·····Mr. N. Schaumloeffel, of Baltimore city, has rented the room adjoining George & Redden's drug store in the town hall in this place and will open a merchant tailoring business on a large scale. He will also put in a large stock of ready-made clothing, which he says he will sell at bottom prices. He will not commence business here until the first of September, but will move his family to this place on Saturday next.

·····The people of Greensborough are offering great inducements we understand to a Baltimore gentleman who wishes to locate in some country town for the purpose of opening a general ready-made clothing and merchant tailoring establishment. They tell him they will soon be blessed with another and better railroad; that the court-house will soon be removed to that place; that they will soon have a daily line of steamers, and Greensborough will soon become a city. My gracious! What will become of poor old Denton?

·····About 6:30 P. M. Sunday, Sheriff Melvin, having occasion to go into the basement of the jail, where the heating apparatus is placed noticed that the flue leading to the central corridor of the jail had been knocked away and the iron register above loosened from its fastenings. He at once saw that an escape had been planned by the prisoners. By descending through the opening into the basement an escape could easily have been effected through the frail door leading to the outer air. The sheriff immediately went above and locked the criminals in their cells for the night.

·····According to the Detroit Free Press a Michigan town "has a fire department which consists of a chief, a wooden pale and a ladder twenty-two feet long. Denton has no chief, but has wooden pales, that is in case of fire when our merchants condescend to loan them out, which they very kindly do, especially if the fire is anywhere near them. We also have town ladders, but the oldest inhabitants could not find them; probably they are from three to five miles in the country. At any rate if a fire should break out we suppose they would be found in a week or ten days thereafter.

·····Denton has never been inclined to enthuse on the 4th since the fire of 1865. After that fire much better buildings were erected on the grounds, and some people are of the opinion that if we had two or three more fires similar to the one above stated, we have a much better town. People who hold this opinon do not own town property, have nothing at stake, and do not take into consideration what it has cost some of our townsmen to rebuild this property. At the same time we might not meet with another accident like '65 in a century. We are not afflicted with the drunkenness in these enlightened days as we were in days gone by.

Corner-Stone Laying.

The corner-stone of the new Hawkins' Chapel M. E. Church at Hartley, was laid on Sunday last. Rev. T. O. Ayres preached on Saturday, and Rev. W. R. McFarland on Sunday. The congregations were large and collections good. The church is on the model of one of the church extension plans. The mechanical work of laying the corner-stone was done by Mr. —— Mowbray, and was his last job of the kind, as he went from Hartley to Marydel and preached his first sermon as a Methodist minister. He will go to Onancock to assist Rev. C. A. Grice as a supply on the Accomac and Northampton work.

Close Dealing.

Money is exceedingly scarce in this community, but we think we are not quite as badly afflicted as some of the people of our neighboring towns. The last Greensborough Free Press has this to say of an old colored woman who was a little short of cash: "An old colored woman entered a store in one of our near towns and, approaching the calico dispenser said: "I want two eggs' wuff of snuff." She got it. But a closer trade is reported from the same town. A colored woman entered a store and asked for "an egg's wuff of snuff." The clerk handed her the package saying, "where is your egg?" "I ain't got no egg yit, but I seed the old speckled hen on the nest, so I thought I'd slide over and git the snuff. Mos' sure I'll have an egg by the time I git to hum."

Highly Colored.

Illustrated advertisements of reaping machines give us gorgeous pictures of rural life. A span of thoroughbreds, wearing richly plated carriage-harness, step jauntily along through the golden grain pulling a reaper, which runs so easily that the traces are scarcely straightened. The lines are held by a handsome young man, neatly dressed, beard and hair carefully arranged, loose necktie about a turn-over collar, and wearing a broad-brimmed straw hat with a band of ribbon encircling it, the ends of which flutter gracefully in the pleasant breeze. An attractive farm residence, surrounded by trees and shrubbery, vines clambering about the windows, and specimens of the red, red rose as big as a soup-plate scattered promiscuously about, are seen near by, and to one side spacious barns, pastures in which blooded horses, cattle and sheep cavort about, and other accessories combined to form a scene of rare loveliness and beauty. Just visit any of the harvest fields now, and see whether you recognize the picture.

The Press Excursion.

