The Dunkards pitched their tent on the school house lot Saturday and have been holding meetings of evenings since. They have been largely attended. Rev. King has preached able sermons, and no community can live up to his preaching without being elevated to a higher plane. Let the public attend and profit thereby.

Twenty wagons from Delaware towns were at the steamboat Tuesday to take the hands that will be employed in the canneries, that arrived on the steamer Avalon. They are known as Bohemians and will work at the canneries in Harrington, Houston and Masten's Corner. Mr. H. A. Roe, expects about fifty in a few days.

Would it not be a good idea for the new town commissioners to have the fire engine and the wells tested. It has been some time since this was done and the wells are liable to become stopped up, as they are not used constantly as is the case with those at dwellings. The engine should be in good order as it has not been used since it was repaired last spring. It is best to be on the safe side and the expenditure of a few dollars in testing may be the means of saving hundreds.

A False Report.

The steamer Hamilton has been withdrawn from the Choptank route. It seems that while Capt. Leonard has received a liberal freight patronage prices have been so low that it has not paid, and this is the reason given for discontinuing the trips of his steamer.—Dorchester Era.

This report seems to be without foundation as Capt. Leonard says he proposes to run as heretofore. It was also reported that Capt. Leonard had taken his old position on the Avalon. This the Captain also says is without foundation.

Doings of the Democratic Primaries.

The Democratic primaries for Caroline county were held at the different voting places in this county on Saturday and elected five delegates from each district to meet in Denton Tuesday last and select three delegates to meet at Ocean City today and assist in naming a candidate for Congress for this district. Both the primaries and the meeting held here on Tuesday to select the delegates, passed off without a ripple of excitement, and a stranger on either day would not have known that anything unusual was transpiring, it being devoid of interest to all appearances. The delegates which meet at Ocean City today go there without any instructions whatever. The three gentlemen named to represent the county were Wm. T. Hignutt, Chas. F. Smith and Jno. E. Wilson.

Something New.

Mr. Wm. B. Stanton expects to go to Wilmington, Del., in a few days to arrange for the building of a new water engine of which Mr. J. F. Gelletly, of Williston, and himself are the inventors and patentees. The new motor will use water, steam or gass as a motive power, and is entirely different from anything of the kind in use. In the use of steam it does away with the reciprocating motion of the ordinary engine thus reducing the amount of friction and increasing the power. In using water it does away with the penstock and is perfectly water tight. No water can escape without driving the wheel in the line of motion thus doing away with the loss of power caused by water leaking through, resulting in a very economical use of water. A working model has been constructed and thoroughly tested and works perfectly, in fact one firm has agreed to make the patterns for a large wheel and build it for trial, without cost to the inventors except for the metal used in the castings which would be furnished at the cost price per pound. The inventors expect to have a wheel at work in a short time and if it proves a success they will soon be on the market.

MARTIN L. SAULSBURY DEAD.

It is our painful duty at this time to chronicle the death of one of the most promising young men of this county, Martin Luther Saulsbury. The deceased was taken sick a few days ago and from the first the disease made rapid progress and was soon beyond control, and he died Monday night at his home in Ridgely, of typhoid fever. He was twenty-six years of age and the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. K. Saulsbury. Mr. Saulsbury was a civil engineer by profession, having entered the Lehigh University, Penn., in the fall of '89, and from which he was graduated with the degree, C. E., in '93. Until the past summer he was engaged in the practice of his profession in the States of New York and New Jersey. Upon the death of his brother in June, the late Nehemiah Saulsbury, he returned to Ridgely to take his place in the canning firm of Saulsbury Bros. In the County Commissioners' office, as well as other places, may be seen the original copies of the large maps of Caroline county, which he made in '97.

Throughout the whole community there is great grief, for he was well loved, not alone in the home, but in the church and town. The sympathy of not only the people of Ridgely, but the whole county goes out to the afflicted family. This affliction is a severe one, but following as it does after others of the same kind, places an affliction on the aged father and mother that is almost unbearable for them in their declining years. The funeral services will be held at the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and will be conducted by Revs. F. F. Carpenter and Geo. W. Townsend. Interment will be made in Choptank cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Daniel J. Zacharias.

