SINCE the election mist has cleared away and official figures have got in their work, the Republican party should take fresh courage and give this nation the best and most prosperous period she has ever had. The overwhelming victory of the party throughout the country attests the confidence of the people in McKinleyism. For an off-year, and in the midst of a Presidential term, when the party in power invariably suffers a reverse, the vote last week is surprising, to say the least. It shows that the voters at large are in accord with the administration; and why should'nt they be? The party has fulfilled every promise, save that of money which was blocked by Democrats, but it will be carried out now that the Republican party is in the saddle. Six years ago the people were made believe that future destiny of this commonwealth was in the Democratic party, and they were given full power in the nation. The bad results which came from that administration is too well known to be repeated. Two years later the voters had an opportunity to pass judgment on Mr. Cleveland's administration, which was anything but complimentary. After Mr. McKinley had been elected two years we see just the reverse expression of that shown the former administration. That term was during peace with all nations, and had Mr. Cleveland taken his seat and told the people that for his term there would not be any changes in the management of the government, it would have been far better than it was. The people said they wanted a change, and they got it to their sorrow. Two years after the election of Mr. McKinley what do we see? Having passed through the shortest, as well as the most successful war ever held, with the fewest blunders, this country has honored the President as no other has been since Andrew Jackson was President, having been elected in 1829, save a period during the civil war and a few years following. This of itself is sufficient to speak volumes for the present administration. But, point out the 24 States that d the administration: Californ- Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, na, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, -husetts, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hamshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin. Now let us look at the states that oppose the administration and what do we see? Almost a solid South against the North. Under almost any and all circumstances these states send Democrat'c representatives to Washington and they almost invariably vote against the interests of this country and stand ready to help foreign countries at the expense of our own. Were it not for the unwritten law of this nation that one section cannot prosper without helping the other part, the South today would be where it was a quarter of a century ago. That section, like some people, is indebted to others for what it is. These are the fourteen states that went Democratic: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Missippi, Missouri, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, and Virginia. For intelligence, thrift, etc., compare these states with those in the Republican column, and what do we find? The contrast is so marked that an explanation is unnecessary.

THE beastly attacks upon the colored people in Wilmington, N. C., is said to be a local issue, but its a disgraceful proceeding just the same. Its another repetition where two wrongs never make a right. If the colored editor there was guilty of anything wrong, the whites should have looked to the law for redress, and not have destroyed the printing office so far as they could and then applied the torch and shot-gun which the people in more civilized sections will not soon forget. Northern capitalists thinking of going South will likely seriously consider this matter which has put another blot on its record.

A DEMOCRATIC exchange in sizing up the Republican landslide last week, takes a more cheerful view of it than most of the papers of its faith when it said: "The defeat of the Democratic party is being ascribed to many causes. The chief cause that now presents itself is that the Republican party got the most votes." That's the correct sololution of the whole matter. Now let the papers of that faith explain why the Republican party did get them.

LOCAL Option in Cecil county got a black eye from its voters last week. From what we can learn of the way the law has been enforced there it is similar to the way it is enforced here. A Baltimore paper has this to say: "The light vote in Cecil last week was about 1000 short, appears remarkable when considered in connection with the intense local interest aroused over the question of license or prohibition. In view of the hard fight made by the friends of local option to secure a continuance of the system, it was reasonable to expect unusual activity at the polls. The contrary result seems to indicate that the liquor problem is deemed far less important by the general public than zealous advocates on both sides contended. The supporters of license won by 344 majority, just twice the plurality received by the successful candidate for Congress. Evidently, sentiment on the subject does not greatly preponderate one way or another, nor has local option or license been made a party question. The vote, however, leaves no doubt that a majority regards local option as having failed, in a practical test, to demonstrate that it offers a satisfactory solution of the drink problem. Theoretically, it means complete suppression of the traffic in intoxicants, with all the benefits supposed by Prohibitionists to accrue from a state of unvarying and absolute sobriety."

That is what it means if it means anything, and we think it is a good law if enforced. We are afflicted here with speakeasies, so common and hurtful in Cecil to the local option cause. Where the law is not enforced it is as bad as no law, and sometimes worse. A few weeks ago one of our highly respected citizens, (a Prohibitionist, too,) seeing the baneful effects of violating the prohibitory law, made personal appeals to several of our leading citizens who were thought to be favorable to the suppression of the liquor traffic which is in direct opposition to the law, but, we are told, not a single man could be found that would join him in carrying out the local option provisions as found on the statute books. Are we to infer by this that we have only one man who is willing to stand up and say that he favors enforcing the law? That is what such a denial means, but we can't believe that that state of affairs exists in this community. The trouble is that one is looking to the other to see that the law is carried out. What we need is a united and concerted action in this matter. By showing your colors now may save a lot of work and money to retain the law later. Let the lesson Cecil county teaches be heeded.

