TWO FIRES IN CAROLINE.

The property at Gilpin's Point, formerly known as the Nichols property, but now owned by Andrew Towers, was destroyed by fire about midnight Sunday, together with all the household goods and clothing, save a few pieces The fire originated in the back part of the house and had gained considerable headway when discovered. The origin of the fire is unknown and had it not been for a tame coon confined in the part of the house where the fire first started, and which being made uncomfortable by its nearness thereto and giving an alarm, the results might have been more serious. The building was a mass of flames before help could be summonsed. There is a history connected with that place. It is said President Jackson was once the guest at that house, of which no other house in the county can be said to have been thus honored, and perhaps none on the Shore. Insurance on dwelling is for $800, but there is none on the furniture.

Jas. H. Spence, one of the merchants who was burned out during the big fire here last March, sustained another similar loss Monday afternoon by the loss of his 8-room dwelling on his farm near Williston. Mr. Spence says he has carried insurance on that dwelling until recently when he dropped it. The loss on this property, like his stock of goods, is a total loss. The loss is $350 and perhaps more. Mr. Spence's lot has fallen in hard places of late.

A MOST SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL.

[Communicated]

For two weeks a wonderful revival has been going on at Landing Neck M. E. Church, on Trappe charge, Rev. T. F. Tabler, pastor. The meetings are held under the tabernacle of the Caroline County Holiness Association. This meeting reminds one of former years when the churches were more alive, spiritually, than many of them are now; when, as the then pastor of Williston charge, said last year at Concord Camp, "we might expect the conversion of sinners by the hundred at our camps." Thank God, the churches, wherever found, that run their meetings on truly pentecostal lines, see the same results now that were seen then. This meeting is being run on that line, the Holy Ghost is being honored in every meeting, and has the right of way in the hearts of the human instrumentalities used. The result has been the conversion and reclaiming, it is supposed, of over one hundred persons and the sanctification of near as many more. One of the most beautiful sights to me, that I ever saw, was out of the vast throng of people gathered on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 17th, to see ninety people (from thirteen to sixty-five years of age) when the pastor gave the invitation to join the church, press their way through that multitude of people and stand where the space had been cleared for them around the altar, and unite themselves with the societies of that charge. And this was followed by the conversion and sanctification of many more. To God be all the glory! Let all christians join me in earnest prayer for like results in this town and community.

Won't Sow so Much Wheat

Kent county, Delaware, farmers, says an exchange, have decided not to sow wheat in such large quantities this year as heretofore. They claim that after most careful investigation it cannot pay to grow wheat for less than 75 cents a bushel, and the indications are not bright for wheat averaging much more than that amount. In this fertile section wheat can be grown at a low margin for 80 cents per bushel, as the yield per acre in much larger than in the past years. The culture of tomatoes will pay if the average price of $7 per ton is realized, but at any less figure the farmer losses money.

Greatest Corn Crop Ever Raised.

Only an accident can prevent this year's corn crop from breaking all previous records. The Tribune's canvass of eight States which produce the bulk of the crop justify a prediction that the crop will approximate 2,500,000,000 bushels. Including the crop now to be harvested, only nine crops of 2,000,000,000 bushels or over have been produced.

The estimates for 1899 of eight corn States, viz: Kansas, 340,000,000; Nebraska, 310,000,000; Iowa, 260,000,000; Illinois, 230,000,000; Missouri, 190,000,000; Indiana, 150,000,000; Texas, 135,000,000; Ohio, 110,000,000.

Ian Maclaren on The Church.

It has been known for some time that Ian Maclaren has been critically studying modern church method, and the results are now to be made public in The Ladies' Home Journal. His first article is called "The Candy-Pull System in the Church," and in this he frankly states what many have felt but have scarcely ventured to publicly assert with regard to social tendencies of the church. The great English author will then handle "The Mutineer in the church" and after that answer the somewhat startling question, "Should the Old Minister be Shot?

Racing at State and Talbot County Fair.

Racing at Idlewild Park, Easton, Md., has always been of the highest character and this year promises to be even better, over 100 horses will contest and the records will surpass previous years. There will be three races each day, and 4 on Thursday and a mule race Tuesday and Friday. No better track can be found in the State and all lovers of fine racing know that a fine treat is in store for them at the Maryland State and Talbot county Fair September 26, 27, 28 and 29th inst. Noted horses and prominent horsemen will be present.

An Overhead Crossing.

The Q. A. railroad is using pier 40 Light street, as the Baltimore terminal for its steamboat service at that place. A lease of the north side of the pier has been secured and under that arrangement passengers are given the use of the overhead crossing, thus avoiding the necessity of crossing Light street on the serfice in order to reach the pier. The company propose to place its ticket office on a level with the overhead crossing and land its passengers from the upper deck, avoiding disturbance in coming in contact with freight. A similar plan is proposed for Queenstown.

E. E. Turner, Compton, Mo., was cured of piles by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve after suffering seventeen years and trying over twenty remidies. Physicians and surgeons endorse it. Beware of the dangerous counterfeits George & Redden.

Eli Shaw Confesses.

The Philadelphia Times a few days ago contained the following:

"Eli Shaw, twice tried by the Camden county court for the murder of his mother and grandmother and finally acquitted thereof, confessed to the crime, after being confronted with the evidence of his guilt by two members of the staff of the Philadelphia Times—William H. Hay and Howard K. Sloan.

"I killed them, but—you can't touch me—you can't touch me!"

Slowly, coldly, emphatically as ever words were spoken before the bar of man Shaw avowed his guilt.

A weight rose from his mind that had been pressing, grinding him down since the day of his crime. He had confessed. But with his confession Shaw knew that he was safe. The immun ty afforded to the citizens by the constitution that he "shall not be put in jeopardly of life or limb twice for the same offense" was extended to him he thought. Whether this applies to the present case remains to be seen.

The above article has been extensively published by the press during the past few days, but the Philadelphia Press says Shaw never confessed that he committed the double murder.

Court in Cecil County.

Circuit court convened at Elkton on Monday, and promises to be short session. The most important cases is a suit of Joel Dean against the P. W. and B. railroad for $10,000 damages for injuries received while in employ of the company, 18 months ago; the murderous assault case of the two Morrison sisters upon their sister; the legal fight over the sale of the Singerly pulp and paper mills at Elkton and Providence, beeween the bondholders of the properties and the trustees appointed in the decree passed by that court; the case against Constable Windish, of Wilmington who shot Al Terraz at Perryville some days ago and who died from the effects of the wound.

The Princes Anne Hearld says: "The refuse of tomato canneries make an execellent fertilizer if spread right on the land. Some of the farmers of this locality found this out a few years ago, and now they are anxious to get the waste material and remove it without cost to the owners of the canneries; in fact some pay for it and haul it away.

The Keiffer pear crop this year will be immense and it is expected that 25 cents per basket will be received by the farmers who have this fruit. W. F. McKee, of near Chesswold, expects to pick 6000 baskets, and T. H. Hanson, of near Rising Sun, expects to reap 30,000 baskets from his 12,000 tress. It is said C. W. Lord, of Camden, will also have a large crop of this same fruit.
