E. W. EMERSON, Editor.

DENTON, MARYLAND:

THURSDAY MORNING, APRIL 9, 1885

DAN MANNING is the only member of Cleveland's cabinet who isn't a lawyer. He is an editor, and that will fill the bill.

IT is said when Mr. Cleveland is considering a candidate's fitness for office he invariably asks: "How much does he weigh?" And the rule seems to be that the successful applicant must not only be a good man, but must weigh 250 pounds

IN view of the miserable failure of the New Orleans Exposition, it is strange that the managers should desire to keep it open beyond the originally announced time. To open it at all was a blunder, the best way of repairing which is to close it as soon as possible.

A WET blanket is bad enough for Democratic office-seekers to endure but it must be like pouring a bucket of ice-water down the spine to be told that President Cleveland intends to make no changes in offices where the incumbent has proved himself honest and efficient even though he may have been an active partisan, until his term of office shall have expired.

MR. CLEVELAND is President, and the worst fears of the old machine leaders are being realized. He is a reform President, which the leaders know nothing about, and which they do not want. They want the sort of one that recognizes that they are the victors, and that consequently to them belong the spoils. President Cleveland does not seem to recognize that at all.

IN France it is a difficult task to get statesmen enough to fill the places in the Cabinet. In this country the trouble is to get places enough for the aspiring statesmen. Just now we have a large surplus of statesmen on hand who could, we think, be induced to help the French people out of their dilemma by accepting office. A postal to Rosenraus, Thurman, McDonald or McClellan would, doubtless, bring an early reply.

PRESIDENT CLENELAND on Tuesday of last week reappointed Henry G. Pearson Post-master of New York. As Mr. Pearson is a Republican, it is said that the reappointment will constitute a notable exception to the course which the President may be expected to pursue. The New York post-office is the largest and most important in the country, and of interest to all people, and especially to the vast business enterprises centred in the metropolis.

THE appointees in the consular and diplomatic service are said to be nearly all personal friends of Bayard, and his action in sending his friends out of the country is criticised by practical politicians, who say that he is making a mistake if he expects to have friends here to elevate him to the Presidency in 1888. Perhaps it is because of his Presidential aspirations that he is sending them out of the country. It was his friends who killed his chances at Chicago last July. Gorman, whom he trusted most of all, betrayed him most cruelly.

JUSTICE FIELD is dragging in the dust his judicial robes as no other member of the Supreme Bench has ever done. He has openly declared that he intended to control the distribution of California's share of the Federal offices, and that no man who supported the resolutions of the Stockton Convention shall be recognized in any manner by the administration. That Convention, by a vote of 468 to 19, instructed the California delegates to the Chicago Convention against Justice Field as a candidate for the Presidential nomination. Now he proposes to fill all the Federal offices in the state with his own men

A RIDE through the country at this time of the year, while the weather is so moderate and spring-like, does not leave a tendency to make a person feel very jubilant over the approach of Spring, especially those interested in agricultural pursuits, for the trees still look dead while the numerous wheat fields are scarcely green, thus showing a backward spring. Generally at this season of the year the wheat fields look promising, while trees and other foliage have budded and ready to burst forth into bloom; a few more days, however, of this weather will bring about the desired result and the farmer will be happy.

MR. HIGGINS, the Appointment Clerk of the Treasury Department, is now definitely retained in office, and commissioned and sworn in. The opposition to him, with the adverse testimony of ex-Governor Carroll and Hon. S. Teackle Wallis, and the formal protest of the Baltimore Civil Service Association, counts for nothing in the face of the influence of Senator Gorman, the Boss of Maryland politics. Higgins is a useful man; he knows the methods by which public places are "worked" to the best advantage, and he cannot be dispensed with. The attacks upon him have failed, because Mr. Manning means to make the Treasury Department a Democratic machine.

THE Baltimore Morning Herald thinks that Delaware's new Attorney-General, John H. Paynter, is as deaf as a post, and knows about as much law as the average country squire. He gets the place because he is the son-in-law of Governor Stockley, and the appointment explains fully why the State administration was so anxious to take Mr. Gray out of the attorney-general's office and put him in the United States Senate. One or two consulships are supposed to be still owing for services in the same direction, and these will doubtless be delivered as soon as Congressman Lore's friends quiet down sufficiently to escape apoplexy when the appointments are bulletined.

