...uts to say of it edi-
...ew days ago: "Every in-
...a now points to an almost to-collaps of the free silver cause before the next presidential campaign. The consideration of the currency Reform bill by the House of Representatives is rapidly bringing Democratic sentiment on the subject to a focus, and the vote on the bill will witness a large exodus from the Democratic ranks. Already Representative Driggs, of Brooklyn, Democrat, has spoken in support of the bill, and when the vote is taken his example will be followed by five other Democrats representing the Kings county, N. Y. districts. Other Democratic desertions of the free silver cause are being daily recorded. Only recently J. C. Sibley, Democrat from Erie, Pa., district, announced his abandonment of the heresy in a most notable interview. Mr. Sibley has been the most prominent of the Eastern free silverites, and in 1896 was prominently mentioned for nomination as Bryan's running mate. Now, after less than four years, he discusses the silver question in this strain: 'Bimetallism was a living issue in '96, but the conditions have changed. In that year I publicly predicted that if McKinley and the gold standard were then successful prices would fall, with a corresponding increase in the purchasing power of the gold dollar, and we would have an era of hard times and commercial depression such as this country has seldom witnessed. Now I look around me and I see the forges blazing, the fires lighted in all the furnaces, the shuttles weaving and the looms spinning; every man who has a day's labor to sell finding a ready market for it, our ships loaded to the Plimsoll line with exports bound for all parts of the world, and everywhere plenty and prosperity. And so it occurs to me that somebody must have been mistaken, and perhaps that fellow was me.'"

If this country had more Democrats of this stamp, the people would be better off. All that Mr. Sibley says are facts, and more too, and the men who stand up and says we are not enjoying a high order of prosperity throughout the nation, displays more brass than brains. It is prosperity directly traceable to the gold standard victory, and is so openly admitted by Democrats of the Sibley kind, and he is far-seeing enough to admit it and get into the band wagon. Lots of people in all parties were honest in their free silver proclivities four years ago, but who to day have entirely different views on this subject. There were two forces brought to bear in '96 which are extinct today; vaulting politicians who endeavored to ride into office on a hobby, while another class were led to believe that cheap money meant plenty of money. This delusion has rectified itself, and clearly proven the falsity of such claims. All, and more too, that was claimed by "McKinley's advance agents of prosperity," has come true; while all that the Bryan following predicted, failed to materialize.

IN the Court of Appeals a few days ago, this question was before the court: "Can a mortgagor whose mortgage is in default, plant a crop and then execute a bill of sale of that crop to a third person, and thereby deprive the purchaser of the mortgaged farm from claiming the growing crop, if the farm be sold under the mortgage while the crop is still growing?" The vendee under the bill of sale brought an action of trover against the purchaser of the farm for the value of the crop. The crop was planted when the mortgage was overdue. The mortgagor sold the crop by a bill of sale to the person who furnished the fertilizer with which the crop was planted. Before the crop was ripe the mortgagee sold the farm under the mortgage and the purchaser at that sale afterward cut the crop and still holds it. The Court holds that the execution of a bill of sale by a mortgagor does not constructively sever the crop from the land, and that as the crop was actually growing and was annexed to the land at the time the land was sold it passed with the land to the purchaser and that the latter's right to it is superior to the right claimed by the vendor of the fertilizer under the bill of sale. If the mortgage had not been foreclosed until after the crop had been cut by the mortgagor or his vendee, the title which the bill of sale conveyed would have been good. Every person who buys a crop growing on mortgaged land is liable to have his title to the crop defeated if the mortgage be foreclosed and the land with the crop growing on it be sold before the crop is actually severed and cut. Though a growing crop has been treated and regarded as personal property, yet until it is cut and severed from the land it forms part of the mortgagee's security for the payment of the debt due him, and he can't be deprived that security if he forecloses the mortgage and sells the land while the crop is standing.

THE directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad gave the public a surprise a few days ago by announcing that the capital stock of the company was to be increased 10 per cent., or $13,000,000, making the capital stock of that great corporation, $142,000,000.

