DENTON, MARYLAND.

Thursday, April 21, 1898.

IT has been conceded for many years that politics and religion would not mix. To all who have held to this belief should turn their attention to the gubernatorial contest in Pennsylvania, between Senator Quay and ex-Postmaster-General Wanamaker; one who stands for a political boss and the other a great churchman—so much so that Wanamaker has a church and Sunday School in Philadelphia which he runs and controls. Here we have the two extremes if they may be called such. Quay is a sharp, shrude politician every day in the week, while the ex-Postmaster General stands for the reverse, or he should to have his life and profession harmonize. Mr. Wanamaker is a candidate for governor and is endeavoring to beat Quay in the Republican convention. One strong advantage Quay has is that he is entrenched in power and is master of ceremonies along that line. It is thought that Wanamaker has the support of the best Republicans in the State, but the workers are said to be with Quay. This fight will prove very interesting, not in Pennsylvania alone, but in other states as well, and will be watched with interest as the fight progresses.

"It is clear that in the event of war with Spain the country will have to resort to an issue of bonds. After criminally refusing to make it possible to levy an income tax, the Republican party is in a position to return the favors shown it by the moneyed classes and bonds will be issued. It is a rare occasion in the history of this country that does not afford the [illegible] an excuse for ad- [illegible] of bonds.—Seaford N.

A short time ago the Cleveland administration was in the saddle and bond issues were so frequent that the [illegible] were not surprised at any time that Mr. Cleveland had called another bond issue. After [illegible] McKinley took his seat our [illegible]atic contemporaries told their [illegible]hat McKinley would have to to raise a revenue sufficiently [illegible]. It [illegible]en over 13 months Preside[illegible] McKinley took charge o[illegible] affairs and still there is no bond sale in sight. Mr. Cleveland's term had not even the appearance of war attached to it, still his administration ran behind over $260,000,000 The present administration has paid off all bills due, besides having made all preparations for a naval war, and has also bought war vessels and and number of fine ocean steamers for war purposes.

No country is able to carry on war any length of time without an increase of revenue, neither do we expect to, but when it is necessary then it will be time enough to talk about it. The Republican party does not believe in an income tax in time of peace.

DURING the war of '61-'65 this county gave many of her brave sons to defend the Union and save it from disruption; some of them never returned. While time and disease has left its impress on those that did return, some of these say they are ready to fight for their country if they are wanted. While we are on the eve of another war and expecting at any time to learn that it has been declared, we have heard as yet of but few of the "boys" who have declared their willingness to serve their country. Should there be a call for recruits we would expect Caroline to do as she did in the early sixties—send some of her bravest to the front in defense of our country.

Now that court has adjourned and our people will have more time of their own, attention will naturally turn to the formation of a Board of Trade for the benefit and improvement of this vicinity, the initiatory work for which has already been done. Let there be a call for another meeting at an early date and thus push forward the good work already begun.

THE currency arguments of the campaign of 1896 will need some revision, in view of the fact that the money in the country has increased $246,000,000 since the date of the Chicago convention, an average of nearly $12,000,000 per month, clearly showing confidence in the present administration.

[illegible]ILE the Dingley law was not [illegible]d to make a war revenue, it is [illegible]r up all the while, showing [illegible]ust be a strong bill not to [illegible]d in the face of war. It [illegible]laid up a snug little sum [illegible]d it not been for war [illegible]at are going on.

THE war-cloud which has been hovering over us for several weeks past must soon burst or disappear. The President sent an ultimatum to Spain yesterday, saying that she must withdraw her land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters. After waiting for two or three days for a reply or its equivolent, this nation will enforce her demands in a positive manner. Spain is in a very surley mood and whatever course she may take will be because she is driven to it. She has three plans she is in hopes may serve her to advantage. The first is direct negotiations with Cuban insurgents throughout the Automomist Cabinet in the colony to induce them to accept very extensive concessions. The second is European intervention to stop the United States, because the same grounds might in the future be invoked by the United States to interfere with other European colonies in the New World. The third is that war itself would enlist in the cause of the dynasty and Cabinet all the popular and military classes, whilst silencing opposition of all kinds.

The President, it is thought, will today send a message to Congress, asking for authority to call for volunteers, and it is said 80,000 will be needed.

WHEN President Cleveland was obliged to order a loan of $200,000,000 to sustain the credit of the government it was characterized an outrage. The conditions are reversed, and the suggestion of a loan of $500,000,000 for carrying on an unnecessary war for speculators and campfollowers, is reckoned a sort of patriotism; about the sort we had some thirty years or more ago.—Lewes Pilot.

Our Delaware contemporary is further off this time than he was on the egg question last week. In quoting the bond issue he is several million dollars short of the amount borrowed, and has also exagerated a loan in case of war, should one be asked by the administration. Any one who has any knowledge of the President's course with Spain, knows that he has done everything in his power that was honorable to avert the impending trouble. Again, the speculators and capatalists are greatly agitated over the situation, knowing that the uncertainties of war means millions of dollars lost to them. A poor patriotism isn't it that condemns its officials for defending our nation's honor? Can it be that the oil tank that was at Millsboro a few days ago has reached Lewes and that with the same effect?