THAT our readers may form a correct idea of the political complexion of the next Congress, it may be well to note that the present Senate consists of 44 Republicans and 34 Democrats, 5 Populists, 4 silver Republicans, 2 Silvertes and 1 Independent. The new Senate will be increased to 53 Republicans out of a total of 90. The following Democratic Senators retire and give place to Republicans on the 4th of March: White of California, Gray of Delaware, Turpie of Indiana, Gorman of Maryland, Allen of Nebraska, Smith of New Jersey, Murphy of New York, Roach of No. Dakota. Faulkner of West Virginia, and Mitchell of Oregon. The new House of Representatives will stand; Republicans 188, Democrats 161, and all others 8; total 357, giving the Republicans a majority over all of 19.

LINCOLN once said "it was bad policy to change horses while crossing a stream." The people said last week by their vote they were so well pleased with the actions of the Republicans they elected over two years ago, now that they proposed to give them full control of the nation. Unless we are very much mistaken Mr. McKinley will be reelected for a second term with fully as large a backing as he will have next March. Seeing has become believing with the American voter. People have come to the conclusion that they propose to think for themselves in the future. Redeemed promises vs. unredeemed ones suit the people far better. Work and a plenty of it at fair prices has made its impress on the public.

THE Easton Star-Democrat says: "One thing that hurt the Democrats throughout the country as much as anything else, was the foolish cry of 'Imperialism.' If that had been the only question at issue not many Democrats would have been elected."

Now that the horse is gone it is too late to lock the barn. What the Democratic party should do is bring out some live issue that will recommend itself to thinking people. It is time for the party to stop the plan of continual opposition to everything advocated by the Republican party. Unless the party gets a progressive move on it will be left farther behind in 1900 than it was at this election. Don't be content to drift.

ONLY two years more and the Democracy will be on top in the State and nation. The sooner the better.—Kent News.

Isn't it strange how easily some newspapers are pleased now days. They even hug delusions and think it a priviledge to do so.

THE Spanish warship, Maria Theresa, which was abandoned some days ago by those who were towing her to this country, has been found on Cat Island, near Nassau, N. P., and is expected to be saved and brought here. Fortunately for this country the men who attempted to bring this ship over are not a sample of our mariners. The official report to the Navy Department states that the ship is one mile off shore in 12 feet of water and has been looted by Bahama natives. The boat draws when in trim about 22 feet of water, which shows that she encountered a heavy storm.

THE Republicans are getting all that they claim in the way of justice from Democratic judges. This is well. But we hope these lessons of political honesty and fairness will be borne in mind.—Every Evening.

The above reads as though our contemporary never heard of the irregularities of its party during the past two years in Delaware. Or, it may have learned with many others through the result of last week's election, that honesty is the best policy.

BEING an off-year Caroline failed to give Col. Jackson the majority she should have done. Be that as it may she showed her allegiance to the Republican party just the same as if she had had a county ticket to elect. Last year she gave the Republican county ticket majorities ranging from 9 to 115. Next year we naturally expect to see a full vote, which means a larger Republican majority.

SENATOR Wellington, chairman of the State Central Committee, had this to say on the result of the election in Maryland: "So far as the State outside of Baltimore city is concerned, Republicans have every reason to be gratified at the result. We have carried 16 out of the 23 counties and have a clear majority of the poular vote of nearly 6,000, which shows that Maryland is reliably Republican."

HAD the 400 Republicans in Dorchester county that stayed away from the polls voted at last election, Col. Smith's majority would have been greatly reduced. As it was Caroline and Dorchester each gave Col. Jackson 41 majority.

BROTHER Tylor of the Eastor Gazette, is the editor of one of the leading weeklies on the Shore, which has just attained its 82d birthday. Like many other good things, the Gazette improves with age.

WITH Judges Grubb and Pennewill counting the vote, the Addicks Republicans will not be permitted to steal any legislative seats in Sussex county.—Ex. Watch him thief.

The Next Congress.

There are two unique facts about the new Congress. Omitting the period from 1860 to 1874, which was exceptional because of the Civil War, this is the first time that a President has had with him both branches of Congress in the second half of his term since the time of Andrew Jackson. The other fact is that in the next United States Senate, to use the words of the Washington Post, "not a populuos Northern state will be represented by a Democrat, and Mr. Kenney will be the only Democratic member from the East." The best intelligence of the country seems to have gone to the Republican party, and the Democrats are able to appreciate the havoc that the free silver folly has played with their organization and its fortunes.

The Republican majority in the House of Representatives is much greater than appears, especially on the money issue, for the Democratic gains in the East and North were distinctly on pledges of sound money, and in a crisis these men would be found voting with the Republicans. But outside of these the Republicans have enought votes to organize and run the House. This insures the re-election of Speaker Reed, a fact that in itself is worth much to the nation, for it means a business session, conducted on business principles, and not a wild outbreak of oratory and crank legislation.

With both branches of Congress back of it the administration can move with deliberation and safety.

President McKinley has shown himself to be an eminently careful executive, and it was his fine record more than any one other thing that enables the Republicans to escape the the usual reverses of the off year In some states the direct tribute to the President was unprecedented. His own state gave a splendid majority, and it was as much a compliment to him as it was a vote on candidates. Altogether, the President has every right to feel deeply gratified over the result, and it is quite certain the renewed confidence of the people in his leadership will make him feel the responsibilities of his high office and count the cost of the new policies with greater thought than ever. With all their own way, there never was a time when the Republican party had a finer opportunity or a larger obligation to the nation and to the people.—Baltomore American.

