Republican Primaries.

The Republicans of Caroline County are requested to meet at the usual places of holding elections in the several Election Districts on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 3rd, 1898, for the purpose of selecting five delegates to meet in County Convention at Denton, on

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6th, 1898, to select three delegates to represent Caroline County in the Republican Congressional Convention at Ocean City, on to nominate a Candidate for Congress from the first Congressional District.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15th, 1898,

JOHN A. SIGLER,
GEO. M. RUSSUM,
J. B. FLETCHER.
State Central Committee for Caroline county.

HON. Richard Bland, a free-silver advocate, is opposed to expansion of this country. He says we don't want Cuba and Porto Rico, but would permit the people of these islands to establish a government of their own. As to the assertion that they are incapable of making and establishing progressive laws, Mr. Bland is by no means prepared to accept. We have noticed in almost every case that the free-silver cranks are on the wrong side of every issue. Of the Missouri State Democratic Convention, he declared that "the domestic issue must remain paramount until it is settled, and settled right. We propose to make the campaign upon this issue. We do not propose that plutocrats shall entangle and confuse our minds with foreign issues. We propose first to make free and independent the people of the United States. We have been drawn into a war which has already cost millions of dollars and put upon the common people the burden of a tax which Congress refused to put upon the wealth of the country." Richard evidently believes in appealing to the passions of people rather than their good senses. He is not in accord with a large portion of his party, they clearly seeing that their cause is worse than hopeless. By holding to their exploded ideas on free-silver they are helping the Republican party. Ex-Governor Stone, one of Mr. Bland's friends, is said to have a respectable following, also delivered an address saying he would annex Porto Rico to the American Union, and asserts that every Democratic President from Jefferson to Buchanan, favored territorial annexation, and that Jefferson repeatedly advised the acquisition of Cuba. And so it goes. The silverites are so thoroughly demoralized by their defeat two years ago, they are unable to agree on anything. They are weak enough already, but these dissentions make them more so, and ere the present election passes they are liable to founder and go to pieces. White metal was short lived and served its day and generation in a hurry—in the minds of a few only. Mr. Stone was represented two years ago in his shirt sleeves with homespun clothing behind a plow. This was all very good so far as it went. He was paid 100 cent dollars for his services while he was asking those who followed the plow in reality to take 50 cent dollars or less for their labor. Is it any wonder the voters throughout this country said "No." Had Farmer Bland's advice been followed, as well as Stone's, what mind could have depicted our situation today. Isn't it about time the two free silver papers of this county were getting off the fence?

MURRAY Vandiver, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee is out as a prophet, and says the State is Democratic this year as they have profited by the lessons learned in the past. We don't question that but the voters of Maryland have learned more. So, while the Democratic politicians of this State have learned that they are licked at their own game, the voters have also learned that it is best to keep them licked. They are playing their trump card, "humility," but it won't work any longer; it has exploded. Although Chairman Vandiver has his name used as chairman, Mr. Gorman in reality is the man. Be that as it may, a dozen Gormans cannot wash the party polusion that has been accumulating for years. Doubtless they are sorry, but it is because they were found out. Whistle on brethren while you have courage, for after election it will likely be in your boots.

Milford boasts of a man at 45 being a father, a grandfather, a great-grandfather, and in a short time expects to be a great, great grandfather.

AN exchange says "the war is all over now let us settle down to business." Well, what else have we been doing since the Dingley bill became a law? War, much less the rumors of it, had no effect on it. At the end of this conflict our business relations are better and country more prosperous, something that is seldom known after a war. There is a reason for this and it may be summed up in a very few words. The people have "confidence" in this administration, and are willing to risk their time and money while we have such a man as President McKinley at the head of State. While being a solid Republican, he is not a party man in the broadest sense of the term. He believes in inculcating Republican principles into his form of government because they are the safest to go by. Their beneficent effects fall on all parties, and hence the good effects cannot be narrowed down to a few. Let us look at the effects of Mr. Cleveland's administration on the masses. It brought universal depression in business on the Democrat as well as the Republican and hence party lines obliterated in a manner, and all had to stand their chances alike. And thus it works. Good legislation brings good laws; poor legislation misery and want. It is a little thing to cast a ballot some say, but its effect is far reaching. Good citizens demand good laws, and poor ones too, in many instances have done the same, after some bitter experience. Let the past go. We have a man in the presidential chair and we want to see to it that we keep one there. The country has learned some valuable lessons from the past and may she profit by them.

