American Union

THURSDAY, May 14, 1885.

☞The Orphan's Court for Caroline county, will meet Tuesday, May 26th.

County and Peninsula.

……Warm days and cool nights.

……Remember we print berry checks at very low rates.

……Reports all along the line still assure the safety of the peach crop.

……The Dover Delawarean has just started upon its twenty-seventh year.

……See advertisement of C. C. Seymour, Merchant Tailor, in another column.

……James A. Lane has been appointed postmaster at Templeville, vice E. Cooper, resigned.

……Delicious bread, biscuits and cakes can be made by using Drew's Yeast Powder. [A16-4w.

……Blacksmithing by Jos. F. Roop, Andersontown, Md., as will be seen by referring to our advertising column.

……Edward W. Liden has been appointed postmaster at Smithville, in this county, vice Wm. Chaffinch, removed.

……Trying to do business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark. You may know what you are doing, but no one else does.

……Jas. F. Melvin, of the Cambridge Chronicle paid us a flying visit on Monday last. He says that the printing business is booming at that place.

……The first quarterly conference for Denton Circuit will be held at the Masonic Hall in this place on Saturday 30th of May, commencing at 3 o'clock P. M.

……Mr. Levin W. Poole, near Andersontown, requests us to announce to the public that his grist mill is now running on full time three days in the week—Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

……The threatened war between New Jersey and Delaware has been averted. New Jersey will hereafter fish only on her own side of the pond. Little Delaware is a power when she humps herself.

……No other preparation so concentrates and combines blood-purifying, vitalizing, enriching and invigorating qualities as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Quality should be considered when making comparisons.

……The bar rooms on the steamers Ida and Enoch Pratt, of the Maryland Steamboat company, have not been taken off, as stated by some of our exchanges, but are closed on both steamers while lying at their wharves.

……An exchange says: To plant one or two grains of flax-seed in each hill of potatoes is said to be a certain remedy for potato bugs. The bugs will shun it every time. This is certainly a cheap and easy remedy.

……In the Centreville court last week Charles Goldsborough was presented for assault with intent to kill Dr. J. H. Weedon with an axehelve, was found guilty and fined $10 and costs, amounting to $250 and sentenced to ten days in jail.

……Col. Wm. R. Hughlett died at his residence, Chancellor's Point, in Talbot county, on Thursday morning last, in the 69th year of his age. Col. Hughlett had been in feeble health for the last two years and his death was not a surprise to his friends.

……The Greensborough Cornet Band will soon order a new band wagon. This band is deserving of a liberal patronage from the citizens of this county, as they have pulled together well, which is something unusual for a country band in so small a town.

……The blossoms of almost every variety of fruit grown in this section seem to be numerous this year. Peach trees are full, pear trees are white, and apple trees laden with blossoms. Cherry, plum and apricot trees are also full of promise, while strawberries are blooming out.

……The Greensborough Free Press says: "A Denton merchant sells kid gloves at twenty-five cents a pair. Whether they are gloves for "kids," or are gloves made of kid our informant sayeth not." Perhaps the brother is not aware that goods are sold cheap in this town.

……Master Clarence Emerson is the owner of a cat with young kittens. Recently he came in possession of a young squirrel which he placed with the cat and her young ones. The kittens have died and the squirrel is carressed and nursed by the cat as if it were one of her own progeny.

……Repairs on the M. E. Church was commenced on Monday last. The rear wall is being taken down and will soon be completed, after which the brick masons will commence work. The job is expected to be completed in two or three weeks and then the congregation will return to their former place of worship.

……The strawberry vines are in full bloom, but we can hardly look for ripe berries in quantity before the middle of June. The first pickings are usually in market about the 25th of May, but the backward spring will make them about three weeks later than usual. The outlook for a large crop is very promising.

……Many ladies admire gray hair—on some other person. But few care to try its effect on their own charms. Nor need they, since Ayer's Hair Vigor prevents it from turning gray, and restores gray hair to its original color. It cleanses the scalp, prevents the formation of dandruff, and wonderfully stimulates the growth of the hair.

……Mr. Al. Smith, formerly of Centreville, Md., has purchased the carriage business of Mr. Geo. Hopkins, and would be pleased to have a call any one wanting work done in his line. He has a good blacksmith shop attached to his carriage shop, and is prepared to do work at all times and on the most reasonable terms. He also mends harness at short notice. Give him a call.

