Additional Local Items.

Mr. Fred R. Owens spent Sunday with his parents in Harrington, Del.

The building committee has purchased bricks and lumber for repairs on the M. E. church. The contract for the new addition has also been given out.

Services at the M. E. Church on Sunday will be omitted that this congregation may attend the dedication of the new M. P. church.

Next Sunday is Glad Tidings Day at Todd's Chapel, near Adamsville. The members will spend Saturday in trimming the chuch and rehearsing the music.

Dr. S. P. Manship who is soon to locate here, has bought a building lot of Mrs. Henry R. Lewes on East Main street, adjoining Mr. Purnell Johnson's residence. The Doctor will build a stable and barn at once.

Jno Kendrick Bangs' newest stories are to appear in The Ladies' Home Journal. They are called "Stories of a Suburban Town. There are several, and each will relate some droll incidents in the life of a small town which every "suburbanite" will instantly appreciate and enjoy laughing over.

Miss Sarah Butler, daughter of the late Moses Butler, died at the home of her brother, Mr. Joseph Butler, near the depot, on Tuesday, after an illness of a few weeks. Miss Butler was a highly respected lady and had many friends. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment to be made in Choptank cemetery.

Mr. Wm. I. Norris, clerk to the board of Election Supervisors, had a narrow escape Friday afternoon from a serious accident. When driving near the depot the bridle came off the horse when he started to run. Mr. Norris thinking he might stop the him by going out over the shaft, fell and was run over by both wheels and dragged some distance before the horse was stopped. Fortunately Mr. Norris escaped with nothing worse than cuts and bruises.

Mr. Charles F. Hutchinson, of Baltimore, a brother of Capt. Z. T. Hutchinson, of this place, expects to be present at the Soldier's Reunion next week. Mr. Hutchinson's family can show a record for patriotism that is hard to beat. His grandfather was in the war of 1812; an uncle was killed in 1845 in the war with Mexico; Mr. Hutchinson himself served four years in the Civil War and had two sons at Santiago. Four generations have furnished men prompt to respond to their country's call.

Saturday's Show.

The circus has come and gone, and many a quarter went with it. The out of town colored people began to arrive before nine o'clock and the usual crowd of both white and colored had assembled before the show was ready to open. Many were disappointed in not seeing the usual parade, but took in everything on the grounds; sideshow peanuts and all. The children were much interested in the lions, monkeys and elephant. The principal features of the big show were the acrobats and trained animals, the trained horses having been here before. The acrobats gave a good exhibition. The balloon ascension came off in the evening and the parachute jump was safely made. Mr. Sparks and his people left here for Laurel, Del.

WANTED—All persons who have long leaf pine wood to cut to apply to the undersigned who is ready to contract for a large amount of same.

THE NEW M. P. CHURCH.

The new Methodist Protistant Church in this town is now completed, and will be dedicated on Sunday. The building is a frame structure, 48x38, with a front room 24x24. On one side of the building a tower stands 38 feet high, and on the other side a steeple 79 feet high and adds greatly to the building. The roof is covered with slate. The painters have recently completed their work, giving the entire outer exterior a fine appearance. The entrance to the church is made from either side. The floor is covered with a cheerful red ingrain carpet, and the pews are made of oak and are very comfortable as well as neat and adds to the furnishing of the room. The walls are beautified by a rich cream oil finish, having a break near the ceiling of artistic panel work, while the ceiling is all steel. Two magnificent chandeliers, with circular burners ornament the main building. A small reflector will be used in the Sunday School room. The heating apparatus has not been placed in the building as yet, but will be in a short time. The entire cost of the church is about $4,500.

The following ministers have been invited to be present and assist: Rev. W. R. Graham, D. D., of Westminster; Rev. T. O. Crouse, Harrington; Rev. Z. H. Webster and Rev. G. S. Fitzhugh. There will be three preaching services during the day. The selection of a minister to preach the dedicatory sermon will be made later.

A Serious Affray.

