American Union

E. W. EMERSON, Editor.

DENTON, MARYLAND.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 16, 1885

WESTERN editors object to the Maryland whipping-post because it does not punish wives who get the better of their husbands.

REPORTS from General Grant give the information that he is "doing well," which means in a comparative sense, for the disease is making slow but sure headway, his strength growing less, and the end surely nearing.

WORKERS in astronomical fields in these days reap not fame alone, as did the ancients. The discoverer of the new comet receives a prize of two hundred dollars cash. Gleaning among the stargazers pays better than wheat farming this year.

THE Pennsylvania Railroad Company has purchased the Junction and Breakwater road and the transfer was made last week. It is said that the Pennsylvania Company will put the road in first-class condition and extend the same from Milford to Dover.

A FRENCHMAN has patented a process of making butter by passing a current of electricity through milk, thus rendering the operation of churning unnecessary. A similar method is to be used for cheese making, and to restore ancient butter to its original sweetness of flavor.

A STRIKE of the canmakers is about as certain to occur when the fruits begin to ripen as when the oyster season opens. It is a strange year, indeed, when this industry gets through the year without two strikes, while no one in the business seems to be surprised if the number sometimes rises to half a dozen.

AMERICA has invented the steamboat, built the greatest railroads, manufactured the boss wheat threshers and hay mowers, and contrived the most ingenious devices in the world; but with all of her inventive talent and artistic skill she has yet to invent a fan that will get ahead of the old palm leaf for general convenience and solid comfort.

JUST NOW when there are some indications of business getting better, the report comes that Morrison, the tariff tinkerer is preparing a bill to decrease the duties on more articles imported from other countries. What a blessing it would be if somebody would gag Morrison's mouth that the thousands of poor men now out of employment might get to work again.

COL. QUAY, the Republican candidate for treasurer of Pennsylvania—a greater office in many respects than the governorship itself—is the son of a Presbyterian minister. President Cleveland is the son of a Presbyterian minister. There are lots of sons of Presbyterian ministers and of ministers of other denominations who hold important trusts. The adage-maker who said that preachers' sons never amount to much had better revise his sayings.

THE strangest story of the season comes from Portland, Ore., and relates the suicide of a young man who took that means of escaping from his father-in-law and mother-in-law, who insisted that he should marry his deceased wife's sister. This seems to be the worst case of mother-in-law on record, and most people will believe that the unfortunate youth chose wisely in preferring death to another season of domestic servitude. He acted wisely; a man who has to live under the petticoat government of some mothers-in-law had better end his existence.

A NEW method of transmitting sound has been invented by a Texas genius, who believes that with a big enough horseshoe magnet, no batteries being necessary, he can transmit the voice around the world. The armature is a disk of steel against which the voice is thrown, and conveyed through the magnet to the wire. The receiver is similar with a smaller magnet. The system has been tested on 38 miles of Western Union wire, from which all batteries were cut off, and was found satisfactory. The saving of batteries alone is reckoned at about $100,000 a year, and the clicking sound of telegraphic instruments will be done away with. A patent has been granted to the inventor.

The Mowbray Case.

The Wilmington Republican has this to say of the Mowbray case: "Rev. J. S. Mowbray has at last, whether wisely or unwisely remains to be seen, published his defense of himself, and answered the charges brought against him by his ministerial brethren of the Wilmington Conference of the M. E. church. His defense being merely apologetic is not a strong one, but discloses a wonderful amount of weakness in a moral sense for one who is made a leader and set up as a light to the people. In the light of his own confessions he should not complain of the actions of his conference. To use his own similitude he is evidently one of the Simon Peters of the church, whose time for weeping bitterly has not yet come. It is devoutly hoped that this unfortunate controversy for the sake of religion and morals will now end. The church has done nothing more than its duty in the case, and when compared with the statement of Rev. Mr. Mowbray himself it has been lenient, preferring to err on the side of mercy rather than be unjust. As Peter after his fall became the firm and consistent leader of the apostles, Mr. Mowbray having as we suppose made a clean breast of everything may yet become the leading minister of the Wilmington Conference that his brilliant talents entitle him to be. To him, however, the past should be alluded to only to make the future more of a success in the christian ministry."

Office Hunters.

The New York Herald of Saturday in its leading editorial says: "Recent events in national and local politics prove that the man who makes politics a trade, and who wants a place so greedily that he is willing to exchange his honor for it, is a very demon of institutional destruction. Mr. Cleveland is pestered beyond endurance by a class of office hunting democrats whose gaping pocketbooks tell not only the story of their poverty, but also of their plans and hopes. Under Mr. Garfield the republicans regarded the President as the foremost man in the country, because he could give the largest number of favorites a chance to steal from the public crib. It is therefore not a question of party, but a question of human nature.