……The Milford News believes the Peninsula can be made to compete with Long Island as a market garden to New York city and Brooklyn. The News says: "The difference in favor of Long Island is the one of freight charges; but there are the points in favor of our Peninsula: We can grow early vegetables sooner and thus get the cream of prices; our land is so much cheaper as to cost almost nothing in comparison; and labor is cheaper here. Besides these advan…s we have another and greater—that …ing able to grow anything in our …

……On Wednesday next the fishermen on the Choptank will be compelled to stop fishing as the law compells them to cease on the 20th of May.

……A number of subscription bills have been sent out this week, and more will be sent next, and as we have incurred considerable expense in enlarging, we trust our subscribers will remit at once, which will not only assist us, but will be a saving of 50 cents to them, as the paper is $1 a year in advance, and if not paid within 30 days from date of subscription 50 cents is added, and we shall hereafter enforce these terms.

……Mrs. Wm. M. Kirkman, residing about two miles from this place, made a narrow escape from a pistol ball one day last week. Mr. Kirkman, our informant says, went out in the field to his work and left a loaded pistol lying in the floor, when one of the children picked it up and fired it, the ball passing within a few inches of the mother's head, close enough to distinctly hear the sound of the ball. This should be a warning not only to Mr. K., but to all other parents, in leaving loaded weapons within reach of children.

Champion Wheat.

The tallest wheat of the season was received at this office on Tuesday last, measuring 36½ inches in length. This was grown by W. J. Dukes, at Linchester, in the lower part of this county, he having used 225 lbs. of F. P. Covey's Raw Bone Phosphate to the acre. If any one in the county can beat this we would be glad to hear from them.

The Wheat Prospect.

The warm growing weather for the past week has enhanced the prospects of a wheat crop in the county. It is noticeable wherever pains were taken and the crop put in carefully, the wheat is looking about as well as at this time last year. The prospects of a war between Russia and England are making a boom in the wheat market, and farmers are likely to get a remunerative price for their wheat crop. Good farming will tell as well in the wheat crop as in any other. Where the wheat has not been killed out by the water lying on it and freezing and thawing, the last two weeks have brought it out wonderfully. The crop is only reported by the Agricultural Department as only 60 per cent. for this year.

Not Satisfied.

It seems that the School Commissioners have created considerable dissatisfaction in some of their appointments of the District School Trustees in the lower part of the county, and some of the citizens are becoming very much excited over the matter. A gentleman from that neighborhood informed us on Monday last that they had appointed one man in Poplar Neck District who was so deaf that he could not hear thunder, and when a cloud was rising his wife had to hunt him up. In Hunting Creek Neck they have appointed, says this gentleman, an E. Hubbard, and the question is frequently asked is it Wm. E. Hubbard? why he does not live in the district; he lives at Linchester; or is it Ennalls J. Hubbard, a colored man who lives within three hundred yards of the school house?

Chickens 65 Cents a Pound.

Spring chickens were recently sold in New York City for sixty-five cents per pound. Think of that, ye patient and hard-working farmers who are raising wheat and corn for hard pan prices. Get an incubator or two and set to work supplying the want for spring chickens. You never hear of an over-production of early spring chickens, and no matter how hard the times, city folks will continue to look spring chickens in the face, even at sixty-five cents a pound. Peninsular farmers should turn their attention to supplying the cities of the north with fruit, vegetables and spring chickens, and make of this favored land one vast orchard, garden and poultry yard. The fruit business has been satisfactorily tried, but the spring chicken industry is yet in its infancy here. There is probably more profit in twenty acres of land and an incubator than there is in five hundred acres of wheat at the present price.

To my Patrons.

CORRESPONDENTS WANTED.

As we have incurred considerable expense in enlarging the UNION we hope our subscribers who are in arrears will come forward and pay up promptly, as it takes money to run a printing office as well as any other business, and we will in the future endeavor to give our many readers a better paper, both in quality and quantity of reading matter. This paper was of good size before the change was made for a country newspaper, and we gave more reading matter than any other in the county, and but few on the shore exceeded us, but not feeling satisfied and desiring to keep fully up with this progressive age, we have added four columns more in width and lengthened them, which is equal to over seven more than our former size. By this improvement it enables us to give our readers twenty-one columns of fresh reading matter, and we shall endeavor to make good selections of our foreign news, and at the same time we will condense it as much as possible, and shall strive to collect all the latest local news occurring at different points in the county. The terms of the UNION will remain as heretofore, $1.00 a year, but must positively be paid in advance. Surely no reasonable person will object to this who wants a newspaper within their household.