Drowned with her Gold.

The steamer Wolcott, from Copper River, Alaska, brings news of the drowning of a young woman named Crossop and a man named Tankerson, in Controller Bay, October 5. They were rowing from the mouth of the Chilkat River to Kayak Island and their boat capsized. The body of the woman was recovered. On it was found $114,000. She formerly lived in Minneapolis. With her sister she ran a dance hall in Controller Bay.

MATTERS OF INTEREST.

Robert Raughley of Harrington, was shot in the hand last week, while playing with a revolver.

Denney Bros. have bought the steamer Van Sciver, and she will ply between Milford and Philadelphia.

A Gipsy fortune teller, 104 years old, is handing out fortunes and husbands and wives to lads and lassies around Seaford.

A mission of the Holiness Christian Church has been established at Smyrna, with the Rev. Walter Lord as pastor.

The Rev. B. S. Highley has been appointed pastor of churches at Tilghman's Island, Bayside and Popular Island.

Gov. Lowndes will be asked to pardon Joshua Baynard, one of the negroes convicted of murdering Dr. J. H. Hill, near Millington in 1892.

William Bromley, white, who was convicted on Thursday in the Circuit Court for selling liquor at Centreville Landing, was fined one hundred dollars and sentenced to jail for thirty days.

Perry Walter Smith, a prominent farmer of Talbot county, died on Thursday of blood-poisoning, resulting from running a splinter in one of his hands, while husking corn.

The people of Milton are still working for a steamboat line to Philadelphia. A company in Philadelphia has made an offer to furnish a boat if a certain amount of money is subsribed, and it is likely that this amount will be furnished.

White potatoes are scarse and high in Delaware. Not more than half a crop was harvested, although the average in some instances was increased owing to the good prices obtained last year. Seventy-five to ninety cents a bushel are asked according to quality.

A man who is pretending to sell gold rings has victimized several people in the vecinity of Seaford. He demanded 50 cents on delivery, and 5 cents weekly thereafter until price had been paid, but did not call to collect installments. The rings are brass.

Cards are out announcing the coming marriage of Miss Mary O'Neill, of near Clayton, to Mr. James Donohoe, of near Massey's. The wedding will take place on Thursday afternoon, November 24th.

Samuel R. Chance, who was kicked in the face by a horse about two weeks ago, died Thursday morning from the effects of his injuries. He resided on the farm of Mr. Robert E. Cahall, near Ruthsburg Queen Anne's county, and was in the sixty-third year of his age. He leaves a widow and five adult children.

The iron and steel mills are reported to be as busy now as ever before in the history of the country. That is due to McKinley prosperity. Do the workmen want another change, such as they got in 1892? If not, vote against cheap money and the Democratic candidates for Congress.

Kirk G. Phillips, governor-elect of South Dakota, is an Eastern Shoreman, being a native of Somerset (now Wicomico county.) Mr. Phillips went West when a boy and became a prosperous business man. He has been engaged in the drug business in Deadwood, and has held the office of State treasurer. He owns property in Wicomico county.

Kent county partridges have been cutting some funny capers the past week. A fisherman caught four of the birds in his fyke on Sassafras river. A large covey visited Chestertown and took refuge in a butcher shop. Thirteen of the birds flew aboard a Baltimore-bound schooner at Shallcross' wharf, alighted in the rigging, and after a short rest returned to shore.—Crisfield Times.

The town commissioners of St. Michaels' are considering the advisability of supplying the town of St. Michael's with water. There is almost no fire apparatus in the town, and in case of fire the only means of extinguishing the same is by means of the bucket brigade. On account of a lack of fire apparatus it is difficult for the property-owners to secure insurance on their property.

Freddie Janke, nine years old, son of Charles Janke, of Bayside, L. I., died last night in the Flushing Hospital, raving in delirium of hydrophobia. He snapped at his nurses, and even his parents, and barked like a dog so loudly that the woods close by the hospital resounded with the fearful sound. The little fellow's life fast ebbes away, though his almost superhuman strength was terrific. He was bitten by a mongrel dog belonging to a farm laborer at Bayside more than a week ago.

Mr Hanna's Views.

Senator Hanna predicts that the Republicans will control legislation in Congress for the next eight years. The present Congress is safely Republican for two years. Then senators, who hold office for six years, will be chosen from Republican states.

The senator declares that even if the Republicans should lose the House, in the Senate they could prevent legislation objectionable to them. Mr. Hanna believes it will become necessary to call an extraordinary session of Congress on March 4 to take up the Spanish treaty, the disposition of the Philippines, and the question of government for Cuba and Porta Rico.

The war revenue tax, in the senator's opinion, must be revised. The protective tarriff, he says, has outgrown its usefulness because the exports of the country are greater than the imports, and little revenue is realized. Mr. Hanna favors taxing articles that cannot be produced in this country, such as coffee and tea, because then more revenue will be raised.

His opinion on treaty negotiations is that Spain will yield to all demands, and no European nation will dare to help her.
