E. W. EMERSON, Editor.

DENTON, MARYLAND:

THURSDAY MORNING, FEB. 26 1885

So many Kentuckians have gone to Washington that the Louisville bar-rooms are closed, says an exchange.

As a captivator of wealthy maidens the roller-skating rink man appears to have temporarily eclipsed the coachman.

If drinking Bourbon whiskey, stuffing ballot boxes and shooting negroes were a part of the New Orleans Exposition it might prove a success.

A prohibitory law is tersely characterized by a Philadelphia opponent as "an attempt to protect drunkards against themselves at the expense of the sober people."

O'Donovan Rossa's declaration that Mrs. Dudley is as sane as he is will tend to strengthen the popular belief that Mrs. Dudley is just the sort of a crank who ought to be put where she can harm no one but herself.

How to divide 100,000 offices among 500,000 applicants without making 400,000 enemies is a problem which even a man of Grover Cleveland's skill as a lawyer may be excused for handling with his gloves on.

A bill has just been introduced in the house of Representatives which proposes in effect to substitute a silver dollar of 480 grains for the present light weight dollar of 412½ grains. This appears a very sensible proposition and ought to pass. Then let the government redeem the "trade dollar" it foisted on the country and it will do another sensible and honest act.

The House committee on appropriations was in session at the Capitol on Sunday and agreed to recommend the appropriation of $300,000 for the New Orleans Exposition, this sum to be expended under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury in paying off the present creditors of the exposition in the order of priority of lien under the state laws of Louisiana.

The country editor is a man who reads the newspapers, writes on most any subject, sticks type, folds papers, makes up mails, runs errands, saws wood, works in the garden, is blamed for thousands of things he never thought of, works hard all day, helps poor people into office who forget all about it afterward, and very frequently gets cheated out of half his earnings. He puffs and does more to build up the town than anyone else, and the miser and the fogy are benefitted, yet they will not take his paper, but borrow it, and read it and cuss the old fool of an editor.

The following from an exchange is both truthful and pointed. "You may be able to get a large city weekly filled with accounts of murders, scandal cases, cock fights, etc., for the same money you get your local paper for, but those city weeklies do not advertise your county and make your property valuable. They do not help along your schools and churches; they do not publish your county news; they say nothing of you and your town and have no interest in you. A good newsy paper is as much advantage to a town or county as are good schools. Stand by your home papers, for they always stand by you, and are ever on the lookout for your interests."

A department clerk, to save his official head, acknowledged to Mr. Cleveland that he was a Republican, and begged an exception in his favor when the fellows were called up to be judged. He said that he had just purchased a house, on which he had made two payments, and, as the third was about due, he took the liberty of asking Mr. Cleveland his fate. If he were retained in the service, he would make the payment and stay at his work; if not, he would give up his house and hustle around in the wide world. The fellow's frankness so pleased Mr. Cleveland that he wrote to him a reply that if he was a faithful employee he need not have any fear for the future. This clerk's success suggests to others in the departments a way out of their dilemma, and they should lose no time in putting the plan into execution. Aside from the opportunity it gives Mr. Cleveland to show his kindness of heart, the result will be a marked boom in Washington real estate market.

Talbot Politics.

The Republicans of Talbot county will make a determined effort to carry that county for the local ticket next fall. They have already organized a strong county club, and have handsomely furnished two large rooms, which they keep open day and night. The bone of contention among the republicans will be the county clerkship. Among those mentioned for this office are C. O. Byerly, Leonidas Dodson, Solomon Thompson, H. C. Dodson and M. M. Higgins. For register of wills James H. McNeal, John Hand, Dr. J. A. Barber and F. H. Nickerson have been mentioned. Messrs. A. L. Tharp, James H. Valliant, John B. McNeal, Wm. H. Councell, Robert B. Dixon, Jas. Shaw, Chas. T. Stewart and Col. Jas. C. Mullikin are spoken of for the Legislature. Mr. J. Davis Clark will undoubtedly be the republican candidate for State Senator if he can be induced to accept the nomination, of which there is doubt.

Dr. Wm. Q. Clayton, West River, Md., says he gathered 200 bushels Irish potatoes (5½ bushels seeded) from an acre upon which he used 400 lbs. compost made with Powell's Prepared Chemicals. The yield per acre was more than any other in the neighborhood. Address Brown Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.

.....The court-plaster trade has boomed since the advent of the roller skate.

The Free Press and the Court House.