A Republican Newspaper.

The Middletown New Era of last week says: "A new Republican paper for Denton, Caroline county, is talked of, the Union, the present party organ, being regarded as too much of a St. John paper."

Talk in Caroline is very cheap, especially with a few sore heads and bummers in the Republican ranks. This class of Republicans, it is said, declare that the Union does not represent Republican opinion. Outside of the spoils of office, these men know nothing, nor care less for Republican sentiment. For twenty-five years past the Union has fought for the maintenance of and the support of Republican principles, and at a time too when the party needed men of nerve to boldly proclaim their opinions to the world. In these times that "tried men's souls," those who now complain of the Union as a party organ, though their number will not exceed the half of a "baker's dozen," were to be found hid behind the bushes, and so weak was their political faith, and so doubtful was their political status that they were claimed by the opposing party. They were political non-descripts then. Now, that the battle has cleared away and the storm is past, they desire to occupy the front ranks and excommunicate all who do not come up to their ideas of party fealty. And they accuse us of being a "St. John organ." We would ask them if "rum and rowdyism constitutes true Republican principles?" If so, then we are not a "full-fledged" Republican. The newspaper field in Caroline is already more than fully cultivated, but if any man, or set of men, desire to make a fortune at the business, they have our consent to commence operations at once. As delays are dangerous, they should act promptly.

Trying to be Consistent.

Mr. Pearson is retained as postmaster of New York City. The President in arriving at this conclusion did so after mature deliberation. While the appointment was under consideration no means were left unsought by the enemies of civil service reform to aid him to a conclusion just the opposite. Mr. Pearson, however, represented a new era in the distribution of office, and behind him were the people. And to the appeals of the people, and not to the office-seekers, has the President given ear.

By appointing Mr. Pearson Mr. Cleveland has served notice upon his clamoring constituents that, so far as his authority goes, the spirit and letter of the Pendleton law will be maintained. To this end he pledged himself, and for its consumation was he elected. Mr. Pearson was and is a Republican, but he was and is, also, a civil service reformer. Since the beginning of the movement he has been one of its chief advocates, and upon the passage of the Pendleton law he was the first official of note to apply its provisions to the machinery of office. He not only gave aid to the movement, but he practically demonstrated its utility. It was because of his well-known efforts in behalf of a reformation in the public service that he received popular support, and, now that he has been retained, his reappointment is due to the same cause.

Naturally the President's course will be generally disapproved by the place-hunters, and they will find much in it to condemn as un-Democratic and ungrateful, but if Mr. Cleveland considers the source whence they emanate, as we think he will, the criticisms will have no effect. The New York post-office is a fat plum and it is natural that there should be disappointed applicants. To this disappointment will much of the harsh feeling be due, and we believe after the irritation has subsided that even the most rabid Democrat will admit that in the circumstances the President could have taken no other course.

It is very evident that Mr. Cleveland wants to be consistent, and the Democrats generally, if they are patriotic and willing to sink personal consideration for party good, will not throw obstacles in his path. It will be better for them in the end.

The War Cloud.

The cloud of war hanging over England and Russia has a darkened tinge today, and it looks as if a war between these two great powers could scarcely be averted. War at all times is to be regretted, but especially should this threatened war between these powers, which will almost shake the world, be feared. All good people who love peace more than war will hope that peace counsels will prevail, and that the soil of Russia and the Indian possessions of England may not be red with the blood of human victims.

In this conflict the people of the United States hold a neutral position. There are many no doubt who will sympathize with their mother country, but it will not be forgotten that in the dark days of our trial, when it was scarcely known whether we were to have a Republic and a flag, Russia was the best friend the United States had among the nations of Europe, and this fact will arouse the greatest sympathy for her, though she may be in the wrong. The United States has every thing to gain in a war between Russia and England. That alone would start up our workshops and manufactories, and give employment to thousands of unemployed workmen, but even though this should result, the desire for it would be mercenary and cruel, when it would only be brought about by the shedding of rivers of innocent blood.