The Hon. Gammon, arm in arm with his confrere, the Hon. Humbug, waits upon Mr. Cleveland, not to request—we have long since got rid of any little modesty we may have once possessed—but to demand that a given man shall receive a given position. When the President refuses, on the ground that the man named—as only the other day—is not the best man for the place, but that another man, and possibly a republican, is the right man, and has been already appointed, then Messrs. Gammon and Humbug throw up their hands in holy political horror, and moan in serio-comic unison, "What are we here for?" The Lord knows, Gammon and Humbug, what you are in Washington for; certainly we do not. Probably because your constituency did not know you were that kind of fools, but thought you some other and more harmless kind. If they had heard you say you regarded government patronage as a sort of swine trough, and that if elected you would do your best with snout and grunt to wallow in it and fill yourself full, they would have asked you to stay at home.

"Politician" has come to be about the worst name you can apply to a man. It appears to include all the crimes in the calendar. At its mention we have visions of a "boss," a herder of human cattle, all of them branded and subject to being corralled whenever the "boss" from the doorstep of his corner groggery gives the order. All this may be anarchy, or something close to it, but Americans will find out by and by that it is not true politics. McCarthy is a sample. He beats and bruises as many women as he pleases and laughs when imprisonment is talked of. Why? Because he is a politician. And he boasts that even the judge will take that fact into consideration. He may be wrong, he probably is wrong; but the people's interests are in a bad way when a scoundrel laughs in a judge's face and says, "You dare not!" This one rascal may go to prison, but the system which breeds that kind of vermin is evil."

Clearing Out the Rascals.

However slow the Cleveland administration has been to bounce Republicans in some of the States, it has shown no lack of energy and determination in clearing the deck in Virginia. All the collectors of internal revenue, all of the United States Marshals and District Attorneys have been summarily dismissed without once stopping to assign any cause. Nearly all of the postmasters, clerks, gaugers, employees of the Navy yard, including apprentice boys, have come under the head of "offensive partisans," and have been bounced. Many of these employees never were Republicans, but they were appointed by Republican officials and that was enough. Union soldiers and loyalists have been turned out unceremoniously and ex-rebels and rebel sympathizers have taken their places. There are very few now upon the pay-rolls of the Federal government in Virginia except those who sought to destroy the Union, and will be on hand again whenever it is thought expedient to make a strike for the lost cause. The intense feeling of the administration against Mahone is the cause of these wholesale removals. Had Mahone been one of the bravest of rebel Generals, re-named a rebel, he would now be in full feather with Cleveland and Bayard. But he was tired of being a Bourbon, and cutting loose the strings that had so long lashed him to the obstructionists he chose to act with the Republicans on all essential questions without ever professing to be a Republican. This is his sin against Democracy. With the present administration it is an unpardonable sin, and there will be no peace in the Democratic camp until every vistage of Mahoneism is eradicated from the Federal government. Of course it is expected that in return for such vigorous measures Virginia will be kept without doubt in Democratic leading strings. But let the administration beware. Virginia is a very uncertain State. The Democrats only saved it for Cleveland by the skin of their teeth, notwithstanding the influnces of the Danville massacre.

Styles in Hair Dressing.

Bangs are still in fashion, and are likely to remain so, the hair dressers declare, for some years to come. They are too becoming to the generality of faces for ladies to lay them aside willingly, and although it has been again and again predicted that they would go out, they have not, as yet, shown any signs of doing so. The fact is, very few women have a forehead perfect enough in contour to care to show it. Besides, the soft, fluffy bang breaks up the hard, trying outlines over the upper part of the face, and lends increased depth and brightness to the eyes. For those who have well-shaped, low foreheads, the fashion of combing the hair up loosely, letting it turn into waves or crimps it chooses, is a becoming one. As a rule, blondes look well with their hair arranged in this way. In the summer bangs are cut straight, for the sake of convenience and comfort, to be returned to crimps and curls at the first sign of cold weather.

Wedded only in Fun.

A JOKE THAT CAUSED MUCH TROUBLE.

A mock marriage, in which Miss Flora Hastings, of San Francisco, played the bride nine years ago, has caused that lady considerable trouble and much litigation. The man who played the husband in the wedding "just for fun," laid claim to the lady as his real wife five years after she had married another man. Miss Hastings, in the years 1875–76, was a student at the Notre Dame Academy, near Baltimore. The Misses Kelleys, of Virginia, were classmates, and they and the California girl became warm friends. In October, 1876, Miss Hastings, as the story goes, paid the Kellys a visit. They lived near Alleghany Station, Virginia. Miss Hastings was then only seventeen years of age, and a very pretty girl. Jas. O. B. Kelly, the brother of Miss Hastings' classmates, it appears, took quite a fancy to her, and was her gallant during the visit. On October 9th, without any license, Miss Hastings and Mr. Kelly were wedded, as all present thought, only in fun. It was considered a splendid joke by the girls. It turned out rather a serious joke, though, to the bride. Young Kelly at the time seemed to take the affair as the rest did, and apparently never thought of claiming the young lady as his wife. Miss Hastings in due time returned to her California home, entered society, and two years after her "mock" marriage was wedded in brilliant style to Winfield Scott Keyes. The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of San Francisco. Kelly did not meet the young lady again until June, 1883, and then, as she claims to her horror and amazement, claimed her as his wife. She had then been married five years to Keyes. The claim of Kelly, it appears, led to a misunderstanding between Mrs. Keyes and her husband, and he brought suit in the San Francisco Superior Court to have his marriage annulled, on the ground that his wife had been previously married to Kelly. Mrs Keyes also brought suit in this state to have her mock marriage with Kelly declared void.