The Federalsburg Courier takes the right view and gives the best of reasons why the Court House should be built at Denton and not at Greensborough, if built at all. They meet our views so well that we give the article in full for the benefit of our readers. It says:

"The Greensborough Free Press seems to have got side tracked on the court house question and is opposed to the county having a new one unless it is built at Greensborough and urges as a reason for building it there that that place is larger and more enterprising place than Denton, besides being directly on the railroad. Federalsburg, also, is larger than Denton, and certainly as enterprising, besides being directly on a railroad, but for all that we don't see why we should get cranky about the matter and oppose a greatly needed improvement simply because we can't have the court house here. Greensborough is at one extreme of the county while Federalsburg is at the other and it would not be right to move the court house to either, even were it possible to do so, and thus put to very great inconvenience two-thirds of the people of the county who have business at the court house. The building is just where it should be, near the centre of the county and easy of access to all, and where it will remain the Free Press to the contrary notwithstanding. The Free Press's talk about the one liberal minded citizen who will be one of thirty to build a new court house at Greensborough free of cost to county, is all bosh. There are no doubt liberal-minded men in every district of the county who would be "one of thirty" to build a new court house in his district town but the trouble would be in getting the other twenty-nine. We do not agree with our Greensborough friend, either, in the matter of saddling one-half of the expense of the new building upon Denton and its environs simply because the attractiveness of that town would be increased by the erection of a new and tasty court house. There is not a man in the county who has business at the court house but would be benefitted in the comfort and ease with which he could attend to his business in a larger and better arranged building and he should be willing to bear his just share of the expense in providing such a building. If the Free Press is opposed to the contempated improvement on economical grounds let it so state, then its opinions will receive the respect and attention they would deserve. But if it can not give other than the petty reasons given in its last issue then we advise it to keep quiet.

That the present tax rate, in view of the great depression in business is a heavy burden no one will deny, and it is not likely to be much if any lighter next year, but at the same time every one who is at all familiar with the present court house knows that in case of fire (and no one can tell when one will occur) few, if any, of the many valuable records stored in the building could be saved and the destruction would entail upon the county, in the way of litigation, much greater expense than would attend the building of a suitable house with fireproof vaults in which to keep the records. If there is not to be a new court house something at least should be done to give greater security to the county records."

When Advertising is Wanted.

The Bridgeport (Conn.) Post, speaking on this subject, says: "There's nothing on earth so mysteriously funny as a newspaper advertisement. The prime, first, last and all the time, object of an advertisement is to draw custom. It is not, and never will be designed for any other human purpose. So the merchant waits till the busy season comes and his store is so full of customers he can't get his hat off, and then he rushes to the newspapers and puts in his advertisement. When the dull season gets along and there is no trade and he wants to sell goods so bad he can't pay his rent, he takes out his advertisement. That is, some of them do, but occasionally a level-headed merchant puts in a bigger one and scoops all the business, while his neighbors are making mortgages to pay the gas bill. There are times when you couldn't stop people from buying everything in the store if you placed a cannon behind the door, and that's the time the advertisement is sent out on its holy mission. It makes light work for the advertisement, for a chalk sign on the sidewalk could do all that was needed and have a half holiday six days in a week, but who wants to favor an advertisement. They are built to do hard work, and should be sent out in the dull days when a customer has to be knocked down with hard facts and kicked insensible with bankrupt reductions and dragged in with irresistible slaughter of prices before he will spend a cent. That's the aim and end of an advertisement, and if you ever open a store don't try to get them to come when they are already sticking out of the windows, but give them your advertisement right between the eyes in the dull season, and you will wax rich and own a fat horse, and perhaps be able to smoke a good cigar once or twice a year. Write this down where you'll fall over it every day. The time to draw business is when you want business, and not when you have more business than you can attend to already."

The following, clipped from an exchange, will apply to some of the would-be Denton Postmasters:

"I want to be a P. M.,
And with the P. M.'s stand:
An ink pad on the table,
A stamper in my hand.

And there before the letters
I'll work with glowing face
And thank the great unterrified
For giving me the place."

Letter from Marydel.

MARYDEL, Feb. 18, 1885.

Mr. Editor:—As we have seen nothing in your paper from this part of the county for some time perhaps a few lines might be of interest to your readers, if you will allow us a little space in your columns.

We are in the midst of one of the greatest revivals of religion this place has ever witnessed. We have had between sixty and seventy conversions, and the work still goes on. Quite a number of our young men have been converted, and it is wonderful to see how they go out in the congregation and pray and plead with their friends to seek redemption through the blood of Christ. Oh, how they can sing:

"No longer in darkness I'm walking,
For the light is now shining on me;
And now I am telling to others,
How he saved a poor sinner like me."

At the beginning of our meeting there was only one member of our choir professed religion; now they are all converted, and their singing seems divinely inspired, and the organ (which has been the subject of comment by some of our members) has taken on a different sound, and old prejudices to the instrument has died away. One of our oldest members who has been most bitter in denouncing the fiddle as he called it, has let his better judgment have fair play, and now says, "he will shout the praises of God if there was a thousand organs in the church."