Thos. H. Brattan, Esq., Snow Hill, Md., says in the year 1884 he used a fertilizer made with Powell's Prepared Chemicals, 200 lbs. to the acre, on corn with satisfactory results. This economical fertilizer is commended by farmers in three-fourths of the States of the Union, and can be bought for $6.00 per barrel—a sufficient quantity to make one-half ton of complete fertilizer. Brown Chemical Co., manufacturers, Baltimore, Maryland.

Nervous Prostration.

Who does not understand what is meant by nervousness? Fifty years ago only the greatly enfeebled complained of it, and there was more ridicule than sympathy enlisted in behalf of the sufferer.

Our forefathers were of necessity nearly all agriculturists; and active exercise in open air undoubtedly gave tone and vigor to their nerves, and prolonged their lives. Every year we are becoming more the children of indolence and luxury, and as a natural consequence nervousness is alarmingly on the increase. Surely the world will no longer class it with imaginary infirmities, when the formidable, high-sounding term "newrasthenia" forces upon us the conviction that it is a real malady, and must be treated as such.

Let us all grow familiar with the word, and know that the brain is the seat of the disease, and that this important organ, through sheer exhaustion, is incapable of performing its various functions that impart health to the intellectual and physical energies.

The great cerebral centres have been so drawn upon or exhausted of their vitality by abuse or constant pressure, that the vital organs act imperfectly, and various aches and pains annoy; great emotional excitement and vague and harassing fears give unmistakable evidence of some disorder, which is wrecking the mind and body to a fearful degree.

A distinguished English physician attributes nervous disorders chiefly to mental pressure, induced by our free schools and free press, which stimulate unduly all the nerve power that is available. It is not so often the result of necessary employment and studious habits, but of competitive excitement and unwholesome and indigestible mental aliment, and the wearing worries that are the usual concomitants.

We have few children now; the class that belonged to the olden-time human category has taken one long stride in progressive importance, and young ladies and gentlemen we have instead.

If we wish to remedy or check the increase of nervous maladies, we must proportion the demand of nerve force to the supply. Proper food, exercise, sleep and the much-needed relaxation will in most cases produce happy effects. Tonics are seldom employed when digestion is not impaired; and friction, with a sprinkling of cold water, has been advised. A temporary change of scene and vocation has also been highly recommended by experienced physicians, especially when home has become the scene of depressing surroundings.

The most direful ills have resulted from this world-styled imagined evil, which has helped to fill our alms-houses and lunatic asylums with its miserable victims. We should deal very tenderly with such; and if we can give them nothing more, let us not withhold our commiseration under suffering, whose fatal results none can deny.

A Migratory Country Wedding.

BEING TOO BASHFUL TO MARRY IN CHURCH THE PARTY TAKE TO THE WOODS.

Mr. Goldsborough Wimber and Miss Indiana Bailey were neighbors in a rural corner of Accomac county, Va. Now they reside under the same roof as man and wife. After months of courtship he brought into use sufficient courage to pop the question, which was answered in the affirmative, and last Sunday was the day appointed for the marriage. They drove to a Methodist Episcopal church at Onancock in the afternoon, and made arrangements with the pastor, Rev. W. C. Vaden, to tie the nuptial knot after the usual services. The news of the wedding had spread through the neighborhood, and the little roadside church was filled with spectators eager to witness the ceremony. When the time came for the couple to approach the altar their hearts failed them, and they desired the minister to accompany them to some spot where they would not be subjected to the embarrassing gaze of several hundred people. The preacher complied with the strange request, and the trio in two separate carriages drove along a quiet road in search of a secluded spot. Not to be foiled, the greater part of the congregation followed the party. Mr. Wimber, during the ride, braced himself for the ordeal. The grove surrounding Bailey's school-house was chosen as the place for the marriage. The parties alighted, arranged themselves in their proper positions and the ceremony proceeded. The carriages of the pursuing parties soon surrounded the young couple. During the ceremony Mr. Wimber became so engrossed studying the faces which were turned toward him that he forgot the responses and had to be reminded of the answers he should make.

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great

Regenerative Medicine

Is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER'S SARSAPARILLA as an Absolute Cure

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best blood purifying medicine, in the world.

Smith's Tonic Syrup

FEVER and ACUE

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections.
