THURSDAY, August 20, 1885.

☞The Orphan's Court for Caroline county, will meet Tuesday, Aug. 25th.

County and Peninsula.

……Buy Rough on Insects of George & Redden.

……The nights are now cooler because of heavy dews.

……Wanted—A grindstone to sharpen the dull times.

……Corn is doing splendidly with the abundant showers.

……The peach season is just one week later than last year.

……Buy Eagle brand condensed milk of George & Redden.

……Concord camp-meeting closed on Monday morning last.

……As the dog days are upon us, keep your eye upon the canines.

……Vacation days are passing, and school days are rapidly approaching.

……Call at George & Redden's for Extract of Vanilla—20 cents per bottle.

……If you have a severe headache call at George & Redden's and try a dose of Bromo-caffeine.

……The excursion from this place on Saturday last by the colored people is reported a success, and the best of order prevailed.

……Any man who can umpire a base-ball game and please both sides, has in him the main qualifications for a successful politician.

……A. D. Emerson, a carpenter of Ingleside, Md., was severely shocked by the lightning on Thursday evening last while at work.

……The prohibitionists of Somerset county intend to run a county ticket this coming autumn. James Daniel, of Deal's Island is their leader.

……As the season advances Dunnock's goods are reduced. Dress Ginghams, Satine's &c., very cheap. This announcement is worth investigation.

……The electric lights, of which we gave notice a few weeks ago were being placed on the steamer Joppa, are now completed and are working splendidly.

……The District Conference of the East Baltimore District, M. E. Church South, Dr. R. R. S. Hough, P. E., will be held at Hillsborough from August 18th to 22d.

……The Democratic primaries will be held in the several districts on Saturday. The fight for the office of clerk of the Court is becoming about as hot as the weather during the heated term.

……The Katydids are here, and if all the old signs don't fail, frost will be with us in six weeks, and the swallows, the robbins and the blackbirds will be winging their way to warmer quarters.

……By stretching a string in the centre of a room flies will use it to light upon instead of the walls, that can thus be kept all the summer free from fly specks. This is a good thing for baldheaded people.

……It is reported that several employes of the custom-house will be dropped from the rolls September 1. Among the unlucky is Dr. E. E. Atkinson, of this county. This, it is said, will effect a saving of $17,000.

……Rev. T. O. Ayres, pastor of the M. E. Church, and James Swann, Secretary and Treasurer of the Caroline county School Board, are on a two weeks vacation up the Hudson and among the Catskill mountains.

……The steamer Edgecombe will make an excursion from Greensborough to Potter's Landing on (this) Thursday evening, leaving Denton at 8:30 P. M. The Greensborough band will furnish music and a good time is anticipated.

……Quinine pills are coming into fashion as a stimulant for tired women and overworked men who cannot get up an appetite. The habit is very rapidly induced, and between it and the alcohol habit there is very little to choose.

……Postmaster Owens of Salisbury broke one of his legs August 8th by having his foot caught in a broken sidewalk. As it was a wooden limb the harm done was easily repaired. Postmaster Owens left a leg on one of the fields below the Potomac.

……The Democratic judicial convention at Ocean City on last Thursday and Friday, for the first district of Maryland, failed to make a nomination after 134 ballots, and the convention adjourned until September 2, when the delegates are to meet at Cambridge.

……Frank W. Redden is putting down his large steam saw mill near Denton Bridge, and expects to have it in running order in about two weeks. This engine is 80-horse power, is said to be the largest south of Wilmington. Mr. Redden has not yet determined what he will connect with his saw mill, but he is confident that he will have enough power to attach anything he may determine upon.

……It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that the registrars of voters for the several election districts of this county, will sit on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th of September, for the purpose of registering persons who have attained the age of twenty-one years, and transfering those who may have moved from one district to another.

……This is a fine season on Peninsula corn. Unless some very uncommon weather should prevail later, the corn crop on the Maryland and Delaware Peninsula will be the largest grown for years.

……The committee appointed by the Anti-Bribery convention, to wait upon the nominating conventions of the respective parties, will please meet at the office of the chairman of the committee on Tuesday, August 25th, at 9 o'clock A. M. The committee are: Urie Townsend, C. W. Byrn, A. T. Warren, J. R. Griffin, J. H. Emerson, Dr. William H. Downes, M. Bates Stevens, William H. Casho, C. H. Whitby and E. W. Williamson. URIE TOWNSEND, Chairman.