THIS Stat...

Democrats. As to how the former was going to vote on the currency issue was not a question, but as to Col. Smith's position, that is not so dead sure. It is an open secret his selling out to the gold wing of his party and the silver wing also. It was an easy thing to please both sides then, but how is it now? Circus business wont go there. When it came to voting on the currency bill the Colonel's nose must be counted on one side or the other; which side will it be? The one, of course, that seems most congenial to his popularity, but which is that? The public can rest assured he will find that out before he votes either way. Mr. Denny, the other Democratic representative says he was elected on a gold platform and shall represent his constituents, which he can do with honor to his office, which will make five of the six votes in favor of the currency bill. The Colonel should remove this needless suspense among his friends, and the sooner the better. He seemed anxious a short time ago to show his hand in congress, and now the public is anxious that he should. But how did he do it? By absenting himself from Washington Monday, is the way it was done. Now both wings of the Democratic party should be ashamed after this, and likely they will be.

THE Maryland Game and Fish Protective Association is now holding meetings, preparatory to shaping legislation at the coming session of the General Assembly. While the game and fish laws are better than ever before, still there is room for improvements. It might be well for those interested in fishing and gunning to meet the association in Baltimore at some future meeting and see if legislation could not be gotten that would benefit this section. If this isn't done, our representatives can be seen with but little trouble and urged to remember this county in those interests. In late years the fishing and gunning seasons have gradually become less profitable until now there is neither profit or sport in either.

THE following is a synopsis of the President's message to congress in a nut shell, which he submit to our readers.

All pledges made to the Cubans must be kept.

Support the existing gold standard and maintain the parity in value of the gold and silver coins.

Enforce and extend the law to control or check monopolies or trusts.

Organize national banks with a capital stock of $25,000.

Increase the strength of the American merchant marine.

Provide a more complete form of territorial government for Porto Rico and Alaska.

Put the postal service on a self-sustaining basis.

Amend the pension law relating to widows of soldiers and sailors.

Define and prove a government for the Hawaiian Islands.

Build the Nicaragua Canal.

Establish cable lines to Hawaii, Guam, and the Philippines.

Appoint a commission to study the commercial and industrial conditions in the Chinese Empire.

Provide no specific form of government for the Philippines until after peace is restored.

THE tin plate mills of Wales are said to be doing a splendid business despite the American tariff. There are now 400 of them in operation and they make a better article at a less price than the American plate. —Dem. Ex. We are at a loss to see party argument here. If both the Welch and American mills are busy with the present tariff, and works no hardships for either country, why is it not a good thing, and why don't Democratic papers come out and acknowledge the fact? The laboring men all over this country recognize the worth of the Dingley tariff to them as a means of protecting home industries and supplying them with steady imployment at good wages.

MUCH presure, politically, has been brought to bear on Gov. Lowndes to induce him to appoint an associate judge in the Fifth Judicial Circuit to succed Judge Jones, who has been elected to the chief judgeship, but he has not yet decided to do so. How different such things are in Democratic circles. Since the election of Col. Smith as governor, and sometime before, perhaps, there has been a scramble for office, and will likely continue to the last day Mr. Smith is in power. It requires no glasses to discern the difference between the two great parties.

A Baltimore exchange calls the road running fron Chestertown to Bombay Hook, two lines of rusty rails, and dignified by the name of the Balto. & D. B. railroad. The Kent News says "this road is the butt of many smarties, yet, with all its defects, its value to our people is inestimable." When it becomes a part of the great Pennsylvania system its worth will be greatly enhanced.

JUNE 19th is the day; Philadelphia is the city, and the exposition building the place where the next president and vice-president of this nation will be named.