For the Union:

The many friends of Mrs. Susan M. Zacharias, wife of County Commissioner Daniel J. Zacharias, were pained to hear of her death last Saturday morning. Five week before her death Mrs. Zacharias had been stricken with paralysis; but the effects were only partial, and her friends hoped that under the skillful care of Dr. Betson she might again recover her usual health. These hopes seemed about realized when she was again stricken last Thursday night. The paralysis was complete and she never recovered consciousness in life. Mrs. Zacharias was born in Tamgua, Pa., September 28th, 1838, and removed with her husband to Caroline County in 1865. At the mill and on the farm near Greensboro where the family lived ever since.

She was the mother of eleven children, ten of whom are still living. It was as the mother of this large family that the character of Mrs. Zacharias made itself most felt in life. The tireless and compete consecration of herself to the welfare of her family during almost forty one years of married life won for her the esteem and admiration of all who knew her. Nor did the instincts of motherhood confine their activity to those of her own family. She was a foster mother to all within the range of her activities. The homeless and friendless always found in her one who was ready to give comfort and extend a helping hand. The guest of the family was made to feel that though he was in a strange house he was at home. The poor of the neigborhood have cause for deep regret for her death.

The funeral on Monday afternoon was very largely attended by the many friends of the family who came to pay their last respect to the one they esteemed most highly. The religious services were conducted by A. O. Reiter, pastor of St. Paul's Reformed Church of Ridgely, of which church Mrs. Zacharias had been for many years a faithful and consistent member.

DEATHS.

On August 11th, J. Francis, infant son of Linwood and Ella Todd, aged six months.

I take this little lamb, said He,
And lay it on my breast,
How can we wish to keep thee,
When thou'rt with the angels blest.

JAIL PRISONERS ESCAPE.

Took off Boards and Picked out Bricks. Both White Men.

Early on Tuesday morning Sheriff Rice discovered that during the night two of his prisoners had escaped. Robert Lane and Edward Osman, confined in the front cell downs stairs, had picked out the brick under the front window. Lane was committed to await the action of the grand jury, charged with committing the burglary at the depot a few weeks ago, and Osman had been committed by the magistrate at Greensboro, charged with forgery.

From the appearance of the cell the prisoners had been at work for some time. The cell, it was thought, had been made perfectly secure by lining it with heavy two-inch oak plank and then ceiling tightly over this with one-inch flooring.

The Sheriff believed the prisoners perfectly secure and as they were quiet and well-behaved he had no suspicion of anything wrong. The strips of flooring under the window are about 2½ feet long and were pried off carefully and set back in place during the day. Under these a strip one inch thick and three inches wide ran crosswise which was cut off in two places, apparently with a pocket knife, in order to get at the end of the oak plank. The piece of board cut out was found concealed in the bedding of one of the cots. The next move was to pry off a two-inch plank 7½ inches wide which was fastened at the end with four large spikes. To do this a stout tool like an iron bar must have been necessary and this the sheriff believes was furnished by someone outside. The impressions in the end of the plank show that it was not loosened with any instrument found in the cell. After the plank was removed the brick wall was reached and the inside bricks of the twelve-inch wall were picked out. This apparently took more than one night as bricks were found concealed beneath a cot standing against the wall. This theory is confirmed by the fact that the prisoners were very indignant because a third prisoner was placed in the cell. The man was demented and as Lane and Osman complained vigorously he was removed on Monday. Bricks were also concealed in a corner under old newspapers where they were behind the door when it was opened. The bricks and mortar appeared as though soaked with water which was probably poured through some holes that had rotted through the window sill.

Two rows of bricks were removed over the door into the hall, but as the hall doors were always locked at night the plan of escape in that direction was abandoned and the brick stuck back in place.

