Thursday, Dec. 14, 1899.

No President since the early days of the Republic has held a place and position like that which is President McKinley's today. His renomination is certain, and his reelection is as nearly certain as any future event can be, says the Philadelphia Press. Everything at this time points to the President as being the man to finish the work entrusted to him during his term of office, all of which he or any other president could not complete in one term. The elections in November, victory in the Philippines, prosperity in the country, the success of every step in his foreign policy, and the divisions and blunders of the opposition, gave the President a decissive certainty of nomination and election no president has enjoyed in the past quarter of a century or more. The President has a united country behind him, with practically no political opposition and both branches of congress friendly to him and ready to put into execution any measure he may ask for. Today he stands as a model president, made so by his own level-headed and far-seeing ability to deal with important questions of the day. His manly way of dealing with foreign possessions, has removed all doubt, if any really existed, of his ability to handle them aright. If fact his excellent judgment has appealed so strongly to reason in all parties that it will be the next thing to impossible to defeat his reelection next year. To sum the President's term of office up in a few words as expressed by the Brooklyn Eagle, a Democratic paper on his message to congress last week, is told in these words: "There is not a partisan line in it. There is not a note of anger or rashness in it. It is the work of a man who appears to feel the legal and moral responsibility of a great office, in a great time, held in trust for a great people, a people whose interests are not only those of the present but such as reach far into the future. We think the country will like the message in all its details and test of all, will like the broadness of its tone throughout, from beginning unto end."

ATTORNEY-General Griggs in his annual report says the "Supreme Court has decided that the Federal Government has no constitutional right to interfere with the transaction of ordinary business within the confines of a State, and that, as a result, actions against combinations for the restraint of trade or competition cannot be maintained in the U. S. courts, unless there is an interstate feature in the cases." This is plain enough and should set calamity howlers who blame the Federal government with things that doesn't just suit them, to thinking. No State should elect men to office who are not fully qualified to discharge its many and perplexing duties in an able, business-like way that will not reflect honor and dignity on the commonwealth. We are a great nation, and as such, the Federal government should not be called upon to interfere with State affairs, unless absolutely necessary; national affairs alone being so many and varied as to need the closest attention possible.

"Old Kentuck is a hard road to travel," we have heard, and now so say others. It has heretofore been considered a kind of a "go and do as you please State;" provided your skin was white. The recent campaign has wrought many changes, however. Even money bets on the election are unpaid, although Taylor has his election certificate. It is said the contest is to be carried into the legislature, and as that is Democratic Taylor will be unseated. The decision of the State Board of Election Commissioners is a hard blow for democracy, it having two members of the board took it for granted Goebel would be counted in. Such a course would have precipitated bloodshed. The Brown Democrats and Republicans won with all the election machinery against them. Having won with such odds against them it seems only natural that there would be a loud and long protest against deliberate fraud.

THERE is no better way of judging whether this country is prosperous or not than by the business of railroads. Those who have made a study of this matter say this has been the banner year for railroads, the first 11 months of this year breaking the record of any 12 months in previous s

...r job printing.

...ed that for ... Democratic party has insisted on saying the Republican party was favorable to trusts because they came in on the flood tide of Republican prosperity. That saying so, however, does not necessarily make it so. The President last week expressed himself in this way concerning them: "Combinations of capital organized into trusts to control the conditions of trade among our citizens, to stifle competition, limit production and determine the prices of products used and consumed by the people, are justly provoking public discussion, and should early claim the attention of Congress," and also says "there must be a remedy for the evils involved in such organizations," and urges Congress to discover and apply that remedy. "If the present law can be extended more certainly to control or check these monopolies or trusts, it should be done without delay. Whatever power the Congress possesses over this most important subject should be promptly ascertained and asserted." He does not stop here but also urges the necessity and practicability of uniform legislation by the several States to supplement Congressional action. Some of the leading journals are inclined to view this as meaning an anti-trust plank in the Republican platform next year. It should be there whether it means it or not. True Republican doctrine does not believe in legalizing capital to do anything detrimental to labor, or sap the life from business, but to the contrary, it fosters business, cares for labor and makes markets for the farmers' products.

WE can't see for the life of us how the Republican papers can defend trusts and hold them up as a good thing when they receive statements from their companies that paper has advanced and is still on the jump.—Seaford News. All reforms should begin at home, Mr. Editor. Your trust mill at Dover, sanctioned, oiled and run solely by democracy, turned out 42 "obnoxious trusts" during the month of October, and last month it turned out 56 trusts with an aggregate capital stock of about $133,000,000, and still the News has never written a line against it, but kicks at the Republican party for legalizing trusts. Justice to the G. O. P. calls for better things. If the party is without an issue, then let it run its next campaign as it did the last one in this State; by keeping its mouth shut.

"DIGNITY alone demands it!" says the Easton Ledger. What? Who ever heard of dignity being insulted because a special election was not held in a case of this kind whereby the counties in the First District would have to dance to a tune of about $20,000; something like $1,800 being what it would cost Caroline county. The Ledger should have joined this and other papers in the district several weeks ago, urging Col. Smith to resign his congressional office and allow his successor to be chosen at the November election. If we can judge anything by the Colonel's actions, he esteems a month's tenure in office far more than he does his successor or the people's money, or their wishes.

