EX-SENATOR Peffer, of Kansas, the star of Populism in the west, has deserted his party and in the future proposes to ally himself with the Republican party. Events have been moving rapidly during the past few months in the west and the more intelligent Populists have been educated to see thinge in a different light. Leading Democrats have been reading the signs of the times and plainly see the way things are drifting, and that Bryanism is a lost cause in 1900, and without further waste of time thousands have ceased to kick against the pricks and are joining the prosperous procession. The impulse that was instrumental in this change can be traced to the immediate results of the Dingley law. Populism was the child of disaster, and now that business conditions have changed, that party is without an issue, and has gone the way such parties go. Mr. Peffer accurately describes the condition of its birth in these words: "Along in the fore part of the eighties Kansas was moving lively. We built many railroads and the country became rapidly settled. Many improvements of all sorts were made and the State was at the highest notch of prosperity. Then came the hard times, and all at once the bottom dropped out of everything. Many of us honestly thought there was danger ahead. I really dreaded what was coming at one time. The masses were discontented, and we were afraid something might happen, some strike or riot or something of the sort, to cause a general breaking out of the smouldering discontent. But through our great crops at home and the crop failures abroad and our late war we are apparently coming out all right. The war has nationallzed us. It has allowed the people to work off their surplus steam. We are all getting a broader view of what Americanism means. The labor question is settling itself, and you don't hear anything more about 16 to 1. People won't listen to it any more than they will to the discussion of the tariff. And some of those old time free traders of the south are really advocating a mild tariff on some things now."

There are other signs of the decline of Bryanism as expressed by the Middle-of-the-Road Populists to get rid of the fusion with the Democrats. The National Committee of the People's party have just declared against all fusions and in favor of separate party action. One of the most significant signs of Populism's decline comes from Nebraska, where its father, Lucien Stebbins, has pronounced against fusion, which he calls confusion, and says: "Bryan says the Republicans do not want free silver, and that is a good reason why the Democrats should want it. Bryan will soon have you confusion Pops eating junk, bottles and grindstones, because Republicans won't eat them. Bryan will take you to some old deserted Republican camp, and point out some old sardine cans and broken vessels and invite you to fill yourselves. Any old thing a Republican won't have is good enough for a Democrat. And you will eat it and stand with your mouths open yawping for more; anything to beat the Republicans! There never was any fusion in this confusion business. From start to finish it was a conspiracy on the part of the political pirate, Bryan, and treason on the part of the political assassin, Allen."

Comment here is needless as these truths come from the Democratic side and thrust at its own party because it has failed to keep pace with the times. These digressions from the old party show it is too slow for the 20th century.

THE High School building talked of during the past few weeks, is as expected, receiving some opposition in different parts of the county, but this is small when compared with the demands of the people. No worthy cause has ever been agitated but that it was honestly opposed for various reasons. This building is a necessity and should be erected during the present season, and further opposition should cease. For a time a frame building was talked of but a brick one is now considered the kind to build. The School Commissioners, relying to a great extent on Examiner Stephen's experience in school houses, thinks the latter plan the best as well as cheapest in the end. The commissioners think the State will appropriate $3,000 for the building, the town commissioners should also be among the contributors, and the county do the rest. This places a high school education in the reach of every boy and girl in the county, and that with SINCE Gov. Lowndes announced himself a candidate for reelection a few days ago, it has had a depressing effect on democracy on the Eastern Shore, if not throughout the State. It came out of the Baltimore municipal election with flying colors, it supposed, and crowed lustily, but the boom was short-lived, for, to their sorrow, they learned that Independant Republicans elected Hayes, but on State issues, they could not hold that vote. The Republican party throughout the State, is in fine shape for the campaign; all that which had any semblance of dissension has disappeared. All of the prominent men of the party, such as Gen. Thos. J. Shryock, Col. G. A. Pearre, Judge Stake, Senator Westcott, and others who have been talked of as Republican candidates for governor, have declined in favor of Gov. Lowndes, saying he is the strongest man in the party and should be reelected to continue the State reforms introduced during his administration. The Governor's political opponents recognize him as a strong candidate and one next to impossible to defeat. His administration has had so few faults in it that it would be unwise to assail it, except in sections where ignorance is bliss. If a well governed State, with reforms along many lines count anything in politics, then the Republican State ticket must be reelected this fall by a handsome majority.