Rev. Andrew Manship has been with us nearly two weeks. He is one of the most zealous men I ever saw; works almost night and day for the salvation of souls, and no doubt it was the hand of God that led him to this place; and we believe that he has been instrumental in God's hand in leading many precious souls to Christ. We pray that in the great day of final reckoning he may have many stars come up from Marydel in the crown of his rejoicing. Now, as we do not wish to burthen you with a long letter we will close. Perhaps we will give you a few more lines in the future.

A Father at Fifteen.

MARTIN BLANCHARD'S 700 DESCENDANTS COMING TO THE INAUGURATION IN A BODY.

Efforts are being made to give President Cleveland a pleasant surprise on inauguration day. The 700 descendants of Martin H. Blanchard, who died in Bloomingdale, N. J., last month, aged 94, propose to attend the inauguration in a body and ask for a place of honor in the line of march.

In 1805, when Mr. Blanchard was 14 years of age, he was married to Miss Sarah Beach, daughter of John Beach, who was a brother of Benjamin Beach Glen Iron Works. His first child, a daughter who was born when he was 15 years old, was named Elizabeth, and she married Henry Vanderhoef, who died last year at Denville, aged 84 years. When Martin was 16 years and 6 months old he became the father of twins, Abner and Aron, both now living in Morris county, aged 77 years. There were afterward born to him by his first wife 16 children, making 19 in all. His first wife died in 1859. He afterward married a woman named Youmans, of Rockaway township. By this wife he had 11 children, the youngest of whom, Martin, is now about 20 years of age. He married again. The oldest grandchild of Martin H. was a daughter of Elizabeth Vanderhoef, his first child, and was born before her grandchildren was 30 years of age. Her name is now Jacobus, and she has three grandchildren who are married and have children.

Martin H.'s children in all numbered 37, and he boasted during the war that he had enough male descendants, including those who married into his family, to make a company of able-bodied men.

The Roller-Skating Craze.

Roller-skating is becoming the national vice. The craze over it is spreading rapidly, and is seizing on every class of the community. A great army of shrewd men are coining money by providing facilities for it; while a good per centage of the public have forsworn all other forms of amusement and cleave to roller-skating only. An exchange says:

"We read of an old man in Michigan eighty years of age learning to skate, and thus getting rid of numerous diseases that had threatened to shorten his days. The teachers and pupils of a large school in Illinois adjourned in a body the other day, and went to one of the rinks of the town, where they found the trustees already on rollers, 'rinkulating' to the inspiring strains of a local brass band. The citizens of Milwaukee are said to have forgotten the taste of beer in their eagerness to learn roller-skating; and the latest details about a fresh dynamite outrage or Mr. Cleveland's Cabinet do not excite as much attention as the record of some star of the rink. An Arazona editor describes the advance of the popular craze in that peaceful Territory, and calls upon all loyal citizens to oppose the epidemic. 'We fall,' he adds, 'easily enough now, without getting on these durned tenderfoot machines.'"

Hon. Carl Schurz,

In his recent lecture at Atlanta, Ga., advocated good house keeping, and said soda biscuit and bad pie would ruin any man's stomach, and when the stomach was ruined the man is done for. He related some interesting stories, illustrating the high esteem in which a good housewife is held. One was Bismarck's wife, who "carried the keys" dangling by her side, and said that to a man of sense there is an attraction about a bunch of keys which a bunch of diamonds never possessed.

.....When six young ladies sit down to talk about a new dress pattern a small boy with a tin horn is a refuge for the weary.

Women Who Do Not Like Women.

An occasional personage in society is the young woman who does not in the least care for the companionship of other women. To her an afternoon tea or a "hen lunch" is like soup without salt. It does not at all matter that the women may be bright and clever, leaders of fashion or notable in a worldly way; after all they are but women, and all the bright talk, all the ready smiles, all the grace and charm of manner that are current coin at such gatherings are but awful wastes of raw material. If she is a person lacking in refinement she does not nearly disguise her impatience, her absolute weariness, her conviction that hours spent with them are lost. And even if she is tactful it is often apparent that her mode and manner intend gracious patronage and the gentle endurance of a boredom she cannot escape. When the men come in it is like the lighting of a theater by electricity. All the dimly-guessed-at feminine attractions flash into view. There are smiles, laughter comes readily, repartee is quick, archness most arch. To this young woman the man is as a glass of champagne. He is literally and figuratively the sun of her existence.

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula, because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier manifestations are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Intermittent, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Pulmonic Consumption, and various other forms of fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great

Regenerative Medicine

Is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER'S SARSAPARILLA as an

Absolute Cure

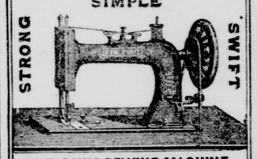

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best Blood purifying medicine, in the world.