WM. J. Bryan's visit to Washington had a double significance—first to attend the birthday celebration of Thomas Jefferson, and the other, the leading object of the visit, was to capture both houses of Congress and put the President at a disadvantage, but his little scheme failed to materialize in the House. Speaker Reed, Chairman Dingley and other leading members saw his object and defeated the plan, to the satisfaction of all patriotic citizens, irrespective of party ties. We have officials in charge of affairs at Washington that cannot be deceived by Wm. J., although deceitful and crafty he may be. His silver bubble burst less than two years ago, pretty much the same as this one has just done, and to make it the more humiliating for him some of his own party sat on him and that hard.

THE first batch of commissions of appointments made during the legislative session was sent out by Mr. Dallam, secretary of State, on Tuesday. These include supervisors of election, school commissioners, justices of the peace and notaries public. Caroline is laid down for some of them. It will be several days before all the commissions are sent out, as there are 1,500 to be issued.

"THE issue is now with the Congress. It is a solemn responsibility. I have exhausted every effort to relieve the intolerable condition of affairs which is at our doors. Prepared to execute every obligation imposed upon me by the Constitution and the law, I await your action."—President McKinley's message to Congress, April 11.

THE State tax rate of 17½ cents on the $100 is divided as follows: For schools 10½c; books 2; penitentiary 15-16; insane asylum, 3-16; outstanding debt 4½; total, 17½. The legislature set apart for public school purposes $650,000 a year; the highest amount named by the legislature for any purpose. Of this amount $150,000 is for colored schools, an increase of $50,000 a year.

"THE only hope of relief and repose from a condition which can no longer be endured, is the enforced pacification of Cuba. In the name of humanity, in the name of civilization, in behalf of injured American interests which give us the right and duty to speak and act, the war in Cuba must stop."—From President McKinley's message, April 11.

—William J. Smith, who has been commissioned as postmaster at Elkton, is the leader of the dominant Republican faction in Cecil.

THE Baltimore American thinks that the merchants of Baltimore can learn a lesson from the enterprise of the merchants of Wilmington. Of course they can, but will they do it? The Monumental city don't like to spend a dollar until she sees two for it. Wilmington was richly rewarded for her recent effort to get Peninsula people to visit her city.

THE Business Men's Association of Queen Anne's county has subscribed $2,500 to start a shirt factory or cannery, and possbly both, and have opened communication with F. Burgess and W. H. Bosley, of the Queen Anne's Railroad, asking their co operation in establishing these enterprises.

Trolley Line in Delaware.

The Delaware Electric Railway Company, composed of the Dover & Milford Company and the Dover & Bay Shore, has about closed a contract to build a trolley road between Milford, Dover and Woodland Beach It is expected that work will be commenced within two weeks. The entire route, as surveyed, will be thirty-eight miles in length, including turnouts. It will begin at Milford and pass through Fredrica, Magnolia, Rising Sun, Camden, Dover and Leipsic, the terminal being at Woodland Beach, where connections will be made with a line of steamers to Philadelphia and Wilmington.

Talbot Farms Sold.

Hiram G. Dudley, of Baltimore, has bought for $9,000 the farm of the late William Rose, Jr. near Wye Landing, Talbot county. Mr. Dudley now owns all the land in Wye Landing Neck, making for him one of the largest estates of the finest land in Talbot.

John W. Ferry has bought from the heirs of Levin H. Campbell for $5,000 a farm of 209 acres on the Ivytown road, two and a half miles from Easton.

Leiter's Wheat Burned.

An almost indescribable scene of wreck and ruin marks the place in Boston where nearly $1,000,000 worth of property made fuel for the flames Sunday. There stands all that is left of what was once a tall and spacious grain elevator, where thousands of bushels of wheat were received and sent out daily, now nothing but a smoldering ruin.

Only the walls are left, and not much of them, mute evidence of the battle with the flames. Strewn about the street in golden landslides is what is left of thousands of bushels of grain that Saturday was piled high in the huge bins. The building and its contents were fully insured against fire. It is thought this fire may have a tendency to slightly advance the price of wheat.

Eastern Shore Trade.

Mr. Ferdinand Bernheimer, chairman of the transportation committee of the Retailer's Association, had a conference with Mr. Wm. H. Bosley, president of the Queen Anne's Railroad, relative to developing trade along that line in the interest of Baltimore.

President Bosley said that he was desirous to aid in such a movement, and pointed out the rich territory which for years before the construction of the Queen Anne's Railroad traded in Philadelphia. While Baltimore is nearer, and trading can be done under more favorable circumstances there, the business continues to go to Philadelphia because of the absence of any active work to bring it to Baltimore.

