Maple-tree on the East Side of a Branch of Christiana in the Tract called the London-Company's Tract in Pencada Hundred in New-castle County.

Saturday, April 20th, 1739.

The Commissioners met, and the Surveyors proceeded on the West Line to the South side of a Run, in a Tract said to be the London-Company's Tract; which was judged to be a proper Place to begin to mark: and accordingly the Commrs. Order'd the Surveyors to mark the Trees that fell in the West Line, on two Sides, with four Notches on each Side. And likewise order'd the Surveyors to compare the Theodolites as they did on Friday the 20th of this Instant; and in the Presence of the said Commrs. they were accordingly tried; and upon a very careful Examination, the Needles were found to have the same Direction and Variation which they had at Philadelphia as before set forth. Whereupon, the Surveyors proceeded to the Plantation of Robert Holley in Milford Hundred in Kent County.

Munday, April 30th, 1739.

The Commrs. met, and the Surveyors proceeded on the Line to the Plantation of Thomas Oldham in Nottingham Township.

Tuesday, 1st May 1739.

The Commrs. met, and the Surveyors proceeded on the Line, North of Jacob Haynes Plantation near a Drain of Stony Run nigh the Head of Octarara Creek in Nottingham Township.