THE Democrats are always up in arms against the money power until it gets into their politics. Then it is another story.

THE President has been generally commended for declining to send troops to Baltimore when they were not needed. Governor Warfield said they were not needed and his judgment proves to have been correct.

THE Japanese and Russians began active hostilities last week and so far the "Bear" seems to be getting the worst of the engagements. Thus far no battle of any consequence has taken place on land, but through engagements with the Japanese navy and the bungling of her own officers 11 of her ships are out of commission. In the first engagement the Japanese torpedo boats disabled three cruisers and now have three more bottled up at Port Arthur. A land battle is expected at any time.

SENATOR M. A. HANNA DEAD.

Senator Marcus Alonzo Hanna died at 6 40 o'clock Monday evening in his apartments at the Arlington Hotel, Washington, of typhoid fever following an attack of la grippe from which he suffered more or less since December. At the bedside when he died were the Senator's daughters, their husbands, his son and wife, Miss Phelps, his niece, his private secretary and the doctors. Mrs. Hanna was not present, as she had an hour before succumbed to her sorrow and was unable to bear up. In the corridors of the hotel were a large number of citizens, both high and low, eager for news from the sick room. The sad feature of Mr. Hanna's death is that there was no opportunity for parting with his wife and family during his conscious hours. He passed from an hour of hope into a speechless coma and no farewell was spoken.

Immediately after the physicians announced the end, President Roosevelt was notified. He called at the Hanna home in the evening to express his sympathy. Mr. Hanna had not changed or disfigured by his seven illness. His features were composed and serene. A sculptor made application to ask of the family for the purpose of making a bust of the dead Senator.

As was Warwick called the "King maker," so Marcus Alonzo Hanna received more than once the sobriquet "Maker of Presidents." Undoubtedly McKinley's success was more largely attributable to Hanna than any other one influence outside of the martyr President's personal qualities.

The year following the election of McKinley Hanna's high ambition was realized—he was appointed to the United States Senate from Ohio by Governor Bushnell to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of John Sherman, who resigned to become Secretary of State. In 1898 he was elected by the Ohio Legislature to the Senate for the short term, and in 1899 was reelected to the succeeding full term. Again this year he was chosen to the Senate by the Ohio Legislature, receiving the highest vote ever given a candidate for the Senate in Ohio.

Business success crowned his efforts from the beginning of his career. Born September 24, 1837, the son of a well-to-do doctor in Lisbon, O., who practiced his profession as well as dealt in merchandise, the youthful Mark early imbibed keen business foresight from contact with his paternal parent. He was educated in the common schools, from whence he entered and spent one year in the Western Reserve College, at Hudson, now known as Adelbert College. From college he plunged directly into business, becoming an employe of the wholesale grocery house of Hanna, Garretson & Co., in Cleveland, of which firm his father having removed to that city from Lisbon, was senior partner.

What with coal mines and iron mines, and ship yards and ships, and railroads, rolling mills and banks, Hanna's business compass is completely boxed. Nor had Hanna ever witnessed a nonpaying year for any of these enterprises. Hanna himself was well worth $20,000,000 while he drew the reigns of control over full $200,000,000 more.

PROMINENT MARYLANDER PLEASED.

Gen. L. Victor Baughman, Chairman of the Maryland Commissioners for the World's Fair, paid a recent visit to the exposition grounds and is enthusiastic over what he saw.

"Hundreds of magnificent buildings are scattered all over the vast territory," said Gen. Baughman. "The buildings in the diplomatic section are being erected, in many cases, by laborers from foreign countries. The buildings are upon a grander scale than at any preceding exposition. Forty State Buildings, representing an expenditure of $7,100,000, have been erected.

"When one realizes that St. Louis has already expended $10,000,000 on grounds and buildings, some idea of the greatness of this undertaking can be formed. The sum of $5,000,000 additional contributed by the Government has been paid out by the Supervisor of the Treasury. The St. Louis Exposition has 50 per cent. more roofed area and 100 per cent. more ground space than was the case at the Chicago Columbian Exposition. During the year 1903 there was expended by St. Louis $3,000,000 upon new fire proof hotels.

