[ELECTION,—TUESDAY, NOV. 3RD.]

GOOD-BYE, Hoadly.

OHIO has redeemed herself.

WHERE is that Democratic $110?

IN the public schools of Washington there are 18,600 white pupils.

THE Democratic last hope was nipped in the bud and their "Moses" Sauk in the middle of the sea.

MR. GORMAN, it is said, thinks hell hath no fury like an office-seeker scorned; and he ought to know.

FOR sick Republicans and disappointed Democrats, administer a good dose of Anti-bribery. It will cure every time.

A SEPERATION between Mrs. Nellie Grant Sartoris, daughter of the late Gen. Grant, and her husband is said to be pending.

OUR Democratic friends seem to be enthusiastic in running their campaign. Illusions and false promises very often cause sad disappointments.

OHIO gives about the customary Republican majority, and elects a Republican Governor.—Journal. Was Governor Headly elected on the Republican or the Democratic ticket?

THERE is great complaint among the "b'hoys" in the democratic ranks about the scarcity of political sugar. They say a 85 bill now would look as big to them as a mountain.

CAN any Republican vote the anti-bribery ticket, when one of its nominees is a contemptible blackguard, and another has repeatedly sold his vote. That's the kind of candidates you are called on to support.

NOW that the reputed Democratic-Kelley movement has been exposed and "busted," the fate of the Democratic party is sealed and now they howl "You bought Sanks from us." Just charge your $110 to profit and loss.

THE Republicans throughout the county are gradually gaining the confidence and the suffrages of the people. Our candidates are wide-awake and they will obtain such a victory this fall as the people never before witnessed.

AN Ohio Democrat, who had been in Washington off and on since the 4th of March, looking for an office for himself, has gone home to do his waiting there. He finds, upon casting up his account, that he is about $2,700 out of pocket.

LET every voter who means to help win a Republican victory in Maryland, both state and county, put on the harness and go to work. The chances are in our favor; the Democrats and the "Mugwumps" and "Bolters" must go.

THE old canoe Methodist, in which Parson Thomas, of Deal's Island notoriety, used to make his voyages over the Tangier and up the Wicomico and Pocomoke rivers when called to preach, is still preserved as a popular craft.—Wicomico Record.

GOVERNOR-ELECT FORAKER, Senator Sherman and General Logan are going into Virginia to help in the contest between the Republicans and the Bourbon Democracy of that state. This will be "taking the bloody shirt home" in a way the Democrats will hardly like.

THERE is a statement which has been published in several Democratic papers, that with money enough a colored man can be elected to any position which our citizens are capable of giving. Now this is certainly false; and we dont know who is the originator unless he is a Democrat.

"THERE's blo-o-o-od on the moon"—the editor of the UNION has found some republicans who believe in living up to their principles and an old abolitionist who believes in giving the negro republicans party justice, and proceeds to invite them to vote the republican ticket by hurling a volumn of billingsgate at their heads. If the UNION man succeeds in having his way, the harmony in the republican party will discount Donnybrook Fair in the hight of its glory.

"Let the bug hop."—Fed. Courier.

Yes, and while we find that the whole Republican party "believes in living up to its principles," we find that the Democratic party never had any principle that an honest man could live up to. It inaugurated bribery; it instigated rebellion; it advocated slavery, and now has the shameful inconsistency to want the negroes to vote their ticket. And in attempting this, they have not only buried their "Moses", but where is the $110 they furnished him for Sanks? Have you heard from Ohio? "Let the bug hop" and "let my people go."

Political History.

THE CHANGING OF PARTY NAMES—CORRUPTION—DEMOCRATIC FLOOD-GATE BRIBERY—TRAITORS—CAROLINE ANTI-BRIBERY TICKET.

Many charges are brought upon the Republican party, of which it is not guilty, and those who are acquainted with the political history of our country know that prior to 1856, but two parties existed, Whig and Democrat; that in 1856 James Buchanan was the Democratic candidate for President; that Freemont was on the Abolition ticket for the same position. It is well known that Mr. Buchanan was elected and duly installed into office, and that while discharging the duties of his office, the country was thrown into a great commotion over the slave question; and that during his whole term of office that question agitated the public mind and became a source of irritable contention and strife.

