WILL USE THE VETO.

The Poe disfranchisement bill has passed both Houses and will soon be in the hands of the Governor. It is reported that the Governor has already decided not to sign the measure. He has consistently opposed the Poe idea incorporated in the disfranchisement amendment, declaring to those with whom he came in contact that it was not fair to exclude from the franchise those who are taxpayers and who cannot comply with all the other conditions set forth in the amendment. The Governor is a great believer in a property qualification in addition to the educational and hereditary requirements, believing that any citizen who has succeeded in amassing $300 worth of property should not be excluded from voting. There are hundreds of people, and they are white, who, although taxpayers, cannot read nor write. He believes that under the Poe amendment they would be disfranchised.

We believe the Governor is right, and that any man who pays his money into the State or county treasury for taxes should have a right to say by whom and how that money is to be spent. As a party measure we believe the educational qualification applied to this county would affect the Democratic party as badly as it would the Republican.

Senator Gorman will undoubtedly be much disappointed over the refusal of the Governor to sign the amendment. It was his creation and represents the views of the most erudite and experienced Democratic law manufacturers in the South. It is claimed that it is entirely within the limits of the Constitution and will stand the test in the Supreme Court of the United States.

Another party measure is also regarded as being in danger of veto, and that is the Jim Crow bill now pending and which applies to the entire State. This measure has passed the House and is on the third reading file in the Senate. When it comes up an amendment will be offered and adopted exempting trains from Washington to Philadelphia which stop en route. Express trains are already out of it.

But this doe not suit the Governor. He wan s the bill to apply to the counties on the Eastern Shore in Southern Maryland, where negroes are offensive, and to excursion trains in Western Maryland and Baltimore city.

NEWS OF THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Special Correspondence.

ST. LOUIS, MO., MAR. 14, 1904.

The figure of a huge elk, constructed of beans, is one of the peculiar exhibits of the World's Fair The bean elk comes from Ventura county, California.

During the month of February 54,758 packages of exhibits were received at the World's Fair Grounds Six hundred exhibitors are now on the grounds installing their exhibits

The great Festival Hall is receiving the finishing touches. This is the last of the large buildings and its completion marks the end of the big construction work in the "main picture."

A complete mint in operation, is one of the interesting features shown by the United States Government at the World's Fair. At the close of the Exposition the plant will be sent to Denver, Colo., for permanent use.

Underground hospitals and mule stables, methods of ventilating and draining mines, of robbing pillars and flooding with culm are illustrated in an interesting exhibit made by the Pennsylvania commission in the Palace of Mines and Metallurgy at the World's Fair.

Workmen are installing the wonderful floral clock at the World's Fair. The steel frame work, which was made in Milwaukee, Wis., is being placed. The flowers that will conceal the mechanism, are in pots in the greenhouses, and will be installed about April 15th. The dial of the clock is 112 feet across.

The topography of the Pennsylvania anthracite coal regions is shown at the World's Fair by means of a large relief map. Model of a mining plant, showing both the interior and exterior works, forms a part of the exhibit. The actual position of coal seams under the surface is shown by means of cross sections. An actual breaker is shown in operation.

Permission has been granted in an official order issued by W. T. Cameron, Adjutant General to the National Guard organizations of the various States and Territories of the United States, to enter the State of Missouri, armed and equipped for the purpose of encamping, drilling, parading, visiting and taking part in any public exercises at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in 1904.

The Belgian national pavilion at the World's Fair is said to be the largest building without a window. This arrangement was deliberately planned, says Gustave Chartrain, the architect, to secure an even distribution of softened sunlight. "Windows let in a blinding blaze of light, whereas the intervals between them are dark," says Mr. Chartrain. "We have avoided this by omitting the windows and constructing the central section of the arched roof, extending the entire length of the building, of stained cathedral glass which will let in abundant light." The Belgian pavilion is 267 feet long and 191 feet wide. It is 55 feet high in the center of the great arched roof and the great dome in the center is 100 feet long. The section of cathedral glass in the top of the roof is 20 feet wide. It is a yellowish brown and the light cast through the interior of the structure is softened and increases the beauty of the interior furnishings and decorations. Great arched entrances on all sides make up for the absence of windows in the exterior appearance. The pavilion is peculiar among the World's Fair structures in other particulars. Most of it was shipped from Belgium, including all the heavy statuary and paintings. The building is rich in paintings and statuary.

The biggest carving knife ever manufactured may be seen at the World's Fair. This monster blade is 30 feet in length and has an edge as sharp as a razor. It is made of the finest steel, and the handle is a masterpiece of the cutler's art, elaborately carved and beautifully polished. It would take a veritable giant to wield a knife like this. The blade is altogether of American manufacture, and it is expected to show for the first time that American cutlery has now reached a point of perfection where it fears no rivalry. The giant carving knife cost several thousand dollars, and special machinery had to be made before its construction could begin.

