BURRSVILLE.

Rev. W. S H. Williams sends the following paragraph relating to church work on the Burrsville circuit: "Our people at Hickman have sold the old church lot in town and are working like bees to beautify their church and fill it, which they are doing. Their festival last week cleared them between $50 and $75. They are to begin painting soon. The festival was not only a success from a financial standpoint, but in gathering the people together in a social and business way. There was a very large attendence, good behavior and plenty to eat. The Children's Day Collection will be taken next Sunday June 26, after which we will report the collection from the circuit. White's Church could not seat more than half the people that went Sunday afternoon June 19, to Children's Day services. The exercises were a credit to any school. The faithful work of those who studied the pieces as they were planned by the Board of Education and the pains-taking of those who trained the children showed that talent and brain were well mixed with energy, without which there is not much go in anything. The Children's Day service at Wesley was interfered with by a very heavy rainfall only two hours before the time for service, yet the exercises and the collection were very good. Central Curch will take their collection next Sunday."

Validity of Road Law.

A special meeting of the State Geological Survey Commission, was called a few days ago by Governor Warfield at the headquarters of the Geological Survey at Johns Hopkins University, to consider the act which was passed by the last Legislature providing for State aid to highway construction, and regarding which some question has been raised concerning its constitutionality. It was decided at the meeting to prepare a letter to the boards of county commissioners of the various counties, offering the services of the State's highway engineers in the making of of surveys and drawing up of plans and specifications for the construction of roads under the provisions of the act.

As the money under this act does not become available until after January, 1905, it will be necessary for the counties to co-operate with the State Geological Survey, as the act provides for the highway division, under which it is possible to prepare plans and specifications. Before the money can be secured from the State treasury it will probably be neccessary to bring the matter before the Court of Appeals at Annapolis for decision.

Governor Warfield requested the engineering staff of the survey to begin the preparation of topographic maps of the various State properties and suggested to Professor Clark that he should make arrangements to begin with the Springfield State Asylum at Mt Airy, where the management of the Asylum is preparing for the construction of additional buildings to meet the needs of the State insane. Mr Johnson, of the the highway force will have charge of the work. At Governor Warfield's request plans have already been prepared of the grounds of the Executive mansion at Annapolis and Mr Johnson will supervise changes in the roadway and other improvements to the grounds as provided by the last Legislature.

Frightful Disaster.

The burning of the steamer General Slocum in the East River, New York on Tuesday morning of last week was one of the most frightful disasters of the kind which ever occured in this country. Up to an early hour Wednesday morning 845 bodies had been recovered, and it is believed the list of dead will reach nearly 1000. The victims are mostly women and children. The overturning of a pot of grease in the kitchen of the vessel caused the fire. The number of excursionists on board is estimated at from 1,500 to 2,500. When off the Sunken Meadows, in East River, the fire broke out. In a few minutes it seemed as if there was an explosion and the flames spread with awful swiftness. Hundreds of persons their clothing ablaze, jumped into the water, most of them to drown, while others were carried down to an agonizing fate by the crashing of the hurricane deck into the furnace below.

How to Vote for President.

Attorney General Wm. Sheppard Bryan has rendered an opinion construing the new election law as to how a legal vote is to be cast for President and Vice President under its provisions. Mr. Bryan decides that a mark in the square opposite the names of the candidates for President and Vice-President carries with it all of the candidates for electors representing those candidates for President and Vice-President. Under this ruling of the Attorney it is not necessary to make a mark opposite the names of electors. This settles a very important question and one upon which able lawyers differed.

Can anything be worse than to feel that every minute will be your last? Such was the experience of Mrs. S. H. Newson, Decator, Ala. Society Bars out Stork.

It has just been ascertained that during the past year there has not been a birth in Narberth or the lower district of Lower Merion township. These two districts on the Pennsylvania Main Line, are probably the most densely populated and richest rural communities in America. They include the homes of scores of aristocratic millionaires. The fact that the stork has not been admitted to these two districts during the past 12 months is proven by the returns made to the County Commissioners by the registry assessors. They report also that the real estate in the two districts is valued at $12,000,000, but these figures furnish a very slight indication of the real wealth of the population. Besides the real estate assessments it was found that there is in the two districts $6,000,000 out at interest.

The Mosquito Crop.

Some time ago it is stated that it was proposed to have the school children of Baltimore pour oil in the stagnant ponds of the city for the purpose of killing the mosquito eggs and thereby reducing the number of singing and stinging pests. Whether the scheme has been carried out or not we do not know. But it is a fact that mosqutoes in towns and cities are bred not only by ponds of stagnant water but by permitting water to remain undisturbed in barrels and other receptacles. For instance, if a barrel of water is permitted to remain undistubed it is not long before the surface is covered with a mass of little wrigglers, and in time each one of these wrigglers develops into a mosquito, and everybody knows what follows their appearance. If all housekeepers would see to it that water is not left standing exposed to the air they would save considerable annoyance. It only takes a few weeks for a barrel of water to produce a myriad of mosquitooes.
