Receiver for Queen Anne's Railroad.

A decree appointing Frank Ehlen receiver for the Queen Anne's Railroad Company under a bond for $40,000 was signed late Saturday evening by United States Judge Morris. The papers were taken to the Judge at his home and the court officials had no knowledge of the proceeding until they were filed in the United States Circuit Court Monday morning.

The proceeding is an amicable one, it is said, for the purpose of carrying out a reorganization plan which has been agreed upon by the holders of all classes of the railroad company's securities. The reorganization plan has not been completed in all details, it is explained, but will include the acquisition of new property by the company and the introduction of new capital.

The receiver was named with the consent of the railroad company upon a bill of complaint of the Queen Anne's Ferry and Equipment Company of West Virginia, through Bond & Robinson and Taylor & Keech, attorneys. It was alledged in the bill of complaint that the railroad company is insolvent.

The decree provides that Mr. Ehlen shall, until the further order of the court, continue the operation of the and pay its accruing and fixed obligations, so as to prevent such defaults as will imperil the integrity of the road. John P. Bruns is appointed by the decree special auditor and master to receive proof of all claims against the railroad company and report them to the court.

Battle With the Ice.

The Centreville Record gives the following account of the efforts of the steamer Queen Caroline to get through the ice Monday and Tuesday of last week:

"The steamer Queen Caroline left the Baltimore pier Monday afternoon at 4 p. m., and reached Love Point pier Wednesday afternoon. During this time the game steamer was ice bound in the bay off Love Point Light and in sight of the pier. The steamer could not go forward or back out of the ice because it was so heavy. The ice boat, Annapolis, steamed to the Caroline's rescue Wednesday and conveyed her to Love Point pier, where the freight was discharged and the steamer returned to Baltimore with the ice breaker, where she is likely to remain while the bay and river are blocked with ice gorges from 3 to 5 feet thick and frozen solid. The ice gorge in the mouth of Chester river is reported much worse than at any other time during the winter. The passengers on the Queen Caroline had a serious time. The grub gave out and they had to go hungry. On so short a trip an extensive food supply is not laid out. This is the first time this winter that the schedule to Love Point has been interrupted on account of the ice conditions. It was the intention of the Queen Anne's Railroad Company to run excursions to Baltimore Saturday and Sunday, but they were called off and no tickets were sold."

NECROLOGY.

HENRY C. FISHER.

The people of this place were greatly shocked on Sunday afternoon to hear of the death of Mr. Henry C. Fisher, a prominent and highly respected citizen. He had been ill for about a week, but on Sunday morning was considered better, but the disease, pneumonia, took a serious turn and he died shortly after two o'clock.

The deceased had been a member of the School Board for Caroline county ten years, and was President at the time of his death. He had always been an active and loyal Democrat, but never held any other office. He leaves one son, Dr. P. Roland Fisher, and two daughters, Misses Mary J. and Nellie W. Fisher; two brothers, Thomas W. Fisher and Robert B. Fisher, of Baltimore, and two sisters, Mrs. Annie Emerson and Miss Georgianna Fisher, of Denton. Mrs. Fisher, who was a daughter of the late George W. Wilson, of Talbot county, died in 1897.

Mr. Fisher was a prominent farmer in Tuckahoe Neck, where he owned valuable real estate until the death of his wife, when he removed to Denton, where he also owned valuable property. He was a member of the M. E. Church and secretary of the Masonic Lodge of this place. He also carried a life insurance of $3,000 in Choptank Conclave Heptasophs.

The funeral took place at the late home of the deceased yesterday afternoon. The pall bearers were Thos. A. Smith, M. B. Stephens, H. R Lewis, J. F. Porter, and C. H. Whitby. Rev. J. T. Richardson conducted the services. The remains were interred in Denton Cemetery.

MRS. SARAH C. BLACKISTON.

Mrs. Sarah C. Blackiston, whose serious illness was noted in the UNION last week, died at her home in this place on Thursday morning. She had been afflicted for a long time with Bright's disease, and her death was not unexpected. She was the widow of Henry Blackiston, for many years the leading merchant of the town. Mr. and Mrs. Blackiston came to this county from Chestertown, Kent county. On Monday the remains of the deceased were laid to rest beside those of her husband. Numerous relatives of the family reside in Kent county, and three children, William J. Charles H. and Miss Florence, of this place, survive her. Mrs. Blackiston was a very charitable and kind-hearted lady and more than one poor family has cause to remember her with thankfulness. At the time of her death she was 72 years of age.

MRS. ANNIE M. HORSEY.