We would take it as a great favor to have a correspondent in every town in the county, for which we will cheerfully send the UNION regularly to any person who will furnish us with the news in their neighborhood if it is only a dozen lines a week. We are repeatedly asked the question, "Why we do not give more county news?" That question can be very easily answered. In the first place there is not enough transpiring to fill a newspaper of this size that would be of any interest to our readers, and in the next place how are we to get the news if some one does not take interest enough in their county paper to send in the news. The only way we have of getting it at all is by running people down when they come to town on public days. We hope our friends in the future will take enough interest in us to send in everything of importance occurring in their vicinity, which will enable us to give our readers a good paper. Don't hesitate because you think you are unable to get it up in good style, but send us the particulars and we will put it in shape.

Patient Job.

Old Job was a … man,
And bore a…
He lost his hor… span,
But it failed to make him weep.

And then the hand of sickness came,
Which smote him right and left;
But patient Job, they say was game,
Though heavily bereft.

Monstrous boils came by the score,
And made his life a hell.
He never grunted once, but bore
His great misfortunes well.

But if old Job were now below,
And herded with the "outs,"
I'll bet his earnest howl would go
Up with the other shouts.

Vote Buying.

Some very readable articles upon the subject of Bribery at our Elections have recently appeared in the Journal, that have attracted more public notice than the average newspaper article. "Reflex" has treated the subject in a scholarly manner, and his rhetoric and polished periods are pleasant and entertaining, but there appears to me to be a lack of practical suggestion in his article, and on that account they will fail to accomplish the purpose for which they have been penned. "X," while somewhat less pleasing in style, has done much better in his treatment of the subject. He has pointed out a way to rid our county of this political career. But will the suggestions of "X." or any other means of making vote selling odious be adopted, by which this stigma upon the fair fame of our county can be removed?

September is but a few months in the future, and then one of the political parties will hold a convention (?) in Denton—an Auction would be nearer the truth—and the nomination for Clerk of the county will be sold to the highest bidder. The nomination will then be made unanimous amid great enthusiasm. Nominations of less pecuniary importance will then be sold, and the sale—beg pardon—convention will adjourn, sine die, with cheers, some threats and gestures indicative of robust, tho' suppressed, profanity. The next week the other party's convention will meet. Some one will suggest that it is about time that some steps were taken looking towards reform in the matter of bribery, and perhaps will propose to make a ticket, composed of the very best men in the party who will pledge themselves not to tempt voters with offers of money for their suffrages. This proposition will have lots of advocates, who will say, "that it is just what we ought to do—sometime, but this year, the election is much too important to lose, and we must meet the enemy with weapons similar to his own." So another auction will follow with about the same concomitants.

The election is held, and one side or the other buys the offices, and when it is all over, how sorry everybody is that there is so much corruption in this, otherwise, goodly land.

Are we safe, with men filling the offices in our county and state, who have knowingly and wantonly broken the law to get these offices? Shall such men make and execute the laws?

Have we not a majority of voters in the county who will not sell their votes? Why not that majority make a ticket of its own and elect it? NORWOOD.

A Midnight Oration.

MR. EDITOR:—As the political pot is beginning to boil, and there are so many ravenous souls who want to fill the various little vacant positions which will be to let to the highest bidders for cash the coming fall, and I having had the pleasure of listening to a half-witted, self-conceited young blood, who had imbibed a little too freely, and fearing the people would not know he was aspiring, and feeling that he must practice a little before coming out in public, mounted a box in the wee hours of morning in the presence of three or four of his associates who seemed to enjoy the little speech hugely. Thinking it would prove interesting to some of your readers I give it as delivered as near as I can remember, but will refrain from using his name:

FELLOW CITIZENS:—I rise, but there's no use of telling you that; you know that I am up, as well as I do. I am a modest man—very—but I have never lost a picayune by it in my life; because a scarce commodity among candidates, I thought I would mention it, for fear, if I didn't, you never would hear of it.