A Delaware exchange complains because northern newspapers protest against southern barbarity, and says "let the south solve her own negro problem and it would be better for the whole country at large. The south ought to be more capable of solving her own domestic problems than the north." Yes, they ought to be, but it is not is why the northern papers administered the rebuke. The south has clearly demonstrated the fact if that trouble was left to them for settlement, a race war would be the outcome of the matter. Ignorance is so great in some sections of the south that it is with difficulty they control the whites, to say nothing of the blacks. Let law and order be enforced throughout the south, and the problem is solved. As to little Delaware's papers offering any suggestions along moral and other lines, reminds us of Satan rebuking sin.

OUR editorial last week on trusts and Republican prosperity, brought fourth these timely remarks from the Middletown (Del.) Transcript: "But how about the fact that Democratic Delaware not only nurtures these trusts but creates them as well. As evidence, behold the charters granted by our Democratic Secretary of State weekly, if not daily. Remember too that the Republicans of Delaware have never had the power to make, amend, or repeal a law. Democracy has had full respensibility or the balance of power for over thirty years." We see no more inconsistency for Delaware democracy to denounce trusts and then turn in and grant them charters, than for various and sundry other things they do, consoling themselves by saying anything is fair in politics for them.

A million dollars, says a Democratic exchange, is shortly to be spent by the government in the improvement of Baltimore's channels. And so it goes, a million here and another there, and apparently the government is none the poorer while the country is improved and enriched thereby. We are spending millions at home and abroad, growing in territory and wealth. The bond issues prophecied by our Democratic friends has failed as yet to materialize, the cause of which they don't attempt to explain, which speaks well for them. Quite a contrast in McKinley prosperity and Cleveland adversity, eh!

Two weeks ago we pointed out a few of the leading features of the proposed Denton-Federalsburg railroad, which has caused considerable comment, being that this county is interested in it to the amount of $25,000, which must be determined at the ballot box this fall. While several objections have been raised to the proposed road, none are greater than the provisions as to where the road shall begin and where end, which is worth several thousand dollars to the county from a business standpoint. To vote for the bill in its present shape is like buying a pig in the bag.

THE American says Mr. Gorman is not out of politics. Are we to understand that he has a hankering for the gubernatorial nomination? If so he is slow reading the signs of the times. Again, he wants to use his health as a proviso; that is, if he can get the nomination his health is all right, if not, then poor health is to be the way of escape from humiliation and defeat. It might be well for the ex-Senator to go to the Sun office and get pulsed if he has any serious intentions along political lines.

ATTORNEY General Geo. R. Gaither has wisely concluded to abandon politics for law, but for the benefit of our Democratic friends will say he is a Republican and will work for the success of his party this fall.

SO FAR the Hon. George M. Russum has not emerged from his temporary obscurity to become a luminous leader on the Republican ticket this fall.—Chestertown Transcript.

Caroline has nothing to offer the Judge this fall that would induce him to accept a nomination, and as the gubernatorial nomination will go to the Western Shore, likely, it is not probable that he will be a candidate for any office, therefore it is not necessary for the Transcript to begin to shake in its boots yet. Our contemporary is aware of the fact that Judge Russum is second to no one on the Shore for popularity or ability, and therefore it can't keep still.

THE date of the execution of John Berry, just convicted of the murder of Miss Clark some ninety days ago, has been fixed by Gov. Lowndes for June 16. This phenomenally brief delay in the execution of a death sentence should tend to abate the complaint often heard of the tardiness of justice. The law's delay is put forward by lynchers in justification of their own crime, but they will not be able to make capital of the Berry case.—Balto. Sun.

No, neither have the people of the State had any reason to complain of any of Gov. Lowndes' official actions, and none know it better than his political opponents.

THE latest addition to the trust rank is the consolidation of twenty-three large fertilizer companies, with $40,000,000 of capital. The new company will be known as the American Agricultural Chemical company, having a special charter under the laws of Connecticut. Six Baltimore firms are in the combine.

GET together Cecil Democrats. No time for wrangling now.—Dem. Ex. The cry of victory ten days ago for a walkover this fall has changed on the Eastern Shore since it has become an open secret that Governor Lowndes will likely be the Republican candidate for governor. Their fears are well grounded.

CAPT. Wm. D. Burchinal, of Chestertown, an aged and highly respected citizen, died last week at an advanced age. By his death the whole Eastern Shore mourns the loss of a manly man, one who had won the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. He was a lifelong Republican and believed in its doctrine.

IN Cecil and Queen Anne's the political pot has already begun to simmer.—Ex. In the former county it not only simmered, but boiled over and burned some of the faithful, and in the latter politicians have been squabbling for plums for weeks past, eight or ten candidates having advertised themselves as applicants for the Clerk's office.