"It is claimed that before the opening of the Exposition there will be completed 15 new apartment hotels, representing over $4,550,000. Inside of the Exposition grounds there is now being built a hotel with 2,300 rooms, costing over $500,000. The rate here is fixed by the commissioners and will be from $1 to $5 a day for rooms. Near the grounds are other large hotels of a temporary character of from 500 to 2,000 rooms. So far there does not appear to be any excessive charges at hotels, and all managers have entered into agreements that no exorbitant charges will be made.

"Maryland has already appropriated $25,000 for the general expenditure of this exposition. The commissioners have authorized the expenditure of $5,000 for an agricultural and horticultural display. The best corn, wheat and everything grown upon our fertile soil will be on exhibition in the mammoth Agricultural Department Building, one of the largest and handsomest buildings on the grounds.

"A like sum has been appropriated to increase our geological exhibit. This is under the direction of Professor Clark, of the Johns Hopkins University, and already a fine allotment of space has been awarded to Maryland.

"A bill has been prepared by the legislative committe, of which Senator Robinson is chairman, asking for an additional appropriation of $60,000. This will be used for a Maryland building, defraying expenses in having Maryland properly represented on the 12th of September, Maryland Day, set apart by the commissioners, when all Marylanders are expected to participate in the ceremonies of the day. Receipts and vouchers for same to be placed before the Legislature.

"Those who may be contemplating a trip to this wonderful exposition should prepare for a two or four week visit, for when they cast their eyes over the vast territority filled with magnificent buildings, miles of splendid streets and roadways they will realize that many tired, weary days will elapse before they will be half through with seeing the wonders of the great St. Louis Exposition."

DISFRANCHISEMENT LEGISLATION.

There has been introduced in the Legislature by Senator Williams, of Prince George's county, a bill for disfranchisement of voters, aimed principally at the colored men of the State. It provides for the submission of a constitutional amendment to the voters of the State providing for the repeal and re enactment with amendments, of Section 1 of Article 1 of the State Constitution, regulating the right of suffrage. The first section of the bill contains the repealing clause and the text of the proposed re-enactment.

According to the terms of the measure, suffrage is to be exercised only by adult male citizens of the State who belong to one of three definite classes, and the registers of voters are directed to refuse the registration of all others. The classes are:

First—Those who can read a section of the Constitution of the State which the registers shall read to them, and give a reasonable explanation of it.

Second—Those who were, prior to January 1, 1869, competent to register under the laws of this State or any other State.

Third— Lineal descendants of those qualified to register and vote under the preceding section.

This bill if passed puts the power in the hands of the registers to say whether a man shall vote or not. If his reading and explanation of a section of the State Constitution is not satisfactory to these election officials they can deny him the right to vote. How many Democrats would like to take their chances for voting with a law like this.

NEWS OF THE WORLD'S FAIR.

ST. LOUIS, MO., FEB. 15, 1904.
Special Correspondence.

The perfume woods and plants of the Philippine Islands will be shown at the World's Fair in a special collection.

Idaho will make a big exhibition of tin ore at the World's Fair. Important discoveries of this metal, so rare in America, were made recently near Salmon City, Idaho.

California will install an olive oil factory in the California space in the Agricultural Building at the World's Fair. The process of extracting the oil will be shown in all detail.

The Kentucky Legislature at its January Session voted an World's Fair appropriation of $75,000. This is in addition to a fund of $100,000 raised by the Kentucky Exhibit Association.

A bill has been introduced in the New York Legislature appropriating an additional $100,000 for participation in the World's Fair. The State Commission claims that the $300,000 already appropriated is insufficient to adequately portray the Empire State's resources.

Among the curios offered to the World's Fair Management for exhibition by J. Oswald Smith, of Hove, England, are a small hand-painted drinking mug used by Queen Victoria in her childhood days, a Kneller portrait of Barbara Villiers, and a sepia portrait of Miss Croker, by Sir Thomas Lawrence.

Weil's Band, of St. Louis, has been engaged for the entire term of the World's Fair. This organization is reckoned as the leading musical organization of St. Louis. The band has been in existence about 10 years. Besides this, Sousa's Band, the Guard le Republicaine of Paris, the Grenadier Band of London, the National Band of Mexico and others will fill engagements of shorter terms.