An enlarged reproduction of the first chapel built by the Disciples of Christ has been erected and will be used during the Exposition as a house of worship for all who will attend and as headquarters for the members of the religious denomination that has constructed the chapel, the first purely religious structure to adorn the exposition grounds. The building is hexagon, the six sides having a frontage of 30 feet each. It is one story and the ceiling for the rotunda is 25 feet high. The exterior is of rough drop siding, and the interior finish is polished yellow pine. The original chapel was built in 1840, at Bethany, in western Pennsylvania, now West Virginia. The architect was Alexander Campbell, the founder of the religious body known as the Disciples of Christ. The denomination in the past has been popularly known as "Campbellites" and "Christians." The organization was affected at Brush Run, Pa, May 4, 1811. In 1812 Alexander Campbell and his entire congregation was immersed. Finding no affilliation with the Baptist denomination he and his followers began in 1827 to form separate organizations. The Bible is their only rule of faith and practice. They reject infant baptism and accept believer's immersion only. They observe the Lord's Supper on the first day of each week. In 1900 the denomination had 6,528 ministers, 10,528 churches and 1,149,982 communicants.

It was announced some time ago that the poet Edmund Clarence Stedman, had been invited by the management of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition to write a hymn embodying the spirit of the great Exposition and the progress of the West. At the same time Mr. John K. Paine, dean of the American Composers of Harvard University, was invited to write the music for Mr. Stedman's hymn. The Bureau of Music of the Exposition has now received copies of both the hymn and music and are highly pleased with the result. Mr. Stedman has thrown into his verse the vigor that is expected in the proper treatment of such a subject and the rythm is such as to give promise of popular and permanent value. Mr. Paine's music is also of the spirited character which the theme demands and the musical world will await with great interest the first public rendering of the official music of the World's Fair on the opening day. The music will be published so that the public at large may share the inspiration and enthusiasm which so ioted a composition is certain to oroduce. Mr. George W. Stewart, of Boston, widely known as a musical director and Ernest R. Kroeger, of St. Louis, composer and director, are in charge of the musical programs for the World's Fair and it is intended that this shall be the most notable season of music ever known in America. The official music will be published under the direction of Mr. Robert Allan Reid. Other notable compositions to follow are a World's Fair march by Frank Vanderstuken and a waltz by Henry K. Hadley, of New York, both of whom are recognized as brilliant composers in their special lines. The Chief of the Department of Music is Mr. George Markham, a St. Louis banker, who finds time to assist materially in the advancement of musical culture in the World's Fair city.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of the croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Basford, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of the remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by R. J. Colston, Denton; Davis, Ridgely.

WE have been informed that a bill will be presented to the Legislature authorizing the Trustees of the Poor to borrow $5,000 to construct a new building for the inmates of the County Alms House. What do the people think of this move? Have you heard it discussed on the streets, or given any publicity whatever?

MORE RIOTS.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly so grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver and Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nervine and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expells Malaria germs. Only 50c and satisfaction guaranteed by R. J. Colston, Druggist.

PENINSULA PARAGRAPHS.

—Mr. George M. Wilson, an Easton miller, has paid $1.25 a bushel for wheat.

—The poet who lately perpetrated a poem on Grover Cleveland, certainly made choice of a beefy subject, but the poem was not meaty.

—Charles T. Wrightson, of Easton, has been elected one of the vice presidents of the Tri-State Packers' Association, of Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey.

—The pack of tomato, corn and fruits on the Peninsula last season amounted to about 2,600,000 cases. It is thought that a number of new canneries will be started next season.

—The Maryland Art Brick and Tile Company has received a new 125 horse power engine for its large plant at North East, which will this month give employment to over 100 persons.

—On account of the occupation of Judge James A. Pearce, the President Hope H. Barroll has been elected Vice President of the Second National Bank of Chestertown, to relieve the former of the strain.

—There is talk of hiring Italians as help on farms around Middletown owing to the scarcity of home labor. Sons of the sunny land who were tried around Dover last summer and fall are said to have given satisfaction.

BETTER THAN GOLD.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Lancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run down woman. No other medicine can take its place in our family." Try them. Only 50c Satisfaction guaranteed by R. J. Colston

SUFFERED A THOUSAND DEATHS

Five Physicians had done their best to cure James Wilkes, of Dillon, S. C., who had one of the most terrible cases of RHEUMATISM on record. They all failed until one doctor prescribed—
Rheumacide
IT CURED HELPLESS CRIPPLE.
Mr. Wilkes writes in the course of a long letter, dated August 18, 1902:
"My legs were drawn back until my feet touched my hips. I was as helpless as a baby for nearly 12 months. The muscles of my arms and legs were hard and shriveled up. I suffered death many times over. I was treated by six different physicians in McColl, Dillon and Marion, but none of them could do me any good, until Dr. J. P. Ewing, of Dillon, told me to try your RHEUMACIDE. I began to take it, and before the first bottle was used up I began to get better. I used 5 bottles and was completely cured."
Dr. J. P. Ewing confirms Mr. Wilkes' statement in every particular.
