THE Republican county ticket nominated in this town over two weeks ago, has been thoroughly discussed throughout the county and is generally conceded to be a strong one in every district. Each district was consulted as to what representation it wanted and in every case their respective wishes were carried out in the main, and as a result of the excellent work of the convention we have a thoroughly united party, with a strong following of the independent voters and some staunch Democrats. It is generally conceded that the Republican ticket can't be excelled and it remains to be seen how near it can be approached. As yet no available candidates have been heard from who can be induced to go on the other ticket that will compare favorably. In recent years more is expected of party candidates than was the case once. They must represent distinct principles and also be men in whom the public have confidence. This is as it should be. For several years the old party which has ruled this county, has been, on the whole, there for what it could get out of it. When the old Board of County Commissioners went out of office less than two years ago it failed to turn over to its successors the amount of money it would be required to pay out on its accounts, (in addition to that $10,000 to $12,000 legacy left the county) on Democratic contracts. Just how much these old contracts amounted to, the taxpayers will never know, perhaps, but it stands in the Auditors' Report as Republican expenditures. This way of doing business makes it appear that the Republican board has spent that money, whereas it is only paying old bills contracted by its predecessor and charging it to the present board. As these facts become better known the public is getting more indignant at Democratic mismanagement, and all these things are telling against the party responsible for it, and this is one of the reasons for the marked popularity of the Republican ticket. They are men of marked ability, strict integrity and in every way safe men to entrust the county's interests with, and such men are what the taxpayers are looking for at this time.

THE Cecil Whig says the Republicans in his county are united and content over the political situation. They are abiding by the work of the county convention, which was open and fair. No Republican has a grievance, but on the other hand all are putting forth their best efforts to carry the Republican ticket to victory." It's the same in old Caroline, brother. The convention here did its work so well that the Democratic press of the county were compelled to admit it in an indirect way. Victory! is our watchword.

"THE Maryland Democrats are specially indignant at Croker's somersault. They say his interview will injure them seriously in the campaign now in progress in which they hoped to "redeem the State."—Sun.

Boss Croker's flop is a bitter pill for Gorman and his friends. Gorman is his tool and he is using him the same as he (Gorman) is using Col. Smith. It is "dog bite dog, no meat lost."

MEAT has gone up, cotton has gone up, taxes have gone up, says a Democratic exchange, and it might have added that the Democratic party has gone up also. Wages have gone up in the cities, with plenty of work, making the farmer happy and contented with his returns.

THE Democratic candidates on the State ticket having grown weary in waiting for a popular expression from the people, sent Col. Smith to Tolchester Thursday to float his boom, but it is said there were too many punctures in it to float.

PRESIDENT McKinley in his Ocean Grove, N. J., address last week, went straight to the core of facts and said what had to say concerning the national platform, viz.: "Wherever the flag is raised it stands not for depotism and oppression, but for liberty, opportunity and humanity, and what that flag has done for us we desire it should do for all peoples and all lands which by the fortunes of war have come within its jurisdiction. The flag does not mean one thing in the United States and another thing in Porto Rico and the Philippines. There has been doubt expressed in some quarters as to the purpose of the government respecting the Philippines. I can see no harm in stating in your presence: Peace first, then, with charity for all, an established government of law and order, protecting life and property, and occupation for the well-being of the people, in which they will participate under the Stars and Stripes." This is short and to the point, no hidden meaning being concealed. We have the best form of government on earth, one that the average Democrat points to with pride, yet the Democratic party as a whole is giving Aguinaldo its moral support, and thereby encouraging those uneducated and half civilized people in their murderous attacks on our soldiers who are in those islands, making untold sacrifices for their good. They are not half so bad at heart as those who stay at home and encourage them in fighting against this nation for political purposes. The flag is in the Philippines to stay. The American people will never see it disgraced by being hauled down. Our government didn't court the job of putting it there, but as He who ruleth and governs all things has chosen this nation for this peculiar work, it is doubly sure to succeed. It has already appeared over more than three-quarters of the national territory by treaty, and where it goes it stays. It means self government by lawful authority, of course, and in enforcing it our people were never known to falter, neither will they now. The people are tired of playing war and now propose to fight in earnest and exterminate the Filipinos or bring them into complete subjection; nothing short of unconditional surrender to be considered; then the pledges made will be carried out, and out of it will come the amplist liberty from home rule. This has been a sound national platform in the past and the President believes it good for the future. It is the only platform any thoroughly American President can stand on and our beloved President being a man of that class, stands upon it with both feet.

THE New York World, (dem.) in an illustrated description of the prosperous situation now prevailing: "No able-bodied man out of work has any longer an excuse for remaining so, providing he has the means of obtaining a railroad ticket to the iron mill region of Penna. Any sceptic may reassure himself by questioning the first workman he may meet on the streets of Pittsburg, the heart of this sudden wide-flung prosperity. He will tell you that there is here no poverty, no enforced idleness, no discontent, no strikes, no low-wages. Everywhere are peace and plenty and the cry for more labor. The eight thousand mills in and about Pittsburg cannot fill their orders. Some of them are shut down for lack of workmen. The Carnegie mills are obliged to run on Sundays."