California's principal exhibit at the World's Fair will be massed in the Agricultural Building, near the main entrance. Visitors will see vast quantities of fruits, nuts and grains strikingly arranged and representing the vastness of the agricultural and horticultural industry of the State. Eleven counties in the Sacramento Valley will combine their exhibits in a large parallelogram and will display every product of the American continent. These counties have a combined area greater than that of the State of Massachusetts.

STRENGTH OF THE LAND FORCES.

The Russian Empire can muster 5,000,000 fighting men of all grades and services, but its defensive and offensive army in Asia does not muster a quarter of a million soldiers. In the Far East the Czar's troops number about 200,000 men, including 40,000 Cossacks and the garrison of Port Arthur, 30,000 men. Reinforcements could arrive from European Russia on the Trans-Siberian Railroad at the rate of 4,000 a day, and it is believed that two army corps of 68,000 men are now on the way to the scene of hostilities.

Japan's army has a total strength of half a million of trained men. Of these the field force consists of 232,000 officers and subordinates, and the artillery corps has about 800 siege and field guns. The cavalry—a weak point with the Japanese, as there are only 17 regiments and 10,000 men—and artillery and field train have about 67,000 horses.

Army service is compulsory and the valor and activity of the rank and the file cannot be questioned.—Baltimore News.

Elwood Defies the Presbytery.

Rev. Robert A. Elwood, pastor of Olivet Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, recently convicted by the New Castle Presbytery on three charges, has decided not to appeal the case to the General Assembly. He has given out the following statement:

"After considering the official action of the Presbytery which I received from the stated clerk, I have only the following to say, and then, as far as I am concerned, the whole matter is a closed incident. If the Presbytery gets any pleasure out of meeting in secret session and condemning my sermons, and officially notifying me of the same, then I have no objection to the Presbytery meeting each Monday, in secret session, condemning my sermons of the Sunday previous, and when the official notification of such action reaches me, I will file it in the same place I did this one today—in my waste basket. To my friends, the public, I express my hearty appreciation and return thanks for their sympathy and support during the whole matter, and assure them that in the future, as in the past, I will endeavor to preach a whole Gospel, without fear or favor."

Charred Debris Carried Many Miles.

Monday morning, the second day of the Baltimore conflagration, charred embers and other charred debris were found on Kent Island, on the farm of Mr. Stephen L. Wright and on the farm where Mr. Mordecai Chilcutt resides, a part of the Hermitage, at Piney Point, the farm of Dr. J. L. Cornell. On Kent Island a charred one dollar bill was found, beside other embers. On the farm of Mr. Stephen L. Wright, on Reed's Creek, and adjoining the Hermitage, a piece of the Baltimore Sun was found, but not so badly but it could be read. On the Chilcutt farm were found numerous tags, evidently from clothing, as the price, size and house from which sold could be plainly read. Similar charred embers of paper and other like material were found on Piney Point farm. All these farms are situate on the east side of Chester river, in this county, and are from 30 to 35 miles distant from the city as the crow flies. These facts go to show what a northwesterly and westerly gale was blowing Sunday night during the progress of the fire.—Centreville Record.

SUFFERED A THOUSAND DEATHS
Five Physicians had done their best to cure James Wilkes, of Dillon, S. C., who had one of the most terrible cases of RHEUMATISM on record. They all failed until one doctor prescribed—
Rheumacide
IT CURED HELPLESS CRIPPLE.
Mr. Wilkes writes in the course of a long letter, dated August 18, 1902:
"My legs were drawn back until my feet touched my hips. I was as helpless as a baby for nearly 12 months. The muscles of my arms and legs were hard and shriveled up. I suffered death many times over. Was treated by six different physicians in McColl, Dillon and Marion, but none of them could do me any good, until Dr. J. P. Ewing, of Dillon, told me to try your RHEUMACIDE. I began to take it, and before the first bottle was used up I began to get better. I used 3½ bottles and was completely cured."
Dr. J. P. Ewing confirms Mr. Wilkes' statement in every particular.