As great reformers we consider Caroline Democracy second to none, considering our teritory. This may strike some as a sweeping statement. So it is, but there have been greater ones behind it. Democracy has held her grip on this county for several years past with promises; and that's the word. During the past few years the County Commissioners have been Democrats. They have had full control of the finances of the county and with what result? Their levies have been large but not sufficient to supply them with money to squander. These commissioners have gone over their estimates carefully from time to time and assessed the taxpayers accordingly. After this was done and the money began to come in the commissioners began to spend it and acted as though they were fearful that they couldn't do it. But when they got to the end of their term it was clearly evident that they had succeeded in spending it all and several thousand dollars besides. And so it has gone on for a time, and when the auditors got through with the books a few days ago they found the county has a debt of over $15,000, due to Democratic mismanagement. Isn't this a poor showing for the old boards to leave their constituents? The present board can do nothing else but accept this debt. The taxpayers must pay it sooner or later. It is a mortgage against their property, put there by Democratic County Commissioners.

THE Republican party primaries in Talbot county Saturday were, as expected, unanimously in favor of Congressman Barber, and on Tuesday a solid delegation was selected at Easton to nominate him for Congress from this district. It has been evident for some time past that the Doctor would carry off the prize in his county without any trouble. What was true in Talbot county will likely be the same in this county on Saturday, September 3, the date for holding the Republican primaries. Congressman Barber's record as a faithful and efficient officer is too well known to need comment. While being a pronounced Republican in its truest sense, he has the confidence of the people of all parties. He has shown marked ability as a congressman and therefore is no experiment at this time. It will be a good thing for the people of the First Congressional District to let well enough alone. He is stronger than he was two years ago when he carried this district. The voters of this county would be glad of an opportunity to show their appreciation of his worth as a Congressman.

Mrs. W. T. Jarman and her sister, Miss Nina Vane, of Goldsboro, were out driving last week when their horse became frightened and upset the carriage throwing the occupants out. The ladies were badly bruised but not seriously injured.

"SILVER Dick" Bland's urgent plea that the Missouri Democratic State Convention make silver the paramount issue, failed. His State can see a losing game when it is as clear as this one. This State also seems to be driving the Democratic band wagon around the free-silver issue.

THE President has advanced both Schley and Sampson to the rank of rear-admiral. In the opinion of the American people, however, Schley outranks Sampsen by about every point on the naval roster.

A movement has been started in Kent to have a grand barbecue in Chestertown sometime next month. Democratic speakers of renown will be invited and the occasion will be a big affair.—Kent News.

Kent county is the first to lead off this year with a roast ox, we presume. Our Democratic friends realize the fact that they must take an early start if they expect to be in sight election day. Democracy is not near so popular on the Eastern Shore as it once was, in fact it seems to be waning all over the country. The voter may be deceived for a time but won't always go. The News evidently thinks the hearts of Kent's voters is near the stomach.

THE Democratic primary elections of this county will be held at the various voting places on Saturday, and promises to be a quiet affair. Not even the Journal has been enterested, much less enthused over the primaries Saturday. But for the call of its State Central Committee its readers would not know that a primary was to be held. Neither has it had any candidate to suggest and therefore it will be a go-as-you-please election. Caroline Democracy seems to have lost the snap and vim that characterized it a few years ago. Can it not be said the party has gone into "decline?"

IN Kent county the commissioners have given notice that hedge trimmings, etc., must not be allowed to impede drainage. The notice is a timely one and should be followed not only in this but other counties. The News says: "The astonishing thing is that such a notice should be necessary. Who is more interested in good roads than the very persons guilty of such carelessness? No farmer can be so unwise as not to understand the relative importance of good drainage to good roads." If the farmers of this county would take the hint it might save many washouts and extra expense to the county.

BALTIMORE merchants are contemplating plans that will secure the local trade of Cuba. This is good news for the people of Denton and vicinity and promises them a rest.

THE last battle of the presnt war was fought on Saturday, when Manila surrendered unconditionally to Dewey. When Dewey say you must surrender the battle is half won.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

A number of gentlemen from several Eastern Shore counties were grouped together at a Rehoboth hotel Saturday watching the downpour of the rain and the mist-covered ocean before them.

Naturally, the conversation drifted around toward and about local matters until our part of Maryland became the topic. And it was not the political situation of the Eastern Shore that accentuated the talk, but the material and business present condition and future outlook of these counties. Without going into detail of what each one said or quoting his language, the substance of the talk, in so far as the same conclusions were arrived at by all, may make an interesting story.