Referee Abram Kling has rendered a report in favor of Miss Hastings, or Mrs. Keyes. He says that the "young and inconsiderate couple, in utter disregard of the provisions of the Virginia statute, without a license or the consent of their parents, and without the presence of witnesses, entered into the form or ceremony, which did not consummate or lawfully join in a marriage ceremony." Judge Andrews, of the Supreme Court, on Thursday confirmed the report.

A Heathen Community.

In the good old state of Massachusetts, where puritanism had its birth and in which the cradle of Liberty was rocked, it would seem hardly possible that a village of 200 inhabitants could exist without a church, and where a young woman could be dying without ever hearing a gospel sermon in her life. But a minister told these facts at a Baptist conference recently held at Holyoke, and the heathen community to which allusion was made is called Monroe and is near the state line. He said that till within a few months ago the people of that place had never heard an evangelical sermon. This matter was recently brought up at a convention held in Franklin county, and he was appointed to look after the town. He went there and held a meeting at which 50 people assembled, some being drawn thither from a distance to see what the meeting was like. The people were interested and the matter of a church was broached. The people are poor, honest farmers, having very little money, but they offered "muscle and timber." The county convention took the matter in hand, but North Adams people had heard of the state of affairs, and were doing something for the place. The church has been organized and has 30 members, and an effort is being made to erect a building to cost $1,000 or $1,500. The town has never had a physician, lawyer, minister, or grog shop, and some of the young men have never seen a drunkard in their lives. If not a religious, Monroe has certainly been a very moral community.

Howard Cooper Lynched.

TAKEN FROM THE TOWSON JAIL AND HANGED TO A TREE.

Howard Cooper, the colored assailant of Miss Katie Gray in April last, was hanged about 30 yards from the jail at Towson at 12:50 o'clock on Monday morning by a mob of 40 masked men.

Sheriff Knight was asked by the mob for the keys of the jail. He refused, saying that it was his sworn duty to protect the prisoner. The mob battered down the jail door with a telegraph pole. After some difficulty the lynchers gained admission to the sheriff's room where they secured the keys to Cooper's cell. The prisoner was then led from the jail with his hands tightly pinioned behind him, and was conducted to the nearest tree, where he was unceremoniously hanged.

Cooper's last words were: "Goodbye, boys, for I must go." He was then swung into the air. After the rope was secured to the limb the mob gave three cheers. Cooper was sentenced to be hanged on the 31st of this month.

This Year's Crops.

The Rural New Yorker "from a careful analysis of over 3500 special crop reports from its subscribers, practical farmers, in every State and Territory in the Union," estimates that the winter wheat crop will aggregate 210,000,000 bushels, and the spring wheat crop 365,000,000 bushels, a falling off of 147,000,000 bushels from last year's crops. "Oats will be the largest crop ever harvested. Rye and barley fair crops. The corn area is larger than ever before, and the outlook good for an average yield per acre. There will be an average crop of potatoes, and a considerable increase in the acreage of tobacco. The cotton prospects are highly promising, despite the injury from insects in Texas and other places."

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great

Regenerative Medicine

Is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER'S SARSAPARILLA as an Absolute Cure

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best blood purifying medicine, in the world.

Dropped Her Baby Overboard.

As the steamer Laura M. Starin was returning from Glen Island on Thursday afternoon, she passed an excursion barge off Astoria. Many people waved their handkerchiefs, and among them was a woman on the upper deck, who had a baby on one arm. While waving her handkerchief she dropped the baby overboard, and, as it struck the water, she fainted and fell on the floor. There was great excitement at once. Everybody flocked to the same side of the boat. The captain shouted: "For God's sake, step to the other side of the barge, or you'll all go overboard!" Many persons obeyed the warning. The Starin and the boat that was towing the barge stopped. Two men were in a rowboat in tow of the barge. One of them cut the rope and the other paddled the boat toward the child, who was upheld in the water by its clothing. In about a minute they had the child in their boat, and cheer after cheer went up by the lookers-on. The child was less than two years old, and had on a white dress and pink shoes. It was passed up into the crowd to its mother, who was just coming out of her fainting fit.

Jos. S. Fisher, Wytheville, Va., says in the year 1883 he used Powell's Prepared Chemicals for wheat, and increased the yield four fold. In proportion to cost it was the best fertilizer he ever used. The cost of Powell's Prepared Chemicals is $6 per bbl., a sufficient quantity to make one-half ton complete fertilizer. Address Brown Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md.