The executive committee of the Peninsular Press Association, composed of the newspaper men of Delaware and the Eastern Shore counties of Maryland and Virginia, has decided upon the time and route of the annual excursion, and the Secretary will in a day or two issue a circular of details to the members. Briefly stated, the route is down the Peninsula to Cape Charles City, across the bay to Old Point Comfort, a day excursion to Norfolk and other points of interest adjacent to Old Point, up the bay to Baltimore by the Bay Line of steamers, to Washington by the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad, a day or two in the Capital and home by rail. The party will set out on Saturday, July 25th, by the Old Point Express, which leaves Wilmington at 9:40 A. M., and is due at Old Point at 5:15 P. M. The head-quarters of the association will be at Hygeia Hotel, where Harrison Phœbus will no doubt make things exceedingly pleasant for the boys. Sunday and Monday will be spent at and about Old Point, and on Monday evening the party will leave by the Bay Line for Baltimore, arriving there on Tuesday morning and going direct to Washington. Those who desire may remain in Washington until Thursday evening, July 30th. Others whose duties require them to be at home earlier in the week may return on Wednesday.

The Delaware Peach Crop.

THE PEACH GROWERS EXPECT A SMALL CROP, BUT SUPERB IN QUALITY.

The Wilmington (Del.) correspondent of the New York Tribune furnishes the following information about the coming peach crop.

The Delaware peach growers do not expect to handle much of that choice fruit this year, but they are looking forward to large profits on small sales. During the past fortnight, many of the most largely interested farmers were seen by the Tribune's correspondent in the towns of Smyrna and Dover. With a noticeable unanimity, they expressed this expectation, and one of them explained their anticipations in about this language: "Our peaches this year are going to be the very finest we have grown for many seasons—perhaps for eight. The reason is easily understood. For the past three years the peach crops have been wonderfully heavy. The trees have borne burdens of fruit. Last spring a year ago we naturally supposed that the crop would be light, but the blossoms came out just after a heavy frost, and were nursed by warm weather and just enough moisture. If the weather had been made especially for peaches, it could not have suited us better. The heavy blossoming was natural, and just as we anticipated. That is the way the trees always do when they are going to take a rest. They blossom out in great abundance, and then the first frost withers the light blossoms, and they fall to the ground like snow.

"That is what we expected last season. According to nature a peach tree bears heavily one year and lightly the next, but we have studied and practiced the art of nursing so thoroughly that we generally make them bear well for two consecutive years. Last year was their resting time, but the conditions of weather were so extraordinarily favorable that the weakest blossoms were nursed into buds. During the flowering period we did not have a single frost, and the result was a third consecutive heavy crop of peaches.

"This season, of course, we could not expect any such good luck. Nor did we have it. The blossoms came and the frost came, and the trees showed their need of rest. They dropped three-fourths of their flowers. But still we were singularly favored by the weather. A slow spring, with occasional warm days, plenty of moisture and no very rude weather, means good peaches. We have had just that, so the fruit that matures, though it will be limited in quantity, will be very fine. The peaches will be large, tender, luscious and juicy." More than a dozen of the principal growers of Kent county were seen, and they all agreed in these particulars.

"When will your first shipments be made?" was asked of the farmer whose language has just been given.

"Before the end of June. It is generally supposed that the peach known as Hale's Early is the first Delaware peach in the market. This is not quite correct. It is the first good peach, and the first to mature in any considerable quantity. But there are some earlier peaches, and these will be in New York before July. The fruit will be costly this year, and will not amount to more than enough to supply the city markets. Our great shipments will be to Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. When these depots have been supplied, we shall have done all the crop will warrant. Its shortness will be felt especially by the great canning establishments throughout the state."

Bribery at Crisfield.

MR. EDITOR:—We saw in your last issue a clipping from the Crisfield Leader on bribery at elections. The article called to mind what a man from Crisfield told us a few days ago. He said that a man in Crisfield went to the voting place and held his ticket open and offered to sell any name on it for the sum of one dollar; and that he did so sell the candidate, saying: "Any name here will be marked off and any name the purchaser desires to put on will be put on, for one dollar."

The gentleman who told us the above said that he was an eye witness to the transaction and that after the man had sold every name he could for a dollar a head he then voted the ticket, calling the attention of the by-standers to notice the fact that he was voting the ticket according to contract. During the session of the conference at Cambridge a Crisfield man was at one of the hotels denouncing the action of the conference for having condemned vote-selling and vote-buying—or bribery at elections; and that during the conversation the Crisfield man declared that it was no use to try to break it up, saying, "The way they do it is to send out a wagon and driver who collects a load and drives it to the voting place, where he is met by the "Boss" who asks him what he will take for his load. The bargain is made and the money paid to the driver who votes the men in the wagon and then divides the money. Well may we poor sinners despair of reform while church members will buy and sell votes. ANTI-BRIBERY.

Our Masonic Hall.