At the close of Buchanan's administration, when the Democratic National Convention assembled at Charleston in 1860, and after sixty-odd ballots, agreed to adjourn to Baltimore, and instead of putting one candidate in the field, put two, being divided upon the question of slavery.

At this date, the Republicans of the country (composing the Northern and Western States) assembled in national convention and nominated the immortal ABRAHAM LINCOLN for the office of President of the United States.

Another national convention assembled in Baltimore afterwards and nominated Bell and Everett upon a national platform avoiding all sectional issues. Thus all parties entered into a contest for the Presidency. The result showed the election of Abraham Lincoln, whose life was threatened by Southern Democrats if he attempted to reach Washington and assume the reins of government; and he was compelled to reach the capitol in disguise.

Then followed southern rebellion; then sprung up two parties, one to the support of the government, maintenance of the laws and perpetuity of the Union; the other, by a bold act of treason, laid hold of the throat of our government, and attempted to throttle and destroy our liberty. The war therefore brought into existence two political factions, one in direct hostility to the other, not upon the political issues of the day, but upon sectional issues, severing all party affiliations and ties, and creating not new parties, but factions, arrayed against our constitutional government, framed by our honored fore-fathers, and supported by the people.

Thus old party issues were buried. A new question arose, and it was simply the life or death of the nation, and while Mr. Lincoln, as a Republican, was constitutionally elected by a majority of the citizens of the United States, backed by the people, yet the middle States refused to accept the policy and principles of the Republican party. Still they were uncompromisingly in favor of the sustenance and support of the Union. Hence, in Maryland and several other border States, no party was known but the Union party—pledged to the support of Lincoln's administration and the suppression of the rebellion.

This is a mere statement of facts as they existed from 1856 until after the war.

The Republican party never had any existence in Maryland until 1867, when its adherents assembled in mass convention in Baltimore city and there declared their policy and purpose. During all these years of conflict and strife, the bribery question was scarcely thought of or talked about, becauae of the intense excitement and strong intention to maintain the Union and support the government thereof.

In 1866, those who had raised arms against and opposed the government of the United States; those whose hearts were full of treason, who had given aid and comfort to internal foes, and by every means they had attempted to crush out every spark of unionism in the country, assembled at the Assembly rooms in Baltimore, and turned down Union men and excluded them from their deliberations; declared their intention and purpose to be that of organizing a CONSERVATIVE DEMOCRATIC PARTY for this State. They put in nomination candidates all over the State and raised the heaviest corruption fund that was ever distributed among the people; appealed to the avarice of citizens, and by the contributions of large sums of money, carried the election by the most debauched and corrupt means that ever disgraced a state.

The result was the election of the entire ticket, and so thorough and complete was their triumph, caused by their corruption and frauds, that there was not a single man down to a country constable elected on any other ticket. So great was the extent of this wrong in our own county here that the Democrats who took active part in that canvass, when election day arrived, threw up their hands and were appalled by the magnitude and stupendous amount of corruption that had been let loose by the Democratic flood-gates of pollution upon the community and upon themselves. To such an extent was this corruption carried; and so fearful was its consequences, and so base in its effects, that men who were thought to be first citizens of our county, those who were stocked with land had their thousands at interest, came to the polls demanding a part of their corruption fund before they would deposit their ballots for this DIRTY, CORRUPT, CONSERVATIVE DEMOCRATIC PARTY. The campaign of that fall threw in the shade all former attempts at bribery, and may be regarded as having produced more evil results in a single year, debarred more voters, turned loose upon the people the greatest stream of polluted corruption than was ever done before.

