Death of Daniel Williams.

Mr. Daniel Williams, a prominent farmer of the Eighth district, died at his home on Thursday morning last very suddenly, of hemorrhage, aged 76 years. Mr. Williams was in his usual health and at the time of his death was preparing to go to Federalsburg with a neighbor, Mr. B. N. Chambers. He began to cough and started the hemorrhage and died in the porch.

He leaves a widow and eight children, four of whom are sons and prominent farmers in the district. Mr. Williams owned four fine farms, but had retired from business several year ago. The funeral was held at Bloomery Church on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and an unusually large number of friends attending. Rev. J. W. Fogle conducted the services and the remains were interred in the Church Cemetery.

Mr. Williams spent the greater part of his life in the neighborhood where he died. He was an excellent farmer, good neighbor, scrupulously honest in all his dealings and will be greatly missed in the community.

Showers of Pumice Stone.

The fact has just been made public that during Sunday's tornado showers of pumice stone fell in Southeast Baltimore. In the yard of William Duffy, 312 Albemarle street, more than a bushel of pumice particles, each about the size of a pea, were found, and residents on neighboring streets had the same experience.

There is no pumice stone in that region, and the shower of stones has aroused much speculation. The pumice when crushed has a sulphuric odor, and this has suggested the idea that it may have blown from some active volcano. It is announced that scientists will investigate the matter.

Church Notes.

The M. E. Sunday School, of Queen Anne, will go on an excursion to Rehoboth today.

At the close of Sabbath School at the M. E Church on Sunday morning Superintendent Henry R. Lewis invited the entire school to spend to morrow evening on the lawn at his home.

Dr. E. L Cross, of the Conference Academy, preached in the M. E. Church on Sunday evening. Owing to the excessive heat and thunder storm the congregation was not large Dr. Cross has been connected with the Academy for about two years and under his management the School is improving and prospering finely.

In announcing special old folks' service in his churches for next Sunday, Rev. Richard R. K. Dill, of Canterbury charge said that, in order to make themselves comfortable during the heat, the men will be allowed to worship in their shirt wasts. This is a new departure for churches and the pastors suggestion will doubtless be complied with.

Shiloh Campmeeting, three miles from Hurlocks will begin on Aug 1., continuing for ten days. Some fine preaching is promised. Among the ministers who will be present are: Rev. T. F. Little, D. D., Rev. J. M. Holmes, Rev. S. J. Smith, D. D., Rev. J. M Dickey, Rev. G. M. Clayton, Rev. J. A. Wright, Rev. J. D. Kinzer, and Rev. T. O. Crouse.

Rev. C. W. Smith, of Hillsboro, filled the pulpit in the M. E. Church in the absence of Rev. J. T. Richardson on Sunday morning, and preached an interesting and pleasing sermon. He is also a fine singer and delighted the congregation by singing a couple of sacred solos. Mr. Smith is very popular with his congregations on Hillsboro circuit and services at his churches are all well attended.

The congregation of Grace M. E. Church, Centreville, had the pleasure of attending two unique and interesting services on Sunday of last week. The church was tastefully decorated with sheaves of wheat and about two hundred flags. The effect was beautiful and won the admiration of the large audience that attended the exercises. In the morning the pastor preached a harvest sermon and in the evening the exercises were of a patriotic nature.

Federalsburg a Jolly Town.

Under the above heading the Cambridge Democrat and News says editorially: When the firemen responded to the call for aid from Federalsburg, our sister town, they did so with usual alacrity and eager to display their ability as fire fighters. However, there was little of this to be done as the local men made such a magnificent fight that our men had nothing to do but relieve them.

The gratitude the good people of Federalsburg displayed for this little service was unbounded, and impressed our men to an umlimited extent. After work was over and the apparatus loaded on the train, the firemen were taken in charge and distributed among the private families where they were given the best the land afforded with that hospitality that has made Caroline county famous.

Once before Rescue Firemen went to Federalsburg on a similar errand and the men were treated royally; not only did they have the same reception but finishing touches were added to the program that made it all very charming.

At Rehoboth.