Mr. Bernheimer said he was much impressed with the opportunities of this field to the business men of Baltimore, and said vigorous means would be taken to develop it. He proposes to secure the co-operation of a number of merchants and make a personal visit to the various towns, hold conferences with the representative people, or, if neccessary, arrange to have public meetings, at which could be set forth what was offered by Baltimore to consumers of this section.

Mr. J. Stewart MacDonald, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Retailers' Association, said that the various theatres had agreed to make reductions in the price of tickets for the benefit of excursionists which are coming to the city this week. Hotel concessions have also been obtained by the committee.

Dickinson College Glee Club.

Arrangements have been made for the Dickinson College Glee Club and orchestra to give an entertainment in Masonic Hall on Thursday evening, April 21st. There are twenty-two members of the club and their tour of the Peninrula is attracting most favorable comment. Don't miss this rare musical entertainment.

"The famous Dickinson Glee Club and orchestra made its appearence before the Mt. Carmel public for the first time, last night. Owing to their reputation and excellent recommendations, the audience expected something above the ordinary; and they were not disappointed, as they were treated to one of the best concerts that has been heard in our city for a long time. The young men at once captured the audience by their excellent work."—Mt. Carmel Item.

PENINSULA PARAGRAPHS.

—The pay roll of the Smyrna Shirt and Hosiery Company is over $300 a week.

—The oyster season in Crisfield has been the most unprofitable ever known.

—A 25-year old cow died in Dorchester last week. 15 years is old for a cow.

Dover's public school board has engaged an instructor in voice culture.

—The farmers report that growing wheat never looked so flourishing during April.

—Calvert county's peach crop is reported killed, and a loss of $150,000 will fall on the growers.

—The annual convention of the Maryland W. C. T. U., will meet in Chestertown in September.

—Barber is the name of a new Talbot county post office. John Jump Esq. is postmaster.

—There has been about $12,000 distributed among the muskrat trappers of Dorchester county.

—The town commissioners of Harrington have again notified the citizens of that place to pave.

—Mary Thomas, living near Camden, weighs 109 pounds and is not quite 7 years old.

—The encroachments of the river at the approach to Collins' Beach are endangering the farming land thereabouts.

—The citizens of Church Hill met last week and organized a fire company. W. E. Valliant is president.

—Col. J. C. Mullikin, of Talbot, has been granted a pension of $12 per month. He was in the war and a brave soldier.

—A large dog supposed to be suffering with the rabies dashed through the parlor window of Mr. George T. Hobby Jr., of Centreville one evening recently.

—A postoffice has been established at Norman's, Queen Anne's county, with Blaine C. Norman as postmaster.

—Lemuel Roberts has been appointed deputy register of wills for Queen Anne's county, vice Madison Brown resigned.

—One of our local money lenders has advanced his rates of interest to 10 per cent. on account of the war scare.—Dorchester Standard.

—Chestertown may be said to be suffering from an epidemic of mad dogs. Several have been killed within the town limits during the past few weeks.

—The term of Thomas M. Gooden, posimaster at Dover, will expire about August 1st. The office pays a salary of $2,000, and several men are working for the place.

—A little girl, aged between two and three years, the daughter of Mr. John Hallowell, of Church Creek, was fatally burned last week. Mr. Hallowell was burning some rubbish in his yard.

—The owner of a 150 acre farm in Kent county, which cost him $7,185, cleared 11½ per cent on his investment last year. Still we hear some say that farming doesn't pay.

—J. P. Masten's office was broken into on Wednesday night and looted from top to bottom but nothing gained. The safe was broken open and the papers burned.

—The vote on the liquor question in Cambridge will take place May 10. It bids fair to be a battle royal between the high license and the no license people.

—A colored boy named James Adams, residing at Delmar, has seven fingers on his right hand, four of which are perfect. In place of the thumb, there are three fingers about the size of the little finger.

—Oats were five cents a bushel higher than corn; a circumstance the oldest inhabitant does not remember before. Now corn is again in the ascendency and is four cents higher than oats.

—Fred Gibbons, living in Sussex county has a heavy-weight baby. It is but nine months old, yet it weighs 65 pounds. It weighed 21 pounds at birth.

—Ivins & Carr, of Aberdeen, Harford county, were in Kent county last week and contracted for about 200 acres of tomatoes for their Worton cannery. The price well be $6 per ton.

—John Willey of near Dover, had a rat-killing on his farm last week. Willey and his son secured guns and turned the barn into a slaughter house. So far 380 rats have been killed. Rats!

—Growers are already talking of lowering the price from one and a half to one cent per quart for picking strawberries near Bridgeville. Should they do this the pickers would undoubtedly strike.

—Greenwood merchants, who were so untiring in their efforts to secure the Queen Anne's Railroad through that place, now oppose it, stating that the cheap rates enable persons to do their shopping in Baltimore, and they are thus deprived of it.

—A large number of workmen are engaged in erecting the new addition to H. P. Cannon's cannery, at Bridgeville. This new department will be used for the canning of peas only and will be filled with the latest improved machinery. An eighty-horse power boiler was put in the other day. Mr. Cannon has contracted for 1500 bushels of peas.
