This makes three children in this family who have died within seven weeks. Mrs. Miller, a married daughter, who was at home helping to nurse the sick ones, contracted the disease and died on November 20th, leaving an infant only six months old. Mr. and Mrs Bridegroom have the sympathy of their many friends and neighbors in their sad bereavement. Only about a year ago they lost a son making four children in about one year.

The health officers have examined the premises and find no cause for the disease except in the drinking water which has been analysed and found to be very bad. The well is an open one and the roots of the shade trees have grown in to it.

The Thanksgiving Shoot.

The shooting match on Thanksgiving Day proved to be quite an interesting affair, although Queen Anne's county again carried off the honors in the inter-county team race, which was quite a disappointment to our home shooters. This race was the most interesting of the day and the shooting was the poorest. The Queen Anne's team won by two birds, George killing 5 out of 10, Godwin 8 and Taylor 5, making a total of 18. For Caroline Beauchamp killed 6 out of 10, Berry 5 and Rice 5, total 16.

In a class shoot which came off first and was participated in by the crack shots of the three counties, the honors for first place were even, Godwin, Hammond and Rice each killing the five birds shot at. George and Steele also tied for second place each killing four birds. Wooters killed two, Berry two and Beauchamp 3.

A summary of the scores gives Rice 23, kills 8 misses; George 20, kills 10 misses; Godwin, 21 kills, 11 misses; Beauchamp, 17 kills, 12 misses; Berry 14 kills, 14 misses; Hammond, 6 kills, 2 misses; Steele 4 kills, 3 misses; Taylor 5 kills, 6 misses; Wooters 6 kills and 10 misses.

A few birds fell dead out of bounds and of course were not counted. The most of the birds were strong flyers, although some of them were slow to get up.

OBITUARY.

[Communicated]

John Wesley Gambrill was born in Caroline County, August 8, 1838; died in the Green Camp, Ohio, Nov. 19, 1899.

He was the son of Gideon and Anna Gambrill. Two brothers and three sisters survive him.

On September 18, 1862, he was married to Lucinda C. Adams, which union has been blessed by three children, Caleb Henry, William Thomas and John Edward.

In Autumn of 1868 John Gambrill with his family took up his residence in Green Camp.

Eight years ago what proved to be the enemy of his life, began the work of his system. For three years past his sufferings were so intense and the progress of disease so study that he did not venture away from home. He often lamented that he could not attend church, but was resigned and submissive to the providence that came into his life. To him, death, though looked for, came suddently but found him ready.

In the last days of his life he discussed to some degree his preparation, assuring his wife that all was well, and that he was ready.

"Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord."

IN MEMORIAM.

Mrs. Mary Lucinda Miller, beloved companion and wife of Frank Miller, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bridegroom, quietly and gently fell asleep in death's cold and silent slumber on the evening of Nov. 20th, aged 18 years, 4 months and 29 days. She was a victim of the dreded disease, typhoid fever. She patiently bore her afflictions, hoping soon to get well again. She looked forward to a happy future; but it has pleased our blessed Saviour to call her hence, and we hope to meet her again where no farewell will ever be spoken in that bright home above. It was hard to part with her, yet in the midst of all our trials let us remember that he who hath taken her away is abundantly able to bless amid sorrow and sighing. She was a kind and loving friend and was held in high esteem by those who knew her, and she was ever ready and willing to lend a helping hand to those in need. Let us feel that in all trial and sorrow that Jesus hath done all things well.

Why do we mourn departing friends,
Or shake at death's alarm?
'Tis but the voice that Jesus sends,
To call them to his arms.

Are we not tending upward, too,
As fast as time can move?
Nor should we wish the hours more slow,
To keep us from our love.

We hope to meet our beloved there,
Who once joined with us here;
Our morning time shall then be over,
And we shall live to die no more.

Dearest sister thou hast left us,
And thy loss we deeply feel,
But 'tis God that has bereft us;
He can all our sorrows heal.

Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled;
Then in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tear is shed.

M. A. G.

In loving remberance of Earl B. Cohee, who departed this life one year ago, November 22, 1898.

One less at home, the charmed circle broken--a dear face missed day by day from its usual place, but cleansed, saved, perfected by grace. One more in Heaven.

Death of Mr. Wesley Roe.

