheat flour without buckwheat is the result of pure genius; anybody who has a mill can make it out of buckwheat.

THE New York Sun, though a Democratic paper, was not friendly to Cleveland and opposed his election, but it now says he has grown in public estimation. That growth of opinion, however, it says, is more on the Republican than on the Democratic side. The Democratic pig is still in the poke in which he came to market, and until he emerges from the bag but little will be known of him.

FURNACES may make too much pig-iron, factories too much fabric, mills too much product, but mother earth makes no mistake of that kind. If every year is not a good crop year, and as important factors that enter into the raising of large crops are beyond human control, it will always happen that enough years of scarcity will come to consume what may remain unused from a plentiful season. Therefore, if farmers hold back from market half the wheat and corn raised last year, put it in their barns, insure, and plant a double acreage this year. A short crop this year or next will make a demand for all they have got and all they can raise.

A CALIFORNIA paper claims that a farmer living near Riverside, in that State, has taken seven and a half tons of honey from thirty-three bee hives this season. "How doth the little busy bee improve each shining hour," as the poet remarks, and especially is this the case in California, which is a great honey State. The California atmosphere puts energy into every person and every thing, and even the little busy bee is busier there than elsewhere, perhaps. The California bee that can't go out into the fields and come back before breakfast with a smile and half a pound of honey is frowned upon by leading California business bees and has to take a back seat in the convention.

THE New York World publishes interviews with a number of representatives of various lines of wholesale trade in that city in regard to the business outlook. They concur in the opinion that business is picking up wonderfully and that the outlook is bright, not for a boom, but for a steady, lively trade. Wheat and corn are advancing in price, which will bring into market the immense surplus crops, putting money into circulation and making times easier in all branches of business. Many men go so far as to claim that the present year will be a very prosperous one, and that there will be a constant advance in prices that will stimulate trade. Let us hope these predictions will prove true.

THE stock held in California, according to the report of the San Franscisco Produce Exchange, was 26,460,350 bushels, besides 187,830 barrels flour, in all equivalent to 27,265,585 bushels. During this crop season, all the tonnage now at San Franscisco and on the way thither will not suffice to move this surplus of grain, so that part of it must be carried over into another crop year. Freights, too, have been raised to 45 shillings per ton from San Francisco for Cork, and the present state of the markets does not encourage large shipments. At the end of December the "visible supply" at lake and seaboard points was 43,882,190 bushels, besides 221,480 barrels flour officially reported as held at this city, alone, and a very large but unknown quantity at other points. Thus there were in sight January 1 at least 70,000,000 bushels of wheat, besides the quantity still retained by farmers for seed, food or market, the supplies in elevators at small stations and the quantity already turned into flour not yet consumed or exported. There is not much reason to expect a wheat famine.

The New Party.

The effect of the pernicious counsels of the St. John wing of the Prohibition party is manifested in the cordiality in which the National League for the Suppression of the Liquor Traffic is welcomed. This organization, since its birth in January, has grown rapidly, and promises before long to include in its ranks all those who very properly condemn the precipitancy with which temperance was injected as an issue into the late campaign.

Having nothing to gain, the Prohibition party had no business to be in the field, and its canvass only embarrassed the situation and contributed in the end to the success of its bitterest enemy. It is, therefore, natural that the mass of the Prohibition voters should want to escape the suspicion of a collusion with the men who, to advance their own ends, led the Prohibition party to defeat and dissolution. That it is dissolving there is no doubt. The disintegration began soon after the defeat of Mr. Blaine and reached its height in January when the National League was organized.

The new party has come to stay and supplant the St. John wing and drive it entirely from temperance counsels. How this is to be effected is clearly set forth in an address just issued by the League to the people of the United States, wherein the committee promise in behalf of the League to refrain from any association that will be politically compromising. The address continues as follows:

"The members of the League do not think it wise to commit the organization to any political party, nor to form a new one. As a matter of history, they remember that oligarchies are usually overthrown by the people, and not by divided partizan action. The members of this League, therefore, do not favor entangling this reform with partizan affiliations. They believe their purpose will be soonest and best secured by keeping it clear of all such embarrassments."

By this it may be understood that whatever political work is done will hereafter be confined exclusively to securing local legislation. This is the only effective course, as the experience of the Prohibition party conclusively proves. This resolution on the part of the League shows that the organization is fully alive to the needs of the situation, and that it proposes to build the pyramid not from the apex but from the base. And here is the groundwork:

"The aim of the League must be largely to create and intensify public sentiment, seeking to build it up from the bottom line of true reform. Intelligent convictions in the hearts of the people, with God's blessing, afford the only sure basis on which deliverance from the alcohol curse can be reasonably expected. To produce, strengthen and enliven such convictions will be a large part of our work. The needed legislation and enforcement of law will surely follow. Public sentiment soon shows itself in legislation and administration."

