But it is asked "what more can an Agent do on a Demand & Refusal than to place the affair in a legal Train of Prosecution? and what Abilities or Address does this require?"

To this it may be replied, that an Agent indeed with the more Faculties of a Orchard could do nothing more under such Circumstances than resort to legal Means: but a man of distinguished Abilities and Address might avail himself of other Resources. He might expostulate & reason with the Trustees and point out & elucidate the Improprieties of their Conduct & Insufficiency of their Objections: he could lay Hold of their Passions & apply Arguments to their Fears & Hopes: he could go into a Definition of the Treaty & shew that no Article or Stipulation provides an Indemnification for Property which had been previously seized & confiscated — that the Plea of Retorsion on that Ground was neither admissible in Law nor Equity — that their obliging the State to resort to legal Means or to seek Redress in the Courts would only subject themselves to a fruitless Expence & Vexation as the Treaty binds all Courts & their Determination must be accordingly: he might then point out the more favourable Prospects from an opposite