A fight occurred during the church festival at East New Market, and one, if not two, of the participants may have to answer to the charge of manslaughter. William Murphy and the Parvin brothers quarreled, and Murphy knocked one of the Parvin boys down. He was then set upon by the Parvin boys and some of their friends, and beaten and cut in a frightful manner. When peace was restored Murphy was carried to his home, and it was found, upon examination, that he had been cut in 19 different places. One cut across the small of the back is about 10 inches long, and extends into the bowels. At last reports Murphy was in a critical condition. State's Attorney Higgins went to East New Market to make an investigation and to take Murphy dying deopsition, if found necessary.

Rail Bird Season has Opened.

Many of the local gunners were on the marshes early Tuesday morning, with a low tide and tall reeds to push through, detracted somewhat from the sport, still a fair showing was made. N. A. Hutson bagged 77 birds, Mark Bryant, 40; Geo. Roberts, Philadelphia, 50; Paul Thompson, same city, 35; Thos. L. Dawson 36; Sheriff Rice, 26. Whether the Sheriff included in this number the one he thought he would shoot setting, we didn't learn. Some one told him the best way to shoot them was setting, in that way shoot their heads off without putting shot into the bird. The first thing he thought he would try it and shot what he supposed to be a bird, but proved to be a headless mouse. In the future the Sheriff proposes to take them on the wing.

Killed at a Crossing.

William Usilton, aged forty years, was run over at Wallace's crossing, near Bloomingdale, Monday evening and killed. He was on his way home in a farm wagon, drawn by four mules, and did not hear the train. The mules had gotten clear of the track and the engine stuck the middle of the wagon, killing the driver instantly and tearing the wagon into splinters. The back of his skull was crushed and the bones in the left side broken.

Death of Mrs. Collins.

Mrs. Sarah Collins who for several years resided in this town, died at the residence of Mr. Jas. K. Saulsbury on Friday where she has resided for several years past, aged about 85 years. When Mrs. Collins lived in Denton she resided in what was then known as the Collins property, opposite the Tylor homestead. This house was removed when Main street was extended. Mrs. Annie Cunningham, of Baltimore, an only child, survives her. Interment was made in the old church yard.

Large Eagle Captured.

Mr. James Straughn, who a few years ago had charge of the Brick Hotel here, now proprietor of the Arlington Hotel, at Centreville, was last week presented with a large eagle The bird had probably been wing-tipped by a sportsman, as there was evidence of a gun shot wound in one of the wings. The bird gave the men who found him a hard fight before he could be secured, tearing their clothes and flesh with his claws and beak. He is now confined in a coop in the rear of the hotel.

How To Look Good.

Rural Mail Service.

A rural free delivery of letters has been ordered to cover a route, beginning at Marshaltown (Del.) post-office and covering the southeastern part of Mill Creek hundred. Richard H. Williams has been appointed carrier and the work will go into effect on Thursday, September 15. The route covers about eighteen miles accomodates over one hundred families and spreads over an area of about twenty square miles.

There are a dozen junctions and cross roads where the farmers living off from the route as laid down will have to put up boxes. The farmers along the route will also be required to put up suitable boxes, since the carrier is not expected to go out of his way further than the roadside fence to deliver letters, as well as to collect them. He will stop if requested to sell postage stamps, postal card and wrappers. He is authorized to deliver registered letters and packages, but is not allowed to accept any matter for registering. The theory of rural free delivery is that the carrier goes on foot, as he does in European countries, and devotes eight hours a day to his district; but in practice the American carrier insists on going on horse-back or in a carriage, or on a wheel, and thus he covers a district in about one-half of the allotted time. The American carrier thus gives the better service in that he get the letters "there" the sooner. Carrier Williams is to make daily trips' excepting Sundays and other holidays. It is probable that three or four other districts will be laid out in that state. Carries are exampt from going over roads that are commonly termed as very bad or impassable. It is to the interest, therefore, of the farmers to keep the roads in a passable condition. Most of the districts "turned down" by the special agents of the Post Office Department are victims of their own bad roads. Good Roads and Rural Free Delivery of letters go hand in hand.

DEMOCRATS ARE REVOLTING.

The following communications in the Star-Democrat shows something of the feeling in Talbot along Democratic lines.