The whole address breathes the true spirit of reform, and in sentiment is widely the reverse of the sentiments entertained by the Pittsburg convention. For this reason, if for no other, the new party should appeal strongly to public support.—Balto. Herald.

How to Make Good Times.

There is a class of people who could be instrumental in bringing about better times if they only would. This is the class who owe some debts and have the money to pay them with, but who for some cause do not do so. They intend to pay after awhile but not at present. A note or contract is not due and they will not pay until it is. Some people make a practice of never paying any bills so long as they can possibly avoid doing so, even though they have the money to do it with. These people stand in their own light. They complain of hard times, but they do not stop to consider that their refusal to pay bills they could pay only makes times worse.

If they would only go and pay the bills they owe, it would give an impetus to business in unexpected quarters, and would help materially to bridge over many of the pitfalls of trade. Where persons have the money it is positively dishonest for them not to discharge their financial obligations. A hundred dollars let loose on a round of bill paying, will pay off probably a thousand dollars of debt in a week's time.

The butcher, the grocer, the baker, the coal dealer, and many others may get a slice from it, and they will keep it going in paying other bills. If every one who is in debt and able to pay would square off within the next ten days, there would be such vast sums of money thrown into circulation as would give a fresh impetus to all kinds of business.

It would in a word be an earnest of that restoration of confidence without which there can be no revival in trade which will be healthy and permanent. Those who wish to start a business boom should therefore liquidate at once. They should settle not only with the butcher, the baker and the grocer, but they should even pay the doctor, and the printer especially should not be overlooked.

Mrs. Stanton's Ambition.

Mrs. Halleck and Mrs. Hull, two well-known Quaker ladies of Baltimore, were attendants at the closing session of the woman's suffrage convention on Thursday. Prominent Quakeresses from various points were present.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton said that a "refreshing amount of new blood" had recently been infused into the woman suffrage movement. She called attention to the large number of talented ladies who had never before appeared at a national convention. Mrs. Post, wife of the delegate from Wyoming Territory, was also a notable addition. She was the only woman present who has had the distinction of having been the "foreman" of a jury. "I hope," said Miss Stanton, "that some day we all will have the pleasure of sitting on a jury and hanging some of the men who are now denying us equal rights."

Over-Estimated.

Many persons over-estimate their influence. If they could be purchased at their real worth and disposed of at their own estimate of their value, a great bargain would be obtained. The conceit of some of these characters is only equalled by their ignorance or arrogance. Their want of good breeding is so apparent as to excite surprise. Enmity is a part of their nature, and they are as heartless as they are weak and impotent. Their calumnies, however, generally pass over the heads at which they are aimed, and return to plague their inventors. They seldom learn wisdom by experience. Age only contributes to increase their inordinate vanity and add to their selfishness. The world, however, continues to move despite their efforts, and fortune will smile on the deserving. When they cease to live, they will scarcely be missed beyond their immediate family circle, and will only be remembered for their uncharitable and unforgiving disposition. We advise every one to cultivate a generous disposition—to be willing to live and let live, and above all to be manly, honorable and magnanimous, and make the world, if possible, wiser and better by having lived in it.

An Electric Railway Test.

E. M. Bentley, of the Bentley-Knight Electric Railroad, in operation at Cleveland, Ohio, says that the recent severe snowstorm has tested the electric railroad system very thoroughly. It has been feared by some that a hard snowstorm would interrupt travel. As to that he says: "Last Friday the conditions could not have been more unfavorable. The snow was deep and wet, covering track and conduit to a depth of several inches, but the first car ran out over the road as if it were a dry day in midsummer, plowing its way through the snow without the slightest difficulty, and, though snow and sleet fell all day, there was no interruption or delay. Nor did we experience any loss of current by leakage, though in our system we employ a higher electro-motive force than has been heretofore thought feasible. This is the first time an electric railway has been tested under severe conditions, and the result is very gratifying.

Crazed by Religion.