Mrs. Annie M. Horsey, wife of Mr. John H. Horsey of this place, died on Friday morning last at their home on Horsey ave. Her death was caused by a return of the old trouble, appendicitis. She was 52 years of age and survived by a husband and six children, one daughter, Mary and five sons, William, Norman, Pennington, John H. Jr., and Harold. The funeral was held on Tuesday and the remains were interred at Hillsboro, Rev. J. T. Richardson officiating.

MRS. MARGARET JOPP.

Mrs. Margaret Jopp, widow of the late Henry Jopp, died at her home near town on Friday last, aged 74 years. She leaves a family of several grown children. The funeral which took place on Tuesday was attended by a number of relatives from Pennsylvania where the family formerly resided. The remains were interred in Denton Cemetery.

Freaks of the Big Fire.

A little wooden structure, one-story high and used as a cigar store, situated between the Herald and the Law Buildings, on St. Paul street, Baltimore, came out of the fire apparently untouched.

Not even a pane of glass was broken in the place, while around it are heaped bricks and metal ten feet high, hurled there by the wrecking of the Law Building. It is pointed out as one of the freaks of the fire. Though no more than 4x12 feet, and only one story high, the place yielded a rent of $25 per month.

Although the Merchants Bank Building, Baltimore, was simply gutted by the fire, room 306, occupied by State Fire Marshal Price, was practically unmolested. Everything in the room, even to the curtains papers on the desk and draperies of all kinds were untouched. In fact the only damage done at all was to a portion of the plaster.

THE MOST FATAL DISEASE.

Kidney complaint kills more people than any other disease. This is due to the fact that it is so insidious it gets a good hold on the system before it is recognized. Foley's Kidney Cure will prevent fatal developments if taken in time. "I was troubled with kidney complaint for about two years," writes A. H. Davis, of Mt. Sterling, Ia., "but two bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar effected a speedy cure.

Your Orchards Need Attention.

The season is at hand when every orchardist must give his trees attention. Go among your trees and examine them closely to ascertain whether they are infested with San Jose Scale. If you cannot determine this fact send twigs to the State Entomologist, College Park, Md., and he will determine it free of charge.

If the pest exists in your orchard resolve to control it and save your trees. It is needless to cite that this pest is a very injurious one, and that it reproduces very rapidly. It winters as a partially matured insect and must be treated when trees are in a dormant state, from the fact that an insecticide cannot be applied when trees are in foliage strong enough to kill the insect without injuring the tree. Weak solutions are applied in summer to hold the pest in check until winter, when full strength can be used with deleterious effect on the Scale. Treatment should be applied early this spring before the buds begin to swell.

The most efficient and inexpensive treatment as yet employed is the lime, sulphur and salt wash, and it is strongly urged that each orchardist who has this pest among his trees, will apply it during the latter part of this month or the first of next.

The material needed for making the lime, sulphur and salt wash are, good fresh stone lime, flour of sulphur and common salt in the following proportion: Fresh stone lime, 30 pounds; flour of sulphur, 16 pounds; common salt, 12 pounds; water enough to make 50 gallons.

The amount of lime may be reduced to 20 pounds if one desires, as it is stated that it is equally as effective.

Method of making: Place 15 to 20 gallons of water in an iron kettle, boiler or barrel (the latter in using steam), and bring to a boil. When the boiling point is reached, add the amount of unslaked lime and during the consequent violent boiling add the sulphur (which has previously been mixed with water), and keep well stirred. In a short time add the amount of salt and continue the boiling for at least three-quarters of an hour or until all the sulphur has been dissolved and you have an amber colored solution. It may be necessary to add water from time to time to make up for evaporation and to prevent burning. When oiled sufficiently add water to make 50 gallons and strain through a fine mesh strainer into the spray barrel and apply warm. Hot or cold water may be added to make up the amount but hot water is preferable as the solution will spray better through the pump.

This wash has proven wholly effective all over the State in controlling the San Jose Scale; and in addition to being an excellent insecticide, it is stated to have a beneficial effect upon the early appearing fungi. Especially is it effective in controlling the peach leaf curl.

It is strongly urged again that all orchardists who have the San Jose Scale to combat, treat the infested trees as it will not only prove a benefit to themselves but to their neighbors in preventing the further spread of the insect. It may be mentioned in this connection that our law requires that all infestations should be treated.

Any further information as regards the lime, sulphur and salt wash and also as to the means of controlling the ravages of this or other injurious insects, will be given by writing the State Entomologist, College Park, Md.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS B. SYMONS,
Associate State Entomologist.