The Queen Anne's moonlight excursion train brought a large crowd here Tuesday to enjoy the surf bathing and fine moon. At Rehoboth, when there is a moon of any consequence, the commissioners are wise enough to decree "lights out" all over town, and every cottage, sand-dune and ocean wave is clear-cut in the silvery radience. With an unbroken expanse of ocean covering 180 degrees, there is unlimited opportunity for moonlight effect, and if in all else Rehoboth fails, in its picturesqueness at this season, no resort on the coast or inland can equal Rehoboth.

Three commissioners, three auditors and two judges of election will be elected next Saturday. The progressive ticket is as follows: Commissioner, Joseph D. Truxton, the Rev. W. L. S. Murray, D. D., and Capt. J. A. Chelton; Auditors, W. T. Manning, A. W. Dick and A. B. Gillespies; Judges of Election, Geo. W. Roseman and E. C. Hardesty.

Caroline Jail and Almshouse Inspected.

G. S Griffith, president of the Maryland Prisoners' Aid Association and Rev. William C. Stoudenmire, general agent, were in Caroline county last week, inspecting the jails and almshouses and holding religious services. A part of their report as published in the daily papers was as follows: "The jail at Denton contained three prisoners—two colored and one white—all were male and all were held on petty charges. Two of them are sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction for sixty days each. The jail is in as good sanitary condition as possible with such a building. Speaking of it Mr. Griffith comments as follows:

"'A splendid prosperous county town and Courthouse, on beautiful, capacious grounds, and a little old jail that would be a disgrace to any little crossroad town, stands on that lovely spot with the courthouse. Caroline county, awake, take the blot from your fair escutcheon, build a jail for Denton.'

"There are occasional religious services held for the prisoners. I. L. Dukes, the sheriff, is on the alert to try and keep his prisoners, but they may leave him at any time if they choose.

"The almshouse near Denton contained 12 inmates—white male, 2; white female, 2; colored male, 4; colored female, 4. The building is in fairly good sanitary condition and is being carefully kept by the superintendent, Samuel T. Norris, and his wife, the matron. The comfort and good cheer of the inmates, the splendid condition of the farm, and the hopeful outlook of the institution speak the praise of the management in eloquent terms.

"Several of the inmates are on vacation with relatives or friends, and will return before September. There are about thirty pensioners, costing the county in the neighborhood of $300; besides there are 15 or 16 in insane assylums, paid for by the county at the rate of $150 per annum.

"This almshouse has a farm of 500 acres, 220 of which are being cultivated and are yielding abundantly. The levy for this institution is only $800 at present. Four years ago it was $2500; three years ago, it was $2000, two years ago $1500. The debt that was upon the institution has been wiped out, and it is about ready to support itself from the products of the farm.

"The tearing away of the old buildings, and the building of a new modern almshouse is the crying need. The superintendent says; 'It is the greatest wonder that the whole place has not been swept by fire long ago, with so many stoves in these old traps, rickety and crumbling with age.'

"The taxpayers are urging the necessity of building a proper almshouse with an insane department or building, so as to keep the insane there also, and lighten the expense of the county. The board of trustees and board of county commissioners are agitating this much needed improvement."

BASE BALL.

A very one-sided game of base ball was played on the grounds of the Denton Athletic Association on Saturday afternoon last, when the Harrington team went down before our boys by the score of 10 to 3. A feature of the game was a catch of a short left field fly by Willey. The score was so poorly kept that we are able to give only the line-up of the two teams and the score by innings.

Incorporation of Monster Coke Company.

The incorporation on Monday, July 7th, of the $30,000,000 coke gas concern, which brought into Delaware a cool $4,500, has again started the corporation business on a fresh boom, defying the heated term and vacation season. The development of mines and oil wells seems only to have begun if the confidence of the prospectors and incorporators who are paying good money into the state to support their beliefs can be taken into account. The corporation business at Dover has had but one severe disappointment. It was that Delaware, which was indirectly making a sturdy effort, did not get to incorporate the billion-dollar steel company, which paid over to New Jersey for its corporate privileges the round sum of $260,000. This would have built for Delaware her much coveted state workhouse and given the builders and the state a little pocket money beside.

IN MEMORIAM.