Caroline and Wicomico, it is believed, are at the present the thriftest counties on the shore in so far as agriculture pursuits are concerned. The land is less encumbered, and the farmers are not very rapidly at times, but surely paying off their old debts. In these counties there are very few chattel mortgages, which is a very good sign, as to the personal property mortgage or bill of sale is the last straw at which the drowning debtor grasps.

The late Gen. Wm. McKenney, of Queen Anne's grew more wheat each year than the whole of Wicomico, but nearly as much money is paid out every year in Wicomico for picking berries, peas and such things as the whole wheat crop of Queen Anne's brings into that county. These things and melons are paying productivities.

It is much the same way in Caroline, which within the recollection of the middle-aged men was considered a reproach to the Eastern Shore on account of its poverty. Who would do so now would be considered a fool, to be answered according to his folly, Caroline is not the only prospering now, but has been prosperous all through the period of depression felt so severely in the other Eastern Shore counties. Once people outside pretended not to know there was any good land in Caroline when the fact is, there is but little not good. The immigrants into Caroline from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and other states have been of great service in the development of the inherent wealth there. Some brought capital; all brought intelligence and habits of thrift and industry. Here again agricultural prosperty has come not mainly from the growth of cereals, though there is some as fine wheat and corn lands in Caroline as anywhere on the shore, but in trucking. Caroline farmers owe but little money, and that indebtedness is being cut down every year. Lands in the best section bring good prices, better than in adjacent counties. Recently an administrator had several tracts of Caroline lands to sell to close an estate. The representative of a Talbot newspaper applied for the adveristement. The reply was: "Land is so cheap in Talbot people from that county are not likely to become bidders at my sale of these betterpriced Caroline lands."

Caroline is the one county on the Eastern Shore which has no oyster interest, and but a very limited one in shad fisheries of the Choptank. Her wealth is developed from the surface. But it is a fact that more money is paid out in Caroline for picking strawberries and such things than in Talbot or Dorchester for shucking oysters. Sometimes $30,000 a season is paid for picking strawberries shipped from Ridgely alone.

In Kent and Queen Anne's counties the unprofitableness of the peach crop in recent years has seriously affected the agricultural interests and the fortunes of farmers. The more they hang on to peach culture the deeper they get into debt and it will take years to recover what has been lost by presistent cultivation of peach orchards when there was more money in the crops. Wheat and corn may not be very profitable crops, but in the last 12 years they have brought some profit, and this covers the period of the lowest prices, while in that time the peach crop has entailed every year a loss upon the growers. To take the advertisements of forced sales of real estate in the newspapers of these two counties, it would seem that both counties had been sold out at least three times in the last twelve years.

"The recent failures in Centreville of those professional men who were handling trust estates and the destruction of confidence following it has set Queen Anne's back some years, and it will be hard to recover from it." was a remark made by a successful Queen Anne's man who was a victim of the defaulting trustee, but one who has himself successfully administered and honestly accounted for several trust affairs. It is estimated that a half a million dollars has as veritably disappeared as if it had been sunk in the ocean or gone up in smoke. Of course this smites a community. But Kent and Queen Anne's are elementary rich and have energetic and progressive people. In Kent there is much sound, solid capital, which should be used for the relief of these two sister counties.

Talbot is probably on the up grade again. Her people owe more money than do those of Wicomico and Caroline, but most of the creditors are home people. A few years ago the outlook in this county was very gloomy. While there was no failures of trustees of any magnitude there were more commercial failures in Easton in five years than in all other county towns on the Shore, and some of them were as bad, in proportion of assets to the liabilites as failures ever become. The credit of the business men in mercantile lines of course became seriously affected, and they had to draw their line of credit to farmers, but this, in the long run, was an advantage to the farmers. And then Talbot farmers cussed and grumbled and complained and worried a long time before they found out how to raise wheat at a profit when it brough less than a dollar a bushel, put they grit their teeth, cut down their expenses, increase their acreage and the yield to the acre, when they found they had to do it, for less than seventy cents a bushel. Last year there was a great improvement in all particulars. Some old debts paid on improvments made on farms. Commercial affairs are on a better basis. The merchants now in business in Easton are rated as well, as a whole, as those of other town, except Chestertown and Salisbury. There has been very few force sales in Talbot. What have been are mostly to satisfy debts for fertilizer bills contracted. The Talbot farmers who have been in debt have been pretty well cared for by the financial institutions of Easton, which are two national banks, a building association and a savings bank. These institutions are all operated by the same people, and a Talbot man says when a piece of paper is submitted to one it must be passed upon by all. While this makes it harder to get a discount, there being no competition for the customer, if the debts becomes delinquent in interest or in paying the principle at maturity, he has four institutions looking after him and trying to take care of him instead of one.