……The schooner Virginia while on her downward trip on Friday morning last ran into the bridge at this place carrying away two pannels of the railing on the draw, and obstructing the river so that the steamer Joppa was delayed for half an hour on her downward trip. It must be pure negligence on the part of these captains, or they do not know their business, and if they were made pay for the damage done, they would be more careful. Every few weeks some boat runs into the frail structure, and does it some damage. Gentlemen, you must touch it gently.

Masonic Park,

Has been cleaned up at last. Now if they would put a plough into it and then level the ground and sow grass seed they would take hold by the fall. Why do men begin and never finish? JULIA.

Boy Burned to Death.

A ten-year old boy, son of Clay Pinder, residing on the farm of Mr. C. M. Spencer, in Queen Anne's county, was burned to death last week. It is the old story of attempting to light a fire by pouring coal oil on it to expedite matters. The boy screamed for assistance but before it arrived he was burned so badly that he died, in great agony, in a few hours.

Simple Remedy for Malaria.

Dr. Crudeli, of Rome, gives the following directions for preparing a remedy for malaria, which may be worth trying, as it is said to have proved efficacious when quinine has given no relief. Cut up a lemon, peel and pulp, in thin slices, and boil it in a pint and a half of water until it is reduced to half a pint. Strain through a linen cloth, squeezing the remains of the boiled lemon, and set it aside until cold. The entire liquid is taken fasting.

Better Peaches in Market.

A recent New York paper says: Some of the finer varieties of peaches are now ripe and coming forward. Receipts from Delaware and Maryland will run as high as forty car-loads per day at the latter part of the week. Small but showy Troths sold yesterday from first hands at 75 cents to $1 per crate and 60 to 75 cents per basket. Mountain Rose, which are juicier and handsomer, brought $1.25 to $1.50 per crate and 75 cents $1 per basket. The general market is liberally supplied with seasonable fruits, including California pears, but peaches will soon assume the customary lead in trade.

A Successful Wheat Grower.

Mr. Julien D. Janvier, of New Castle, Del., has raised a wheat crop this year that excites general comment and admiration. He sowed two bushels of a variety called Martin's Amber, one bushel to the acre on the 13th of October last and this harvest he has gathered from his two acres and two bushels of wheat 64 bushels, or 32 bushels to the acre. The wheat was grown on land that had been farmed continuously since 1876 and was not in the best condition, but 300 pounds of acid phosphate were used.

The wheat has a smooth head and a very tall rank straw preventing it from falling down. Mr. Janvier is enthusiastic in his wheat growing experience, and is now well convinced that money is lost to the farmer by sowing too much wheat to the acre. He claims that so far as heard from he has the largest crop to the acre north of the Delaware and Chesapeake Canal in Delaware.

Dots for the Union.

One day in plodding the weary round of life the thought came into the brain—"If you were a preacher what text would you take for a base to your sermon." In passing along I met a man, one of the tilly-fingered kind. His standing is high in the social scale, intelligent beyond a doubt; sensitive, and in his way, deeply religious. Not a hundred yards on I met a woman and child. The tiger could be seen in the glitter of her eye; the animal was written in every liniament of her face; it could be plainly seen that the slightest cause would arouse every bad passion. The thought came as quick as the lightning's flash, here is the text, but where is he who dare sermonize it. Why is it that in this so-called enlightened and christian land, mortals exist with such widely different dispositions? The Almighty Mind surely never conceived the wide distances which exist amongst human kind; to charge Him with such an inconsistency would be a libel on His mercy. That the distinction exists no one can deny; that evils exist is also a fact, and that much of the evil and crime which human kind is guilty of can be traced to the lines of demarcation which society has drawn is also a fact.

No; man may try to shift the responsibility of crime, of ignorance, of disease. He may talk, he may pray, he may preach about the perverted and sinful nature of men, but after all trials to put the responsibility of these wide lines that society draws. Can you talk or preach down the fact that the fault of their being two such adverse nature's is not in fact due to the misorganized state of society, and that the frame work of our much boasted of enlightened christian world is not in rather a chaotic state of confusion.

That Eastern Shore Auger.