EASTON, Sep. 17, 1898.

In last Thursday's Ledger under the head of "Campaign Committee," my name appeared as one of said committee. My position as well as my democracy is well known in this community where I have lived so long. My name was placed on that committee without my consent. I am opposed to the action of the so-called Democratic convention. I shall not vote for Col. Smith, but will support a candidate of the true Democratic party, and, as before, am now a free silver Chicago Platform man.

WM. COLE.

ST. MICHAELS, Sep. 17, 1898.

The loyal Democrats all over the State have determined to put the seal of condemnation upon the action of the leaders of the organization claiming to be the Democratic party. They, the leaders, are using the argument that no man who engaged in the primaries to send delegates to the county convention, has a right in honor to resent the action of the late convention, and the chairman of the delegation in his letter expresses his displeasure at the action of those gentlemen who gave authority to his delegation, and who now denounce their course. No sensible man had a right to suspect or expect that our delegation, after being instructed to vote for nothing but a silver man for congress on the Chicago platform, would ignore the platform and vote for a gold standard man for the congressional nominations. * * *

The unscrupulous leaders seem to think that they possess prerogatives in the party management that shall be denied to the people. I repudiate such sophistry. In fact the organization is under the rule of Senator Gorman, and his late action in Congress proves plainly that he is no Democrat. We must have reorganization of our party and true men as leaders, or expect defeat. The policy or expediency scheme will not satisfy the demands of the people. We want democracy pure and simple, and have therefore called a convention of all loyal Democrats who favor the National Platform to meet in Baltimore to nominate candidates for Congress who are in thorough accord with Democratic principles. W. WILLIS.

THE NEXT SENATE.

The United States Senate is composed of 90 member, two from each of the forty-five States. In addition to these there is the Vice-President, who presides, but has no vote except to decide a tie. The Senators are divided into three classes, and the members of each of these classes complete their terms at the same time. On the 4th of next March the terms of thirty Senators will expire. Of these, the following fifteen are Democrats: White, of California; Gray, of Delaware; Pasco, of Florida; Turpie, of Indiana; Gorman, of Maryland; Money, of Mississippi; Cockrell, of Missouri; Smith, of New Jersey; Murphy, of New York; Roach, of North Dakota; Bate of Tennessee; Mills, of Texas; Daniel, of Virginia; Faulkner, of West Virginia, and Mitchell, of Wisconsin. The terms of eleven Republicans will expire, as follows: Hawley, of Connecticut; Hale, of Maine; Lodge, of Massachusetts; Burrows, of Michigan; Davis, of Minnesota; Hanna, of Ohio; Quay, of Pennsylvania; Aldrich, of Rhode Island; Proctor, of Vermont; Wilson, of Washington, and Clark, of Wyoming. The other four are silver Republicans and Populists, namely: Mantle, of Montana; Stewart, of Nevada; Allen, of Nebraska, and Cannon, of Utah. The present Senate is composed of forty-three Republicans, five silver Republicans, seven populists, thirty-four Democrats and there is one vacancy, that of Oregon. The outlook for the new Senate is much more favorable to the Republicans than to the Democrats. The Democrats not only lose more men, but many of their losses occur in States which are pretty sure to elect Republicans. On the other hand, the States in which the terms of Republican Senators end are nearly all Republican. The Democrats have elected two Senators for the new term Money, of Mississippi, and Daniel, of Virginia. The Republicans have elected three, Hanna, of Ohio; Aldrich, of Rhode Island, and McComas, of Maryland. The latter will succeed a Democrat, and is the first Republican gain. Indiana, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, West Virginia and Wisconsin will each lose a Democratic Senator, with the probability that they will be succeed by Republicans. Not many years ago the Democrats had a majority of the Senate. That majority has disappeared and the number of Democratic Senators is getting smaller and smaller. It has almost come to pass that Democrats are only sent to the upper house only from the Southern States, and the party is only able to do this by reason of the race question. Free silver has wrought havoc with the party. It is not surprising that the Republicans are urging the financial issue and putting it into their platforms.—Balto. Sun.