This condition of prosperity is even greater than the Republican party promised in '96, when experienced mechanics were in enforced idleness, and smokeless chimnies were bearing testimony as to the Democratic party's ability to wreck the prosperity of this nation. Is it any wonder that democracy should be waning, and Democratic tickets being run on its personnel? What a mess of crow that old party has had to eat since McKinleyism got down to business after those free-trade goods were used up. This iron business was fostered by protection. It has thriven under a protective tariff and languished under free trade. The contrast between Cleveland times and the present, are vastly different. The World has this to say of Democratic prosperity(?): "Three years ago 'hard times' shut one mill after another; beggared families and lowered wages. Soup kitchens were drawn upon day and night. Organized charities were powerless to cope with poverty." With these facts in view the Democratic party asks the laboring men of this country to forget the past, give up plenty of work at high wages, and return to the soup kitchen of other days. Its laughable, isn't it? They tell us free trade and free silver is to be relegated to the rear and anti-expansion brought to the front, and under this gonfalen pretense, with Bryan as the leader, the discredited Mugwumps are to mask their next attack on the tariff. But as the average voter can now discern the signs of the times, more care will be taken, thereby making it harder for political parties to gull the voters. No other party can approach the one in power for prosperity for a nation. It is hardly to be expected therefore that the public will give up a bird in hand for two in the bush.

The Republican State Convention will meet in Baltimore next Wednesday and name a State ticket.

THE star campaign this year is in Kentucky. There are five candidates for governor in the field, but the Prohibition and Populist candidates will attract little attention. The Republican, Democratic and bolting Democratic candidates will occupy the center of the stage. From now on things are going to be warm and all sides will hear some things that will make their ears burn. The bitterness that will be exhibited is expected to surpass anything that has ever been witnessed in the State. The anti-Goebel followers have the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. behind them, while Goebel himself, has fought this corporation in the Legislature and has made an enemy of it. The religious sect is another element Goebel must fight, as he was instrumental in defeating a local option bill in the Legislature and the churches have denounced him for it. Still another element enters the campaign and that is murder. Goebel in '95, then a lawyer, shot and killed a banker in that State. Some say the trouble grew out of a newspaper publication and ex-Senator Blackburn declared on his friend's grave that he would avenge his murder, but he is now touring the State making speeches for the man who killed his friend, thinking perhaps that would be the best way to get even with him. Another element he has to fight is the woman suffragists, who have declared their purpose of taking the stump against him. Kentucky having been a close State for the past few years, it seems Goebelism must be defeated and his lordship elected to stay at home. Ex-Gov. Brown is the Independent Democratic candidate for governor; says he accepted the nomination "in the interest of harmony." "Democratic harmony" is a peculiar looking object but as the party thinks it beats nothing, it is rather lavish in its use just now.

SHOULD Col. Smith perchance, be elected governor, without having resigned as congressman, a special election would be necessary to name his successor. This would entail an expense of $2,000 to $2,500 on each of the counties in this district. If he fails to resign in time for his successor to be elected at the regular election, it will show that he either hopeless of success in winning the governorship or is totally unconcerned as to what expense and inconvenience he places upon the taxpayers of the district. He should resign at once.—Chestertown Enterprise.

While all the above is true there is more to be said. Smith is not only drawing his salary without having done a day's work, but has his clerk hired also for the State to pay $100 a month without anything to do. Is this the "nice fellow" the Democratic party think the voters want for governor of Maryland? We hardly believe the public have forgotten that this Gorman-Smith ticket belong to the "old ring" that sapped the State treasury for years. If Col. Smith would say "he can't resign as congressman," after being nominated for governor, and causing the voters of the State pay two salaries without any return whatever, besides willing to incur a $20,000 needless expense on his district for pecuniary motives, what would'nt he and Gorman do in the governor's chair?

THE latest trust talked of is a dry goods combine. It is proposed to organize a $50,000,000 corporation in New York to control and operate dry goods and department stores all over the country. If merchants are in need of any assistance along this line we refer them to the Democratic Charter Mill of Delaware, which is still doing business at the old stand.

No "extra session" of Congress will be necessary to provide funds for war expenses. Uncle Sam's cash-box is still plethoric.—Balto Herald.

Of course no extra session will be called. This government is now run by men of business who are able to raise all the money necessary in war or peace without calling an extra session of Congress to issue bonds.

A Georgetown, Del, correspondent says all the towns in that section have practically agreed to go into a scheme for having their street and residences lighted by electricity, the power to come from one central point. The plan seems feasible and should take in the whole Peninsula.

AGUINALDO, who in a recent proclamation, spoke of the Democratic party in this country as his principal ally, finds no occasion to change his views on that suject, neither have the people of this country any reason to change their views along this line.

Two of Delaware's leading Democratic politicians, Senator Kenney and Congressman Handy are at odds and a big fight is on between them, but this won't amount to anything if we can judge the present Democratic political "fuss" by past ones.
