I said that I would go after Gill and talk with him on the subject, and would try and find out what was contemplated to be done. I did so, and entered into conversation with Gill, and some other men; he said that he believed the people were or would be satisfied; that at any rate he would do all in his power to prevent any thing taking place against Miley. I left him, and returning met the Mayor who had heard of the affair from Mr. Courtney. I told him what had passed between myself and Gill, which did not appear to satisfy him; he left me, and went into Water Street, and stopp'd near the Intersection of Frederick Street, when I saw him in conversation with one or two men; after a short time he returned, and told me the intention of the people was to attack Miley's House, and that the only way to prevent it was to collect a number of the most respectable Citizens near the House, before the mob could collect, and requested me to do so as many as I could. I set off to do so, and called upon a great number, all of which came. In about half an hour I returned, found a mob collecting, a man by the name of Baird was at first very noisy, but upon being reasoned with, he clap'd his Foot, and, with Gill, was very instrumental in inducing the Mob to disperse.—

I was on duty at the Vail Town on three nights, when the mob threatened to take Mumma out; ~~[illegible]~~, — ~~[illegible]~~ ~~[illegible]~~ — the first night, it is my opinion, the Mob would have taken Mumma out, had not the Military appeared. —

I was at the Mayor's House one Evening, a large number of the most respectable of the Citizens were collected there at his request,
