Newspaper advertising is not an experiment in any sense of the word. It is a common-sense business transaction. Returns the first week or first month are not always encouraging, but it is the sticking at it that brings success. No business was ever built up to be a success in one week or one month. Continuous advertising in the right medium is the best and safest and surest road to business success that has yet been discovered. The UNION is the right medium.

Governor Lowndes has been requested to appoint a delegation of 500 Marylaad farmers to attend the National Farmers Convention, which will meet at Fort Worth, Texas, next month. He is anxious to learn who may wish to attend, and will appoint any farmer in Maryland who is willing to represent his state. As there is no salary attached the Governor is not likely to be overrun with applications. There should be one farmer in Caroline however, willing to represent the interests of the farmers.

Water that is left standing in the kitchen or bedroom, and above all, in a sick room, over night, is liable to contamination by the absorption of impurities afloat in the air in such a room, and to be rendered wholy unfit for use. No matter that the water is cold, even to near freezing, it is so much the more liable to absorb and hold in solution the foul gases and organic particles to which it has been exposed. It is dangerous to use such water.

What is Farming.

Under the above caption it is said: "It is something more than staying on a farm. It is something more than skimming the soil. It is more than selling hay and potatoes and bulky crops unanimalized. Farming is a business, a profession, a practical and scientific operation. The process of nature must be understood, if not in their technical terms and language, in that common sense way, that their own advantages and capabilities may be turned to the best account. The lawyer works by law and precedent, the physician works symptons and indications, the merchant by rules and observation, the mechanic by measured and capacities. The farmer must work by all—by rules, laws, observation and experiment. He must be a skillful worker in the productive and commercial circles in which his business lies and his sphere of circulation extends.

"That Sick Rooster."

Editor of the Union:

The editor of the Free Press has misjudged him. He is not sick but too full for utterance, upon hearing the result of the election of November 8th. We have carried sixteen counties out of twenty-three, and have a majority of nearly six thousand in the State, and also all of the states north of the Mason and Dixon line by good majorities. The balance of the States, with probably one exception, has given their usual stereotyped majorities as expected. The general result has given William Jennings Bryan a back seat, and he can now be safely considered a back number, and has also knocked out free trade, and free coinage of silver and made them obnoxious issues. The Democratic Party to-day is without an issue that commands respect; what it can do next under the circumstances to maintain or justify itsself as a great political organisation they hardly know. It is one of those enigmas. NERO.

Greensboro, Md., Nov. 22, 1898.

Juniors Attend Church.

Caroline Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., attended service in the M. P. Church on Sunday afternoon. The Council had arranged to attend in a body and the members met at their hall and from there marched in double file to the church. Forty-six members of the order wearing parade badges were in line. Mr. C. H. Stewart acted as marshal. At the door of the church the line was halted and opened ranks allowing the officers to pass in first. The pulpit and altar were tastefully draped with the colors of the order, the red, white and blue.

Rev. C. E. Dryden, junior pastor, delivered the sermon, taking as his text the 130 verse of the 119th Psalm: "The entrance of thy word giveth light; it giveth understanding to the simple." He dwelt upon the good resulting from the reading of the Bible and commended the objects for which the order is banded together.

After the services the Juniors returned to their Hall and dispursed. The Council at this place has a membership of ninety.

Charged with Forgery.

John Carrol Fountain, a resident of Queenstown, married, and aged about fifty years, was arrested in Church Hill last week, on warrants charging him with forgery of the name of Mr. Thomas L. Day, of Ridgely, and was lodged in the Centreville jail to await the action of the Talbot county authorities, where, it is claimed the alleged offense was committed.

Fountain denies the charge. He claims that the paper which he is alleged have forged was passed on him by an acquaintance of his while under the influence of drink. The check, he claims, was given him in consideration of a deal, the nature of which will be explained at the time of his hearing.

The Care of Hogs.

An experienced Iowa breeder of swine gives the following concise statement on the feeding and management of hogs in the American Swineherd, which we copy for the benefit of our farmers. He says: "Sanitary measures are always in order in any herd. My yards are all plowed in the spring and seeded to barley, cloves and rye. My buildings were disinfected after being whitewashed out, walls and wood-work all whitewashed and lime scattered over the floors, using between four and five barrels of lime to complete the operation. I conditioned the herd by feeding plenty of oil-cake meal in slops with Glauber salts. I also used cream of tartar, I buy these by the barrel. I feed charred cobs mixed with sulphur, and they run to this at will. Is is surprising the quantity they will eat. Salts are laxative; cream of tartar purifies and cools the blood and sulphur is said to operate on the liver. I do not force the pigs. They have plenty of good pasture—several kinds of grasses. Disinfect with plenyl frequently is not overlooked. If I find a pig that does not suit me exactly I place him in a pen, and do not feed for twelve to twenty-four hours, and I have had such come around all right. In fact, it is likely there was nothing wrong, but it is my way, and do not take any chances whatever."

San Jose Scale.

The Agricultural Department has determined, after a series of experiments, that the San Jose scale, found on pears, apples and peaches in various parts of the country, does not survive the process of fruit drying. This proved the falsity of the claims of several European governments which exclude American fruits from their ports. This has been the conclusion arrived at by State Entomologist, W. G. Johnson, who, in addition to examning a large number of varieties of fruits, has also furnished the Department of Agriculture fruit infested with San Jose scale gathered in different sections of Maryland. A German expert, who came to this country especially to investigate this subject, was present at the last experiment. Large lots of fruits infested by the scale were tested by all known methods of commercial drying and microscopic examination showed that the scales did not survive the process. The expert was given samples of the work and access to the exeriments, and seemed to be convinced that the conclusions of the government were correct.