MR. EDITOR:—Our Masonic Hall building reminds us of the man in the Bible who began to build and could not finish. It is a pity that the beautiful building should be left in an unfinished condition. So many men and institutions are afflicted with a disease that for the want of a better name we will call it half and half—i. e.—half done and half undone. It looks now as if the hall builders had contracted the disease. If they are short of funds they should make a raise and finish the building. It needs painting. The hall stage should be furnished with foot-lights and a curtain. The exhibition on Thursday evening last was marred by the improvised curtains failure to work. It would not cost much to complete the hall, and if completed it would be an ornament to the town—a blessing to the community, and a credit to the gentlemen who built it; it is almost but not quite either. We see no reason why the ground back of the hall should be so neglected. What a handsome little park it would make. OBSERVER.

The Soda Water Clerk.

How doth the busy druggist's clerk
Improve each shining hour
By drawing soda water from
The fount in steady shower!

How busily he plies his hand
In bringing soda forth,
And charges five cents for a glass
That is three-quarters froth.

Does he forget that God is nigh,
And sees his every wrong—
That late on every Saturday night,
His soda becomes exceedingly strong.

In Trouble.

Some years ago in this county a colored woman married a man, by whom she had several children. They afterwards quarreled and separated, and the woman married again and was prosecuted for bigamy. She was acquitted because the prosecution could not furnish the proof of the first marriage. The woman has since, up to recently, continued to live with the second husband, and has by him several children. She has lately professed religion, and now her conscience tells her she is doing wrong in living with the second husband, and wants to go back to the first, who is willing to accept her, children and all; but the second husband is not willing to part with her. Which husband ought she to live with now, is the puzzling question. She cannot be prosecuted for bigamy, because she can not be tried twice for the same offense; and the court having declared the second mrrriage legal, would she be living in adultery should she go back to the first husband, or are her present relations with her second husband adulterous? If she returnes to husband No. 1, must she be remarried to him, and will not the remarriage make her a bigamist, and subject her to another prosecution? She would like to have some one versed in law and morals tell her what is right for her to do. The lawyers tell her one thing and the preachers advise differently. If she could find some one who is both a lawyer and a preacher, he might pilot her out of her trouble. Whichever way she goes she must carry her two broods of children with her, and possibly the other husband following at a distance, and claiming a partnership in the concern. It is probable that the case will be brought into court for the learned judges to adjudicate the rights of the husbands and the religious duty of the wife. —Easton Star.

Dots for the Union.

Dear readers of the Union, here is a dot that has bothered me considerably. Why is it that preachers and people call the first five books of the Bible the book of Moses? If they sprung from the brain of the man of what binding effect are they on the mind of any human being? If they are more why give them the common name? Why not exalt them to the dignity which belongs to them? Why put so much truth on the same level with the Pauline epistles? Now don't you goody-good ones cry infidelity, atheism and all that kind of things? But study the question for yourselves and see if the common phrase, "The Book of Moses" does not lower the value and sanctity of the work; you may in connection with the phrase tack on the word inspiration; that may mean much or it may mean little. Just as you fix your mind for the purpose of dove-tailing action, business mode of life, and future hopes into the word and make it mean just what one wishes it to mean.

The fact is if we study the so-called book with care, enlightened mankind finds too much practical teaching in Exodus, Levinthians and Deuteronomy. Too much that we would be good christians; neglect too much of a practical life; too much that might place us on a level with those whom we deem beneath our notice as association. In fact there is too much in these books to exactly fit our very christian and enlightened society. The law-giver from whose mind these books came knew exactly what He was about, and in spite of the ambiguous wording, cunningly devised reading the truth crops out in every line of the text. Preachers, priest, and people may call them the "Book of Moses," and in using the name the glib-tongued pulpit orator may or may not mean that the original came direct from the Divine mind, not as taught under the cloud of inspiration, but direct, positive, and not to be set aside by giving false names. In no other medicinal preparation have the results of the most intelligent study and scientific inquiry been steadily and progressively utilized as in Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases.

No injurious effects can follow the use of Ayer's Ague Cure in the treatment of malarial diseases. It contains, besides a specific and unfailing antidote for miasmatic poison, other remedial agents which unite to expel the poisonous humors, purify the system, and leave it in a healthy and re-invigorated condition.

HAIR RENEWER
was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have so fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfillment of its promises.
The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.
The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

DR. JOHN BULL'S
Smith's Tonic Syrup
FOR THE CURE OF FEVER and AGUE
Or CHILLS and FEVER,
AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.
The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.
BULL'S SARSAPARILLA is the old and reliable remedy for impurities of the blood and Scrofulous affections.