Candidates are generally considered as nuisances, but they are not; they are the politest men in the world, shake you by hand, ask how's your family, what's the prospect for crops, &c.; and I am the politest man there is in the State. Davy Crockett says, the politest man he ever saw, when he asked a man to drink, turned his back, so that he might drink as much as he pleased. I beat that out of all hollow; I give a man a chance to drink twice if he wishes, for I not only turn around, but shut my eyes. I am not only the politest man, but the best electioneerer; you ought to see me shaking hands with the variations, the pump-handle and pendulum, the cross-cut and wiggle-waggle. [Great applause.] I understand the science perfectly, and if any of my country candidates wish instructions, they will do well to call on me.

Fellow citizens, I was born—if I hadn't been I would not have been here to-night asking for a position, but I am going to tell you where; 'twas not in Marshy Hope nor Sockum, but somewhere in that direction where the nigger was born and reared on corn bread which was the staff of the land. I started in the world as poor as a church mouse, yet I came honestly by my poverty, for I inherited it, and if I did start poor, I am catching up, and if I can catch on to the little position for which I aspire, I will be able to wear out good clothes setting on goods boxes in Denton, and will remind you fellows of the old pump-handle whenever I happen to meet you.

'Tis not for honor I wish this position, for I have been offered an office before, which I respectfully declined. This office is worth some $6,000 a year, and no end to the honor there is in it, and that's what I am in for like a thousand of brick. To show my goodness of heart, I'll make this offer to my competitor. I am sure of being elected, for my friends have told me I need not fear, and they are as numerous as mosquitoes along the marshes of the Delaware; therefore I am willing to divide equally with him, and make these two offers. I'll take the salary, and he may have the honor; or he may have the honor, and I'll take the salary. In the way of honors, I have received enough to satisfy me for life. I went out to fight the Indians, eat pork and beans, slept on a rail in the rain and mud, and swallowed everything except live Redskins. When I was ordered to "go," I went; "charge," I charged; and "break for the chapparal," you had better believe I beat a quarter nag in doing my duty. [Great applause among four.]

I am for a division of labor. Mr. S—— says he has to work all the time with his nose down upon the public grindstone. Poor fellow! the public ought not to insist on having the handle of his mug ground clean off. I have a large, full grown fellow, and tough as sole leather, and will stand a great deal of pulling or grinding just at this time. I rush to the post of duty. I offer it up as a sacrifice. Take it. Clap it on the grindstone. Grind away—grind till I holler enuff, and that'll be when I hear that I've "been left." [Great applause.]

Time's most out. Well I like to forgot to tell you my name. It might be Peter, but it's not. It's a handsome name, and would look well under "Order of Publications," "Ratifications," etc., in the newspapers; and my parents were poor people, but went through it all and left me in my present condition, but the worst of it was they lived where the quality appropriated all the nice names; therefore, they had to take what was left and divide around amongst us—but it's as handsome as I am.

I am sure to be elected, if I've got cash enough; so, one and all, great and small, short and tall, when you come down to Denton, after the election, I shall not be there much till then, stop at my office—the latch string will always hang out—ketch on to it—enter without knocking—take off your things, and make yourselves at home.

AYER'S Hair Vigor

restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural, rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

It checks falling of the hair, and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies' Hair Dressing, the VIGOR is unequalled; it contains neither oil nor dye, renders the hair soft, glossy, and silken in appearance, and imparts a delicate, agreeable, and lasting perfume.

MR. C. P. BRICHER writes from Kirby, O., July 3, 1882: "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair, and started a new growth. I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously, and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should have been entirely bald."

J. W. BOWEN, proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Enquirer, says: "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The VIGOR is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction."

MR. ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated "Fairbairn Family" of Scottish Vocalists, writes from Boston, Mass., Feb. 6, 1880: "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which fleeting time procureth, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators, actors, and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public."

MRS. O. A. PRESCOTT, writing from 18 Elm St., Charlestown, Mass., April 14, 1882, says: "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off. It thinned very rapidly, and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced, and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair. It has continued to grow, and is now as good as before it fell. I regularly used but one bottle of the VIGOR, but now use it occasionally as a dressing."

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.