Captain Matthew Garey, aged 69 years, after weary months of pain, passed quietly away at his late home, affectionately cared for during that period by his dutiful sons and only daughter.

It is not always granted to attain to one's heart's desire in this life, but God was very good to him, and lovingly permitted that he should. As the hours crept on apace, and the shadows were lengthening on that rare June day, he verily, being "so tired," "wapped the drapery of his couch around him and lay down to pleasant dreams," and thus quietly passed out. "Where beyond these voices there is peace."

Who would not covet such an exit?

The subject of these lines was unpretentious in a marked degree. Scorning cant and pretence, with the intensity of a strong and upright nature, he lived, walked and died among his own native people, deservedly enjoying the honor and respect of all who personally knew him

Best of all, by his courteous consideration for his large family of sons and beloved daughter, he won and retained their respect and affection unto the end. Thus serving his own household, as also his fellow-man, to the best of his ability, he has passed away in the comfortable hope of a blessed immortality.

"At rest—
Folded hands across his breast;
In the rest that was desired
By his murmured, 'I am tired.'"

L.

Captain Matthew Garey, who died on the 18th of June, was the youngest child of the seven orphaned children of Asenath Morgan and George Garey (an extensive millowner of his day) and together with his young brothers and sisters were consigned with their property interests to the care of guardians.

The boys, however,—Edwin Morgan, Thomas F., George and Matthew—being ambitious youths, did not wait to attain their majority or small inheritance, but very early began life's battle "for leave to live." Edwin M. Garey leaving his native State for distant lands, never returned again. George Garey removed to Dorchester county, Md., married and died a young man, leaving a widow and two small children. Thomas F. and Matthew remaining in their native county during their natural lives. Matthew Garey joining the vast army of those "that go down to the Sea in ships, and occupy their business in great waters," but later in life turned his attention to agriculture.

Upon the death of his lamented wife two years ago, however, he retired from active duties, and spent the residue of life quietly, cheered by the presence of an unbroken circle of respectful sons and a beloved daughter, unto life's setting sun He acquired a modest competency which he enjoyed with those he loved, and he lived and died an honored and respected citizen.

"After life's fitful dream he sleeps well." A. G. L.

Wilmington Conference.

The ministers of the Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference are greatly interested as to who will be the successors to Rev. Wilbur F. Corkran and Rev. Thomas E. Martindale as presiding elders. According to a law enacted by the General Conference, a presiding elder cannot serve in that capacity more than six years in the same district Therefore, the Rev. Wilbur F. Corkran, D. D., who will have been presiding elder of the Easton district for six years when the next session of the conference convenes, and the Rev. Thomas E. Martindale, who will have been presiding elder of the Salisbury district for five years, must vacate these offices. Slatemakers are surveying the field, and suggest the Rev. Vaughan S. Collins, of Smyrna, for the Easton district presiding eldership, and the Rev. S. M. Morgan, of Milford, for the Salisbury district presiding eldership. The possibility of Dr. Corkran exchanging with Rev. C. S. Baker, D. D., presiding elder of the Dover district, is also being discussed.

The date for the next conference will be fixed by the Board of Bishops at its semi-annual meeting in October, when the bishop who is to preside over this conference will be selected. It seems to be the opinion that Bishop John W. Hamilton, of San Francisco, will be chosen to preside over the coming session of this conference. Port Deposit is the first church to extend a call to a pastor for the coming year, the official board of that church having invited their pastor, Rev. A. S. Mowbray, to return. His salary has also been increased fron $1,200 to $1,400 per year.

Poisoning the System.

It is through the bowels that the body is cleansed of impurities. Constipation keeps these poisons in the system, causing headache, dullness and melancholia at first, then unsightly eruptions and finally serious illness unless a remedy is applied. DeWitt's Little Early Risers prevent this trouble by stimulating the liver and promote easy, healthy action of the bowels. These little pills do not act violently but by strengthening the bowels enable them to perform their own work. Never gripe or distress. Hugh Duffy, Hillsboro.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelly relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and re-told by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelly is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by R. J. Colston, Denton; Hugh Duffy, Hillsboro; J. P. Davis, Ridgely.