Now the troubled sleeper waketh,
And ariseth, all undrest,
To destroy the dread mosquito
That hath broken up his rest.
And the gas he quickly lighteth,
And his pillow seizeth he,
With a full determination
His disturber killed shall be.
And that pillow wild he slingeth,
With an arm both firm and strong,
But his foe its doom eludeth,
And continueth its song.
And to him that one misquito
Which upon him fain would feast,
So ubiquitous appeareth
That it seemeth ten at least.
From the combat he retireth,
All his strength and patience past;
And that stoical mosquito
Feasteth on his blood at last.

Dull Times and Advertising.

Entering a store of a prosperous merchant, a few days ago, a gentleman, a stranger in town, says the Albany Journal, expressed surprise at the busy scene that greeted him. He inquired of the proprietor how it was that he was getting more than his share of the business in these dull days. The merchant replied:

"I attribute the large business I do every summer to just two things: First, I advertise bargains and keep my store before the public; second, when the public call I satisfy it by keeping my advertised promises. It cost me $6,000 to learn this lesson, and it has paid me at least $25,000. During three successive summers during the hard years that followed 1873, I ran behind in this store on an average of $2,000 every year. I made up my mind that there was business to do and that I would do it. In the middle of the worst and dullest year we had, when clerks were absent on their vacations and half of the force in the store was idle, I started in and spent $1,200 in advertising midsummer bargains, remnants, old stock, and so on. Within a week my store was so full of business that I had to send for every clerk who was away, and I added two extra clerks. That year instead of a loss of $2,000 in the summer, I made $2,500 besides what I paid for advertising. I have kept it up ever since. That was the most expensive lesson I ever learned, but it was the most instructive and the most remunerative. If I had to start business again as poor as I was when I started, I would make it a rule to spend at least one-half of what my rent cost in advertising in home papers. I would not waste it on cheap methods, but would spend it judiciously in the best and high priced departments and in the best and most largely circulated papers."

How to Eat a Melon.

The Atlanta Constitution expiates upon the delights of the melon patch as follows: "Very few people know how to eat a watermelon, just as one man in ten thousand knows how to eat an orange. To be properly enjoyed, the perfect watermelon should be pounced upon in the patch just after sunrise. It should be carefully selected. In response to an eager thump there should follow a dead and meaty sound, and the melon should weigh not less than twenty-five pounds. After it is pulled it should be split from end to end with a short-bladed pocket-knife, so that in tearing it open the glowing and juicy heart, bursting loose from its confinement, shall find lodgment on one side only. At this point the knife is to be flung away. For a moment the eye should be allowed to feast on the vision thus suddenly brought to view, then the heart should be scooped out with the hand and its nectarine thrust upon the hot and thirsty palate. There ought to be something savage in the enjoyment of a watermelon; it ought to be crushed and swallowed with avidity. The man who knows how to enjoy one will come away from the fray with the sweets in his beard, in his hair and on his clothes."

Godey's Lady's Book.

Godey's Lady's Book for September is a number full of notable attractions. The frontispiece this month is an illustration to one of Dorothy Holroyd's pretty poems entitled, "The Dryad and the Nightingale." This plate is another successful adaptation of the new style of engraving for which Godey's Lady's Book is fast gaining a reputation. The fashion cuts and fancy work designs are admirable, both in drawing and color. Among other striking features of the September book, is the centre piece of the new cover, a movable design which is changed from month to month.

Godey's is an old friend and a valuable one whom every lady should cultivate. The cost of the magazine by the year is the nominal sum of two (82) dollars, and such an amount cannot be expended to better advantage than in a subscription. Address J. H. Haulenbeck, 1006 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Marydel Notes.

Evaporators are in operation now.

The recent rains have been helpful to the corn crops.

The new M. E. Church at Hartley will be dedicated September 6th.

Newton Pippin and family have removed to Easton, Md. Mr. Pippin is a valuable man in any community. He goes to take a position in the paper mills of Easton.

Came to Life Again.

Mr. Dorrick A. Rauphorn, a wealthy farmer of Orange county, Ind., was taken ill several days ago of pneumonia. At six o'clock Saturday night the two physicians who were in attendance pronounced him dead, and arrangements were being made to prepare the remains for the coffin, when all at once the corpse started up in bed and asked for a glass of water. In a short time after drinking the water Mr. Rauphorn breathed freely, and is declared out of danger.

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.
HORACE FAIRBROTHER."
Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,
MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."
159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried.
A. J. CRANER."
Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.
JOSEPH WALDEN."
Loyalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. F. BRAGDON."
Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.
