THURSDAY MORNING, MAR. 10, 1904.

WHAT has become of the move to build a new county jail? It was reported that the County Commissioners could not appropriate the necessary money without an enabling act by the legislature. Has any action been taken to secure the necessary legislation?

SENATOR GALLINGER, on Tuesday of last week, introduced in the United States Senate a bill to increase salaries as follows: The President, $75,000 a year; Vice President, $15,000; Speaker of the House of Representatives, $12,000; members of the Cabinet, $15,000; Senators and members of the House, $8,000. The bill provides that these salaries shall take effect March 4, 1905.

THE Baltimore Sun, in urging upon the Legislature now in session at Annapolis, the passage of the Haman Oyster Bill, says: "Both Democrats and Republicans have an equal interest in building up the industries of Maryland, as all the people of Maryland, without regard to political differences among citizens, derive benefit from enterprises which make for the material welfare of the State. No Democratic or Republican legislator can afford to obstruct the passage of measures which will increase the wealth of Maryland and give employment to the masses. No legislator, whatever his affiliations may be, will promote the interests of his constituents by voting against bills which are for the good of the whole State. No political party in Maryland will retain the confidence of the people of this State if it arrays itself, through its representatives in the Legislature, against the material interests of the people of Maryland. Regardless of party associations, every citizen of Maryland who has no ax to grind and is uninfluenced by selfish considerations is in favor of measures that will enable the State to develop its resources and thus promote the general welfare. Why shouldn't their representatives in the Legislature be of the same mind?"

RASIN SHORN OF HIS POWER.

A special correspondent of the Philadelphia Record, in his Sunday letter expresses the opinion that the old Democratic city boss will be shelved by the new administration. He says:

"Freeman Rasin, boss of the Democratic city organization for thirty years, has been shorn of most of his power through the appointments of Governor Warfield. There does not seem to be any doubt that Senator Gorman and ex-Governor Smith favored and advised Governor Warfield's plans of distributing the "plums of patronage" in so far as Balt more city is concerned.

"In depriving the Rasin management of control of the Police Department and the Liquor License Board the Governor spikes the guns of the organization in Baltimore city, for without these valuable adjuncts the political machine is seriously handicapped. The Police Department is always a potent factor when an election draws near, while the saloon element, influenced by the Liquor License Board, can always be depended upon to render material assistance. Add to these the police justices, who can, when so disposed use an influence second only to Rasin himself, and the loss to the Rasin clique is fatal.

"Barring the few crumbs that fell from the table of the Court Clerks Rasin's people have received nothing from the municipal or State administrations. The Mayor did give out a little, but the Governor declined to show any favor. Rasin, when he refers to his treatment, uses language other than complimentary. To friends he says he is not personally interested, but fears the result at the next election.

"The plan of the Democratic leaders is to reorganize the party in this city and select new and younger heads. The friends of ex Governor Smith in the Legislature are still resentful that they say they are forbidden anything that Rasin does not want. They intend to uphold the Governor in everything he does. They regard the turning down of Rasin as fitting retribution for the part he played in the Senatorial fight.

"Politics is playing a great part in the proposed oyster legislation. Bitter opposition has developed to the Haman Bill for the protection and improvement of the oyster interests. The oystermen on the Eastern Shore would swap off almost anything to beat the planting bill. It was due to such tactics that it was beaten before, and the same methods will be tried again. The Republicans are prepared for any dicker to prevent the enactment of political legislation, while certain counties not particularly interested in oyster culture would willingly trade their votes to secure the adoption or defeat of bills affecting their constituents. It is because of this fear that the oyster bill is being held back until party legislation has been enacted."

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of the croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Basford, of Poolesville, Md, in speaking of her experience in the use of the remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by R. J. Colston, Denton; Davis, Ridgely.

NEWS OF THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Special Correspondence.

ST. LOUIS, MO., MAR. 7, 1904.

Three acres are devoted to the display of pure foods at the World's Fair. The exhibit is in the Palace of Agriculture.

Secretary Grant Thomas, of the Wisconsin Fair Commission, estimates that 80,000 Wolverines will attend the World's Fair this year.

Even with the four miles of standard gauge railroad tracks laid in the Palace of Transportation at the World's Fair, the immense floor space was not nearly exhausted.

Twenty woodmen from Maine are "raising" the mammoth log cabin that will be the Pine Tree State's Pavilion at the World's Fair. The site is in a thickly wooded section, and the Maine loggers appear thoroughly at home.

Separate quarters will be provided in the Indian Reservation for Chief Geronimo and Chief Joseph, the two most noted Indian chiefs now alive. Both have led warriors against the United States, and both are actually prisoners, but are accorded much freedom.

Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the present day Christian Science, has contributed $1,000 to the fund raised by popular subscription to enable New Hampshire to be adequately represented at the World's Fair.

The first order for the new Louisiana Purchase Exposition stamps calls for the printing of 90,000,000 one cent stamps bearing the portrait of Robert A. Livingstone, and 225,000,000 two cent stamps bearing the portrait of Thomas Jefferson. The stamps will be placed on sale at every United States postoffice on May 1.

The builders have finished their work on Connecticut's building at the World's Fair, and the furnishings are being installed. The building is a replica of the Sigourney mansion at Hartford. The main entrance was removed bodily from the original structure and installed in the World's Fair reproduction.

The completion of the largest pipe organ ever built has been announced. It is a special exhibit for the World's Fair, and occupies a large room specially built to contain it in the Festival Hall. The organ has 145 stops. There are 10,000 pipes, some of which are five feet square.

A marble stairway will be one of the striking interior features of the State of Washington's unique building at the World's Fair. The handsome stairway is placed in the center of the octagonal building, and around it will be grouped the historic exhibits of the State. The steps are cut from solid marble blocks, none of which were obtained at a greater depth than five feet. The marble was taken from the quarries at Addy, Stevens county. The steps, nine in number, are cut from a variety of marble known as "patrician blue." The broad landings are also of marble, and four solid posts, 16 inches square and 7 feet high, support a handrail on either side of the stairway. The wainscoting along the stairs is of "blended stripe," and the tiling of the landing is "crystal white." The entire design is plain, but massive and handsome. The Washington building, with its great timbers 100 feet long and 24 inches square, stands near the Government Fisheries pavilion in the eastern section of the World's Fair Grounds.

The Austrian National pavilion at the World's Fair is the only example among the foreign nations of the "art nouveau." The structure is north of the street leading to the center of the Administration Building, just west of the Russian reservation. The structure covers the entire area allotted, 200x115 feet. It fronts the Belgium National pavilion. L. Baumann, of Vienna, government architect, designed the pavilion. The ground plan of the building is in the shape of a capital T, the wing pointing toward the front. On either side of this front wing are fine gardens, separated from the street by a screen in which the gardener and the builder combine to produce an effect. In the center of this screen are fountains embellished with a profusion of sculpture. On either side are trees. The front of the building is flanked by square towers, 47 feet high, of peculiar design in the style of the "art nouveau." The entire front is enriched with sculpture and is entered by a monumental flight of stairs. Inside of the building there are 13 salons, one for each of the governmental departments, in which special exhibits which do not classify into the big exhibit palaces will be kept.

BETTER THAN GOLD.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down woman. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c Satisfaction guaranteed by R. J. Colston.

Worth Knowing.

A small bag of sulphur kept in a drawer or cupboard will drive away red ants

The odor of sweet peas is so offensive to flies that it will drive them out of a sick.

A little charcoal mixed with clear water thrown into a sink will disinfect and deodorize it.

A spoonful of vinegar put into the water in which meats and fowls are boiled makes them tender.

Boil three or four onions in a pint of water, apply with a soft brush to gilt frames and flies will keep off them.

Stains of fruit, etc., may be taken out of wash goods by first saturating the spots with coal oil, then washing as usual.

A fever patient may be made cool and comfortable by being frequently sponged with water in which a little soda has been dissolved.

Equal parts of ammonia and spirits of turpentine will take paint out of clothing, no matter how dry or hard the paint may be. Saturate the spot two or three times, then wash out in soapsuds.

MORE RIOTS.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly so grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver and Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nervine and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expells Malaria germs Only 50c and satisfaction guaranteed by R. J. Colston, Druggist.

Easy Pill
Easy to take and easy to act is that famous little pill DeWitt's Little Early Risers. This is due to the fact that they tonic the liver instead of purging it. Honesty in Advertising.

The public is fast becoming educated by advertising to discriminate between the true and the false. He who fishes for suckers will not relish his dinner, and the game that is so easily caught is not worth the eating. The advertiser should remember that in presenting his goods to the people nothing but strict honesty will succeed, as success is today understood. Some fake scheme may work for a time, but, like a hod of bricks, the higher the climb the greater the crash of the fall. First orders may be easily secured. Only honesty and merit will hold a customer. While it may be that a new sucker is born every minute, there is hardly any honest scheme that can thrive by fishing for that crop. It is duplicate orders, reinforced by new ones, that increases business, and we are getting to that point where business, like the race, must increase or fail.—Exchange.