At the M. E. Church at Hartford City, Ind., on Thursday night, a score or more of persons affected by religious excitement fell into a cataleptic condition. Their restoration to consciousness was attended with varied expressions as to their experience and sight-seeing while in that condition. One young man is convinced that he can walk upon the water. The scene outrivals any mesmeric influence or religious excitement known in this neighborhood. Hundreds are in attendance at every meeting, and the same scenes are enacted, only gaining in extravagance. The populace are greatly excited. A young woman Thursday night, after coming out of a trance, said that she had been in the spirit land, had seen and conversed with loved ones, had viewed the city of the New Jerusalem, looked upon its streets, gold paved; heard the angelic choristers chanting in the melody of heaven, and was sorry that she had to return.

Exposition $250,000 in Debt.

J. W. Ryckman, intimately associated with Major Burke in the management of the New Orleans Exposition, is in New York, and says that Major Burke's health is ruined. The management is $250,000 in debt, but no part of the government's $1,000,000 was misapplied or wasted. Each State and Territory received $4,600 to aid their display, and the government buildings cost $1,000,000. Many of the complaints of exhibitors are due to the unexpected refusal of the insurance companies to allow anything in the buildings that is likely to cause a fire. The exposition will probably be a financial success yet. It has cost less than $2,000,000, while the Philadelphia exposition cost $7,000,000. They were several years preparing for the latter, while this one was gotten ready in 18 months.

B. G. Stevens vs. Maud Boynton, Edith Boynton, Mary Lee Boynton, and Bertha Boynton.

In the Circuit Court for Caroline county, in Equity:

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree for the sale of certain mortgaged premises in Caroline county, which were on the 7th day of September, A. D. 1870, mortgaged by William M. Boynton to Elizabeth Kellogg, who assigned said mortgage to Eleanor A. Boynton, and by the said Eleanor A. Boynton was assigned to Charles B. Boynton, and by the said Charles B. Boynton reassigned to the said Eleanor A. Boynton, and by her said mortgage was assigned to B G. Stevens, complainant.

The bill states that on the 7th day of September, A. D. 1870, the said William M. Boynton conveyed certain real estate which is particularly described in the bill and its accompanying exhibit unto one Elizabeth Kellogg by way of mortgage to secure the payment of the sum of five hundred dollars with interest from the 7th day of September, 1870, which mortgage was assigned as above stated, to complainant; that no part of the said sum of money or the interest thereon has been paid; that William M. Boyton died intestate, and there has been no administration on his effects, leaving Maud, Edith, Mary Lee, and Bertha Boynton, his only children and heirs at law; that the said Maud, Edith, Mary Lee, and Bertha Boynton are infants, under twenty-one years of age, and non residents, not living within the jurisdiction of the State of Maryland.

It is therefore adjudged and ordered that the complainant by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published at Denton, in Caroline county, once in each of four successive weeks before the third day of March next, give notice to the said absent defendants of the object and substance of this bill, and warn them to appear in this court in person or by guardian on or before the first day of June next, to answer the premises and show cause, if any they have why a decree ought not to pass as prayed.

DR. JOHN BULL'S

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and ACUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections.

WARREN LELAND,

whom everybody knows as the successful manager of the Largest Hotel Enterprises

of America, says that while a passenger from New York on board a ship going around Cape Horn, in the early days of emigration to California, he learned that one of the officers of the vessel had cured himself, during the voyage, of an obstinate disease by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Since then Mr. LELAND has recommended AYER'S SARSAPARILLA in many similar cases, and he has never yet heard of its failure to effect a radical cure.

Some years ago one of Mr. LELAND'S farm laborers bruised his leg. Owing to the bad state of his blood, an ugly scrofulous swelling or lump appeared on the injured limb. Horrible itching of the skin, with burning and darting pains through the lump, made life almost intolerable. The leg became enormously enlarged, and running ulcers formed, discharging great quantities of extremely offensive matter. No treatment was of any avail until the man, by Mr. LELAND'S direction, was supplied with AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which allayed the pain and irritation, healed the sores, removed the swelling, and completely restored the limb to use.

Mr. LELAND has personally used for Rheumatism, with entire success; and, after careful observation, declares that, in his belief, there is no medicine in the world equal to it for the cure of Liver Disorders, Gout, the effects of high living, Salt Rheum, Sores, Eruptions, and all the various forms of blood diseases.

We have Mr. LELAND'S permission to invite all who may desire further evidence in regard to the extraordinary curative powers of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to see him personally either at his mammoth Ocean Hotel, Long Branch, or at the popular Leland Hotel, Broadway, 27th and 28th Streets, New York.

Mr. LELAND'S extensive knowledge of the good done by this unequalled eradicator of blood poisons enables him to give inquirers much valuable information.