Ever since that time, to the present, the Democratic party has maintained their supremacy in this State by its similar frauds, corruptions and ballot-box stuffing. Our noble Republican State of Maryland is truly a Republican State; give us a fair and honorable election in Baltimore city, our State will show its redemption from the position it now lurks in. A portion of the Caroline Anti-bribery nominees dabbled in the working of this CONSERVATIVE DEMOCRATIC PARTY, and the people of the county should ignore that class of nominees for that reason if for no other. On that ticket, there are a few good, honorable men; men whose prior records are all right, but their association with others on that ticket endangers their social and moral positions. A portion of that ticket represents a man who was known as a notorious vote-seller.

The Democrats of this county, true to the instincts of former years, and in league with its leaders in the State, now make their boast of having TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS in the hands of their party, as a corruption fund to bribe the doubtfuls on election day. Who can doubt that they will use it to the best advantage to answer their corrupt purposes.

An Anti-Bribery Dupe.

There are some good citizens and worthy gentlemen on the Anti-bribery ticket, whose purposes, no doubt, are pure and unselfish. So it is a matter of regret to all respectable person, that they have associated with them, on the the ticket, such a low, contemptible, and hypocritical beast as A. T. Warren.

The slanders by him, which, to our surprise, were allowed to be printed in last week's Journal, are like their author, worthy only of contempt. We have been tendered apologies from some of his heretofore friends, but apologies for the wrong doings of hounds and sore-headed political paupers are insults to gentlemen.

We are endevoring to publish a paper suitable for the family circle and cannot use our columns to express such words as would do justice to that individual. We cannot disgrace ourselves by giving him or his articles a moments notice, knowing that nothing better could be expected from him who received all the education and training he has in the degraded purlieus and sloughs of New York city.

The Statute of Limitations.

The Democrats, who as a party rebelled against the government of the United States because Abraham Lincoln was elected President, are disturbed about the reappearance of an apparition which they call the Bloody Shirt. The conspirators who murdered Cæsar were troubled, we are told, in a similar way. No one who has done wrong since Adam, ever liked to be reminded of his wrong-doing.

The Democrats admit the facts but enter the defense that they occurred some time ago. They plead the statute of limitations. But do all crimes cease to be crimes after two decades? The Democratic rebellion was not for a few years, or for twenty years, wrong, but, as Garfield said, "everlastingly wrong." The killing of Judge Chisolm and his children was barbarous, beastly murder seven years ago and will be seventy years hence, and a very live issue is whether the vote of an unpunished Mississippi murderer or rebel shall equal in National affairs the votes of two New York or Ohio Unionists. So long as the ballots of the triumphant friends of the Republic count less than the ballots of its baffled enemies, this issue will be agitated. So long as negroes' votes are counted for representation in the Electoral College and in Congress and not counted at the polls, just so long will a loyal press and people cry out against such injustice.—Baltimore American.

An Interesting Dialogue.

The following dialogue was told us the other day, which may prove of some interest.

"Mr. G.—Good-morning Uncle Charlie."

"Uncle Charlie.—Good-morning Mr. G."

Mr. G.—"How many votes are you fellows going to get?"

Uncle Charlie.—"Well, now if we don't beat you this fall, we'll come again."

Mr. G.—"Well, Uncle Charlie, I shall expect all you fellows to vote for us this fall. How about it?

Uncle Charlie.—"Well, there's a passage in the Scriptures something like this, and if you haven't read it you ought to: 'The expectations of the wicked shall be cut off.'"

A PENNSYLVANIA exchange says: "An important decision of interest to all who reside in the cities, towns and villages was made some time since in the Huntingdon County Court. A man was indicted for assault and battery on a neighbor because he claimed the fruit on the limbs of a tree overspreading the prosecutor's lot. Judge Henderson said that the owner of the land is the owner of it from his line upward as far as he desires to make claim of it. This being the law, the prosecutor had the right to the fruit on the branches extending over his lot. He might even have sawed them off. This decision is important at this particular time and is generally misunderstood by the people."

G. W. Scott, Esq., Ardentsville, Pa., says that he used about 200 lbs. to the acre of compost made with Powell's Prepared Chemicals, for corn and wheat, with very satisfactory results. This economical fertilizer material costs only $6 per bbl., a sufficient quantity to make one-half ton of complete fertilizer. Address Brown Chemicel Co., Baltimore, Maryland.