Mr. Wesley Roe, a highly respected farmer of this county, died at the Maryland University Hospital, in Baltimore, on Wednesday last. His remains were brought to his late home on the Denton-Hillsboro road on the evening of the same day and the funeral was held on Friday, Rev. J. M. Brown of the M. P. Church, of which the deceased was a member, conducting the ceremonies. Mr. Roe was a native of this county and for many years has resided on his farm between this place and Hillsboro. He has not been in good health for several years and had grown so feeble that he was unable to attend to any business. His physicians gave him no hope of recovery except through having an operation performed. He decided to submit to the ordeal and the operation was performed and five days later he passed away. He leaves a widow and one daughter, and a number of brothers and sisters. He was about 70 years of age. The remains were interred in Denton Cemetery.

Leonard Damage Case.

The jury in the Leonard railroad damage case for $30,000 against the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway, growing out of the killing of Capt. Edmund T. Leonard and Abner H. Larrimore at the Easton Point road crossing October 20, 1898, rendered a verdict for the defendant under the instructions of the Court.

In passing upon the prayers of the Court said the absence of signboards, watchman or other warnings was not conclusive of negligence on the part of the defendant. The statue gives the County Commissioners power to require railway companies to put up warning signs at the place where the railroad crosses the public highways. The County Commissioners of Talbot county have never required the defendant corporation to do this.

The hedge is also eliminated because it has been proved that while it is on land owned by the railroad company, it having been leased to Henry Nichols at the time of the accident, it was not in possession of the railroad company nor under its control.

The Court found that there was no contributary negligence on the part of of Captain Leonard nor the driver, Mr. Larrimore; also that there was conclusive testimony that the trainman gave all required train signals, so that there was no negligence on their part. The Court therefore, granted the first of the prayer of the defendant, took the case from the jury and directed it to bring in a verdict for the defendant. Plaintiff's counsel, contending that the case should have gone to the jury to find from the evidence whether or not the trainman had given the proper signals at the proper times, there being evidence on both sides of the proposition, noted an exception, to take the matter to the Court of Appeals.

IN MEMORIAM.

For the Union.

In loving rememberance of Mabel Amelia, the bright and interesting little daughter of R. H. and Mary E. Focht, who died November 9, 1899, aged six years and twenty-one days.

Beautiful the death of a little child,
Ere its pure soul by power of sin is riven;
"Suffer little children to come unto me,
For of such is the Kingdom of Heaven.

Little Mabel to you only a little while was given,
Though no more you see the little form you love,
Your darling is not lost to you dear parents,
But waits for you at Heven's gate above.

Called from this world of care and pain,
Ere her little feet the path of sin had trod
Clothed in robes of spotless white,
Her spirit rests with God.

"God plucks from this world of ours,
The fairest buds and sweetest flowers,"
This lovely child too fair to bloom in a garden of earthly love,
Eternally shall bloom in Heaven's garden above.

When Jesus takes our loved ones,
We have stronger ties above,
We do not ask to understand,
This we know God's will is best for God is love.

With thy head pillowed on the Saviour's breast,
Naught can disturb thy peaceful slumber, rest on dear one,
Heaven gave and Heaven reserves thee to take,
Blessed Lord, Thy will be done.

Sleep on sweet child thou art not dead,
Thou with Christ in Paradise eternally shall reign,
Only a little while from parents, ere in Heaven,
You clasp in your arms your darling again.

When our boys are almost dead from whooping cough, our doctors gave them One Minute Cough Cure. They recovered rapidly, "writes P. B. Belles, Argyle Pa. It cures coughs, colds, grippe and throat and lung troubles. George & Redden.

Suicide of Fred C. Ludwig.

Fred C. Ludwig, of Elkton, died in Philadelphia Sunday under peculiarly sad circumstances. Ludwig left Elkton on Wednesday week and after he had gone it was found he was very much involved and attachment amounting to nearly $3000 were issued against him and his business was placed in the hands of the Sheriff. Last week his mother received a letter from her son dated Trenton, N. J., saying that he was going to commit suicide and giving direction as to his funeral. His mother, who was almost frantic made every effort to locate her son, and while it was know that he was in Philadelphia, all efforts to find him were fruitless. Sunday morning she received a telegram saying that her son was ill, and the second dispatch which arrived as she was boarding a train for Philadelphia, informed her that son had been removed to Hahnemann Hospital. Word was afterward received that Ludwig was dead, and that his death was the result of a pistol shot wound, inflicted by himself, in an area way near Fifteenth and Race streets Ludwig was about 24 years of age and one of the most popular young men in that community. At the death of his father, Charles F. Ludwig, several years ago, he succeeded his father in the barber business, which he continued to conduct until last December, when he was granted license for the wholesale liquor store in Elkton. Business trouble is no doubt the cause which led to his sad death.