To Develop the Eastern Shore.

A company with a capital stock of nearly $2,000,000 is being formed to develop the Eastern Shore of Maryland. Ex-Governor Frank Brown is at the head of it. He has just returned from a tour of the eastern counties and has acquired option on thousands of acres in that section. The charter granted by the Legislature permits the company to acquire lands, lay out towns, build electric railroads and establish summer resorts. During the past year a number of families, who were immigrants to this country from Europe and settled in the Northwestern States, removed to Maryland to escape the rigorous climate. Arrangements are being made to establish extensive colonies of these people on the Eastern Shore.

Schley in Frederick.

Admiral Schley arrived at Frederick, Friday, and was met at the Baltimore and Ohio depot by a committee of prominent people, the mayor and board of aldermen, and welcomed to town, near which he was born. Several thousand citizens gathered at the depot and along the streets, and he was cheered to the echo as his carriage passed up Market street to Patrick, and to the home of his hostess, Miss Mary Goldsborough, on the latter street. Fire bells were rung and stream whistles blew. He remained there over Sunday. Saturday night a public meeting was held in the City Hall in honor of the admiral. The Hon. Milton G. Urner and others spoke and there was a banquet afterward.

Beats The Klondike.

Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville, Texas, has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption, accompanied by hemorrhages; and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. He declares that Gold is of little value in comparison with this marvelous cure; would have it even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung affections are positively cured by Dr. King's New Discoverey for Consumption. Trial bottles free at George & Redden's Drug Store. Regular sizes 50c and $1.00 Guaranteed to cure or price refunded. 2

Gunners out in Force.

Never in the history of Sussex county have birds and rabbits been so plentiful as they are this season near Milton. Hunters from Baltimore, Wilmington and Philadephia are arriving on every south-bound passenger train on the Queen Anne's railroad, with the hopes of bagging some of the above game. One man of that town killed twenty-seven rabbits and seven quails, and and another man, who is a marksman of some note, bagged fifty-two quails. The season is short and sportsmen are taking advantage of it.

Death of an Aged Lady.

Mrs. Elizabeth White Goslin, who died in Federalsburg last week at the advanced age of eighty-three, was a sister of Edward R. Goslin, for a number of years president of the school board of this county. Her mother was Margaret Skinner Goslin, of Dorchester county, whose paternal ancestor settled in Maryland in 1655, coming from England. Miss Goslin never married and spent the greater part of her life in Federalsburg.

Plans of Silverites.

Major William E. Stewart, the leader in the free silver faction of Talbot Democracy, who supported the Willis movement, has this to say of the election:

"Under the circumstances the loyal Chicago Platform Democrats are satisfied with the results in this Congressional district. The movement was intended simply to have a party representing the principles of the Chicago platform, regardless of the effect it might have on the gold-bug Democrats and Republicans. A great many that were inclined to go with us fell by the wayside on account of the gold-bug advocates. We think, however, that it is now demonstrated clearly if we wish to win that it is essential next year (1899) that we should nominate a ticket in every county in this Congressional district, from surveyor up, every man on which will pledge himself to stand fairly and squarely on the Chicago platform, and then if the gold-bugs will not indorse it they can have the pleasure of defeating a true and loyal Democratic ticket.

"If the gold men ignore and defeat us in 1899 we will call a convention of the loyal Chicago Platform Democrats and demand recognition in the national convention in 1900, where we will be entirely vindicated, as the Democrats in 41 States have already indorsed the national platform."

Major Stewart acknowledges that Maryland is a gold State, but attributes that fact to the influence of the banking interests,

A Singular Catch.

While tonging for oysters in the Choptank one day last week, Mr. Wm. Harrison, of Cambridge, caught a gallon demijohn filled with whiskey. The covering of willow wicker around the jug had decayed and five large oysters were found growing upon it. Mr. Harrison and some of his companious tasted the liquor and pronounced it first-class. How long it had been in the water cannot be said, but it is believed to have been there a number of years. A most singular story in connection with the lucky find is that Mr. Harrison had a severe cough, and one of his companions, who was tonging near him, suggested that a little whiskey and glycerine would help him. Mr. Harrison replied he could readily get the glycerine, but did not know where to get the whiskey. He moved some distance from those with whom he had been conversing and had just commenced tonging, when he brought up the gallon demijohn of whiskey.

Does Advertising Pay?

Country publisher receive subscriptions now then from city firms who can have no interest in the local news of the paper. This paragraph in the New York Times may explain the reason for these "foreign" subscriptions: "A wholesale grocer in this city, who has become rich at the busines, says his rule is that when he sells a bill of goods on credit to immediately subscribe for the local paper of his debtor. So long as his customer advertised liberally he rested, but as soon as he began to contract his advertising space he took the fact as evidence that there was trouble ahead and invariably went for the debtor. Said he: 'The man who is too poor to make his business known is too poor to do business. The withdrawal of an advertisement is evidence of weakness that business men are not slow to act upon. These's nothing like it.'" Here is another reason why the country merchant cannot afford to ignore advertising in the home paper.