IT must be rather amusing to the thinking classes of colored voters to contemplate the new-born love in the Democratic party for them all of a sudden. They tell him they are his friends and well wisher, but fail to give him any proof of it, or even to explain why the Democratic party south of us is chasing them like wild beasts, and when caught think lynching, and even burning at the stake none too good for them, rather than let the law take its course where it has been broken. Even John Walter Smith, of Worcester county, is reported as being one of the ring leaders in his native town just before the last election to "protect" some colored men with Democratic proclivities. "We are the colored man's friend," they say; the kind of friend Mr. Hering referred to here before the election as having "the butt in his pocket." To emphasize this love more strongly a colored man by the name of Sharp who has a newspaper on the Western Shore, has sold out to the Democratic party, but wants his colored brethren to believe that he plays Republican music still. A Democrat puts it thus: "Republicans will never again be able to control the negro vote again. Their vote will remain divided, and the best men irrespective of party will be supported. The time has gone by for using the yoke of Republicanism over a negro because he is a colored man." Without dwelling on the taffy the Democratic party is giving the colored man, what is that party going to do with its "white man's party" claims? It has kept scores of its illiterate whites in line by appealing to their ignorance and prejudices on the color line, and now to take down these bars how are they to be kept in line? or, has this line become so faint by usage that it is to be cast aside? It has long since lost its effect on many whites and they are now voting the party of their choice.

FOR some time past it has been rumored that the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. was in a fair way to control all the railroad and steamboat lines on the Eastern Shore. The Baltimore Sun on Monday published an article strengthening these reports, and it now looks as if the "Little Queeny" would sooner or later be added to the great system. The new management now propose to extend the Delaware Bay Railread from Rock Hall to Baltimore, and thus make that distance by boat one hour and fifteen minutes, or one-half the time it requires to run from Queenstown to Baltimore. It has generally been considered a mistake that the Queen Anne's railroad did'nt run its tracks to Kent Island and take in that fertile section, besides land passengers and freight in Baltimore more than an hour sooner. Some are inclined to believe that in case the Pennsylvania gets control of this road it would be done. The section this road passes through would be materially benefitted in more ways than one in control of the Penna. Connections at Queen Anne and other points would then be made, much to the comfort and convenience of the public, besides many other much needed improvements. Like the Del... Bay road this one has about reached its zenith unless the Pennsylvania gets control, and then like all other new possessions, decided improvements would soon follow. We all recognize that the Queen Anne's under its present management has done much to develop the section through which it passes, but we can not live on the past and be prosperous, any more than the mill can grind with the water which has passed the wheel.

THE N. Y. Post says if ex-Pres. Cleveland regrets leaving the White House, his most intimate friends do not know it. If Mr. Cleveland does regret it, the Post could have added, he and his lieutenants are about the only ones. If the ex-President has any sincere regrets, they are on financial lines, perhaps, or should be at any rate.

THE knowing ones say "it's all fixed, McKinley & Root will be the Republican nominees by acclamation." The Democrats are steering toward Bryan & Hogg. Then it will be literally a "Root Hog or die" campaign!—Kent News. Wont it be a ... and die campaign for the ...ocratic ticket next year, any-...?

Cook and that they lived together as man and wife until the Third day of August, 1895. That though the conduct of the said Mary J. Simeon toward her husband, the said Isaac L. Simeon, was always kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Isaac L. Simeon has, without any just cause or reason, aabndoned and deserted her, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least three years, is deliberate and final, and the seperation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconcillation. The bill states: "That the Complainant and Respondent were married on or about the Fifteenth day of August 1894, at Smithville, Caroline County, Maryland, by the Rev. Mr. Green; that she and the Respondent resided together in the State of Delaware for a period of about seven months after they were married when they separated and she returned to her parents at Smithville, Maryland, and has continued to reside in this State ever since; that at the expiration of the said seven months after their said marriage, though the conduct of your Oratrix toward the said Charles Voss had always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said Charles Voss without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for more than three years, is deliberate and final and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the said Charles Voss is not a resident of the State of Maryland but your Oratrix believes resides in the State of Delaware, and that your Oratrix is advised and believes that she is entitled to be divorced a vinculo matrimonii, from the said Charles Voss."