The only implements used that were found in the cell were a table knife and a thin flat piece of iron used for taking off the stove lids. The opening in the planking was only 7½ inches wide but had been enlarged by cutting until it measured 9½ inches in the widest place. The opening in the wall was somewhat larger.

The Sheriff says no signs of brick or mortar were visible on the floor in the day time, the prisoners probably were very careful to keep it all cleaned up. A straw hat and a collar were left behind.

IS CAPT. PHILLIPS INSANE?

Samuel C. Phillips, who has been second officer on the steamer Joppa for some time past and whose family live at Denton Bridge, left his boat in Baltimore Tuesday morning of last week. The causes assigned for this course are many and too numerous to mention, besides none of them can be vouched for. He has been seen in Baltimore by different ones of the Joppa and Avalon, which sets to rest all rumors of foul play. This idea must have originated in some imaginary mind, as such a thing was highly improbable in Baltimore during daylight. The prevailing impression among the people here as to his sudden disappearance is due to some domestic trouble, which bears some semblance of truth. Be that as it may, general sympathy is with the wife and children. Prior to a week ago this was considered one of the most united families of West Denton.

A Cambridge correspondent of the American, take this view of the case: The friends of Samuel Phillips, who suddenly disappeared last week, are much concerned about him. He was seen in New York on Friday, but all trace of him has since been lost. He and his wife are from the Neck district of Dorchester county, where they have many friends and relatives. His wife has a sister residing in Cambridge, and from her husband it is learned that insanity is hereditary in the family and can be traced back for several generations, and it is believed that Captain Phillips' disappearance is the result of temporary insanity of a mild form, and that unless he meets with accident in his wanderings he will eventually return to his family.

Death of Mrs. Zacharias.

Mrs. Susan Moyer Zacharias, wife of County Commissioners Danial J. Zacharias, died Saturday morning at her home, "Cherry Hill" near Greensboro, of paralysis. Mrs. Zacharias suffered a stroke of paralysis about a month back, but had gotten much better and was able to be about with the family, but she suffered another stroke on the night of 18th, from which she never rallied. She was a native of Pennsylvania and came to Caroline county in the sixties, to Silver Spring Mills, where Mr. Zacharias has successfully run a grist mill for thirty years or more. Then, turning the mill over to his sons, Mr. and Mrs. Zacharias moved to "Cherry Hill," where Mrs. Zacharias died. She leaves ten children.

The funeral services were held at her late home Monday afternoon and was very largely attended. The pall bearers were W. C. Todd, Wm. E. Lord, Jos. B. Orrell, Jas Simons Jno. Stevens and J. F. Dawson. Rev. A. O. Reiter conducted the services. Interment was made in Greensboro cemetery.

Death of Olin Harris.

Olin Harris, son of Isaac Harris, died at the residence of his father, about one mile east of Denton, Friday night, after an illness of a few days with diphtheria, aged about 19 years. Mr. Harris was a well known young man to the people of Denton and vicinity, having made a living by working around for different people. How or where he contracted this disease seems a mystery. Health Officer Noble was notified of this case and Saturday morning visited Mr. Harris' home and pronounced it a case of malignant diphtheria, and had every precaution used to prevent its spreading. Everything in the room where young Harris died was ordered burned immediately and the house thoroughly fumigated. The mother of young Harris contracted the disease and has been very ill with it, but is improving under the care of Dr. Fisher. Mr. Harris' remains were buried in Choptank cemetery Saturday morning. Many of the citizens of Denton and vicinity are worried lest they should contract the dreaded disease. No new cases have been reported and it is thought the Doctors are masters of the situation, and will continue to be if the people remain cautious.

Dr. Fisher informs us that he has been treating Mrs. Harris with Anti Toxin and that it has worked wonders in her case.

Another Mad Dog Scare.

Sunday afternoon last our quiet town was thrown into a state of excitment for a few minutes by the appearance of a dog said to be mad. Whether or not this was the case, the dog paid the death penalty just the same. This dog bit several dogs before he was killed. If the dogs thus reported are afflicted with rabies, sooner or later we must have a big lot of mad dogs in and around Denton.