THE Centreville Observer says "A. P. Gorman never was given to the practice of attacking stone walls, and knowing this, we disbelieve the story that he is lying awake at night trying to devise means for defeating the nomination of Mr. Bryan." It matters little what the Observer may or may not think of Mr. Gorman, but the public knows that he would not stop at "stone walls," if by downing them he could down Bryan he would do it. He is not walking into any fly parlors at present, as he did two years ago. Gorman's own party has sealed his doom and given him notice that his day for office-holding is past.

SEN. Hanna, of Ohio, says that "politics, as a profession, is a bad thing, and advises young men to let them alone as a profession, but there never was a time when this country needed, more than it does at present, thoughtful young men in politics, workers and hard students, looking to the betterment of conditions."

Men of all political shades and beliefs agree with Mr. Hanna and freely acknowledge that corruption exists in all political parties and that young men have a broad field of usefulness before them. Will they improve the opportunity?

THE chances are that Congressman-elect Roberts, of Utah, will be expelled and he ought to be. Any man who wants three wives is a dangerous man to turn loose among our national lawmakers.—Snow Hill Messenger. Drive a peg, the Messenger is on the right side for once; the first time we ever knew it to go against its party for anything.

THE election commissioners have done the right thing in signing W. S. Taylor's certific of election as governor of Kentucky. The official figures of the vote filed with the Secretary of State are; Taylor, 193,714; Goebel, 191,331; Taylor's plurality, 2,383.

...nd dying thief and to ...e departure of Christ for three ...days from the earth, but without a ...shade of new doctrine, such as the ...church has not held during her entire history. When I say church I mean the standard-bearers of her theology, men who deal with the fundamental principles of biblical truth. The dying thief did not go to Heaven, but to the place of the dead, neither did Christ go to Heaven on the day He died, but He went to Hades Paradise; the place of the dead. That the place of the souls between death and the resurrection is different from their final abode, was generally believed by the primative church. When man fell into sin, he became heir to a three-fold death, physical, spiritual and eternal. Our advocate, Jesus Christ, consented to meet the whole case for man, therefore He placed Himself in a position to do this very thing. Hence, Paul said, 'that He by the grace of God should taste death for every man.' He was counted as a sinner for the sake of sinners. He actually died a physical death on Calvary. He tasted eternal death when he descended into Hades. Our Deliverer took the place of the captive; being made sin for us and a curse for us. That Christ locally descended into hell is a doctrine believed not only by the Baptists, but by many belonging to the reformed churches; 'by which he went and preached to the spirits in prison.' That Christ was in Hades, or the under world, during his three days absence from earth is strongly admitted by various theologians of the Christian church." Mr. Sunfield in his endeavor to prove his theory quotes from Psalm 16, 10; "Thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; neither wilt thou suffer thine Holy one to see corruption." The preacher also said that "Christ's decension into hell is expressly uttered in the person of David as type of Christ. Sheol in the New Testament means Hades, and signifies the state of the dead. As to the dying thief, he is in Hades as is also the other thief, and the final verdict will be rendered in God's order, namely, the Judgment Day."

SOME weeks ago the UNION pointed out the fact that the county was paying out money for the care of a large per cent. of her insane in Baltimore that could as well be cared for at the Almshouse farm at far less expense to the county. Last year the commissioners paid $2,275.73 for the support of her insane. By erecting a suitable building at the farm a large annual saving could be made undoubtedly. In order to look into the practicability of caring for the insane, the Trustees of the Poor and County Commissioners will meet Overseer Norris at the Almshouse next Wednesday to consider the matter. If Caroline, Talbot and Queen Anne's counties could get together and form one institution for the three counties, this might be still cheaper and better for all concerned.

IT is hardly necessary to say that the Georgetown Journal is rather ancient, as the following is self explanitory: "The revenues from internal sources to the government increased $100,000,000 and yet the treasury shows a deficit of $89,000,000. The present administration excuses itself for the state of affairs on the ground that we are a great nation." This is Democratic theory; here is stubborn facts as taken from the treasury report; see the difference: "The national debt decreased in September last $8,400,000. The treasury receipts from July 1, to October 1, increased $18,000,000 as compared with the same period last year and $60,000,000 compared with the same period in '97. The receipts in excess of expenditures since July, including war expense, is $5,000,000."

ROBERTS, the mormon, is beginning to realize that he can not be any more than a congressman-elect. The resolution as to administering the oath to Roberts stood 302 to 30, of which 28 were Democrats, one silverite and one Republican. When called this week to tell why he should be sworn in, waived a hearing, stating that he was not ready to explain. The point involved is that of his having three wives. He ought to be able to explain that to his own satisfaction, if not to others.

REPORTS from Washington say the party factions which existed in the Republican party in this State have been dissolved and the hatchet buried, but who was the harmonizer is asked? Some say President McKinley. Be it whom it may, it was a good job.

WILL Mormon Roberts draw his salary as a congressman in the future is being asked. He drew it up to the 3rd of December, the day before congress met. If the wishes of the people is carried out we believe we will be safe in saying he will get it like he got his seat; in the neck.

SEWING MACHINES.

THE BEST MADE AT HALF AGENTS PRICES, ON MY EASY PAYMENT PLAN.

Do not be deceived by the worthless bargain-counter machines that are being offered through catalogues by unreliable dealers, they only tend to deceive you. Again, do not be induced to pay $50 or $60 for a machine, by the "Middle Man." I buy direct from the factories in large quantities, with a Five-year Guarantee on every machine. The makes I handle have been tried in your community for the last 30 years and need no recommendation. My prices are stunners.
